SLUG WOMAN AND ESCAPE WITH $2,000

Two Bandits Stage Daylight Robbery In Small Town In Perkins County---Bookkeeper Is Knocked Unconscious By Blow Over Head.

(Special to The Star.)

VENANGO, Neb., April 25.—The Farmers' State bank of Venango was robbed shortly before noon today, supposedly by two men, who escaped in an automobile, the number of which was not observed. The amount of the loot obtained was $2,000.

Miss Inez Ballard of Omaha, the bookkeeper, was alone in the bank at the time of the robbery and did not see the two robbers until they struck her over the head with a blunt instrument, causing concussion of the brain and rendering her semi-unconscious. She has remained in this condition ever since and has been unable to give any description of her assailants, if she was able to see them.

Placed Bookkeeper In Vault

After the robbers had slugged Miss Ballard they placed her in the vault and closed the door, though they did not lock it. They then obtained the money from the safe and made their escape, according to W. A. Hogus, a director of the bank.

Two strangers were seen driving north from town shortly after the robbery occurred and it was supposed they are the ones who pulled the job.

Posses are now scouring the surrounding country for the desperadoes, but thus far the quest has been without success.

A customer entered the bank shortly after the robbery and finding no one was attracted by the moans of Miss Ballard in the vault. He opened the door and liberated her and at once spread the alarm.

Miss Ballard was rushed to a hospital at Ogallala, where she is in a semi-conscious condition, unable to give any description of the bandits or tell the particulars of the robbery. She is twenty years old.

Condit Is Notified

State Sheriff Condit was notified of the robbery by a telegram from W. A. Hogus, a director of the bank. The message stated that two men in a Ford coupe had made off with $3,000 Condit was informed later by a telephone conversation that the bookkeeper had been slugged and that she was still in a semi-conscious condition.

MAN IS HELD FOR MURDER IN WEST

Preston Reves Caught At North Platte Charged With Crime at Casper.

NORTH PLATTE Neb., April 25.—Preston Reves, 23, of Ardmore, Okla., was arrested here Saturday charged with the murder of a man found dead in a box car at Casper, Wyo. He is said to have confessed the crime, according to Sheriff J. L. Berthe of Lincoln county.

He also admitted two other holdups, one at Amarillo, Tex., and one at Ardmore, Tex., the sheriff stated. The murder was committed, he is alleged to have said, with a piece of garden hose filled with shot, and was done after the man had robbed him of $60 at the point of a gun.

Special Agent T. J. Frum of the Union Pacific made the arrest on receipt of a wire from Wyoming authorities, who are now on their way to take Reves back to that state.

Diamond Rings Valued at $300 Stolen From Home

W Wolf, 1636 P street, reported to police Saturday that two diamond rings had been stolen from his home while they were away Friday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. The rings contained three quarter karat stones, and together, were valued at about $300, police said. A ring of less value, which did not belong to the Wolfs, was found on the ground near the window through which entrance was made. The rings were taken from a purse in the bureau.

A Man In East Admits Slaying Of Young Wife

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 25.—Thomas Mannion, jr., ex-sailor, wanted for the murder of his young wife, surrendered to police tonight. He admitted killing his wife with a razor.

Police said Mannion appeared at the station, hatless and disheveled, while a search was being made for him by a possee in the woods near the scene of the crime.

Police believe that Mannion killed his wife after a quarrel, with her after she refused to drop divorce proceedings against him.

Telegram of Appreciation To Pershing

A telegram of appreciation from his home state, voicing the pride which Nebraskans feel in honors which have come to him, was sent to General John J Pershing at New York city, Saturday evening by Governor McMullen, upon the occasion of the complimentary dinner tendered the general there by the national vaudeville artists' association.

National Commander Drain of the American Legion was one of the speakers at the New York banquet, paying his tribute to the former military leader on behalf of the members of that organiation. Others on the program were former Secretary of War Newton D Baker who chose Pershing to lead the American expeditionary forces and Vice President Dawes, who served under him in France.

Governor McMullen's message of greeting to General Pershing was as follows:

"The expression today in your former comrades reflects the sincere sentiment of all the people of Nebraska. Our state is proud of the close association she bears to one of the nation's foremost soldiers. Your name will live in the hearts of a grateful people, and the genius which has marked your brilliant career shall be an inspiration to future generations."

Jewelry Stolen From Mapes Home

Burglars entered the Mapes home at 3335 North Fourteenth street Saturday night, while the family was away, stealing two brooches and two rings and ransacking the house, according to police. A suit of clothing was found outside the house, apparently dropped by the burglars in flight. It is thought that the return of the family frightened the burglars away, according to officers who investigated.

A GOVERNMENT POLICE FORCE IS CONSIDERED

Creation Of New Federal Law Enforcement Body Under Consideration And Investigation Results Before Coolidge.

DISCUSS FORCE SIMILAR TO CANADIAN MOUNTED

United States Now Has Approximately Dozen Agencies To Enforce Specific Laws But None For General Assignments.

(International News Service, Copyright, 1925.)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Creation of a new law enforcement arm of the federal government—a national police force—is under consideration by high administration officials, it was learned today by the International News Service.

Results of an investigation disclosing the need for such a police system, along with a tentative program to make it effective, have been submitted to President Coolidge. The project is now under study at the white house.

The government has ten or more agencies to enforce specific laws, but none to enforce the federal statutes generally. For example, the United States secret service is charged with guarding the president and with enforcing the counterfeit laws. The prohibition arm deals exclusively with liquor cases, while the coast guard seeks to prevent all smuggling through coastwise waterways.

Several Enforcing Groups.

The customs service is partially an anti-smuggling branch. The immigration bureau of the labor department has the specific duty of enforcing immigration laws. The agents of the department of justice conduct investigations such as are directed by the attorney general. Pure food laws are enforced by a division of the agricultural department.

Col. H. C. Smither, chief co-ordinator, developed the plan for an "unified police," aiming at an organization to enforce generally all of the laws of the United States.

Border crime in some localities has assumed serious proportions, according to the investigation. In two or three states the prohibition laws have been cast into the discard by local officials, leaving enforcement to a limited number of federal agents. Serious crime waves have swept the Indian reservations of the southwest. Conditions in the mining and salmon fishing fields of Alaska were described as far from satisfactory.

MRS. LEWIS IS INJURED BY AUTO

Struck By Woman Driver At Twelfth and O Saturday Evening.

Suffering From Injuries to Chest—Young Daughter Is Unhurt.

Mrs Fred Lewis, 511 North Tenth street, was crushed about the chest Saturday evening when she was run down at Twelfth and O streets by an automobile driven by a woman whose name was not learned.

She was rushed to the Lincoln General hospital in Cecil E. Wadlow's ambulance, where she was attended by Dr. Clarence Emerson. An X-ray examination revealed the fracture of one rib and no internal injuries, Dr. Emerson said.

Mrs. Lewis was crossing Twelfth street on the south side of O, she said, when the automobile struck her. The car came from the west on O street, turning south on Twelfth street, she thought. The driver of the car stopped, and it was thought followed the ambulance to the hospital.

She had not appeared at the hospital at a late hour, it was stated there, and police were unable to learn her name. No traffic officer was at the intersection.

Mrs. Lewis' young daughter, who was with her mother, was not injured.

Says Wheels Passed Over Body.

According to E. H Heppner, 2059 O street, two wheels of the automobile passed over Mrs Lewis' body.

Mrs. Lewis herself thought that the driver of the car became excited as she approached the crossing.

"It was a Ford and just as she came to the crosswalk the car seemed to lurch forward," she stated.

The Salvation Army was holding its Saturday evening service at the corner and the street was very crowded. The automobile came near the crowd standing in the street listening to the program, witnesses said.

Mrs. Lewis' husband was notified and he came to the hospital.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The weather outlook for the week beginning Monday follows:

Nebraska: Mostly fair Sunday and Monday; cooler Sunday.

Kansas: Mostly fair Sunday and Monday; cooler Sunday or Sunday night in north portion.

KOLIAS' LIFE TERM IS CUT

Man Convicted of Chadron Killing Soon To Be Released By Action Of State Board Commuting Term to 16 Years.

PRISON INMATE SINCE JULY, 1914

Three Youths Doing Time For Burglary In Lancaster County Must Remain In Reformatory—List Of Decisions Announced.

Nick Kolias, under life sentence in the penitentiary for killing George Kapelas, at Chadron, because the latter had "fired" him from his job of unloading a car of coal when Kolias refused to work overtime, will be released in the near future under an order made by the state pardon board commuting his term to 16 years.

He was committed to prison on July 13, 1914, and with good time taken out of his shortened sentence he has only about 11 years in all to serve.

The trio of youthful burglars from Lancaster county—Wright, Moore and Hagel—are turned down on their request to be paroled from the reformatory, where they have served 14 months each on terms of 1 to 10 years.

Herewith is the disposition made by the pardon board of cases heard by it on April 14:

Penitentiary (Paroles Granted).

John Pretty Bird, Cherry, forgery, 1-10.

Lon Carter, Douglas, manslaughter, 1-10.

Cat Crazed By Heat Whips Goat And a Bull Dog

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—Crazed by the heat, a Columbus alley cat went on a rampage today, whipping a billy goat, a bull dog, and a fellow feline.

The cat's first victory was against the goat, the result of springing on its back and biting it in the neck. It then extended its warfare to a dog and another cat in the yard of Mrs. Grace Jane, a jail matron.

Mrs. Lane wounded the marauding kit with a bullet and police finished its career of crime when they arrived a few moments later.

The authorities are examining the body for rabies.

TWO KILLED IN CLASH IN SOUTH

South Carolina Sheriff And Negress Dead After Pistol Battle.

AIKEN, S. C, April 25—Sheriff Howard of this county and a negress were killed, while Deputy Sheriff Nolle Robinson and two negresses were wounded, near here today in a fierce battle which followed attempts of the officers to arrest a group of negroes charged with the marketing of whiskey.

Three negroes were brought here and lodged in jail and three others escaped.

Sheriff Howard was shot down by the woman, who was killed, when she discharged a shotgun load into the back of his head. She was riddled by bullets from the deputies' guns. Deputy Robinson was cut about the face.

COLUMBUS, O., April 25. — Electric storms coming in the wake of the unseasonable heat caused several hundred thousands of dollars damage and injured two persons in central and southeast Ohio tonight.

In Cincinnati lightning set fire to the plant of the Bishopric Wall Board Co. and for a time threatened to spread to other buildings in the industrial district.

CHAMBER TO START DRIVE

Solicitors Will Launch Campaign For $25,000 Sustaining Membership Fund On Monday Morning.

WORKERS MEET AT DAILY CONFERENCES

Leaders Confident That Lincoln Business Men Will Provide Adequate Support For New Movement.

Everything is in readiness for the chamber of commerce campaign to increase the sustaining fund an additional $25,000. The actual soliciting campaign will begin Monday morning and continue until the amount needed is subscribed.

The city has been divided into districts, chairmen and workers for the districts have been appointed and all are ready for the starting signal. It is predicted that the campaign will be completed in not to exceed three days.

Workers Meet Monday.

The chairmen and workers will gather at the chamber for luncheon on Monday and will compare notes and hear reports as to how the campaign is progressing. A similar meeting will be held each noon until the required quota has been raised.

Those in charge of the campaign are hearing many encouraging reports and the indications are that Lincoln business men are fully alive to the importance of giving the chamber adequate support at this time when the future of the city is so promising and the ser-

FIGURING ON NEW CAPITOL

Massive Piers and 30,000 Yards Excavation For Huge Central Tower Are Chief Items On List For Contractors' Bids.

ESTIMATE ON SECTION PLACED AT $2,500,000

Prospects For Lively Competition Among Bidders On General Excavation Work Who Will Make Offers On Tuesday.

Thirty thousand cubic yards of earth excavation and the construction of heavy foundation walls and massive concrete piers, on which the central portion of the new Nebraska capitol with its 400-foot tower, will rest, are among the principal items in the list for which contractors' bids on the second section will be submitted to the capitol commission to be opened by that body at noon next Tuesday.

The tower, 80 feet square, and its supporting structures will weigh 35,000 tons. This is about one-fifth the total weight of the whole new capitol, when completed, which the architects and foundation engineers estimate at 180,000 tons.

Huge Concrete Piers Required.

To carry such enormous weight it will be necessary, after the basement excavation is made to a depth of 15 feet or more, to dig a large number of vertical shafts extending downward an additional 20 to 25 feet, in order to reach the Dakota sandstone underlying this region, and to fill these holes with poured concrete. Only by such means could a footing be obtained solid enough to carry the crushing weight of 5½ tons per square foot in the center, and 2 or 3 tons per square foot elsewhere. The substratum of sandstone is capable of sustaining 12 tons to the square foot.

Concrete piers of this kind were installed in constructing the first, or outer, section of the capitol; but those for the interior portion above which the tower will project, must be much heavier. Some of them will be 10 or 12 feet in diameter, and they will be placed rather close together.

The entire basement and founda-

An Editor of Arizona Jailed

YUMA, Ariz., April 25. - "The entire Arizona press would be throttled if I surrender to my enemies and I will rot in jail first," George W. Lynn, editor of the Yuma Herald, declared tonight in a speech through the bars of his cell in county jail.

Lynn was locked up today when he refused to make $3,000 bond following his arrest on a charge of criminal libel filed by E. F. Sanguinetti millionaire merchant and politician. Sanguinetti claims the editor made the false statements in his paper concerning his tax payments and his milk business.

Firestone and Ford Attend Wedding of Theodore Edison

CAMBRIDGE, April 25.—The Edison-Firestone-Ford triumvirate gathered again here Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Anna Maria Osterhout, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Winthrop J. V. Osterhout of Cambridge, Mass., and Theodore Miller Edison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison of East Orange, N. J.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal church, Boston, in Appleton chapel on the campus of Harvard university.

Included among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone of Akron, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford of Detroit. Bishop Anderson is an old friend of the Edisons, Firestones and Fords, whom he has accompanied on some of their famous camping tours.

The bride is a graduate of Vassar in the class of 1923.

Mitchell Out Of Air Post

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Brig. Gen. William Mitchell central figure of the greatest air service row since the war, laid aside his silver stars tonight and stepped out of the office of assistant chief of army air service.

Automatically, at midnight, he reverted to the grade of colonel and stood under orders to proceed to Texas to assume command of the flying force.

Demoted, his friends say, because he incurred the wrath of his superiors in the war and navy departments by militantly advocating an unified air service and decrying the usefulness of capital ships. General Mitchell stepped out of the Washington picture without ceremony.

Heavy Rains Fall in Texas

DALLAS, Tex., April 25—Drenching rains that have been general over the northern half of the state during the latter part of the week, became a near cloudburst late today and descended in volume uponLetoot, small settlement ten miles north of here.

Three store buildings were moved from their foundations and several cars were washed off the highway following a two hour rain.

Charge Of Graft Brought Against Detroit Officials

DETROIT, April 25.—Detroit was stunned Saturday afternoon when, in handing down the report of his one-man grand jury investigation of city, Judge Frank Murphy recommended criminal prosecution of nineteen men, some of them high in public and business life, and in a scorching 10,000 word presentment laid bare alleged corruption, incompetence and waste in six departments of the city and county governments.

Graft and mismanagement have cost the people of Detroit millions of dollars in the last few years, Judge Murphy's report asserted, while favored contractors, suspiciously intimate with certain department heads have thrived and prospered according to the report.

Judge Murphy prefaced his report with the statement that criminal prosecution was warranted against every one of the nineteen named.

BATTLE LINES TIGHTENED FOR SUNDAY VOTING

Betting Sentiment Swings To Former German Field Marshal In Contest With Wilhelm Marx For the Presidency.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, April 25.—An electric tenseness held Germany tonight. Enfranchised Germans, numbering 38,000,000, awaited the first popular election of a president with an interest dwarfing previous contests which have been waged for control of the reichstag.

Bitter factionalism, which has swept away party lines and brought instances of armed strife, has marked the campaign which tomorrow will end in a choice between Wilhelm Marx and former Field Marshal Von Hindenburg. The third candidate who will draw communism's scattered votes is Ernest Thalmann, a dock worker.

Germans Ready To Cast Ballots

Below: FIELD MARSHAL VON HINDENBURG

Voters of Germany were ready to march to the polls Sunday to select the republic's first president by popular vote. With the expectation that 38,000,000 would vote, former Field Marshall Von Hindenburg was a two to one favorite over his opponent, Wilhelm Marx, Saturday night.

Betting odds were two to one in favor of Von Hindenburg in some places tonight, indicating the belief that there has been a big swing toward the former commander.

The theory of those laying such odds was that the personality of Hindenburg was telling in favor of the nationalist bloc as the campaign draws to a close.

The figure of the field marshal, paraded on posters in Berlin's streets tonight, seemed to typify the struggle between the conservatives, who view the old general as the symbol of Germany's days of power, and the younger generation, who fervently support the republic.

One Youth Killed.

One of these, a young member of the reich's banner, was shot and killed today in a street fight in the western section of Berlin. Many of the political partisans who engaged in the battle were severely beaten. The clash started when nationalists attacked the automobile bearing Marx campaign materials.

Fears that this clash, the first in which there was serious bloodshed, might be followed tonight and tomorrow with even more serious trouble, led to extra police precautions.

Thinly veiled hints in the Hindenburg press that Marx has been flirting with the allies took substantial form in the nationalist newspaper Boersen Zeitung today. It asserted that French officers greeted Marx

NEW OUTBREAK CAUSES ANXIETY

Fresh Wave Of Terrorism In Bulgaria Alarms Allied Capitals.

LONDON, April 25—Anxiety was caused in London and other allied capitals tonight by reports of a fresh outbreak of terrorism in Bulgaria, this time in the town of Plevna.

Fire reported of incendiary origin and attributed to communists, swept the historical library where priceless volumes were destroyed, the town hall and the principal theater.

Following this, the inhabitants spent a night of terror, barricaded in their houses, fearing fresh outbreaks.

Hope had been felt here that the worst of Bulgaria's troubles were over for the moment, but the outbreak at Plevna was attributed in Sofia dispatches to communists owing to the fact that the explosion of bombs resounded through the town at the height of the fire.

Reports from Sofia, relayed from Vienna, say that swift reprisals were taken against "reds" suspected of the incendiarism and that a number were killed and many arrested.

The conflagration was said to have been a protest by agrarian peasants against court martials being held by the Bulgarian authorities at Plevna.

DEATH COMES TO E. M. LONGSTRETH

Former Deputy Sheriff and Police Officer Yields to Long Illness.

After a seven-month illness following a stroke of paralysis, Elza M. Longstreth, 57, former deputy sheriff, passed away at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at his home, 315 East Holdrege street, University Place. He was well known in Lincoln, had lived here since 1908 and been in the insurance business as well as serving as University Place city and county officer.

Mr. Longstreth was born January 29, 1867 near Union Town, Pa., and grew to manhood in that vicinity. Later he moved to Colorado, lived there a year or two, and then came to Nebraska in 1893, living in Seward and Butler counties.

In 1908 he settled on a small acreage at Fifty-fifth and Vine streets in Lincoln. In the fall of the same year his first wife passed away.

Before serving as an officer of the peace, he sold insurance for a time with a Nebraska company. His first position on a law enforcement squad was as town marshal of University Place. He then became a detective on the Lincoln force for several years, and for a year and a half before his fatal illness was a deputy sheriff.

He leaves besides his wife Olive, five daughters and a son, all the children of his first wife: Mrs. May Shrum of Manning, Ia., Mrs. Blanch Swacker of Waverly, Mrs. Gladys Hartwig of Firth, and Irene, Erma and Ivan of Lincoln. A brother living in Pennsylvania and a sister who lives at Detroit also survive.

Mr. Longstreth was for many years a member of the Presbyterian church in University Place, and an Odd Fellow.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Presbyterian church in University Place. Burial will be at Wyuka. The body is being held at Castle, Roper and Matthews.

Col. H. C. Smither, chief co-ordinator, developed the plan for an "unified police," aiming at an organization to enforce generally all of the laws of the United States.

Border crime in some localities has assumed serious proportions, according to the investigation. In two or three states the prohibition laws have been cast into the discard by local officials, leaving enforcement to a limited number of federal agents. Serious crime waves have swept the Indian reservations of the southwest. Conditions in the mining and salmon fishing fields of Alasko were described as far from satisfactory.

MRS. LEWIS IS INJURED BY AUTO

Struck By Woman Driver At Twelfth and O Saturday Evening.

Suffering From Injuries to Chest—Young Daughter Is Unhurt.

Mrs. Fred Lewis, 511 North Tenth street, was crushed about the chest Saturday evening when she was run down at Twelfth and O streets by an automobile driven by a woman whose name was not learned.

She was rushed to the Lincoln General hospital in Cecil E. Wadlow's ambulance, where she was attended by Dr. Clarence Emerson. An X-ray examination revealed the fracture of one rib and no internal injuries, Dr. Emerson said.

Mrs. Lewis was crossing Twelfth street on the south side of O, she said, when the automobile struck her. The car came from the west on O street, turning south on Twelfth street, she thought. The driver of the car stopped, and it was thought followed the ambulance to the hospital.

She had not appeared at the hospital at a late hour, it was stated there, and police were unable to learn her name. No traffic officer was at the intersection.

Mrs. Lewis' young daughter, who was with her mother, was not injured.

Says Wheels Passed Over Body.

According to E. H. Heppner, 2059 O street, two wheels of the automobile passed over Mrs. Lewis' body.

Mrs. Lewis herself thought that the driver of the car became excited as she approached the crossing.

"It was a Ford and just as she came to the crosswalk the car seemed to lurch forward," she stated.

The Salvation Army was holding its Saturday evening service at the corner and the street was very crowded. The automobile came near the crowd standing in the street listening to the program, witnesses said.

Mrs. Lewis' husband was notified and he came to the hospital.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The weather outlook for the week beginning Monday follows:

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys: Occasional local showers over south portion, and fair at beginning and local showers middle or later part of week over north portion; temperature near normal at beginning, and normal or below later part of week.

Nebraska: Mostly fair Sunday and Monday; cooler Sunday.

Kansas: Mostly fair Sunday and Monday; cooler Sunday or Sunday night in north portion.

KOLIAS' LIFE TERM IS CUT

PRISON INMATE SINCE JULY, 1914

Three Youths Doing Time For Burglary In Lancaster County Must Remain In Reformatory—List Of Decisions Announced.

Nick Kolias, under life sentence in the penitentiary for killing George Kapelas, at Chadron, because the latter had "fired" him from his job of unloading a car of coal when Kolias refused to work overtime, will be released in the near future under an order made by the state pardon board commuting his term to 16 years.

He was committed to prison on July 13, 1914, and with good time taken out of his shortened sentence he has only about 11 years in all to serve.

The trio of youthful burglars from Lancaster county—Wright, Moore and Hagel—are turned down on their request to be paroled from the reformatory, where they have served 14 months each on terms of 1 to 10 years.

Herewith is the disposition made by the pardon board of cases heard by it on April 14:

Penitentiary (Parcles Granted).

John Pretty Bird, Cherry, forgery, 1-20.

Lon Carter, Douglas, manslaughter, 1-10.

Cat Crazed By Heat Whips Goat And a Bull Dog

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—Craed by the heat, a Columbus alley cat went on a rampage today, whipping a billy goat, a bull dog, and a fellow feline.

The cat's first victory was against the goat, the result of springing on its back and biting it in the neck. It then extended its warfare to a dog and another cat in the yard of Mrs. Grace Jane, a jail matron.

Mrs. Lane wounded the marauding kit with a bullet and police finished its career of crime when they arrived a few moments later.

The authorities are examining the body for rabies.

TWO KILLED IN CLASH IN SOUTH

South Carolina Sheriff And Negress Dead After Pistol Battle.

AIKEN, S. C., April 25.—Sheriff Howard of this county and a negress were killed, while Deputy Sheriff Nolle Robinson and two negresses were wounded, near here today in a fierce battle which followed attempts of the officers to arrest a group of negroes charged with the marketing of whiskey.

Three negroes were brought here and lodged in jail and three others escaped.

Sheriff Howard was shot down by the woman, who was killed, when she discharged a shotgun load into the back of his head. She was riddled by bullets from the deputies' guns. Deputy Robinson was cut about the face.

Storms In Ohio Do Big Damage

COLUMBUS, O., April 25. — Electric storms coming in the wake of the unseasonable heat caused several hundred thousands of dollars damage and injured two persons in central and southearn Ohio tonight.

In Cincinnati lightning set fire to the plant of the Bishopric Wall Board Co. and for a time threatened to spread to other buildings in the industrial district.

CHAMBER TO START DRIVE

Solicitors Will Launch Campaign For $25,000 Sustaining Membership Fund On Monday Morning.

WORKERS MEET AT DAILY CONFERENCES

Leaders Confident That Lincoln Business Men Will Provide Adequate Support For New Movement.

Everything is in readiness for the chamber of commerce campaign to increase the sustaining fund an additional $25,000. The actual soliciting campaign will begin Monday morning and continue until the amount needed is subscribed.

The city has been divided into districts, chairmen and workers for the districts have been appointed and all are ready for the starting signal. It is predicted that the campaign will be completed in not to exceed three days.

Workers Meet Monday.

The chairmen and workers will gather at the chamber for luncheon on Monday and will compare notes and hear reports as to how the campaign is progressing. A similar meeting will be held each noon until the required quota has been raised.

Those in charge of the campaign are hearing many encouraging reports and the indications are that Lincoln business men are fully alive to the importance of giving the chamber adequate support at this time when the future of the city is so promising and the ser-

FIGURING ON NEW CAPITOL

Massive Piers and 30,000 Yards Excavation For Huge Central Tower Are Chief Items On List For Contractors' Bids.

ESTIMATE ON SECTION PLACED AT $2,500,000

Prospects For Lively Competition Among Bidders On General Excavation Work Who Will Make Offers On Tuesday.

Thirty thousand cubic yards of earth excavation and the construction of heavy foundation walls and massive concrete piers, on which the central portion of the new Nebraska capitol with its 400-foot tower, will rest, are among the principal items in the list for which contractors' bids on the second section will be submitted to the capitol commission to be opened by that body at noon next Tuesday.

The tower, 80 feet square, and its supporting structures will weigh 35,000 tons. Thi sis about one-fifth the total weight of the whole new capitol, when completed, which the architects and foundation engineers estimate at 180,000 tons.

Huge Concrete Piers Required.

To carry such enormous weight it will be necessary, after the basement excavation is made to a depth of 15 feet or more, to dig a large number of vertical shafts extending downward an additional 20 to 25 feet, in order to reach the Dakota sandstone underlying this region, and to fill these holes with poured concrete. Only by such means could a footing be obtained solid enough to carry the crushing weight of 5½ tons per square foot in the center, and 2 or 3 tons per square foot elsewhere. The substratum of sandstone is capable of sustaining 12 tons to the square foot.

Concrete piers of this kind were installed in constructing the first, or outer, section of the capitol; but those for the interior portion above which the tower will project, must be much heavier. Some of them will be 10 or 12 feet in diameter, and they will be placed rather close together.

The entire basement and founda-

An Editor of Arizona Jailed

YUMA, Ariz., April 25.—"The entire Arizona press would be throttled if I surrender to my enemies and I will rot in jail first," George W. Lynn, editor of the Yuma Herald, declared tonight in a speech through the bars of his cell in county jail.

Lynn was locked up today when he refused to make $3,000 bond following his arrest on a charge of criminal libel filed by E. F. Sanguinetti, millionaire merchant and politician. Sanguinetti claims the editor made the false statements in his paper concerning his tax payments and his milk business.

Firestone and Ford Attend Wedding of Theodore Edison

CAMBRIDGE, April 25.—The Edison-Firestone-Ford triumvirate gathered again here Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Anna Maria Osterhout, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Winthrop J. V. Osterhout of Cambridge, Mass., and Theodore Miller Edison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison of East Orange, N. J.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopel church, Boston, in Appleton chapel on the campus of Harvard university.

Included among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone of Akron, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford of Detroit. Bishop Anderson is an old friend of the Edisons, Firestones and Fords, whom he has accompanied on some of their famous camping tours.

The bride is a graduate of Vassar in the class of 1923.

WALSH PLANS CONTEST STEP

Wheeler's Chief Counsel Prepares To Test Legality Of Washington Indictment Against Montana Solon.

A DEMURRER WILL BE FILED AT THE CAPITAL

Gordon Campbell, Jointly Indicted On Charge Of Conspiring To Get Oil Permits, Will Contest Removal.

(United Press.)

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 25.—Steps will be taken immediately to contest the legality of the Washington indictment charging Senator Burton K. Wheeler with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the same case in which he was vindicated here Friday, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief defense counsel, announced tonight.

A demurrer to the indictment will be filed in Washington and proceedings will be instituted in the Montana Federal court, Walsh said.

Gordon Campbell, Montana oil man, who is indicted jointly with

Mitchell Out Of Air Post

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Brig. Gen. William Mitchell central figure of the greatest air service row since the war, laid aside his silver stars tonight and stepped out of the office of assistant chief of army air service.

Automatically, at midnight, he reverted to the grade of colonel and stood under orders to proceed to Texas to assume command of the flying force.

Demoted, his friends say, because he incurred the wrath of his superiors in the war and navy departments by militantly advocating an unified air service and decrying the usefulness of capital ships, General Mitchell stepped out of the Washington picture without ceremony.

Heavy Rains Fall in Texas

DALLAS, Tex., April 25.—Drenching rains that have been general over the northern half of the state during the latter part of the week, became a near cloudburst late today and descended in volume upon Letoot, small settlement ten miles north of here.

Three store buildings were moved from their foundations and several cars were washed off the highway following a two hour rain.

Charge Of Graft Brought Against Detroit Officials

DETROIT, April 25.—Detroit was stunned Saturday afternoon when, in handing down the report of his one-man grand jury investigation of city, Judge Frank Murphy recommended criminal prosecution of nineteen men, some of them high in public and business life, and in a scorching 10,000 word presentment laid bare alleged corruption, incompetence and waste in six departments of the city and county governments.

Graft and mismanagement have cost the people of Detroit millions of dollars in the last few years, Judge Murphy's report asserted, while favored contractors, suspiciously intimate with certain department heads have thrived and prospered according to the report.

Judge Murphy prefaced his report with the statement that criminal prosecution was warranted against every one of the nineteen named.

BATTLE LINES TIGHTENED FOR SUNDAY VOTING

Betting Sentiment Swings To Former German Field Marshal In Contest With Wilhelm Marx For the Presidency.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, April 25.—An electric tenseness held Germany tonight. Enfranchised Germans, numbering 38,000,000, awaited the first popular election of a president with an interest dwarfing previous contests which have been waged for control of the reichstag.

Bitter factionalism, which has swept away party lines and brought instances of armed strife, has marked the campaign which tomorrow will end in a choice between Wilhelm Marx and former Field Marshal Von Hindenburg. The third candidate who will draw communism's scattered votes is Ernest Thalmann, a dock worker.

Below: FIELD MARSHAL VON HINDENBURG

Voters of Germany were ready to march to the polls Sunday to select the republic's first president by popular vote. With the expectation that 38,000,000 would vote, former Field Marshall Von Hindenburg was a two to one favorite over his opponent, Wilhelm Marx, Saturday night.

Betting odds were two to one in favor of Von Hindenburg in some places tonight, indicating the belief that there has been a big swing toward the former commander.

The theory of those laying such odds was that the personality of Hindenburg was telling in favor of the nationalist bloc as the campaign draws to a close.

The figure of the field marshal, paraded on posters in Berlin's streets tonight, seemed to typify the struggle between the conservatives, who view the old general as the symbol of Germany's days of power, and the younger generation, who fervently support the republic.

One Youth Killed.

One of these, a young member of the reich's banner, was shot and killed today in a street fight in the western section of Berlin. Many of the political partisans who engaged in the battle were severely beaten. The clash started when nationalists attacked the automobile bearing Marx campaign materials.

Fears that this clash, the first in which there was serious bloodshed, might be followed tonight and tomorrow with even more serious trouble, led to extra police precautions.

Thinly veiled hints in the Hindenburg press that Marx has been flirting with the allies took substantial form in the nationalist newspaper Boersen Zeitung today. It asserted that French officers greeted Marx

NEW OUTBREAK CAUSES ANXIETY

Fresh Wave Of Terrorism In Bulgaria Alarms Allied Capitals.

LONDON, April 25.—Anxiety was caused in London and other allied capitals tonight by reports of a fresh outbreak of terrorism in Bulgaria, this time in the town of Plevna.

Fire, reported of incendiary origin and attributed to communists, swept the historical library where priceless volumes were destroyed, the town hall and the principal theater.

Following this, the inhabitants spent a night of terror, barricaded in their houses, fearing fresh outbreaks.

Hope had been felt here that the worst of Bulgaria's troubles were over for the moment, but the outbreak at Plevna was attributed in Sofia dispatches to communists owing to the fact that the explosion of bombs resounded through the town at the height of the fire.

Reports from Sofia, relayed from Vienna, say that swift reprisals were taken against "reds" suspected of the incendiarism and that a number were killed and many arrested.

The conflagration was said to have been a protest by agrarian peasants against court martials being held by the Bulgarian authorities at Plevna.

DEATH COMES TO E. M. LONGSTRETH

Former Deputy Sheriff and Police Officer Yields to Long Illness.

After a seven-month illness following a stroke of paralysis, Elza M. Longstreth, 57, former deputy sheriff, passed away at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at his home, 315 East Holdrege street, University Place. He was well known in Lincoln, had lived here since 1908 and been in the insurance business as well as serving as University Place city and county officer.

Mr. Longstreth was born January 29, 1867 near Union Town, Pa., and grew to manhood in that vicinity. Later he moved to Colorado, lived there a year or two, and then came to Nebraska in 1893, living in Seward and Butler counties.

In 1908 he settled on a small acreage at Fifty-fifth and Vine streets in Lincoln. In the fall of the same year his first wife passed away.

Before serving as an officer of the peace, he sold insurance for a time with a Nebraska company. His first position on a law enforcement squad was as town marshal of University Place. He then became a detective on the Lincoln force for several years, and for a year and a half before his fatal illness was a deputy sheriff.

He leaves besides his wife Olive, five daughters and a son, all the children of his first wife: Mrs. May Shrum of Manning, Ia., Mrs. Blanch Swacker of Waverly, Mrs. Gladys Hartwig of Firth, and Irene, Erma and Ivan of Lincoln. A brother living in Pennsylvania and a sister who lives at Detroit also survive.

Mr. Lonstreth was for many years a member of the Presbyterian church in University Place, and an Odd Fellow.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Presbyterian church in University Place. Burial will be at Wyuka. The body is being held at Castle, Roper and Matthews.

Chicago's First Death From Heat Comes Saturday

CHICAGO, April 25.—The first heat death of the year was reported here today. Michael Blekowitz was the victim. He was overcome yesterday while working at a spring and bumper plant. The thermometer registered 84 degrees yesterday.

Work to Develop Lincoln

Campaign to Secure an Additional $25,000 for the Chamber of Commerce Will Begin Tomorrow

Sustaining Fund Must be Increased by This Amount to Permit Chamber to Function Efficiently

Lincoln Must Take Advantage of Its Wonderful Oppotunities

Never before in its history has this city been favored with so many splendid advantages for growth and development as those which confront us at the present time.

Our position as the capital of Nebraska and our strategic location have brought substantial endowments such as are rarely bestowed upon any city.

The new capitol building will command the pride of the state and the admiration of the nation.

Nearly one million dollars will be spent in enlarging the University during the next two years.

It is estimated that nine million dollars will be used in highway construction during this biennium.

Lincoln has begun a school building program that calls for the expenditure of three million dollars.

At the present time, Lincoln is breaking all records in the number and cost of new residences under construction.

Many other important building programs are under way.

With all these important factors influencing the upbuilding of our city, Lincoln itself must take immediate advantage of its stupendous opportunities.

We must advertise Lincoln as an ideal residential city and as the most important educational center in the middle west.

We must be on the alert to secure new enterprises and new industries to provide employment for our growing population.

Further permanent highway construction must be looked after in order that Lincoln will receive the full benefit of the great roadway program that is coming.

Conventions must be induced to meet in Lincoln, adding thousands of visitors to our city.

Lincoln's present freight rate differentials must be maintained, so that our merchants and manufacturers may continue to compete with other important distributing points.

All these activities, and many more, must be looked after by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber must be provided with the necessary funds to do the work.

Campaign Starts Tomorrow

The campaign to secure an additional $25,000 for the sustaining fund of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce will begin tomorrow.

Soliciting committees will be chosen from the membership of the Chamber and will make a systematic canvass of the business and professional men of Lincoln.

It is vitally important to every resident of Lincoln that this campaign be made an immediate success.

HEALTHY GROWTH IN LAND VALUES, BANKERS ASSERT

Survey By Investment Dealers Shows Nebraska On Substantial Footing.

Prophecy Made Corn and Alfalfa Land Never As Cheap Again.

That no other form of investment forms quicker or safer returns than Nebraska farm lands due not only to prospects of the immediate future but to the healthy, gradual growth in value that has set in with the passing of the depression period, is the general opinion expressed by a group of Nebraska investment bankers who have surveyed conditions in the territories served by their institutions

Finances in cities are also taking an upyard trend b cause of farm prosperity, it is believed while one banker stated that never will alfalfa and corn land be as cheap as it is today '

Among those who have given their opinions on prevailing conditions are C F Reynolds and C C Carlson of Lincoln, C F Claassen of Omaha Hugh Wayne of Omaha C W Weckbich of Crete B E Sturdevant of Atkinson and Louis S Clarke of Omaha

C F Reynoulds president of the Federal Trust company of Lincoln, says

No other safe investment at this time promises as large and quick a return as Nebraska farm land

'Many, uninformed have the impression no land is selling Recently 160 acres near Wausa in Knox county sold at referee s sale for $200 per acre Two hundred dollar per acre sales are not uncommon in acres unimproved in southern Gage county, a cash offer of $40 000 was made within the past ten days Eighty acres in Otoe county three miles south of Cook brought $324 per acre Eighty acres of pure pasture land in Johnson county recently sold for $100 per acre A rolling to rough quarter in Pawnee county northwest of Burchard recently sold for $17 000 cash One hundred and thirty acres, eight miles east of Lincoln, unimproved sold for $22 000 cash A resident of Lincoln went to Deuel county last week to bid in 213 acres on which he had a second mortgage To his surprise there was a local bidder who took the land away from him at a fair price and he came home with the cash for his second mortgage

The foundation of many fortunes is being laid at this time by the acquiring of Nebrasa farm land

Land Never Cheap Again.

'Never will good corn and alfalfa land in Nebraska sell as cheap as today The water has been squeezed out The upward movement has started, gradual, but healthy

"The land owner who waits will realize later that the opportunity for the first big profit has been lost '

'The amount of money awaiting investment in farm mortgages during the past year has been the greatest that I have ever known ' C C Carlsen, president of the Lincoln Trust company says

'Life insurance companies regard farm mortgages in Nebraska and the corn belt as the very best and safest security and I consider the financiers of the insurance companies the most far sighted of any in the business

In my opinion we are just now entering into a period of prosperity for the farmer and the land owner

The good crops and fair prices that we had in 1924 resulted in a general liquidation of debts and an accumulation of money in the banks

The average farmer has made his money in land he is better adapted to make money from it and knows it better than anything else realizes that it is the safest of all investments, and will invest his future earnings in the one absolutely safe investment that he so fully understands

There is a constantly increasing number of inquiries for land coming to our attention We believe this is the time to buy good land and that before another year rolls by higher prices will obtain

'The following are a few of the sales that have come to my attention within the last three weeks and are all cash sales some of them at public auction

Saunders county 160 acres sold by Daniel M Shanahan to Joseph Sudik week of April 13 for $52 000 cash

Lancaster county 160 acres S B Pierce to Benhard Spath, week of March 20, for $24 000 cash

Lancaster county 160 acres, Peter C Hansen to H F Everett last week in March for $20 000 cash

Lancaster county, 160 acres W T Voss to Henry R Carstensen, last week in March for $21 000 cash

Butler county 160 acres sold on April 15 at public auction for $24 240, no buildings Sold by the Ehrheart estate to Nick and Peter Schmidt

'These farms are all sold to neighbors or parties in the immediate vicinity of the land

C J Claassen vice president of the Peters Trust company of Omaha cites instances in and around Jansen where prosperity seems to have settled He says

At Jansen, twenty years ago the bank had a $28 000 deposit Today s statement shows the deposits are $148 000 At Harbine the banker reports now $170 000 deposits and at Ellis $84 000 in deposits

At Jansen there have been a number of recent farm sales raging from $142 an acre up to $210 an acre '

Becher Hockenberger, and Chambers Co, of Columbus report the following conditions in its vicinity

'Recently there was an auction sale here of a quarter section at $142 dollars an acre about ten miles south and east of Columbus in Butler county which was really a good price on account of the quality of the land Yesterday at a court sale a farm brought $150 an acre subject to a life estate"

An interesting case of a young Wayne farmer is given by Hugh Cutler, vice president of the United States Trust company of Omaha who says

Here is the record of a young farmer by the name of H A Temme located on a farm in Wayne county

He is thirty years of age and purchased a 160 acre farm in 1920 for $50 000, paying $10 000 cash and the balance in mortgages Since that time he has paid the interest and taxes and reduced the principal $15 000 also made improvements of about $2 000 on the farm In the spring of 1921 he leased 100 acres additional land In 1923, he cleared $5 000 above interest and taxes, He farms the 260 acres without hiring any help his wife being his only assistant In 1924, on his 160 acres, he raised sixty six acres of corn, on sweet clover land, averaging sixty bushels per acre forty acres of oats averaging better than fifty four bushels to the acre and got a fine stand of sweet clover in the stubble for pasture this season He also had thirty five acres of sweet clove. pasture pasturing thirty-four head of cattle, and had fourteen acres of fine alfalfa, yielding better than sixty tons of hay He raised fifty-six head of October pigs from seven sows, without losing a pig. He kept a few sheep and milks ten to fifteen head of cows"

Selling Activity Forecast.

Several important transfers of land have been noted by C W Weckbach, president of the City National bank of Crete He gives the following outstanding ones

'Activity in farm lands is being forecasted by several important transfers in this vicinity The Steidl brothers, Saline county pioneers, have just sold their 160 acre farm to Viktor Krejci for a consideration of $25,300 Bernhard Sand, retired farmer, has just sold his 120 acre farm in this county to Louis Spinar for a consideration of $16,000 The recovery from the recent depression is exemplified in these and other sales made during the past six months.

The live stock industry is being constantly developed and is proving profitable George Znamenacek recently held a sale of miscellaneous live stock which totaled $4 100 and made a good profit, and Rudolph Gerner, one of our substantial farmers, fed a bunch of cattle which brought him $3,858 on the Omaha market and netted him a good profit

The feeling is optimistic and the future looks very promising" B E Sturdevant of Atkinson says

'All of the banks in Holt county are full of money, so much so that they are obliged to buy Liberty bonds to make use of their surplus money

'D M Armstrong, a farmer twelve miles northeast of Atkinson, Holt county, fed about 1000 sheep this season and made a nice profit A W Morrell, who has a section adjoining Atkinson on the east has been feeding cattle and hogs in large numbers for the past two years and has made a large amount of profit in the business Fred Feseh, who lives on Eagle creek northeast of Atkinson, has also been feeding cattle and hogs on his farm and has realized fine profits from the business The farmers and ranchmen in our country are enjoying prosperity, and those with ambition and foresight are sure taking hold with old time pep',

Optimism Prevails.

I have just returned from a swing around our loan territory in western Nebraska and everywhere I find a very optimistic feeling prevailing At Valentine, I was informed that there have been more than 100 families who have moved into that territory this spring on the reservations tributary to Valentine, Crookston and Cody, thousands of acres being broken, most of which will go into corn and wheat Winter wheat conditions throughout the entire west are the best they have been in many years The season is at least two weeks ahead of the average year All spring grain is up in good shape and plenty of moisture in the subsoil to carry it through'

Those are the encouraging conditions Louis S Clarke, president of the Kloke Investment company of Omaha, has discovered. Mr Clarke says, further

'Considerable land is starting to move We ourselves have sold in the last six months eight times as much land as in the previous four years Interest collections are coming in better than they have at any other time during the past five years Hardly a day goes by but we receive notice of a change of ownership on land securing our loans Just this morning we were advised by a party that he had sold six quarters in Cheyenne and Kimball counties These lands were sold to farmers moving west

'The farmer who looks ahead is the one who is buying this land. The United States department of agriculture reports that it is only a question of a few years before the United States will be on the import basis as far as farm products go

STOCK PRICES MOVE DOWN TO LOWER LEVELS

NEW YORK, April 25.—Narrow and professional stock markets with prices moving gradually to lower levels, a strong and fairly active bond market, a strong market for sterling exchange, with cables quoted at 4 82 the highest in fifteen years unsteady grain and cotton markets and slightly easier money markets were the principal features in the financial markets this week

The stock exchange closed today as it opened on Monday with professional operations dominating the market and controlling prices of the majority of stock particularly the specialty and motor stocks The industrial leaders retained their firm position however and in many cases forced the bears to cover at a loss

INDUSTRY AND STOCKS.

The week-end trade summaries were not very encouraging They emphasize the recession in various lines of industry the failure of other branches of trade to measure up to expectation and the falling off in retail buying Commodity prices are on the downward slant with metal prices touching bottom and grain prices the lowest of the current movement

With the exception of the silk trade, textiles reported a falling off in sales and production with little hope of immediate improvement The automobile business is booming most of the manufacturers being unable to keep pace with their enormous buying demand

While the motor stocks were not as spectacular in the market movements as in the previous week sales continued heavy Maxwell B dropped about 8 points in the early part of the week and was able to recover but six points

Mack Truck, General Motors and other motors sold off on profit taking

Oil and railroad shares moved up with occasional spurts of activity but there was nothing impressive in their movements Oil stocks in fact, lost most of their advance when Standard Oil and independent oil refineries resumed their price cutting in gasoline Reading, Frisco Southern Railway were the leaders in the rally in railroad stocks while Union Pacific and Northwestern rails were sold on disappointing weakness

Points to Consider

"The investor who is selecting securities for investment should give this transaction the same consideration that he gives to his ailments, his legal problems or his buildings. He should remember that there are other points to consider besides marketability or safety or income. Taken in their order, the five points of an investment are:

FIRST—Safety of Principal.
SECOND—Rate of Income.
THIRD—Marketability
FOURTH—Stability
FIFTH—Prospect of Appreciation

Every security contains these five points in varying degrees. You rarely find one with all points equally strong. Yet the investor who analyzes his requirements and keeps them in mind can usually find securities in which the outstanding characteristics meet his needs."

We offer two investments which possess four of these points in an unusual degree. The

FIRST is secured by a first mortgage on real estate valued at 4 times the amount of the mortgage pays nearly 6½% with the probability of additional income by reason of being paid before due

SECOND has security of over 3 to 1 pays 7% per annum in quarterly installments of 1¾% and carries with it a liberal bonus that will increase the income very materially in the years to come

OUR SECURITIES DEPARTMENT will give full, detailed information upon request.

We recommend both of these investments very highly.

HEALTHY GROWTH IN LAND VALUES, BANKERS ASSERT

Survey By Investment Dealers Shows Nebraska On Substantial Footing.

Prophecy Made Corn and Alfalfa Land Never As Cheap Again.

That no other form of investment forms quicker or safer returns than Nebraska farm lands, due not only to prospects of the immediate future but to the healthy, gradual growth in value that has set in with the passing of the depression period, is the general opinion expressed by a group of Nebraska investment bankers who have surveyed conditions in the territories served by their institutions.

Finances in cities are also taking an upyard trend, because of farm prosperity, it is believed, while one banker stated that "never will alfalfa and corn land be as cheap as it is today."

Among those who have given their opinions on prevailing conditions are C. E. Reynolds and C. C. Carlson of Lincoln, C. J. Claassen of Omaha, Hugh Wayne of Omaha, C. W. Weckbach of Crete, B. E. Sturdevant of Atkinson, and Louis S. Clarke of Omaha.

C. E. Reynoulds, president of the Federal Trust company of Lincoln, says

"No other safe investment at this time promises as large and quick a return as Nebraska farm land.

"Many, uninformed, have the impression no land is selling. Recently 160 acres near Wausa in Knox county sold at referee's sale for $200 per acre. Two hundred dollar per acre sales are not uncommon in acres unimproved in southern Gage county, a cash offer of $40,000 was made within the past ten days. Eighty acres in Otoe county, three miles south of Cook, brought $324 per acre. Eighty acres of pure pasture land in Johnson county recently sold for $100 per acre. A rolling to rough quarter in Pawnee county northwest of Burchard recently sold for $17,000 cash. One hundred and thirty acres, eight miles east of Lincoln, unimproved, sold for $22,000 cash. A resident of Lincoln went to Deuel county last week to bid in 213 acres on which he had a second mortgage. To his surprise there was a local bidder who took the land away from him at a fair price and he came home with the cash for his second mortgage.

"The foundation of many fortunes is being laid at this time by the acquiring of Nebrasa farm land.

Land Never Cheap Again.

"Never will good corn and alfalfa land in Nebraska sell as cheap as today. The water has been squeezed out. The upward movement has started, gradual, but healthy.

"The land owner who waits will realize later that the opportunity for the first big profit has been lost."

"The amount of money awaiting investment in farm mortgages during the past year has been the greatest that I have ever known," C. C. Carlsen, president of the Lincoln Trust company says.

"Life insurance companies regard farm mortgages in Nebraska and the corn belt as the very best and safest security, and I consider the financiers of the insurance companies the most far sighted of any in the business.

"In my opinion we are just now entering into a period of prosperity for the farmer and the land owner.

The good crops and fair prices that we had in 1924 resulted in a general liquidation of debts and an accumulation of money in the banks.

"The average farmer has made his money in land, he is better adapted to make money from it and knows it better than anything else, realizes that it is the safest of all investments, and will invest his future earnings in the one absolutely safe investment that he so fully understands.

"There is a constantly increasing number of inquiries for land coming to our attention. We believe this is the time to buy good land and that before another year rolls by, higher prices will obtain.

"The following are a few of the sales that have come to my attention within the last three weeks and are all cash sales, some of them at public auction:

"Saunders county, 160 acres sold by Daniel M. Shanahan to Joseph Sudik, week of April 15, for $52,000 cash.

"Lancaster county, 160 acres, S. B. Pierce to Benhard Spath, week of March 20, for $24,000 cash.

"Lancaster county, 160 acres, Peter C. Hansen to H. F. Everett, last week in March, for $20,000 cash.

"Lancaster county, 160 acres, W. T. Voss to Henry R. Carstensen, last week in March, for $51,000 cash.

"Butler county, 160 acres, sold on April 15 at public auction for $24,240, no buildings. Sold by the Enyeart estate to Nick and Peter Schmidt.

"These farms are all sold to neighbors or parties in the immediate vicinity of the land."

C. J. Claassen, vice president of the Peters Trust company of Omaha cites instances in and around Jansen, where prosperity seems to have settled. He says:

"At Jansen, twenty years ago the bank had a $28,000 deposit. Today's statement shows the deposits are $148,000. At Harbine, the banker reports now $170,000 deposits and at Ellis $84,000 in deposits.

"At Jansen, there have been a number of recent farm sales, raging from $142 an acre up to $210 an acre."

Becher, Hockenberger, and Chambers Co., of Columbus report the following conditions in its vicinity:

"Recently there was an auction sale here of a quarter section at $142 dollars an acre, about ten miles south and east of Columbus in Butler county, which was really a good price on account of the quality of the land. Yesterday at a court sale a farm brought $150 an acre, subject to a life estate."

An interesting case of a young Wayne farmer is given by Hugh Cutler, vice president of the United States Trust company of Omaha, who says:

"Here is the record of a young farmer by the name of H. A. Temme, located on a farm in Wayne county.

"He is thirty years of age, and purchased a 160 acre farm in 1920 for $50,000, paying $10,000 cash and the balance in mortgages. Since that time he has paid the interest and taxes and reduced the principal $15,000; also made improvements of about $2,000 on the farm. In the spring of 1921, he leased 100 acres additional land. In 1923, he cleared $5,000 above interest and taxes. He farms the 260 acres without hiring any help, his wife being his only assistant. In 1924, on his 160 acres, he raised sixty-six acres of corn, on sweet clover land, averaging sixty bushels per acre, forty acres of oats, averaging better than fifty-four bushels to the acre, and got a fine stand of sweet clover in the stubble for pasture this season. He also had thirty-five acres of sweet clover pasture pasturing thirty-four head of cattle, and had fourteen acres of fine alfalfa, yielding better than sixty tons of hay. He raised fifty-six head of October pigs from seven sows, without losing a pig. He kept a few sheep and milks ten to fifteen head of cows."

Selling Activity Forecast.

Several important transfers of land have been noted by C. W. Weckbach, president of the City National bank of Crete. He gives the following outstanding ones:

"Activity in farm lands is being forecasted by several important transfers in this vicinity. The Steidl brothers, Saline county pioneers, have just sold their 160 acre farm to Vicktor Krejci for a consideration of $25,300. Bernhard Sand, retired farmer, has just sold his 120 acre farm in this county to Louis Spinar for a consideration of $16,000. The recovery from the recent depression is exemplified in these and other sales made during the past six months.

"The live stock industry is being constantly developed and is proving profitable. George Znamenacek recently held a sale of miscellaneous live stock which totaled $4,100 and made a good profit, and Rudolph Gerner, one of our substantial farmers, fed a bunch of cattle which brought him $3,858 on the Omaha market and netted him a good profit.

"The feeling is optimistic and the future looks very promising."

B. E. Sturdevant of Atkinson says:

"All of the banks in Holt county are full of money, so much so that they are obliged to buy Liberty bonds to make use of their surplus money.

"D. M. Armstrong, a farmer twelve miles northeast of Atkinson, Holt county, fed about 1000 sheep this season and made a nice profit. A. W. Morrell, who has a section adjoining Atkinson on the east, has been feeding cattle and hogs in large numbers for the past two years and has made a large amount of profit in the business. Fred Teseh, who lives on Eagle creek northeast of Atkinson, has also been feeding cattle and hogs on his farm and has realized fine profits from the business. The farmers and ranchmen in our country are enjoying prosperity, and those with ambition and foresight are sure taking hold with old time pep."

Optimism Prevails.

"I have just returned from a swing around our loan territory in western Nebraska and everywhere I find a very optimistic feeling prevailing. At Valentine, I was informed that there have been more than 100 families who have moved into that territory this spring on the reservations tributary to Valentine, Crookston and Cody, thousands of acres being broken, most of which will go into corn and wheat. Winter wheat conditions throughout the entire west are the best they have been in many years. The season is at least two weeks ahead of the average year. All spring grain is up in good shape and plenty of moisture in the subsoil to carry it through.'

Those are the encouraging conditions Louis S. Clarke, president of the Kloke Investment company of Omaha, has discovered. Mr. Clarke says, further

"Considerable land is starting to move. We ourselves have sold in the last six months eight times as much land as in the previous four years. Interest collections are coming in better than they have at any other time during the past five years. Hardly a day goes by but we receive notice of a change of ownership on land securing our loans. Just this morning we were advised by a party that he had sold six quarters in Cheyenne and Kimball counties. These lands were sold to farmers moving west.

"The farmer who looks ahead is the one who is buying this land. The United States department of agriculture reports that it is only a question of a few years before the United States will be on the import basis as far as farm products go.'

STOCK PRICES MOVE DOWN TO LOWER LEVELS

NEW YORK, April 25.—Narrow and professional stock markets, with prices moving gradually to lower levels, a strong and fairly active bond market, a strong market for sterling exchange, with cables quoted at 4.82, the highest in fifteen years; unsteady grain and cotton markets and slightly easier money markets were the principal features in the financial markets this week.

The stock exchange closed today as it opened on Monday with professional operations dominating the market and controlling prices of the majority of stock, particularly the specialty and motor stocks. The industrial leaders retained their firm position, however, and in many cases forced the bears to cover at a loss.

INDUSTRY AND STOCKS.

The week-end trade summaries were not very encouraging. They emphasize the recession in various lines of industry, the failure of other branches of trade to measure up to expectation and the falling off in retail buying. Commodity prices are on the downward slant, with metal prices touching bottom and grain prices the lowest of the current movement.

With the exception of the silk trade, textiles reported a falling off in sales and production, with little hope of immediate improvement. The automobile business is booming, most of the manufacturers being unable to keep pace with their enormous buying demand.

While the motor stocks were not as spectacular in the market movements as in the previous week, sales continued heavy. Maxwell B dropped about 8 points in the early part of the week and was able to recover but six points.

Mack Truck, General Motors and other motors sold off on profit-taking.

Oil and railroad shares moved up with occasional spurts of activity but there was nothing impressive in their movements. Oil stocks, in fact, lost most of their advance when Standard Oil and independent oil refineries resumed their price cutting in gasoline. Reading, Frisco, Southern Railway were the leaders in the rally in railroad stocks, while Union Pacific and Northwestern rails were sold on disappointing weakness.

ARBITRATION PLEA IS MADE BY KELLOGG

Secreary Of State Tells International Law Society He Unreservedly Favors World Tribunal For Settling Disputes.

MISUNDESTANDING CAUSE OF OPPOSITION

Declares Lawyers Should Educate People That Differences Between Nations Can Be Adjusted Peaceably And Without Arms.

(United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25—Secretary of State Kellogg in an address here tonight to the American Society of International Law declared himself unreservedly in favor of submission of all international disputes to an international tribunal

Kellogg did not refer specifically to the World court

"I am heartily in favor of a judicial tribunal to which nations may present their problems and their international disputes," he said

"I would be in favor of submitting all justifiable questions to an international tribunal

Kellogg said he did not expect such an advanced view to be accepted at once because he did not believe the world was ready

"But" said Kellogg, "if we get the tribunal and the world comes to think more in terms of international law, questions will be settled by it."

Invitation Accepted

The society today accepted the invitation of the League of Nations to collaborate with its committee of experts for the development of the codification of international law

Kellogg said he believed much of the opposition to a world court is due to a misunderstanding as to what questions would be put up to it. He explained that they would include all angles of different questions

The state secretary pointed with pride to the fact that the United States and England for 110 years has settled by diplomacy or arbitration every question arising between the two countries

"I hope and believe in a few years," he said, "that the many problems that have caused wars in the past will be submitted to international tribunals"

Fools Wars Needless

"Isn't it time to be conscious of the world's needs, and settle disputes between nations other than going to war?"

"Are we going to prepare for another war? Are we going to build armaments, land and naval? Are we going to inculcate in the minds of the people that they must settle disputes by war, or are we going to teach them that they may be settled peaceably by international tribunals?

"Here is a great opportunity for the lawyers. They can do more than any other class of people They are leaders in public life and training"

The society's report to the League of Nations will be submitted first to its membership and then by its council to the league not later than October 1.

Cleaning Firms Defendants In a Suit for $21,000

A damage suit for $21,000 was brought against fourteen cleaning and dying establishments in district court late Saturday by William P Johnson, who operated a plant known as the Real Cleaners at 123 North Fourteenth street for two years A conspiracy to ruin and destroy his business, which, he claimed returned him a gross income fo $7,000 annually, is claimed

Johnson alleges that a purported rival' was established by the defendants next to his place of business to cut prices on clothes cleaning work 50 per cent and drive him out of business On January 12, he alleges they also refused to take his work as they had done before He did not own a dry cleaning plant and as a conseuence was forced to send certain work to other cleaners, he claims He states that his business reputation and good will have been damaged in the sum of $7,000

BATTLE LINES TIGHTENED FOR SUNDAY VOTING

on his arrival inconspicuously at Cebiens for a speech Later French officers visited Marx at his hotel, the paper charged

Following the same general line of campaign argument, the Lokal Anzeiger said that the parties backing Marx are Moscow and the allies"

It added that Zinoviev, the powerful soviet leader, had passed the word to communists to vote for Marx, although the communists have a candidate of their own

Final Outcome in Doubt.

The possibility of Hindenburg winning tomorrow was a question which baffled unbiased political observers, if such there are in Germany tonight Twelve million voters stayed home March 29 the date of the preliminary election for the presidency The majority of these who did not vote are keenly interested in one or the other side of the campaign it is contended

Hindenburg's name brought a personal element into the campaign He stands for what one part of the German people admire and the other part abhors, the day of gold lace and military supremacy

This is a sample of the sentimental argument which has been addressed to the army reserves, who are now Hindenburg supporters according to his managers

"The old man stuck to his job at the most humiliating hour of his life He conquered himself and led the army back home and in perfect order Are you going to desert him now? He kept us from bolshevism Return faith for faith He will return to honor again"

Such appeals in behalf of Hindenburg have given the outside world the impression that there is a definite move on in Germany to restore the monarchy This has developed into a greater bugaboo outside of Germany than it has at home. The return of the former kaiser is out of the question politically observers declared There was said to be little sentiment for a restoration of the kaiser and in some quarters bitter antagonism among his one time faithful followers.

The former crown prince or eldest son would be equally impossible, politicians said

WALSH PLANS CONTEST STEP

Wheeler on charges that they conspired to get fraudulent oil drilling permits from the government, has notified federal authorities he will contest his removal from Great Falls to Washington for trial

This will force the government to bring removal proceedings in the Great Falls court in which the validity of the indictment will be an issue

Government Proceeds

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON April 25 — Apparently undisturbed by the acquittal of Senator Burton K Wheeler, in his Montana trial, the government will proceed to bring him to trial in Washington on a second indictment charging conspiracy to defraud the government out of valuable mineral lands

This was the only comment forthcoming today from the department of justice in the Wheeler case Officials there said they were not greatly surprised at the verdict at Great Falls, finding Senator Wheeler not guilty of misusing his senatorial office for there had been "admitted weakness in the government's case"

While friends of Senator Wheeler charge that the Montana and Washington indictments are the same thing government attorneys sharply dispute this pointing out that the second indictment was returned against Wheeler late in the administration of Attorney General Stone now on the Supreme court bench

NEW ORDER ISSUED.

WASHINGTON, April 25 — All railroads were ordered by the interstate commerce commission today to give a second class shipment rating to cigars in car loads and to establish a minimum car load weight of 30,000 pounds on such shipments.

WANTED IN LONDON.

VANCOUVER B. C., April 25—Dr Martin L Belford who waived extradition suddenly and returned today to Detroit Mich, to face charges of embezzlement, is wanted for murder by Scotland Yard London, under the name of Stanislaus Cevelsky, police authorities stated here today.

LAUNCH ATTACK ON OAHU ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC

Mighty U. S. Forces Of Sea, Land And Air In Grip Of "Battle."

First Casualty Occurs When Airplane Crashes At Fort Shafter.

(United Press)

HONOLULU, April 25 — (By Radio)—The mighty forces of sea, land and air, were at grips, tonight for the possession of the Hawaiian islands, with a major engagement of "Blue" and "Black" forces reported between Molokai and Lanai

The "casualties" and the progress of the "battle," in which a "foreign foe" seeks to hold the cross roads of the Pacific from American capture is as yet unknown

The first actual casualty in the 'battle of Oahu" occurred late this afternoon when a De Haviland plane crashed into a house at Fort Shafter, to which it was carrying a message in connection with the Black' meneuvers

Lieut Raymond Morrison pilot suffered a broken arm and internal injuries Staff Sergeant Hamblin with him in the plane, was unhurt

At 1 30 this afternoon "Blue" submarines from the attacking fleet were reported reconnoitering on the southeast coast of the island with the purpose of establishing land bases on the islands of Molokai and Lanai, from which operations could be directed against the Hawaiian defenses

"Black" Planes Attack.

Reports said that the "enemy" in an attempt to land small boats at Honalon was attacked by a fleet of "Black" planes and the landing force beaten off

There is a considerable concentration of "enemy" strength four miles south of Kaunakala, according to advices at "Black" headquarters 'Blue" reconnaisance is reported to have been seen, nearby

Black" aircraft and submarines are concentrating in an effort to find the mother ship for the "Blue" air squadron, in the hope of crippling her and reducing the effectiveness of the "Blues" before they launch a great air attack against Oahu, centering at Pearl harbor

If the "Black" defenders against the "Blue" American forces are successful in this aim it would leave the "Blue" fleet without an air offensive except those scouting planes from the eleven battleships in the attacking squadron

FIGURING ON NEW CAPITOL

tion for the interior are included in the second section, although the tower above the main edifice and the wing which is to run westward from the center are reserved as the third and last division of the capitol's construction

Cost About 2½ Millions.

It is estimated that the cost of the second section, which comprises the basement, the central retunda and its overhead dome, and the north, south and east legs connecting with the outer section, will be in the neighborhood of $2,500,000 The first section, counting in all preliminary architectural and engineering services and special surveys, cost $3 000,000 and the last one will probably come to $2,500 000 This will make a total of $8,000,000 for the building itself, with several hundred thousand dollars more to be spent for landscaping effects, a heating plant, and other auxiliary features

There are prospects of getting a number of bids for general excavation and construction next Tuesday, on an actively competitive basis For those who may wish to bid only on particular items, the work has been divided into 15 divisions, or trades but anyone who cares to do so may bid on the entire project

All members of th capitol commission are expected to be present when the bids are opened Tuesday noon O S Murray of New York, representing the B G Goodhue associates, will come to advise with the commission on various details, with W L Younkin and M A Baugh who are locally in charge of capitol construction

Razing Abandoned Structure.

The old capitol, already striped of its doors windows interior furnishings, and sheet metal roofing will be formally turned over Monday to the wrecking contractors and work on its demolition will proceed rapidly under the contract allowing 75 days for the tearing down operations. The contractors expect to remove 20 carloads of materials a day the whole amount being estimated at 1 100 carloads

Early in July as now anticipated, excavation will begin for the second section on the site of the old edifice Foundations and supporting piers are to be in place before the advent of winter so that work can go ahead on the superstructure whenever the weather permits

Jobs Daughters Give Carnival And Dance

About 350 people attended the carnival and dance given by Jobs Daughters Bethel No 5 at the Masonic Temple Twenty-seventh and S streets Saturday evening for the benefit of the educational fund of the organization Cornelia Weaver was chairman of the general committee and other committee chairmen were Virginia Leger, Helen Blecker, Betty Birdsall, Creba Bricka, Thora Baer, Anna Brackett, Bobbet Sears, Ruth Van Syoc, Emanuell Waldo, and Ruby Sandstedt

Carnival stunts and dancing furnished entertainment following the program

A GOVERNMENT POLICE FORCE IS CONSIDERED

Two courses suggested to President Coolidge to bring the national constabulary into an open operation

1—An executive order directing that various law enforcement arms of the government detail men for the new force from their present personnel and fixing duties of the constabulary until legislation is obtained

2—Recommendation for congressional action that will create a national police force giving it distinctive designation, place it under jurisdiction of an already organized department, set forth its duties and provide for personnel.

Both the treasury department and department of justice were suggested to direct the national police The treasury already has jurisdiction of customs, prohibition and the coast guard The principal duties of the constabulary would be found along international borders and in the territories. In some respects it would have the characteristics of the famous Canadian Northwest Mounted police

Colonel Smither declined to comment on the plan aside from expressing the opinion that eventually it would be necessary for the government to provide some form of national police protection

WALTON OPENS FIGHT

OKAHOMA CITY Okla, April 25—Former Gov J C Walton today started a fight to clear himself of charges of diversion of state funds while governor of Oklahoma. His attorney filed a motion with the Criminal Court of Appeals to dismiss the charge which was one of several returned in an indictment, which resulted in Walton's impeachment as governor, one and one-half years ago

AN INQUIRY LAUNCHED.

CHICAGO, April 25—The government opened war on the alleged "furniture trust" today when 250 subpoenas were issued by Federal Judge Carpenter for witnesses to appear before a grand jury It is expected that the probe into the charges of price fixing will consume several months. The government has been gathering evidence for months and Assistant Attorney General Roger Shale and Assistant Attorney General William Benham have opened offices in the federal building

CHICAGO SLAYING SOLUTION NEARER

Body Of Woman Found Near Budleng Golf Links Partially Identified.

CHICAGO, April 25.—A butcher knife, a woman's slipper, a tattered piece of women's underwear and five pieces of bone were found today in the sewer in which the torso of the golf links mystery girl was found several days ago.

These clues were dug up from the soft mud in the bottom of the catch basin near the Budleng golf course by policemen sent to pump out the sewer to which the catch basin is attached, in the belief that the mystery of the victim's identity may be cleared by what is found in the sewer

The slipper was partly identified by Frank Kocurek as one worn by his wife, Anna, who has been missing since November 28, of last year. He also partly identified the hat found in the underbrush near the basin.

Kocurek said that when she disappeared she took with her their savings of $24,000 and at the same time one of their boarders disappeared.

COMMISSION COMMENTS.

WASHINGTON, April 25—The receivership of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul railroad, which jarred financial circles some weeks ago, was made the subject of an official statement today by the interstate commerce commission in which it was indicated that the failure of H R Byram, president of the road, to change collateral now on deposit in the treasury, may have been in part responsible for the receivership proceedings

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty" It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S S S will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S S S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S S S are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

ARBITRATION PLEA IS MADE BY KELLOGG

Secreary Of State Tells Internatinal Law Society He Unreservedly Favors World Tribunal For Settling Disputes.

MISUNDESTANDING CAUSE OF OPPOSITION

Declares Lawyers Should Educate People That Differences Between Nations Can Be Adjusted Peaceably And Without Arms.

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary of State Kellogg in an address here tonight to the American Society of International Law declared himself unreservedly in favor of submission of all international disputes to an international tribunal.

Kellogg did not refer specifically to the World court.

"I am heartily in favor of a judicial tribunal to which nations may present their problems and their international disputes," he said.

"I would be in favor of submitting all justifiable questions to an international tribunal."

Kellogg said he did not expect such an advanced view to be accepted at once because he did not believe the world was ready.

"But," said Kellogg, "if we get the tribunal and the world comes to think more in terms of international law, questions will be settled by it."

Invitation Accepted.

The society today accepted the invitation of the League of Nations to collaborate with its committee of experts for the development of the codification of international law.

Kellogg said he believed much of the opposition to a world court is due to a misunderstanding as to what questions would be put up to it. He explained that they would include all angles of different questions.

The state secretary pointed with pride to the fact that the United States and England for 110 years has settled by diplomacy or arbitration every question arising between the two countries.

"I hope and believe in a few years," he said, "that the many problems that have caused wars in the past will be submitted to international tribunals."

Feels Wars Needless.

"Isn't it time to be conscious of the world's needs, and settle disputes between nations other than going to war?"

"Are we going to prepare for another war? Are we going to build armaments, land and naval? Are we going to inculcate in the minds of the people that they must settle disputes by war, or are we going to teach them that they may be settled peaceably by international tribunals?

"Here is a great opportunity for the lawyers. They can do more than any other class of people. They are leaders in public life and training."

The society's report to the League of Nations will be submitted first to its membership and then by its council to the league not later than October 15.

Cleaning Firms Defendants In a Suit for $21,000

A damage suit for $21,000 was brought against fourteen cleaning and dying establishments in district court late Saturday by William P. Johnson, who operated a plant known as the Real Cleaners at 123 North Fourteenth street for two years. A conspiracy to ruin and destroy his business, which, he claimed returned him a gross income fo $7,000 annually, is claimed.

Johnson alleges that a "purported rival" was established by the defendants next to his place of business to cut prices on clothes cleaning work 50 per cent and drive him out of business. On Jaunary 12, he alleges they also refused to take his work as they had done before. He did not own a dry cleaning plant and as a conseuence was forced to send certain work to other cleaners, he claims. He states that his business reputation and good will have been damaged in the sum of $7,000.

on his arrival inconspicuously at Cobienz for a speech. Later French officers visited Marx at his hotel, the paper charged.

Following the same general line of campaign argument, the Lokal Anzeiger said that the "parties backing Marx are Moscow and the allies."

It added that Zinoviev, the powerful soviet leader, had passed the word to communists to vote for Marx, although the communists have a candidate of their own.

Final Outcome In Doubt.

The possibility of Hindenburg winning tomorrow was a question which baffled unbiased political observers, if such there are in Germany tonight. Twelve million voters stayed home March 29, the date of the preliminary election for the presidency. The majority of those who did not vote are keenly interested in one or the other side of the campaign, it is contended.

Hindenburg's name brought a personal element into the campaign. He stands for what one part of the German people admire and the other part abhors, the day of gold lace and military supremacy.

This is a sample of the sentimental argument which has been addressed to the army reserves, who are now Hindenburg supporters, according to his managers.

"The old man stuck to his job at the most humilating hour of his life. He conquered himself and led the army back home and in perfect order. Are you going to desert him now? He kept us from bolshevism. Return faith for faith. He will return to honor again."

Such appeals in behalf of Hindenburg have given the outside world the impression that there is a definite move on in Germany to restore the monarchy. This has developed into a greater bugaboo outside of Germany than it has at home. The return of the former kaiser is out of the question political observers declared. There was said to be little sentiment for a restoration of the kaiser and in some quarters bitter antagonism among his one time faithful followers.

The former crown prince or eldest son would be equally impossible, politicians said.

Wheeler on charges that they conspired to get fraudulent oil drilling permits from the government, has notified federal authorities he will contest his removal from Great Falls to Washington for trial.

This will force the government to bring removal proceedings in the Great Falls court in which the validity of the indictment will be an issue.

Government Proceeds.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 25. — Apparently undisturbed by the acquittal of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, in his Montana trial, the government will proceed to bring him to trial in Washington on a second indictment charging conspiracy to defraud the government out of valuable mineral lands.

This was the only comment forthcoming today from the department of justice in the Wheeler case. Officials there said they were not greatly surprised at the verdict at Great Falls, finding Senator Wheeler not guilty of misusing his senatorial office, for there had been "admitted weakness in the government's case."

While friends of Senator Wheeler charge that the Montana and Washington indictments are the same thing, government attorneys sharply dispute this, pointing out that the second indictment was returned against Wheeler late in the administration of Attorney General Stone, now on the Supreme court bench.

NEW ORDER ISSUED.

WASHINGTON, April 25. — All railroads were ordered by the interstate commerce commission today to give a second class shipment rating to cigars in car loads and to establish a minimum car load weight of 30,000 pounds on such shipments.

WANTED IN LONDON.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 25.—Dr. Martin L. Belford, who waived extradition suddenly and returned today to Detroit, Mich., to face charges of embezzlement, is wanted for murder by Scotland Yard, London, under the name of Stanislaus Covelsky, police authorities stated here today.

LAUNCH ATTACK ON OAHU ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC

Mighty U. S. Forces Of Sea, Land And Air In Grip Of "Battle."

First Casualty Occurs When Airplane Crashes At Fort Shafter.

(United Press.)

HONOLULU, April 25. — (By Radio)—The mighty forces of sea, land and air, were at grips, tonight for the possession of the Hawaiian islands, with a major engagement of "Blue" and "Black" forces reported between Molokai and Lanai.

The "casualties" and the progress of the "battle," in which a "foreign foe" seeks to hold the cross roads of the Pacific from American capture, is as yet unknown.

The first actual casualty in the "battle of Oahu" occurred late this afternoon when a De Haviland plane crashed into a house at Fort Shafter, to which it was carrying a message in connection with the "Black" meneuvers.

Lieut. Raymond Morrison, pilot, suffered a broken arm and internal injuries. Staff Sergeant Hamblin, with him in the plane, was unhurt.

At 1:30 this afternoon "Blue" submarines from the attacking fleet were reported reconnoitering on the southeast coast of the island, with the purpose of establishing land bases on the islands of Molokai and Lanai, from which operations could be directed against the Hawaiian defenses.

"Black" Planes Attack.

Reports said that the "enemy" in an attempt to land small boats at Honaton was attacked by a fleet of "Black" planes and the landing force beaten off.

There is a considerable concentration of "enemy" strength four miles south of Kaunakaia, according to advices at "Black" headquarters. "Blue" reconnaisance is reported to have been seen, nearby.

"Black" aircraft and submarines are concentrating in an effort to find the mother ship for the "Blue" air squadron, in the hope of crippling her and reducing the effectiveness of the "Blues" before they launch a great air attack against Oahu, centering at Pearl harbor.

If the "Black" defenders against the "Blue" American forces are successful in this aim, it would leave the "Blue" fleet without an air offensive except those scouting planes from the eleven battleships in the attacking squadron.

tion for the interior are included in the second section, although the tower above the main edifice and the wing which is to run westward from the center are reserved as the third and last division of the capitol's construction.

Cost About 2½ Millions.

It is estimated that the cost of the second section, which comprises the basement, the central rotunda and its overhead dome, and the north, south and east legs connecting with the outer section, will be in the neighborhood of $2,500,000. The first section, counting in all preliminary architectural and engineering services and special surveys, cost $3,000,000, and the last one will probably come to $2,500,000. This will make a total of $8,000,000 for the building itself, with several hundred thousand dollars more to be spent for landscaping effects, a heating plant, and other auxiliary features.

There are prospects of getting a number of bids for general excavation and construction next Tuesday, on an actively competitive basis. For those who may wish to bid only on particular items, the work has been divided into 15 divisions, or trades, but anyone who cares to do so may bid on the entire project.

All members of th capitol commission are expected to be present when the bids are opened Tuesday noon. O. S. Murray of New York, representing the B. G. Goodhue associates, will come to advise with the commission on various details, with W. L. Younkin and M. A. Baugh, who are locally in charge of capitol construction.

Razing Abandoned Structure.

The old capitol, already striped of its doors, windows, interior furnishings, and sheet metal roofing, will be formally turned over Monday to the wrecking contractors and work on its demolition will proceed rapidly under the contract allowing 75 days for the tearing down operations. The contractors expect to remove 20 carloads of materials a day the whole amount being estimated at 1,100 carloads.

Early in July as now anticipated, excavation will begin for the second section, on the site of the old edifice. Foundations and supporting piers are to be in place before the advent of winter, so that work can go ahead on the superstructure whenever the weather permits.

Jobs Daughters Give Carnival And Dance

About 350 people attended the carnival and dance given by Jobs Daughters Bethel No. 5 at the Masonic Temple, Twenty-seventh and S streets, Saturday evening for the benefit of the educational fund of the organization. Cornelia Weaver was chairman of the general committee and other committee chairmen were Virginia Loper, Helen Riecker, Betty Birdsall, Creba Bricka, Thora Baer, Anna Brackett, Bobbet Sears, Ruth Van Syoc, Emanuell Waldo, and Ruby Sandstedt.

Miss Mary Field, honored queen, spoke briefly of the purpose of the entertainment. The program included a piano solo by Alice Wing, vocal duet by Alice and George Wyckoff, readings by Kenneth Seeley, and a drill by twenty-four girls led by Anna Brackett and instructed by O. B. Anderson. Carnival stunts and dancing furnished entertainment following the program.

Two courses suggested to President Coolidge to bring the national constabulary into an open operation:

1.—An executive order directing that various law enforcement arms of the government detail men for the new force from their present personnel and fixing duties of the constabulary until legislation is obtained.

2.—Recommendation for congressional action that will create a national police force, giving it distinctive designation, place it under jurisdiction of an already organized department, set forth its duties and provide for personnel.

Both the treasury department and department of justice were suggested to direct the national police. The treasury already has jurisdiction of customs, prohibition and the coast guard. The principal duties of the constabulary would be found along international borders and in the territories. In some respects it would have the characteristics of the famous Canadian Northwest Mounted police.

Colonel Smither declined to comment on the plan aside from expressing the opinion that eventually it would be necessary for the government to provide some form of national police protection.

WALTON OPENS FIGHT

OKAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 25—Former Gov. J. C. Walton today started a fight to clear himself of charges of diversion of state funds while governor of Oklahoma. His attorney filed a motion with the Criminal Court of Appeals to dismiss the charge which was one of several returned in an indictment, which resulted in Walton's impeachment as governor, one and one-half years ago.

AN INQUIRY LAUNCHED.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The government opened war on the alleged "furniture trust" today when 250 subpoenas were issued by Federal Judge Carpenter for witnesses to appear before a grand jury. It is expected that the probe into the charges of price fixing will consume several months. The government has been gathering evidence for months and Assistant Attorney General Roger Shale and Assistant Attorney General William Benham have opened offices in the federal building.

CHICAGO SLAYING SOLUTION NEARER

Body Of Woman Found Near Budlong Golf Links Partially Identified.

CHICAGO, April 25.—A butcher knife, a woman's slipper, a tattered piece of women's underwear and five pieces of bone were found today in the sewer in which the torso of the golf links m ystery girl was found several days ago.

These clues were dug up from the soft mud in the bottom of the catch basin near the Budlong golf course by policemen sent to pump out the sewer to which the catch basin is attached, in the belief that the mystery of the victim's identity may be cleared by what is found in the sewer.

The slipper was partly identified by Frank Kocurek as one worn by his wife, Anna, who has been missing since November 28, of last year. He also partly identified the hat found in the underbrush near the basin.

Kocurek said that when she disappeared she took with her their savings of $34,000 and at the same time one of their boarders disappeared.

COMMISSION COMMENTS.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The receivership of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, which jarred financial circles some weeks ago, was made the subject of an official statement today by the interstate commerce commission in which it was indicated that the failure of H. R. Byram, president of the road, to change collateral now on deposit in the treasury, may have been in part responsible for the receivership proceedings.

SCORES BOLSHEVISTS.

LONDON, April 25.—"Clear out the bolsheviks," urged the Rothermere newspapers in an editorial today, commenting on precautions taken to prevent a repetition of the Sofia cathedral bombing, during the funeral service today of General Lord Rawlinson. St. Margaret's church, where the services will be held before a gathering of dignitaries, has been carefully searched for bombs.

SCOTT LOSING HOPE.

CHICAGO, April 25. — Lifting heavy wistful eyes to the rays of light that came into his narrow cell Russell Scott, a master salesman at 28 but a convicted murderer at 31, today despaired of making his last great sales talk—a plea to spare his life. The state supreme court has ruled he cannot have a new trial—that he must hang by the neck until dead before sunrise, June 17.

RESIGNATION REFUSED.

LISBON, April 25.—The Portuguese congress today refused to accept the resignation of President Tsixeira Gomez. Gomez has been president eighteen months, during which time there have been four revoults. The latest was last Saturday and Sunday. The congress, voting 105 to 18, strongly praised Gomez' rule.

HOLD SUSPECTS.

FORT LUPAON, Col., April 25.—Five Mexicans were held in jail here today in connection with the assault last Friday on Lamoyne Arnold, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold.

COSTLY NECKLACE STOLEN.

NICE, April 25.—A pearl necklace valued at 800,000 francs (about $40,000) was stolen from the boudoir of Marquise De Maleissye, formerly Edith Lyman Collins of New York, she reported to police tonight.

University Notes

Certificates of graduation and admittance to the university are being mailed to high schools of the state. All students who are expected to graduate will be listed, with tentative grades, which may be changed later. Two blanks are being sent this year, one for the four-year high school and one for the three-year senior high school. The last is an innovation recently adopted by the universities of Nebraska, Missouri and Michigan. By a system recently adopted, normal schools and colleges in the state may get these grades from the University, obviating the necessity of the student bringing his certificate with him to matriculate.

Lieutenant Colonel Frank E. Jewett, Infantry, has been detailed as professor of military science and tactics at the University for the next school year. He will succeed Major Sidney Erickson, who has been commandant for four years, the maximum allowed on "detached duty." Colonel Jewett is now at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kas. Major Erickson will go to the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., and then on duty with troops. Colonel Jewett was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1901 and entered the army as a second lieutenant in 1902. His appointment becomes effective July 1.

Dr. G. E. Condra, director of the conservation and survey division, returned last week from Scottsbluff, where he has been serving as a member of the federal board on irrigation survey and adjustment, by which claims amounting to several millions of dollars are being settled. The other members of the board are former Governor Thomas Campbell of Arizona, Dr. John A. Widtsoe, former president of the University of Utah, and W. S. Goodwin, assistant secretary of the interior. Other meetings will be held in the next month at Washington, D. C., and Denver, Colo. The matter of a complete detailed land classification of the North Platte valley has been referred to the soil survey department of the university.

The Nebraska chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship fraternity, elected the following officers: Prof. Orin Stepanek, president; Maurice Smith, vice president; Gertrude Smith, historian; Prof. Allan B. Congdon, secretary; Prof. Adeline Reynoldson, treasurer.

Prof. E. E. Luckey of the department of geology and geography spent most of the last week in consultation with publishers of a new textbook in elementary geography, of which he is co-author. The book will be published within the year, it is thought.

George E. Read, '24, Omaha, has been awarded a fellowship in physics at the University of Chicago. He is now graduate assistant in Brace laboratory. In the past few months he has given Prof. B. N. Moore valuable assistance in work he is conducting in collaboration with the U. S. bureau of standards, Washington, D. C. In the meantime Mr. Read has undertaken some work independently in the same line and is obtaining promising results.

Executive Dean Carl C. Engberg attended the meetings at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C., April 23-25, of deans of men from colleges and universities through the country. On his way to the meeting he stopped at Pittsburgh and Washington, D. C., to visit museums. He will return Tuesday.

The leading article in the April issue of the Journal of Geography is on "The Resources of Honduras," by Prof. N. A. Bengston of the department of geology and geography. The article deals particularly with the undeveolped resources of Honduras and the possibilities of future development on an economic basis.

The weekly news letter of the university extension division for last week announced the program for the summer session of the university.

The monthly extension division luncheon was held Tuesday at the Grand hotel, at which Dr. Hattie Plum Williams, chairman of the department of political science and sociology, spoke on the work of the division as related to sociology. She reviewed the history of extension work and told of the trend to enlarge its scope and make it of more value to the industrial classes.

Miss Frances Piekarski, visiting teacher of the Lincoln schools, lectured to the child welfare class recently on her work.

Lectures on agricultural subjects were broadcast each noon last week by the college of agriculture from university station WFAV. The programs begin at 12:15 p. m. Monday to Friday, inclusive.

Doane College News

Considerable interest is being manifested in the musical contest to be given during commencement time by students of the conservatory. There will be contests in piano, violin, and voice, competing for cash prizes.

The second orchestra concert of the year will be given in the college chapel Friday night, May 1.

Professor Blair's Sunday school class gave a party at the home of Miss Myrtle Benne in honor of Miss Bowlus Saturday evening. The evening was spent playing games and light refreshments were served. The class presented Miss Bowlus with a gift in appreciation of her work.

Melvin W. Binger, '21, who received his master's degree from the University of Nebraska last June, is now doing research work under a fellowship at the university Medical College in Omaha. He will receive his M. D. next June.

Rev. Ervin Inglis spoke in chapel on Friday, April 17, on "Opportunity in the Ministry." Rev. Inglis is a brother of Miss Mary Ellen Inglis of the dramatic department.

Mrs. W. S. Huxford entertained at luncheon Saturday noon, April 18, in honor of Miss Dorothy Blatter, '25. Those present were Mrs. E. B. Dean, Marion Carter, Mildred Kraemer, Irene Spencer, Harriet Whalen, and LaVerne Marshall.

There was an Estes park rally at Gaylord hall Monday evening. Toasts were given and the Estes park songs were sung.

Francis Miller, Y. M. C. A. secretary from New York, spoke in chapel Wednesday morning.

The intercollegiate extemporaneous contest will be held May 15, at Grand Island. The subject is to be the "Public Press." The special phase of the subject will be wired by the national press of Pi Kappa Delta one hour before the contest. Classes in public speaking will work on this subject.

A son, Marion Chamberlain, was born April 16, 1925, to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rogers (Caroline A. Hosford, ex-'16), of 1437 South Troose street, Tulsa Okla.

The new Doane catalog is off the press.

Prof. and Mrs. C. O. Carlson will return to Doane next year, Professor Carlson to take up his work in the department of biology and Mrs. Carlson in the conservatory. Professor and Mrs. Carlson have spent a year at Ann Arbor studying.

President Dean made a trip to Northfield, Minn., Monday to secure the services of Buell G. Gallagher as an instructor at Doane for the coming year. Mr. Gallagher will give a course each semester in economics, teaching public speaking, and coach the orators and debaters. Mr. Gallagher has been one of the most successful debaters in Carleton college this year and will receive his degree in June. He is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, a national honorary society in public speaking and was elected to Phi Betta Kappa.

Chadron Normal

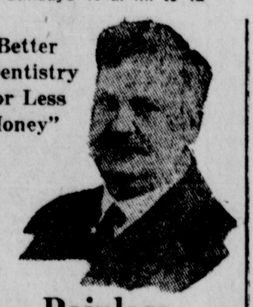

Two hundred fifty guests were assembled in the gymnasium at the freshman-sophomore banquet friday evening. In decorations the Colonial idea was carried out. Miss Delzell sponsors the freshman class who gave the banquet. Elvina Dean, '28, sang "The Old Fashioned Garden." Eight little girls from the training school, Peggy Parsons, Phyllis Proudfit, Josephine Hudson, Eleanor Morey, Betty McDowell, Betty Moehler, Eleanor Nylan, and Eleanor Cook danced a quadrille. Elizabeth Patterson and Rosemary Maynard danced a minuet. Louise Unthank danced a gavotte. On the toast list were Earl Buckingham, '28, toastmaster, Malcolm Sweeney, '27, Ardath Ross, '28, Noel Brennan, '28, Vida McMillan, '27, Orin Weymouth, '25, Miss Work, and President R. I. Elliott.

Malcolm Sweeney, '25, was the winner of the essay contest on the subject "The Federal Constitution and the Courts." His essay will be entered as a representative essay from this school in the contest conducted by the State Bar association in which twenty-three schools are entered.

Resolutions of sympathy for the family of Frances Waggoner of Gordon, who was killed in an automobile accident here last week were adopted by the students and faculty in the training school.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

DEAF? A POST-CARD BRINGS JOY OF GOOD HEARING AGAIN

Amazing Invention enables deaf to hear instantly
Sent on Ten Days5 Free Trial

Some folks imagine that deafness is merely a personal annoyance. But it's far more than that. It ruins the disposition. Upsets the nerves. And taxes the health.

Now science has proven it needless to remain deaf. A remarkable little personal hearing aid has been perfected by a group of New York scientists. Immediately restores good hearing even to the poorest ears. Results are immediate, there is no waiting, no delay, no danger. You hear at once—clearly, distinctly, naturally.

The inventors are so sure you will be elated with this wonderful little discovery that they offer to send it to you without a string of any kind—for 10 days' free trial. No red tape—no deposit, no C. O. D's of any kind. To take advantage of this liberal trial offer, simply write to the Dictograph Products Corp., Dept. 1386, 220 West 42nd St., New York City. In justice to yourself, please do this now.

If you have lost hope through other methods, we are even more anxious to have you try this remarkable little invention. For it will not fail you; and there is nothing for you to lose. Simply send name and address now. —Advertisement.

CHEVALIER SAYS BUSINESS BETTER

Lincoln Dealer Just Back From Trade Trip to Akron, O.

Reports That Balloon Tires Come Into Wide Popularity.

"Business conditions look good in the automotive industry," declared P. R. Chevalier, Lincoln dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., for this section, who has just returned from a week's sales conference at Akron where the great Goodyear factories are located.

"Akron is easily the tire center of the country, with 65 per cent of the tires sold in the United States being made in that city," said Mr Chevalier.

Reports made by factory representatives from every section of the United States indicate that while no great boom is expected, there should be very satisfactory business during the year.

Mr. Chevalier spent two days in going through the plant, studying every phase of tire construction, also visited departments devoted to the manufacture of soles and heels, farm belts, conveyor belts, garden hose, golf balls and other products made by this company.

"The big thing today seems to be balloon tires," said Mr. Chevalier. "In every section of the country the demand for balloons is increasing at an amazing rate.

"The automobile manufacturers have come over to balloons practically 100 per cent with these three tires as standard or optional equipment on most makes of cars. The public is discovering that it can get the advantages of balloon tire equipment on present cars through the interchangeable balloons which fit present rims or by putting on small diameter wheels built especially for balloon tires.

Balloon Popularity Grows.

"Whatever skepticism balloon tires had to face at the outset has disappeared since the tires have been out long enough by now for the public to be convinced that in addition to their easy riding qualities they are giving more satisfactory mileage, have better traction and non-skid qualities and have proved definitely superior to the old high-pressure tires.

"Goodyear's success in building balloon tires has of course been aided by its supertwist cord, which has much higher resiliency than the old cord fabric and so gives still better cushioning as well as better wearing qualities.

"The supertwist cord is another product of Goodyear's experimental laboratories which for years have been working out improvements in tire manufacture, and have given the industry the straight side tire, now standard over the world, the first practical cord tire and the pneumatic truck tire.

"Goodyear has its own cotton mills at Goodyear, Conn., New Bedford, Mass., and Los Angeles, operates a great cotton plantation in Arizona and a rubber plantation in Sumatra, thus giving the company control over the quality of the raw materials that go into the tire and which very largely determine the mileage the tire will give.

"Incidentally it is significant that the successive improvements in manufacture under quantity production methods enabled marked economies to be made in production costs, so that the automobile tire is one of the few articles today whoch can be had at less than prewar costs.

"And this lowering of costs has been accompanied by a steady improvement in quality. For every automobile owner who drove a car in 1914 knows that he gets four or five times as many miles out of his tires today as he did at that time."

SPRING BUSINESS CONTINUES HEAVY

Hudson-Essex Dealers Report Double the Average Volume of Sales.

"The old fashioned 'Spring rush' is a hardy animal. There were predictions during the winter that the great swing to closed cars would level out this old time feature of the business. But good as winter business was, our April sales are going at a rate just twice as fast," says J. C. Higgins of the Lord Auto Co., Hudson-Essex distributor.

"For example, the fore part of April has a volume of new Hudson Essex cars sold and registered—about ninety-six per cent of them being coaches—which is double our average volume for the year. This is despite the fact that our winter business was consistently good.

"It all goes to show that there is something in the air of spring that wakes up a man's motoring urge. Men who have been thinking of buying cars suddenly put their money in their pocket, and get ready to buy. That is the same urge which wakes up the clothing and sporting goods markets, and makes women look about for new bonnets and wraps.

"We are fortunate that this season of great demand is being met by an unprecedented production of cars at the Hudson-Essex plant. The factory is now working 24 hours a day to keep up with the demand for prompt deliveries. One thousand cars a day—the largest six cylinder business, by far, in the industry—are being made, and we would be mighty glad if the number could be increased.

"Our activity in this city is simply typical of what is going on all around the country The cities and country, the east and the west, all are finding a demand for Hudson-Essex cars which they must exert every effort to fill. The demand for Hudson and Essex is simply overwhelming.

"It looks to me as if April, May and June of this year would furnish one of the most striking spring rushes of business we ever have known. The motor car that deserves success and a demand from the public is going to sell in large numbers.

"The demand for Essex particularly is something most remarkable. I do not believe we shall be able to catch up with it all this year."

DEALERS TURN TO WILLYS-OVERLAND

Prominent Retailers Will Handle New Models In Principal Cities.

Unusual interest in the Willys-Overland motor car franchise is being manifested by prominent automobile dealers throughout the country as the result of the announcement of the new models earlier in the year. As a result a number of important dealer connections have been completed in larger retail centers.

Earlier in the year new large deals were closed at Philadelphia, Cleveland, Washington, and a prominent distributor for the Argentine republic with headquarters at Buenos Aires. More recently new dealers were obtained at Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Denver and Milwaukee, in each instance the new additions to the Willys-Overland rank being business men prominent for years in the automobile circles in their respective communities.

The Moore-Overland company, headed by William F. Moore, for years a well known dealer of motor cars, has taken over the Overland franchise at Milwaukee as a city dealer.

At Pittsburgh the latest addition to the ranks of the city dealers is that very fertile retail territory, is the Rea-Seagert company. Both Guy Rea and G. H. Seagert have been associated with Willys-Overland for a number of years

Lynn C. Buxton, pioneer automobile man in southern California, has taken over a city retail contract at Los Angeles Buxton has been identified with the automobile industry since 1910 and is ranked as one of the leading experts on Knight-motored automobiles on the Pacific coast.

At Denver two changes have been made, the Overland-Knight Sales company taking over the Charles N. Smith Motors company contract and personnel, with Norman Brink as president, and E. D. Paige as vice president and general manager of the new organization The South Denver Motor company, with Byron S. Griffith as president, is another new connection at this point.

Still another prominent addition to the list of new dealers in the export field is the signing of Mark L. Moody, Inc., Shanghai, China, with a distribution territory comprising the provinces of Kiangsu, Chekiang, Anhwei, Honan, Pupeh, Kiangsi, Hunan and Szechwan. A shipment of new models has already gone forward to the Celestial republic from the factory at Toledo, including new Overland and Willys-Knight Sixes.

Sudden skidding wears a flat place in the tread of tires and causes separation in the carcass—all due to sudden application of brakes and excessive sliding of wheels.

TEST VIBRATION OF HUPP MOTOR

Officials Demonstrate Smoothness of New Eight At All Speeds.

A cigaret doesn't weigh very much.

Stand it up on end and the slightest jar will upset it.

So when officials of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation were looking for a suitable object to test the smoothness of the Hupmobile Eight engine they selected a cigaret and placed it on the fender of a new Eight touring car. The engine was then started and run at varying speeds from idling to wide open throttle—the equivalent of 70 miles an hour.

"Throughout the engine's entire speed range the cigaret remained upright. Were there any engine vibration it surely would be so magnified in transmission to the fenders that no such object as a cigaret would remain there a moment," said C. C. Hutchinson, general sales manager, who was an interested spectator while this test was being made. This result was not unexpected, however, as during the block-testing of the motor before production started, another more difficult test was made by standing a penny upright on the cylinder head and running the engine wide open. Despite the different speeds at which the engine was turned over the penny didn't quiver a bit. It stood on end just as quietly as when the engine wasn't running at all.

Factory men made a number of engine demonstrations, showing that the new Eight power plant is entirely free from vibration and runs just as smoothly at top speed as when operated at ordinary driving ranges.

In commenting on what he termed "most remarkable exhibitions" Mr. Hutchinson added:

"When Hupmobile was making plans to build this Eight the engineers were instructed to produce an engine that would be entirely free from vibration. They have been singularly successful. I have witnessed many different methods of demonstrating the smoothness of an automobile engine—but never before have I seen a cigaret used. It is twice as effective because it is so much lighter. The slightest jar will upset it.

"If you don't believe it try it on the fender of your own car."

Cleaning the Upholstery.

Dust that gathers in the depressions of cushions, as well as the folds of the back and sides, can be easily removed with an old shaving brush. Cut off most of the handle of the brush and, in the centre of the handle, drive an ordinary nail with the head filed off. Place the end of the nail in the jaws of a hand drill and with this dust out the depressions of the upholstery. Due to the high speed of the drill, the dust is quickly removed.

A Bad Habit.

Choking the motor, or giving it an extra heavy charge of gas does not make it start easier, but the gas vapor does condense in the cylinders and run down the pistons and rings, removing the lubricating oil, diluting the oil in the crankcase and removing the oil from the valve stems.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE

Preventing Garage Fire.

Place all oily and greasy rags or waste in metal containers.

Keep the garage clean, particularly of oils and greases.

Keep an approved fire extinguisher in the garage at all times; never put water on an oil, grease or gasoline fire.

Do not smoke or use open lights in the garage or around gasoline or oil-soaked rags or clothing. Use only pocket flash lights or portable electric lights. If the latter are used, they should be equipped with armoured cable, vapor-proof fittings, keyless socket, and have a rigid cage around the lamp. Sparks resulting from the breaking of an electric lamp have sometimes resulted in serious garage fires.

The mechanism of brakes should be wiped off and oiled once every 500 miles of driving.

When oiling the steering gear, see that all nuts are in place and the cotter pins as they should be.

Holes in fenders start from the underside where water starts rust action. Clean the surfaces and paint with black enamel.

Dust off the windshield at the first sign of rain so that the windshield wiper will not scratch the surface of the glass when it is put into operation.

Sparks often result from striking together two pieces of metal. It is best to use kerosene instead of gasoline when cleaning oil and grease from metal parts.

A grabbing clutch of the "cone" type can be made to operate smoother by applying neatsfoot oil. Heat the oil to assure an even application. Hold out the clutch and revolve slowly by hand while applying the oil.

The Virtues of Carefulness.

It is false economy to try to save a moment by reckless speeding. The attempt may result in a smash which will lay the driver up for several months and the car, for several days, if death itself is not the price. Reckless driving is not a demonstration of skill, but an illustration of foolishness. Hurrying to get ahead of a train, a street car or another vehicle saves only a moment or two at the ultimate destination and the gain is not worth the grave danger of paying the price of a serious and perhaps fatal accident. There are certain safety rules of the road which the careful driver observes and these precautions should always be carried out Slow up for all turns in the road. Blind corners are dangerous. When it is impossible to see what is coming from around the corner, it is well to be prepared to stop. And it is bad business to zigzag from one side of the street to the other.

Lubrication Important.

For efficient operation of the automobile engine, no item is more important than the lubricant used. An inferior grade or unsuitable grade means loss of power, burnt bearings and rapid deterioration of the entire engine.

NASH SHATTERS SALES RECORDS

Great Increase In Demand Since Introduction Of New Series.

All previous sales and production records of the Nash Motors company have again been swept aside, figures on the company's books showing that March was the biggest month in the history of Nash Motors.

"The shattering of Nash sales records began in the fall, shortly after the introduction of the new series of Special and Advanced series of cars," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of the Nash Motors company. "October outstripped all previous records in our history. Then along came February with a new sales and production record and now March has taken the lead over February. Incidentally March shipments from the factory were 49 per cent greater than the shipments of March, 1924.

"The situation with respect to the demand for Nash cars is further emphasized by the fact that the entire automobile industry during March had about 10 per cent less business than during March, 1924. And added to this, even though last month was Nash Motors' biggest production month, there were in our hands bona fide orders for about 2,000 cars that we were unable to ship because we could not produce sufficient automobiles to fill the demand."

In anticipation of the heavy demand for the Nash line of cars work has begun at both the Kenosha and Milwaukee factories on plant extensions which, when completed, will provide for an increase in production capacity of 40 per cent. These extensions include new buildings and the installation of additional production machinery equipment and will be ready within a short time for operation.

Crankcase Care.

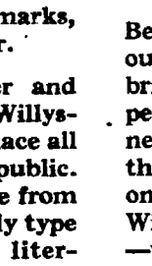

It is a good idea to drain off about a half pint of oil from the crankcase every few days this time of the year, due to frequent changes in temperature. At times it will be found that the oil contains a small amount of water, the result of crankcase sweating. In draining off a small amount of oil the water will come with it. By doing this the possibility of emulsion of dirty oil and water is prevented. Oil, when clean, will not emulsify with water. After a period of service, however, oil will acquire dirt and sediment which forms a binder between oil and water which may clog the oil lines.

Power and Pickup that Make Everybody Marvel

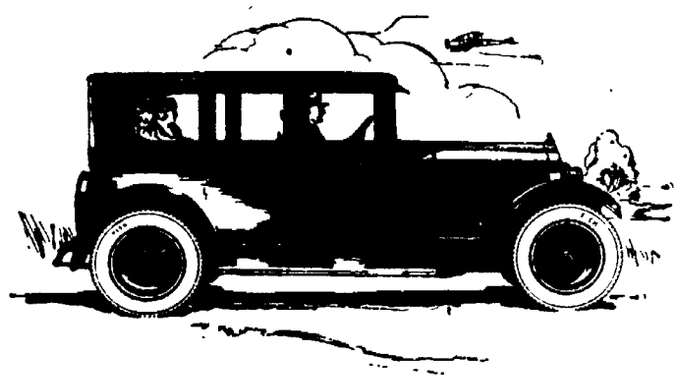

The tremendous success of the more powerful new Willys-Knight has abundantly borne out the prediction made in January that this great car would make automobile history in 1925. Sales are overtopping all previous high marks, and going higher and higher.

The vastly increased power and flashing pick-up of the new Willys-Knight give this fine car a place all its own in the esteem of the public. Its sleeve-valve engine is free from noisy tappets . . . it is the only type of automobile engine that literally improves with use . . . there is no carbon trouble . . . there are no valves to grind . . . and the celebrated Lanchester Balancer, built into the engine, prevents vibration at any engine speed.

Beautiful to all eyes . . . marvelously smooth in operation . . . brimful of velvety power . . . dependable beyond measure . . . the new Willys-Knight is undoubtedly the sanest automobile investment on the market. You can buy a Willys-Knight on very easy terms—with a small down payment.

The factory is now working 24 hours a day to keep up with the demand for prompt deliveries. One thousand cars a day—the largest six cylinder business, by far, in the industry—are being made, and we would be mighty glad if the number could be increased.

"Our activity in this city is simply typical of what is going on all around the country. The cities and country, the east and the west, all are finding a demand for Hudson-Essex cars which they must exert every effort to fill. The demand for Hudson and Essex is simply overwhelming.

"It looks to me as if April, May and June of this year would furnish one of the most striking spring rushes of business we ever have known. The motor car that deserves success and a demand from the public is going to sell in large numbers.

"The demand for Essex particularly is something most remarkable. I do not believe we shall be able to catch up with it all this year."

DEALERS TURN TO WILLYS-OVERLAND

Prominent Retailers Will Handle New Models In Principal Cities.

Unusual interest in the Willys-Overland motor car franchise is being manifested by prominent automobile dealers throughout the country as the result of the announcement of the new models earlier in the year. As a result a number of important dealer connections have been completed in larger retail centers.

Earlier in the year new large deals were closed at Philadelphia, Cleveland, Washington, and a prominent distributor for the Argentine republic with headquarters at Buenos Aires. More recently new dealers were obtained at Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Denver and Milwaukee, in each instance the new additions to the Willys-Overland rank being business men prominent for years in the automobile circles in their respective communities.

The Moore-Overland company, headed by William F. Moore, for years a well known dealer of motor cars, has taken over the Overland franchise at Milwaukee as a city dealer.

At Pittsburgh the latest addition to the ranks of the city dealers is that very fertile retail territory, is the Rea-Seagert company. Both Guy Rea and G. H. Seagert have been associated with Willys-Overland for a number of years.

Lynn C. Buxton, pioneer automobile man in southern California, has taken over a city retail contract at Los Angeles. Buxton has been identified with the automobile industry since 1910 and is ranked as one of the leading experts on Knight-motored automobiles on the Pacific coast.

At Denver two changes have been made, the Overland-Knight Sales company taking over the Charles N. Smith Motors company contract and personnel, with Norman Brink as president, and E. D. Paige as vice president and general manager of the new organization. The South Denver Motor company, with Byron S. Griffith as president, is another new connection at this point.

Still another prominent addition to the list of new dealers in the export field is the signing of Mark L. Moody, Inc., Shanghai, China, with a distribution territory comprising the provinces of Kiangsu, Chekiang, Anhwei, Honan, Pupeh, Kiangsi, Hunan and Szechwan. A shipment of new models has already gone forward to the Celestial republic from the factory at Toledo, including new Overland and Willys-Knight Sixes.

Sudden skidding wears a flat place in the tread of tires and causes separation in the carcass—all due to sudden application of brakes and excessive sliding of wheels.

TEST VIBRATION OF HUPP MOTOR

Officials Demonstrate Smoothness of New Eight At All Speeds.

A cigaret doesn't weigh very much.

Stand it up on end and the slightest jar will upset it.

So when officials of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation were looking for a suitable object to test the smoothness of the Hupmobile Eight engine they selected a cigaret and placed it on the fender of a new Eight touring car. The engine was then started and run at varying speeds from idling to wide open throttle—the equivalent of 70 miles an hour.

"Throughout the engine's entire speed range the cigaret remained upright. Were there any engine vibration it surely would be so magnified in transmission to the fenders that no such object as a cigaret would remain there a moment," said C. C. Hutchinson, general sales manager, who was an interested spectator while this test was being made. This result was not unexpected, however, as during the block-testing of the motor before production started, another more difficult test was made by standing a penny upright on the cylinder head and running the engine wide open. Despite the different speeds at which the engine was turned over the penny didn't quiver a bit. It stood on end just as quietly as when the engine wasn't running at all.

Factory men made a number of engine demonstrations, showing that the new Eight power plant is entirely free from vibration and runs just as smoothly at top speed as when operated at ordinary driving ranges.

In commenting on what he termed "most remarkable exhibitions" Mr. Hutchinson added:

"When Hupmobile was making plans to build this Eight the engineers were instructed to produce an engine that would be entirely free from vibration. They have been singularly successful. I have witnessed many different methods of demonstrating the smoothness of an automobile engine—but never before have I seen a cigaret used. It is twice as effective because it is so much lighter. The slightest jar will upset it.

"If you don't believe it try it on the fender of your own car."

Cleaning the Upholstery.

Dust that gathers in the depressions of cushions, as well as the folds of the back and sides, can be easily removed with an old shaving brush. Cut off most of the handle of the brush and, in the centre of the handle, drive an ordinary nail with the head filed off. Place the end of the nail in the jaws of a hand drill and with this dust out the depressions of the upholstery. Due to the high speed of the drill, the dust is quickly removed.

A Bad Habit.

Choking the motor, or giving it an extra heavy charge of gas does not make it start easier, but the gas vapor does condense in the cylinders and run down the pistons and rings, removing the lubricating oil, diluting the oil in the crankcase and removing the oil from the valve stems.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE

Preventing Garage Fire.

Place all oily and greasy rags or waste in metal containers.

Keep the garage clean, particularly of oils and greases.

Keep an approved fire extinguisher in the garage at all times; never put water on an oil, grease or gasoline fire.

Do not smoke or use open lights in the garage or around gasoline or oil-soaked rags or clothing. Use only pocket flash lights or portable electric lights. If the latter are used, they should be equipped with armoured cable, vapor-proof fittings, keyless socket, and have a rigid cage around the lamp. Sparks resulting from the breaking of an electric lamp have sometimes resulted in serious garage fires.

The mechanism of brakes should be wiped off and oiled once every 500 miles of driving.

When oiling the steering gear, see that all nuts are in place and the cotter pins as they should be.

Holes in fenders start from the underside where water starts rust action. Clean the surfaces and paint with black enamel.

Dust off the windshield at the first sign of rain so that the windshield wiper will not scratch the usrface of the glass when it is put into operation.

Sparks often result from striking together two pieces of metal. It is best to use kerosene instead of gasoline when cleaning oil and grease from metal parts.

A grabbing clutch of the "cone" type can be made to operate smoother by applying meatsfoot oil. Heat the oil to assure an even application. Hold out the clutch and revolve slowly by hand while applying the oil.

The Virtues of Carefulness.

It is false economy to try to save a moment by reckless speeding. The attempt may result in a smash which will lay the driver up for several months and the car for several days, if death itself is not the price. Reckless driving is not a demonstration of skill, but an illustration of foolishness. Hurrying to get ahead of a train, a street car or another vehicle saves only a moment or two at the ultimate destination and the gain is not worth the grave danger of paying the price of a serious and perhaps fatal accident. There are certain safety rules of the road which the careful driver observes and these precautions should always be carried out. Slow up for all turns in the road. Blind corners are dangerous. When it is impossible to see what is coming from around the corner, it is well to be prepared to stop. And it is bad business to zigzag from one side of the street to the other.

Lubrication Important.

For efficient operation of the automobile engine, no item is more important than the lubricant used. An inferior grade or unsuitable grade means loss of power, burnt bearings and rapid deterioration of the entire engine.

NASH SHATTERS SALES RECORDS

Great Increase In Demand Since Introduction Of New Series.

All previous sales and production records of the Nash Motors company have again been swept aside, figures on the company's books showing that March was the biggest month in the history of Nash Motors.

"The shattering of Nash sales records began in the fall, shortly after the introduction of the new series of Special and Advanced series of cars," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of the Nash Motors company. "October outstripped all previous records in our history. Then along came February with a new sales and production record and now March has taken the lead over February. Incidentally March shipments from the factory were 49 per cent greater than the shipments of March, 1924.

"The situation with respect to the demand for Nash cars is further emphasized by the fact that the entire automobile industry during March had about 10 per cent less business than during March, 1924. And added to this, even though last month was Nash Motors' biggest production month, there were in our hands bona fide orders for about 2,000 cars that we were unable to ship because we could not produce sufficient automobiles to fill the demand."

In anticipation of the heavy demand for the Nash line of cars work has begun at both the Kenosha and Milwaukee factories on plant extensions which, when completed, will provide for an increase in production capacity of 40 per cent. These extensions include new buildings and the installation of additional production machinery equipment and will be ready within a short time for operation.

Crankcase Care.

It is a good idea to drain off about a half pint of oil from the crankcase every few days this time of the year, due to frequent changes in temperature. At times it will be found that the oil contains a small amount of water, the result of crankcase sweating. In draining off a small amount of oil the water will come with it. By doing this the possibility of emulsion of dirty oil and water is prevented. Oil, when clean, will not emulsify with water. After a period of service, however, oil will acquire dirt and sediment which forms a binder between oil and water which may clog the oil lines.

Why You Should Let Us Put Duco On Your Car

1. Duco is longest wearing finish known.
2. Gasoline, oil, mud, tar, turpentine, battery acids, alkaline dust, salt air, etc., cannot harm it.
3. You need not lose the use of your car for more than a week or ten days.
4. You can secure any of the season's most popular shades — in any degree of lustre, either dull, satin or polished.
5. Duco finish is easier to keep clean.
6. The lustre of Duco actually improves with age if given ordinary care.
7. It will increase the re-sale value of your car.

Power and Pickup that Make Everybody Marvel

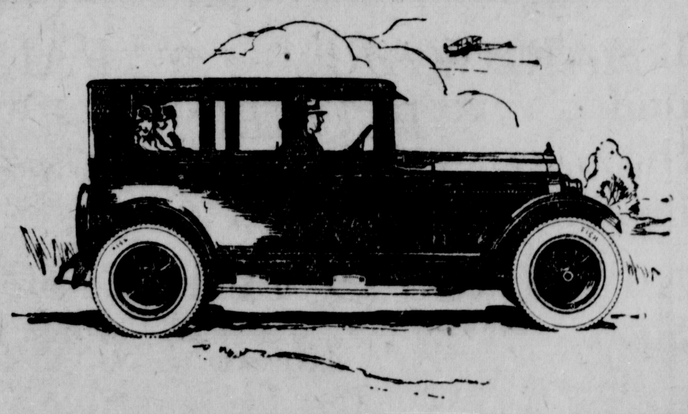

The tremendous success of the more powerful new Willys-Knight has abundantly borne out the prediction made in January that this great car would make automobile history in 1925. Sales are overtopping all previous high marks, and going higher and higher.

The vastly increased power and flashing pick-up of the new Willys-Knight give this fine car a place all its own in the esteem of the public. Its sleeve-valve engine is free from noisy tappets . . . it is the only type of automobile engine that literally improves with use . . . there is no carbon trouble . . . there are no valves to grind . . . and the celebrated Lanchester Balancer, built into the engine, prevents vibration at any engine speed.

Beautiful to all eyes . . . marvelously smooth in operation . . . brimful of velvety power . . . dependable beyond measure . . . the new Willys-Knight is undoubtedly the sanest automobile investment on the market. You can buy a Willys-Knight on very easy terms—with a small down payment.

Goodyear HEAVY DUTY Cord Tires are available from Goodyear Dealers in the following sizes:

30 x 3½	(CL.)	34 x 4½	(S. S.)
32 x 4	(S. S.)	30 x 5	"
33 x 4	"	33 x 5	"
32 x 4½	"	34 x 5	"
35 x 5	(S. S.)

For those who desire balloon tires Goodyear makes a complete line, including the HEAVY DUTY type in certain sizes.

More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Hard-boiled, this one is!

The new Goodyear HEAVY DUTY Cord Tire, for passenger cars, buses and trucks, designed and built for extraordinary service

THIS is to tell you of a new tire—a super-stout and burly tire—a tire of special design built to stand hard knocks.

For a good many people who drive always on pavements or under ideal conditions, it is perhaps needlessly good.

But for the man who drives catch-as-catch-can, smooth roads and bad, who lives and makes time by the grace of good brakes and a touchy accelerator, it's a wonder.

It stands up without pampering under a world of punishment, and the tougher the going the better investment it proves out to be.

All through, the new Goodyear HEAVY DUTY Cord Tire is stronger and more massive than the standard tire you are accustomed to.

Its powerful athletic body is made of SUPERTWIST, the remarkable new cord fabric perfected by Goodyear, and is made extra-heavy to afford extreme protection against stone bruise, carcass breaking and the shocks and jolts of rough roads.

Long, slow wear is built into its thick, tough tread.

Buttressing its sturdy sidewalls are circumferential rubber ribs, put there to give extra resistance against rut-wear.

Naturally this HEAVY DUTY Goodyear costs a little more.

But under a big heavy car, or in any arduous service, it is easily the cheapest tire to buy in the end.

You can forget it while it's on the job, but long afterward you'll remember its enduring goodness.

If yours is the kind of driving that needs this extra stamina, this tire is built for you.

And when it comes to truck tires—

Goodyear leadership is not limited to passenger car tires only; it includes truck tires as well.

For every hauling condition, for every requirement of service, road and load, there is a right Goodyear Truck Tire—in each case designed and built to be the best truck tire for the job.

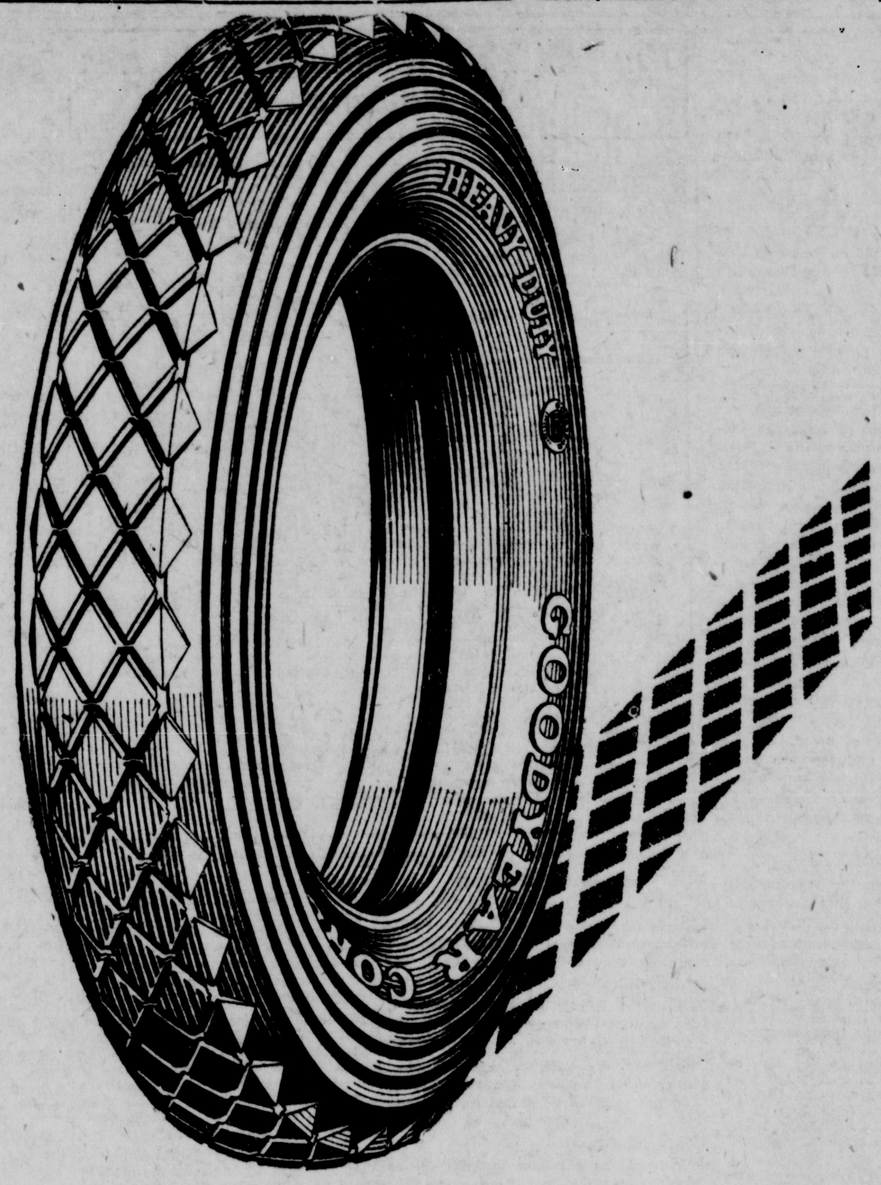

Your Goodyear Truck Tire Dealer will advise you what type is the right equipment for you: whether the All-Weather Tread Heavy Duty Cushion, for heavy trucking; the All-Weather Tread Pneumatic Cushion, for lighter work; or the Heavy Duty Pneumatic Truck Tire, for all service where pneumatic equipment is practical and desirable.

A DECADENT INDUSTRY.

When so thoughtful and conservative a man as ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois begins an address before a distinguished audience in New York with the following portentous sentence, it is time for the nation to give pause:

"Our agriculture is decaying and we seem unable to grasp the fact."

Think back over ten, fifteen, or twenty-five years or to the early beginnings of farm operations in Nebraska and some of her neighboring states. Where is there to be found today that unquenchable spirit of conquest against heavy odds, which was best expressed in the hungering desire of every man and every woman to acquire farm land? The movement toward the urban centers of population had not started then. It was all in the opposite direction and the well-traveled trail led to the frontiers where rich tracts of land were to be had for slight expense.

Since 1900, government figures reveal, but 15 per cent has been added to the total tillable acreage of the United States. But the most alarming peril confronting agriculture is not found in the decreasing area of new lands available for farming. It is a very apparent loss of incentive to farm along the lines which made America the greatest agricultural nation in the world. No longer are farmers tearing down barns to build bigger; new barns and fences and farmhouses are rare, Mr. Lowden tells us. Abandoned farms are found in nearly every state whereas twenty-five years ago they were confined to New England and a small section of the south. Enrollment in the colleges and universities shows a steadily dwindling attendance for the agricultural schools and a gradually mounting registration in those branches leading to the professions, to finance and to other occupations.

Mr. Lowden is a frank advocate.

Indications that agriculture has reached a decadent stage, he believes, are due to the wide disparity between the prices of the things which the farmer produces and has to sell and the commodities which he must buy. Gradually this situation will have the tendency, and is already exhibiting signs of righting itself, through growth of population and increased demands for food, but Mr. Lowden is fearful that stabilization will be too long delayed and as a result will entail serious consequences. He concludes something is wrong with the marketing machinery when aggregate money value of a larger crop is smaller than the value of the smaller crop.

So far as Nebraska is concerned, Mr. Lowden's initial conclusions are open to question. There are no more abandoned farms through failure than there were at other periods of history.

In this state there was a temporary cessation of building operations upon the farms during the dark period of 1921-22. Those were years when farm prices were at their lowest peak, when farmers were most deeply in debt as a result of unwise over-expansion of activities, or even more unfortunate investments in worthless securities. That period has passed in Nebraska.

For the last year and a half and particularly in the last twelve months, there has been a most marked and spirited revival of agricultural activity. Hardly a section of the state has failed to reflect it. The Nebraska farmer is going ahead with his improvements—the building of more comfortable farm homes, larger and better equipped barns and sheds, improving the standard of his dairy herds and his poultry flocks. For the first time since the bubble burst, he has been able to look forward with a certain degree of confidence in the knowledge that the path which he followed will be smoother from now on.

If Mr. Lowden is seeking confirmation of the improved situation of agriculture in Nebraska, he has it in the compilation of bankers located in various sections of the state. There have been an unusually large number of cash sales of choice farm lands and at prices extremely satisfactory and encouraging. In Lancaster county recently one 160-acre farm brought $52,000 cash, which is nearly at the peak of war-time prices. Tw oother quarter sections with slight improvements sold for $24,000 and $20,000 cash. Dozens of other instances of this character, indicating a brisk, well-founded demand for farm lands in Nebraska, could be cited.

The war brought sweeping changes in agriculture as it did in all other industries. The farmer stopped planting and cultivating his corn, and sowing and harvesting his wheat and oats. He hired the work done. He quit raising chickens and milking cows. Those farmers who have revived the old methods of earnest application to the toil of the farm have little complaint to make.

MR. WHEELER'S ACQUITTAL.

The acquittal of United States Senator Wheeler of Montana on a charge of having represented a client before the Interior department while a member of the senate should occasion no surprise. The wonder is that the government would go to trial with so flimsy a showing.

As the vice-presidential candidate on the La Follette ticket, Mr. Wheeler aroused a great deal of antagonism by the nature of the charges which he made during the course of the campaign. That may or may not account for the dogged determination to push the case.

The incentive for the prosecution brought against him, however, it was charged, arose while he was performing a great public service for the people of the United States. As chairman of the senatorial committee engaged in investigating the conduct of the department of justice, the Montanian performed his work so well that former Attorney General Daugherty was compelled to retire. Whether deservedly or not, the Wheeler prosecution was interpreted as an act of reprisal by the department of justice.

A NEW ISSUE IN THE ORIENT.

What's the meaning of this agitation which cabled dispatches from Manila say the Filipinos are starting to restrict or exclude further Chinese immigration into their islands? Does it signify that the Filipinos claim superiority over their Chinese neighbors and don't want to be contaminated by the latter? Is it a question of "racial discrimination?"

Not at all. Underneath the Filipino demand to have the doors of their country closed to Chinamen is the realization that if things continue to go on as they have been it is only a matter of time until the hordes of celestial immigrants will outnumber the native population and become the dominant element of the islands. The case of Hawaii where Japanese now constitute fully half the total population, places an impressive warning before their eyes.

In short the Filipinos have a natural desire to protect themselves from an alien invasion. They do not believe in standing by and allowing people of another nationality to swarm in and take virtual possession of their country. They are actuated by the same considerations as those which have led the United States, Australia and Canada to erect barriers against the growing flood of Asiatic immigration and, in the case of the United States, to hold down the number of undesirable Europeans as well.

Self-preservation is the first law of nature. This refers to society as a whole, and to nations, the same as to individuals. The countries which have passed legislation to keep out unassimilable foreign elements merely acted in conformity to the fundamental principle of self-preservation. That is the whole sum and substance of the policy of restricting immigration, as a number of nations have already applied it and as the Filipinos wish to have it applied.

There need be no unfriendly developments resulting from this policy, which involves merely an insistence by the people of each country concerned to regulate and control their own national affairs. They concede to other cuntries the same right they claim for themselves. No American protest, for instance, has been heard on account of Japan's laws which prevent foreigners acquiring and owning real estate.

Even when soviet Russia, in disregard of all international law and principles, confiscates the property of American citizens, the United States government refrains from any attempt to interfere in the affairs of that country. Of course, our government refuses to have official or diplomatic converse with Russia's piratical rulers. But so long as the Russian people tolerate the present regime at Moscow, this country concedes them the privilege of living under it. It is their own affair, not ours.

The Filipinos, no doubt, have good reason to be apprehensive of so many Chinese coming into their islands, which are already rather thickly populated. They cannot be blamed for feeling some aversion to having their homeland turned into a Chinese province.

IN THE HIGH PLACES.

Early this week United States Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan, one of the pioneer leaders in the prohibition fight, bared an overflowing heart and publicly denounced those leaders of American society, including some of his colleagues, who, in his opinion, had made the dry amendment a failure.

"When United States senators will boast of violating the constitution in the use of liquors what can we expect from the people for whom these senators make laws," he declared.

"The task of enforcing prohibition so far as the patrons of the American saloon were concerned was comparatively easy. Today the bootlegger thrives not because there are so many more appetites to be gratified, but because prohibition has made the price of liquors prohibitive to the saloon patron, and non prohibitive to the so-called club class."

This is an extraordinarily honest and clear-cut analysis by one whose friendliness to prohibition has never been questioned. Enforcement must aim at those "higher up." The open, flagrant defiance of the dry amendment comes from those members of the social strata, who because of their wealth are able to pay the price demanded by those who deal illegally in liquor. Their disregard of law is more reprehensible because by training and intelligence they should be the first to recognize the evil consequences of widespread lawlessness.

And yet, it cannot be said that there have been no conspicuous examples of enforcement. There have been public officials entrusted with this responsibility with the courage and foresight to do what should be done. The campaign waged by District Attorney Emory R. Buckner of New York City, a former Nebraskan, is a conspicuous example of intelligent effort to wipe out the illegal sale of liquor. News dispatches from Gotham indicate that the last five cabarets, including the most exclusive in that city, surrendered to the mandate that the padlock be placed upon the doors of the institutions as a penalty against liquor law violations. Not one in the entire list of fourteen, which he originally named, made the fight in court which it could have conducted had it been innocent of the charge.

Mr. Buckner would be the last man to voice the opinion that the closing of these clubs had solved the prohibition problem in New York. With hundreds of cases docketed, and awaiting trial, the most that can be said is that a good start has been made. Buckner is the first public official to proclaim that his efforts will not be directed against the poor, obscure individual, who emulates the example set for him by some one more fortunately endowed with wordly goods, but instead will be aimed at those who can afford to patronize bootleggers and bootlegging establishments. Even a padlock campaign cannot stamp out all of the evils of prohibition violation but it is to be commended because it aims at a more even measure of justice than was previously had under enforcement tactics. There will be no final solution of the mess until the people themselves make up their minds that prohibition has come to stay and must be enforced without fear or favor.

COME WEST, MR. DEPEW!

That the world is growing better—infinitely better—is the bouyant assurance which comes from that youthful 91-year old philosopher, Chauncey Depew. Only one fly in the ointment disturbed the retrospection of Mr. Depew as he informally addressed some of his friends in his well-known fashion recently on the occasion of the celebration of his birthday anniversary. He is alarmed over the disappearance of neighborliness among the American people.

It may smack of impertinence but Mr. Depew's lamentation suggests that he should have adopted the advice of another distinguished American and should have come west. Neighborliness may have vanished in the crowded sections of New York and other metropolitan centers of the east but in the great central west the old spirit of kindliness and good will still prevails.

A few days ago a farmer living near a small Nebraska city, who had been prevented from planting his crops by sickness, had a convincing demonstration of neighborliness. About twenty of his friends gathered one day and before they had returned to their homes all of his neglected spring work had been performed.

Over at Waterloo, Ia., last Wednesday a similar group of men dropped in on a tenant farmer who had suffered a heavy loss and planted all of his crops. Scarcely a day in the week passes but what furnishes an example of this fine central west spirit.

If the most serious charges which can be laid against the American people at this time is selfishness and heartlessness towards suffering and misfortune, then there is no real foundation for apprehension. There is not a community in America, whose sympathies are untouched by the tragic losses which befall their friends and neighbors. After all what better evidence of neighborliness is there than this?

The aviators who plan a dash for the north pole do not fear that their radiators will freeze, for no water is used But their gasoline has already become ice, several hundred miles from the top of the world.

From the way values of the English pound have fluctuated lately, it is well for the British government that it does not need the approval of the Washington bureau of standards for its pound measurements.

How is it that every man who tries to fish without a license is called a "disciple" of Izaak Walton, that sworn enemy of poachers?

The British labor ministers who complain of the high cost of living at No. 11 Downing street are now coming in contact with some of the "advantages" the ruling classes."

Bulgaria is having trouble with Russia bomb runners on the Black sea. Wonder what she does with confiscated bombs?

I'm Off For Washington to See Paulina

"The ball teams go south every spring to cripple their players."

BY WILL ROGERS.

Between the time I write this and the day you read it, I will have been down to Washington D. C. (Department of Complaints) and spoken at the Gridiron dinner. It is the big dinner of America. The president, his cabinet (Whovere happens to be in it that night) and all the foreign ambassadors, and dignitaries are there. The only way a congressman can get in is to be a waiter, and as for senators—they have to eat at the second table.

Now I have never tangled with Coolidge and if you don't hear of me any more, you will know that I have either been shot or banished to Canada, a la Karolyi. I may have to broadcast my views from Toronto from now on.

I am anxious to get down to Washington as I got a date with Paulina Longworth, and I am glad to go to the capitol at atime when congress is not in session so I will have nothing to annoy me. I will have a good visit with the two most fomous Nicks, Altrock, and Longworth. I will go up and hear them indict my friend Senator Wheeler (They generally do every day.) I hope Couzens and Mellon don't make up before I get down there. You can hear a rich man and a poor man argue any tim but when you get two rich men fighting there is some element of novelty to it. If Senator Couzens has to pay back that income tax of 10 million he is going to be a mighty hard man to get along with this coming session.

I hope that new attorney general from Vermont lasts in the cabinet till I get down there. I want to see him but if he is as big as they say he is, I certainly ain't going to have any jokes about him. He is one bird that is going to be complimented. And, say, speaking about politicians, and ex-politicians, guess who was in to see us last night,—Mr. John W. Davis. I introduced him to the audience, and it was really remarkable how they remembered him. They gave him a tremendous reception. And also there came in, but not with Mr. Davis, Barney Baruch, who underwrites the democratic campaigns I introuced him and, what do you know, when he stood up he had on his overcoat. I told him that was the most disgraceful thing ever happned in our place for a man to keep his overcoat on during the show. It was very uncomplimentary. But you can't blame Barney; he has had so much taken away from him, I don't blame him for not laying his coat down any place. He may have been suspicious of Davis, I don't know. That's why the Democrats never get anywhere. They haven't got any two in the party that trust each other.

Well, it certainly was a big night for us to have two democrats in the same audience. The crowd demanded that Mr. Davis say something and wouldnt stop until they did Well, to show you his sense of humor, he thanked them "for their excellent memory" and said: "You notice, Will, I have my coat off, I am still young enough to enjoy the snow." Well, the paying customers all enjoyed that.

I told Mr. Davis that I felt lucky when he beat me for the nomination last summer, because I did not believe that even I could have beat Mr. Coolidge last fall. I then told the folks about an exchange of telegrams which I had with Mr. Davis after he had defeated me for the nomination. It showed the sense of humor this guy Davis has. I wired him "Congratulations on your nomination. Understand you are to be associated with one of the Bryan moys. For Lord's sake pick the right one." Now, I thought that was pretty good and it was—for me. But he comes back with one that for humor and wit made a piker out of mine, he said: "Thanks for your wire, Will. I will not only pick the right one but will watch the other one."

He is a great fellow this man Davis, I doubt if there has ever been a more dignified, scholarly, learned and capable man ever defeated for the presidency. But, Lord, he is such a fine lawyer tha ta president's salary wouldn't have paid his income tax.

Well, from politics to baseball is quite a jump upwards. Not only financially but morally. The season opened here a couple of weeks ago with about all the starts on the various teams crippled. Baseball teams go south every spring to cripple their players. In the old days they only stayed a couple of weeks and they couldn't get many of them hurt in that time, but now they go south as soon as the season is over to start training for the following season. Most oil the men are in good shape when they go down there. But they stay till they get 'em hurt, even if it takes all spring. Some teams make more money out of exhibition games in the spring than they do during the season. But they should be honest and not call them training seasons.

Poor Babe Ruth eats too much. He is always well all winter. But the minute he starts south the Yankees start paying for his meals, he gets suck. They ought to figure out some way of feeding Babe out of a nose bay, and just put so much in it.

What ball players are not crippled by accident, or food down south were crippled by Florida real estate. If the ocean raises six inches this summer and floods all of Florida, you can go to the ball grounds, not to see a ball game, but to see how many players you can count committing suicide.

I talked to my good friend, John McGraw the other night and asked him if he thoght he would win the pennant this year. He said: "If Florida real estate holds up, there is nothing can stop us. If the people get wise and Florida flops, even Connie Mack can beat us."

My oldest hopeful your offspring, Will Jr., age 13, arrived back this week from a three months trip to Europe, and the Mediterranian. He was accompanied by his cousin, Bruce Quissenberry, age 19. Father couldn't go so I sent son to procure some data that would give the Old Reliable Illiterate Digest a kind of European flavor. I sent him out so he could come back and tell his ignorant old Pappy just what the World was like outside of 42 St. and Broadway. I haven't had a chance to look over his report thoroughly, yet. He informed me of one serious mistake I was making. I have a joke about "Turkey being the only prohibition county in the World." He said the men on the trip told him Turkey was no more prohibition than we are. He liked Egypt, especially King Tut's tomb. He didn't think much more of Jerusalem than their nationality over here do. He bootlegged in a bottle of River Jordan water, also one from the Dead Sea. The Dead Sea one is just like our Wooden Alcohol over here. Nothing can live in the Dead Sea water, and nothing can live outside Wooden Alcohol.

He visited the Battlefields and if everybody that goes there picks up as much as he did, France won't have to remove a thing from the Battlefields. He picked up and brought back Helmets, and Bayonets of Nations that I didn't even know was in the war. He said the Cooties have transferred from the soldiers to the tourists, and they have a delousing station on the edge of Paris for tourists returning from the front.

THE PROMPTER'S BOX

GOOD HUMOR TAKES THE PROMPTER'S BOX AND SEES THE PLAY GO ON

THE REASON this column is so short these few Sundays past is that we've been dieting and have shrunk.

ONE OF the men who covers the legislature came down t'other morning, looking drawn and pale. "I had the most terrible nightmare," he said. "I dreamed the legislature was still in session."

CALIFORNIA HAS shipped out forty carloads of persons of low mentality. In Florida, we understand, they have their choice of going to hear the speeches made by the various real estate promoters, or run off into the ocean. Which amounts to the same thing.

WE'LL BE quite frank about it, however. This abbreviated edition of the column just suits us this spring weather.

ICE CREAM manufacturers are bewailing the fact that popular consumption of their product has suffered a decided drop. One of the reasons assigned for this decrease is the cool summer that many sections of the country enjoyed last year. But we have another: It seems that ice cream doesn't taste as good as it did just a few years ago. Dunno why, but Sunday dinner's dessert—which father or Big Brother had made with exceeding hard work some hours before, and packed, and put in th ecool cellar—well, it was the grand and glorified apex of everything good to eat. But now-a-days everything's different. Ice cream is served with a lot of truck smeared around all over it, and you almost forget the ice cream in the dish—it's only a part of the general conglomeration.

BUT MAYBE she's satisfied as she is. So let heralone.

How Soon Forgotten.

(Kearney Hub.)

How soon we are forgotten when we are gone. A generation ago the mere mention of the name of Admiral George Dewey occasioned a real thrill. Just the other day his remains were removed from the chapel crypt of Washington cathedral by his wife and son with simple ceremonies and without attracting unusual attention. But in history he will always be the brave and gallant Dewey of Manila bay.

DISCOVERIES IN HUMANS

Irvin S. Cobb's Wife His Chief Discoverer, But His Nurse, Mother, New York Editor and Himself Also Shared in the Glory.

However, the great writer and Humorist Seemed Tied to Paducah, Kentucky, Until Mrs. Cobb Made Him Come to New York In Search of $60-a-Week Job He Didn't Believe Existed.

BY PRESTON WRIGHT.

One June 12, 1900, a young lady of Savannah, Ga., became the wife of a youthful newspaperman of Paducah, Ky.

She was Miss Laura Spencer Baker. He was Irvin S. Cobb. They went to live in Paducah.

Mrs. Laura Baker Cobb spent some three or four years getting an adequate low-down on her husband. Then she concluded he had in him the makings of someone worth while—if only he could be gotten into the right environment.

Very opportunely Mrs. Cobb heard, about this time, a rumor which, as the wife of a journalist in Paducah, highly interested her. This rumor, which was to the effect that newspapermen in New York City often made salaries of as much as $60 per week, moved her to decide that it was time for her husband to migrate eastward.

"I don't believe it," said Mr. Cobb. He knew all about newspaper salaries—according to the Paducah standard — and the story didn't sound plausible.

He had no hankering to leave Paducah. He had been born there and always lived there. His newspaper experience had been gained there. He had risen to be managing editor of the Paducas News-Democrat and was correspondent of a Louisville paper. Among other things, he was contributing a humorous column that was giving him some reputation. It was a pretty fair snap, any way you looked at it, and he didn't see how a fellow with a wife and child to support could give up a sure thing to go chasing off for a chimercal salary of $60 a week.

Luckily for him, Mrs. Cobb was of a different temper. Granted that it wasn't true that you could earn (or get) $60 per week in New York, she argued, still, from all reports, the metropolis was the golden field for newspapermen.

"You ought to make a try, at least," she said.

"If I had been left to myself," Irvin Cobb told me. "I would never have left Paducah. But my wife kept after me until I had to go.

"I had no money—not a cent. But she attended to that. She financed me herself with a loan of $200 which she got from her father."

When you've got a hustler like that for a better half you've got to make good. Irvin S. Cobb journeyed to New York and, having done so, conquered.

But if Mrs Cobb was the first to size up her husband's real ability, it remained for another person to discover inwhat particular line that ability would best show itself.

Cobb arrived in New York in 1904 in the month of August, the worst possible season in which to be hunting a newspaper job, although he didn't know it then.

He spent three weeks trying to break past office boys so he could lay his wares before some impressionable managing editor. It could not be done and a return trip to Paducah seemed in order.

Then his irrepressible sense of humor came to his aid. He went to his boarding house and composed and copied off a circular letter which he mailed to every managing editor in New York.

"In the letter," he says, "I told them just how good I was. I informed them that for three weeks I had been trying to get their attention. This, I said, was the last call. And I added that in failing to hire me they were overlooking the best bet—the best newspaper bet—of the Christian era."

Having posted this epistle, he sat back and waited.

He felt very much like a man collecting a large jack pot on a busted flush when in due and quick time he received four offers of jobs, one of them from the noted Arthur Brisbane.

Tommy Dieuade, managing editor of the Evening Sun, was the man whose offer made the biggest impression on the now ex-Paducahite. It carried with it a weekly emolument of $15 and a promise of something better soon. At any rate, the Sun was the lodestone which drew all newspapermen of that day.

In almost no time, Dieuade's recruit was editor of the Evening Sun's humor section. Within a year Mrs. Cobb came on. Another year and the World grabbed him off as special writer and staff humorist on its evening and Sunday editions. After that it was only a short jump to magazine and play writing. Before he knew it he was a national celebrity. He has become more and more nationally celebrated ever since. Probably no one is more so.

To an outsider it looks as though Mrs. Cobb and Tommy Dieuade were Irvin Cobb's discovers, with most of the credit going to Mrs. Cobb. However, Mr. Cobb claims some credit for discovering himself. Also, he says his old nurse and his mother had a hand in the business. Immediately my nurse saw me," he declared, "she said I was a remarkable looking child. The first photos taken of me proved she was right. Nothing has ever happened since to make her out a liar.

"Then there was my mother. From the very beginning she knew I was remarkable.

"I remember that in 1915, after my return from Europe, where I had been having a private view of the World War, a number of noted persons gave a dinner in my honor at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"My mother came on from Paducah to be present. There was a lot of speaking, with me as the subject, and while it was at its height someone went into the box where my mother was seated, taking it all in, and asked:

"Aren't you thrilled to know your son is receiving such public recognition?"

"Not at all," replied my mother. "I've been telling him he was a great man all along and I can't understand why this affair has been delayed so long. He ought to have two dinners like this every night in the week."

Anent "being discovered," Cobb tells one story which may be old but is worth repeating.

"After I became established," he says, "I was so ill-advised as to write a musical comedy. The

Frank D. Tomson Says

FRANK D. TOMSON.

Another distinctive acreage tract has been added to Lincoln by our Company — Woods Brothers Lakeview Acres — comprising 80 acres on West O street, immediately south of Capitol Beach. We acquired the property about the middle of April, graded the streets, planted shade trees, and got the plan started to provide water.

Never before has there been added to the city to the westward such an appealing location as this. It overlooks the lake and the city. It borders the O Street paving for one-half mile. The new Lakeview school touches it on the east. The Capitol Beach car line provides street car service. It is only a mile and one-half from the Post Office, about the same distance as Twenty-eighth Street in east Lincoln, a little less in fact. This acreage is nearly level with sufficient undulation to provide surface drainage. The soil and subsoil are of the best. It is ideal for truck gardening and fruit growing. It is a most desirable location.

Lincoln has long needed a district of this character. Woods Brothers Lake View Acres provides it and happily the locations are available at such conservative prices as to be within the reach of any industrious workman.

In due time Woods Brothers Lakeview Acres will blossom, its vineyards, its orchards, its gardens all foretelling production, contributing to the maintenance of the families who will reside or have holdings there. Many a bungalow will be adorned by climbing roses and blooming vines and the over-hanging trees will wave in the wind. It will be a charming place some day and not a distant day either

We are coming to understand the value of acreage tracts where ample gardens may be grown and poultry raising play its part and the fruits of the vineyard and the orchard add a touch of luxury. We go into ecstasies in California and other regions as we observe small tracts—ranches as they call them there—but somehow we have never come to understand until recently that similar home investments are as practical here or more so and more remunerative than in those remote sections.

We are beginning to understand the value of homes surrounded by gardens and orchards in which much of the living is provided and in many cases a surplus besides. It is the ideal investment for the family of modest income and every such property adds to the stability of the community and to the volume of the business as well as strengthening the financial ability of the owner and the making of a more useful and dependable citizen.

We have developed a similar acreage — North View Acres—at Belmont and have sold much of the property in locations of one-half acre each. These two tracts will be important factors in the development of the city to the west and northwest. Wilson Acres and Faulkner Acres on South Street have entirely been absorbed by home owners. It is all in the line of progress and community building.

A DECADENT INDUSTRY.

When so thoughtful and conservative a man as ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois begins an address before a distinguished audience in New York with the following portentous sentence, it is time for the nation to give pause:

"Our agriculture is decaying and we seem unable to grasp the fact."

Think back over ten, fifteen, or twenty-five years or to the early beginnings of farm operations in Nebraska and some of her neighboring states. Where is there to be found today that unquenchable spirit of conquest against heavy odds, which was best expressed in the hungering desire of every man and every woman to acquire farm land? The movement toward the urban centers of population had not started then. It was all in the opposite direction and the well-traveled trail led to the frontiers where rich tracts of land were to be had for slight expense.

Since 1900, government figures reveal, but 15 per cent has been added to the total tillable acreage of the United States. But the most alarming peril confronting agriculture is not found in the decreasing area of new lands available for farming. It is a very apparent loss of incentive to farm along the lines which made America the greatest agricultural nation in the world. No longer are farmers tearing down barns to build bigger; new barns and fences and farmhouses are rare, Mr. Lowden tells us. Abandoned farms are found in nearly every state whereas twenty-five years ago they were confined to New England and a small section of the south. Enrollment in the colleges and universities shows a steadily dwindling attendance for the agricultural schools and a gradually mounting registration in those branches leading to the professions, to finance and to other occupations.

Mr. Lowden is a frank advocate.

Indications that agriculture has reached a decadent stage, he believes, are due to the wide disparity between the prices of the things which the farmer produces and has to sell and the commodities which he must buy. Gradually this situation will have the tendency, and is already exhibiting signs of righting itself, through growth of population and increased demands for food, but Mr. Lowden is fearful that stabilization will be too long delayed and as a result will entail serious consequences. He concludes something is wrong with the marketing machinery when aggregate money value of a larger crop is smaller than the value of the smaller crop.

So far as Nebraska is concerned, Mr. Lowden's initial conclusions are open to question. There are no more abandoned farms through failure than there were at other periods of history.

In this state there was a temporary cessation of building operations upon the farms during the dark period of 1921-22. Those were years when farm prices were at their lowest peak, when farmers were most deeply in debt as a result of unwise over-expansion of activities, or even more unfortunate investments in worthless securities. That period has passed in Nebraska.

For the last year and a half and particularly in the last twelve months, there has been a most marked and spirited revival of agricultural activity. Hardly a section of the state has failed to reflect it. The Nebraska farmer is going ahead with his improvements—the building of more comfortable farm homes, larger and better equipped barns and sheds, improving the standard of his dairy herds and his poultry flocks. For the first time since the bubble burst, he has been able to look forward with a certain degree of confidence in the knowledge that the path which he followed will be smoother from now on.

If Mr. Lowden is seeking confirmation of the improved situation of agriculture in Nebraska, he has it in the compilation of bankers located in various sections of the state. There have been an unusually large number of cash sales of choice farm lands and at prices extremely satisfactory and encouraging. In Lancaster county recently one 160-acre farm brought $52,000 cash, which is nearly at the peak of war-time prices. Tw oother quarter sections with slight improvements sold for $24,000 and $20,000 cash. Dozens of other instances of this character, indicating a brisk, well-founded demand for farm lands in Nebraska, could be cited.

The war brought sweeping changes in agriculture as it did in all other industries. The farmer stopped planting and cultivating his corn, and sowing and harvesting his wheat and oats. He hired the work done. He quit raising chickens and milking cows. Those farmers who have revived the old methods of earnest application to the toil of the farm have little complaint to make.

MR. WHEELER'S ACQUITTAL.

The acquittal of United States Senator Wheeler of Montana on a charge of having represented a client before the Interior department while a member of the senate should occasion no surprise. The wonder is that the government would go to trial with so flimsy a showing.

As the vice-presidential candidate on the La Follette ticket, Mr. Wheeler aroused a great deal of antagonism by the nature of the charges which he made during the course of the campaign. That may or may not account for the dogged determination to push the case.

The incentive for the prosecution brought against him, however, it was charged, arose while he was performing a great public service for the people of the United States. As chairman of the senatorial committee engaged in investigating the conduct of the department of justice, the Montanian performed his work so well that former Attorney General Daugherty was compelled to retire. Whether deservedly or not, the Wheeler prosecution was interpreted as an act of reprisal by the department of justice.

A NEW ISSUE IN THE ORIENT.

What's the meaning of this agitation which cabled dispatches from Manila say the Filipinos are starting to restrict or exclude further Chinese immigration into their islands? Does it signify that the Filipinos claim superiority over their Chinese neighbors and don't want to be contaminated by the latter? Is it a question of "racial discrimination?"

Not at all. Underneath the Filipino demand to have the doors of their country closed to Chinamen is the realization that if things continue to go on as they have been it is only a matter of time until the hordes of celestial immigrants will outnumber the native population and become the dominant element of the islands. The case of Hawaiia where Japanese now constitute fully half the total population, places an impressive warning before their eyes.

In short, the Filipinos have a natural desire to protect themselves from an alien invasion. They do not believe in standing by and allowing people of another nationality to swarm in and take virtual possession of their country. They are actuated by the same considerations as those which have led the United States, Australia and Canada to erect barriers against the growing flood of Asiatic immigration and, in the case of the United States, to hold down the number of undesirable Europeans as well.

Self-preservation is the first law of nature. This refers to society as a whole, and to nations, the same as to individuals. The countries which have passed legislation to keep out unassimilable foreign elements merely acted in conformity to the fundamental principle of self-preservation. That is the whole sum and substance of the policy of restricting immigration, as a number of nations have already applied it and as the Filipinos wish to have it applied.

There need be no unfriendly developments resulting from this policy, which involves merely an insistence by the people of each country concerned to regulate and control their own national affairs. They concede to other cuntries the same right they claim for themselves. No American protest, for instance, has been heard on account of Japan's laws which prevent foreigners acquiring and owning real estate.

Even when soviet Russia, in disregard of all international law and principles, confiscates the property of American citizens, the United States government refrains from any attempt to interfere in the affairs of that country. Of course, our government refuses to have official or diplomatic converse with Russia's piratical rulers. But so long as the Russian people tolerate the present regime at Moscow, this country concedes them the privilege of living under it. It is their own affair, not ours.

The Filipinos, no doubt, have good reason to be apprehensive of so many Chinese coming into their islands, which are already rather thickly populated. They cannot be blamed for feeling some aversion to having their homeland turned into a Chinese province.

IN THE HIGH PLACES.

Early this week United States Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan, one of the pioneer leaders in the prohibition fight, bared an overflowing heart and publicly denounced those leaders of American society, including some of his colleagues, who, in his opinion, had made the dry amendment a failure.

"When United States senators will boast of violating the constitution in the use of liquors what can we expect from the people for whom these senators make laws," he declared.

"The task of enforcing prohibition so far as the patrons of the American saloon were concerned was comparatively easy. Today the bootlegger thrives not because there are so many more appetites to be gratified, but because prohibition has made the price of liquors prohibitive to the saloon patron, and non prohibitive to the so-called club class."

This is an extraordinarily honest and clear-cut analysis by one whose friendliness to prohibition has never been questioned. Enforcement must aim at those "higher up." The open, flagrant defiance of the dry amendment comes from those members of the social strata, who because of their wealth are able to pay the price demanded by those who deal illegally in liquor. Their disregard of law is more reprehensible because by training and intelligence they should be the first to recognize the evil consequences of widespread lawlessness.

And yet, it cannot be said that there have been no conspicuous examples of enforcement. There have been public officials entrusted with this responsibility with the courage and foresight to do what should be done. The campaign waged by District Attorney Emory R. Buckner of New York City, a former Nebraskan, is a conspicuous example of intelligent effort to wipe out the illegal sale of liquor. News dispatches from Gotham indicate that the last five cabarets, including the most exclusive in that city, surrendered to the mandate that the padlock be placed upon the doors of the institutions as a penalty against liquor law violations. Not one in the entire list of fourteen, which he originally named, made the fight in court which it could have conducted had it been innocent of the charge.

Mr. Buckner would be the last man to voice the opinion that the closing of these clubs had solved the prohibition problem in New York. With hundreds of cases docketed, and awaiting trial, the most that can be said is that a good start has been made. Buckner is the first public official to proclaim that his efforts will not be directed against the poor, obscure individual, who emulates the example set for him by some one more fortunately endowed with wordly goods, but instead will be aimed at those who can afford to patronize bootleggers and bootlegging establishments. Even a padlock campaign cannot stamp out all of the evils of prohibition violation but it is to be commended because it aims at a more even measure of justice than was previously had under enforcement tactics. There will be no final solution of the mess until the people themselves make up their minds that prohibition has come to stay and must be enforced without fear or favor.

COME WEST, MR. DEPEW!

That the world is growing better—infinitely better—is the bouyant assurance which comes from that youthful 91-year old philosopher, Chauncey Depew. Only one fly in the ointment disturbed the retrospection of Mr. Depew as he informally addressesd some of his friends in his well-known fashion recently on the occasion of the celebration of his birthday anniversary. He is alarmed over the disappearance of neighborliness among the American people.

It may smack of impertinence but Mr. Depew's lamentation suggests that he should have adopted the advice of another distinguished American and should have come west. Neighborliness may have vanished in the crowded sections of New York and other metropolitan centers of the east but in the great central west the old spirit of kindliness and good will still prevails.

A few days ago a farmer living near a small Nebraska city, who had been prevented from planting his crops by sickness, had a convincing demonstration of neighborliness. About twenty of his friends gathered one day and before they had returned to their homes all of his neglected spring work had been performed.

Over at Waterloo, Ia., last Wednesday a similar group of men dropped in on a tenant farmer who had suffered a heavy loss and planted all of his crops. Scarcely a day in the week passes but what furnishes an example of this fine central west spirit.

If the most serious charges which can be laid against the American people at this time is selfishness and heartlessness towards suffering and misfortune, then there is no real foundation for apprehension. There is not a community in America, whose sympathies are untouched by the tragic losses which befall their friends and neighbors. After all what better evidence of neighborliness is there than this?

The aviators who plan a dash for the north pole do not fear that their radiators will freeze, for no water is used. But their gasoline has already become ice, several hundred miles from the top of the world.

From the way values of the English pound have fluctuated lately, it is well for the British government that it does not need the approval of the Washington bureau of standards for its pound measurements.

How is it that every man who tries to fish without a license is called a "disciple" of Izaak Walton, that sworn enemy of poachers?

The British labor ministers who complain of the high cost of living at No. 11 Downing street are now coming in contact with some of the "advantages of the ruling classes."

Bulgaria is having trouble with Russia bomb runners on the Black sea. Wonder what she does with confiscated bombs?

And also there came in, but not with Mr. Davis, Barney Baruch, who underwrites the democratic campaigns I introuced him and, what do you know, when he stood up he had on his overcoat. I told him that was the most disgraceful thing ever happned in our place for a man to keep his overcoat on during the show. It was very uncomplimentary. But you can't blame Barney; he has had so much taken away from him, I don't blame him for not laying his coat down any place. He may have been suspicious of Davis, I don't know. That's why the Democrats never get anywhere. They haven't got any two in the party that trust each other.

Well, it certainly was a big night for us to have two democrats in the same audience. The crowd demanded that Mr. Davis say something and wouldnt stop until they did Well, to show you his sense of humor, he thanked them "for their excellent memory" and said: "You notice, Will, I have my coat off, I am still young enough to enjoy the show." Well, the paying customers all enjoyed that.

I told Mr. Davis that I felt lucky when he beat me for the nomination last summer, because I did not believe that even I could have beat Mr. Coolidge last fall. I then told the folks about an exchange of telegrams which I had with Mr. Davis after he had defeated me for the nomination. It showed the sense of humor this guy Davis has. I wired him "Congratulations on your nomination. Understand you are to be associated with one of the Bryan moys. For Lord's sake pick the right one." Now I thought that was pretty good and it was—for me. But he comes back with one that for humor and wit made a piker out of mine, he said: "Thanks for your wire, Will. I will not only pick the right one but will watch the other one."

He is a great fellow this man Davis, I doubt if there has ever been a more dignified, scholarly, learned and capable man ever defeated for the presidency. But, Lord, he is such a fine lawyer tha ta president's salary wouldn't have paid his income tax.

Well, from politics to baseball is quite a jump upwards. Not only financially but morally. The season opened here a couple of weeks ago with about all the starts on the various teams crippled. Baseball teams go south every spring to cripple their players. In the old days they only stayed a couple of weeks and they couldn't get many of them hurt in that time, but now they go south as soon as the season is over to start training for the following season. Most all the men are in good shape when they go down there. But they stay till they get 'em hurt, even if it takes all spring. Some teams make more money out of exhibition games in the spring than they do during the season. But they should be honest and not call them training seasons.

Poor Babe Ruth eats too much. He is always well all winter. But the minute he starts south the Yankees start paying for his meals, he gets suck. They ought to figure out some way of feeding Babe out of a nose bay, and just put so much in it.

What ball players are not crippled by accident, or food down south were crippled by Florida real estate. If the ocean raises six inches this summer and floods all of Florida, you can go to the ball grounds, not to see a ball game, but to see how many players you can count committing suicide.

I talked to my good friend, John McGraw the other night and asked him if he thoght he would win the pennant this year. He said: "If Florida real estate holds up, there is nothing can stop us. If the people get wise and Florida flops, even Connie Mack can beat us."

My oldest hopeful your offspring, Will Jr., age 13, arrived back this week from a three months trip to Europe, and the Mediterranian. He was accompanied by his cousin, Bruce Quissenberry, age 19. Father couldn't go so I sent son to procure some data that would give the Old Reliable Illiterate Digest a kind of European flavor. I sent him out so he could come back and tell his ignorant old Pappy just what the World was like outside of 42 St. and Broadway. I haven't had a chance to look over his report thoroughly, yet. He informed me of one serious mistake I was making. I have a joke about "Turkey being the only prohibition county in the World." He said the men on the trip told him Turkey was no more prohibition than we are. He liked Egypt, especially King Tut's tomb. He didn't think much more of Jerusalem than their nationality over here do. He bootlegged in a bottle of River Jordan water, also one from the Dead Sea. The Dead Sea one is just like our Wooden Alcohol over here. Nothing can live in the Dead Sea water, and nothing can live outside Wooden Alcohol.

He visited the Battlefields and if everybody that goes there picks up as much as he did, France won't have to remove a thing from the Battlefields. He picked up and brought back Helmets, and Bayonets of Nations that I didn't even know was in the war. He said the Cooties have transferred from the soldiers to the tourists, and they have a delousing station on the edge of Paris for tourists returning from the front.

THE PROMPTER'S BOX

GOOD HUMOR TAKES THE PROMPTER'S BOX AND BIDS THE PLAY GO ON

THE REASON this column is so short these few Sundays past is that we've been dieting and have shrunk.

ONE OF the men who covers the legislature came down t'other morning, looking drawn and pale. "I had the most terrible nightmare," he said. "I dreamed the legislature was still in session."

CALIFORNIA HAS shipped out forty carloads of persons of low mentality. In Florida, we understand, they have their choice of going to hear the speeches made by the various real estate promoters, or run off into the ocean. Which amounts to the same thing.

WE'LL BE quite frank about it, however. This abbreviated edition of the column just suits us this spring weather.

ICE CREAM manufacturers are bewailing the fact that popular consumption of their product has suffered a decided drop. One of the reasons assigned for this decrease is the cool summer that many sections of the country enjoyed last year. But we have another: It seems that ice cream doesn't taste as good as it did just a few years ago. Dunno why, but Sunday dinner's dessert—which father or Big Brother had made with exceeding hard work some hours before, and packed, and put in th ecool cellar—well, it was the grand and glorified apex of everything good to eat. But now-a-days everything's different. Ice cream is served with a lot of truck smeared around all over it, and you almost forget the ice cream in the dish—it's only a part of the general conglomeration.

BUT MAYBE she's satisfied as she is. So let heralone.

How Soon Forgotten.

(Kearney Hub.)

How soon we are forgotten when we are gone. A generation ago the mere mention of the name of Admiral George Dewey occasioned a real thrill. Just the other day his remains were removed from the chapel crypt of Washington cathedral by his wife and son with simple ceremonies and without attracting unusual attention. But in history he will always be the brave and gallant Dewey of Manila bay.

DISCOVERIES IN HUMANS

Irvin S. Cobb's Wife His Chief Discoverer, But His Nurse, Mother, New York Editor and Himself Also Shared in the Glory.

However, the great writer and Humorist Seemed Tied to Paducah, Kentucky, Until Mrs. Cobb Made Him Come to New York In Search of $60-a-Week Job He Didn't Believe Existed.

BY PRESTON WRIGHT.

One June 12, 1900, a young lady of Savannah, Ga., became the wife of a youthful newspaperman of Paducah, Ky.

She was Miss Laura Spencer Baker. He was Irvin S. Cobb. They went to live in Paducah.

Mrs. Laura Baker Cobb spent some three or four years getting an adequate low-down on her husband. Then she concluded he had in him the makings of someone worth while—if only he could be gotten into the right environment.

Very opportunely Mrs. Cobb heard, about this time, a rumor which, as the wife of a journalist in Paducah, highly interested her. This rumor, which was to the effect that newspapermen in New York City often made salaries of as much as $60 per week, moved her to decide that it was time for her husband to migrate eastward.

"I don't believe it," said Mr. Cobb. He knew all about newspaper salaries—according to the Paducah standard — and the story didn't sound plausible.

He had no hankering to leave Paducah. He had been born there and always lived there. His newspaper experience had been gained there. He had risen to be managing editor of the Paducas News-Democrat and was correspondent of a Louisville paper. Among other things, he was contributing a humorous column that was giving him some reputation. It was a pretty fair snap, any way you looked at it, and he didn't see how a fellow with a wife and child to support could give up a sure thing to go chasing off for a chimercal salary of $60 a week.

Luckily for him, Mrs. Cobb was of a different temper. Granted that it wasn't true that you could earn (or get) $60 per week in New York, she argued, still, from all reports, the metropolis was the golden field for newspapermen.

"You ought to make a try, at least," she said.

"If I had been left to myself," Irvin Cobb told me. "I would never have left Paducah. But my wife kept after me until I had to go.

"I had no money—not a cent. But she attended to that. She financed me herself with a loan of $200 which she got from her father."

When you've got a hustler like that for a better half you've got to make good. Irvin S. Cobb journeyed to New York and, having done so, conquered.

But if Mrs. Cobb was the first to size up her husband's real ability it remained for another person to discover inwhat particular line that ability would best show itself.

Cobb arrived in New York in 1904 in the month of August, the worst possible season in which to be hunting a newspaper job, although he didn't know it then.

He spent three weeks trying to break past office boys so he could lay his wares before some impressionable managing editor. It could not be done and a return trip to Paducah seemed in order.

Then his irrepressible sense of humor came to his aid. He went to his boarding house and composed and copied off a circular letter which he mailed to every managing editor in New York.

"In the letter," he says, "I told them just how good I was. I informed them that for three weeks I had been trying to get their attention. This, I said, was the last call. And I added that in failing to hire me they were overlooking the best bet—the best newspaper bet—of the Christian era."

Having posted this epistle, he sat back and waited.

He felt very much like a man collecting a large jack pot on a busted flush when in due and quick time he received four offere of jobs, one of them from the noted Arthur Brisbane.

Tommy Dieuade, managing editor of the Evening Sun, was the man whose offer made the biggest impression on the now ex-Paducahite. It carried with it a weekly emolument of $15 and a promise of something better soon. At any rate, the Sun was the lodestone which drew all newspapermen of that day.

In almost no time, Dieuade's recruit was editor of the Evening Sun's humor section. Within a year Mrs. Cobb came on. Another year and the World grabbed him off as special writer and staff humorist on its evening and Sunday editions. After that it was only a short jump to magazine and play writing. Before he knew it he was a national celebrity. He has become more and more nationally celebrated ever since. Probably no one is more so.

To an outsider it looks as though Mrs. Cobb and Tommy Dieuade were Irvin Cobb's discovers, with most of the credit going to Mrs. Cobb. However, Mr. Cobb claims some credit for discovering himself. Also, he says his old nurse and his mother had a hand in the business. Immediately my nurse saw me," he declared, "she said I was a remarkable looking child. The first photos taken of me proved she was right. Nothing has ever happened since to make her out a liar.

"Then there was my mother. From the very beginning she knew I was remarkable.

"I remember that in 1915, after my return from Europe, where I had been having a private view of the World War, a number of noted persons gave a dinner in my honor at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"My mother came on from Paducah to be present. There was a lot of speaking, with me as the subject, and while it was at its height someone went into the box where my mother was seated, taking it all in, and asked:

"Aren't you thrilled to know your son is receiving such public recognition?"

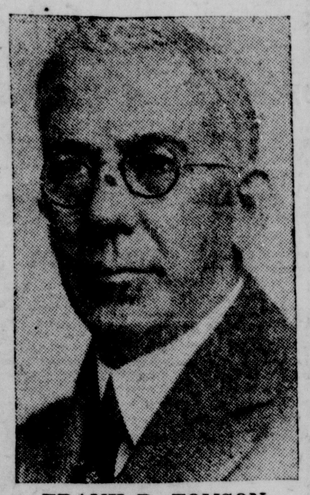

"Not at all," replied my mother. "I've been telling him he was a great man all along and I can't understand why this affair has been delayed so long. He ought to have two dinners like this every night in the week."

Anent "being discovered," Cobb tells one story which may be old but is worth repeating.

"After I became established," he says, "I was so ill-advised as to write a musical comedy. The

Frank D. Tomson Says

FRANK D. TOMSON.

Another distinctive acreage tract has been added to Lincoln by our Company — Woods Brothers Lakeview Acres — comprising 80 acres on West O street, immediately south of Capitol Beach. We acquired the property about the middle of April, graded the streets, planted shade trees, and got the plan started to provide water.

Never before has there been added to the city to the westward such an appealing location as this. It overlooks the lake and the city. It borders the O Street paving for one-half mile. The new Lakeview school touches it on the east. The Capitol Beach car line provides street car service. It is only a mile and one-half from the Post Office, about the same distance as Twenty-eighth Street in east Lincoln, a little less in fact. This acreage is nearly level with sufficient undulation to provide surface drainage. The soil and subsoil are of the best. It is ideal for truck gardening and fruit growing. It is a most desirable location.

Lincoln has long needed a district of this character. Woods Brothers Lake View Acres provides it and happily the locations are available at such conservative prices as to be within the reach of any industrious workman.

In due time Woods Brothers Lakeview Acres will blossom, its vineyards, its orchards, its gardens all foretelling production, contributing to the maintenance of the families who will reside or have holdings there. Many a bungalow will be adorned by climbing roses and blooming vines and the over-hanging trees will wave in the wind. It will be a charming place some day and not a distant day either.

We are coming to understand the value of acreage tracts where ample gardens may be grown and poultry raising play its part and the fruits of the vineyard and the orchard add a touch of luxury. We go into ecstasies in California and other regions as we observe small tracts—ranches as they call them there—but somehow we have never come to understand until recently that similar home investments are as practical here or more so and more remunerative than in those remote sections.

We are beginning to understand the value of homes surrounded by gardens and orchards in which much of the living is provided and in many cases a surplus besides. It is the ideal investment for the family of modest income and every such property adds to the stability of the community and to the volume of the business as well as strengthening the financial ability of the owner and the making of a more useful and dependable citizen.

We have developed a similar acreage — North View Acres—at Belmont and have sold much of the property in locations of one-half acre each. These two tracts will be important factors in the development of the city to the west and northwest. Wilson Acres and Faulkner Acres on South Street have entirely been absorbed by home owners. It is all in the line of progress and community building.

Johnson County Early Resident Called By Death

TECUMSEH, Neb., April 25.—Following a short illness with pneumonia, Mrs. Alvira Halstead died at her home in Tecumseh today, aged seventy-four years. Her maiden name was Alvira Dixon and she was born at Freeport, Ill. She was married to Jerome E. Halsted at Bigrock, Ill., March 24, 1869, and they became members of a party of several families to drive from Bigrock to Tecumseh that year.

They located on a homestead here and later Mr. Halstead was in the livery business in Tecumseh for many years. He died in 1916. Mrs. Halsted is survived by five children who are Mrs. Willis Pool and Jesse Halsted of Omaha; G. W. Halsted, Milo Halsted and Mrs. L. B. Heskett of Tecumseh.

The funeral will be held Monday.

SEWARD NOTES.

(Special to The Star.)

SEWARD, Neb., April 25. — A Capella choir of Lincoln gave a program under the direction of John Rosborough at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night.

Both of the Seward golf clubs are now preparing links, one at the Oak farm and the other at Oak park.

Three positions will be left vacant when Fay Merriman removes to Kearney, where he has accepted a situation with General Motors. Mr. Merriam is now chief of the fire department, city clerk and commander of Seward post of the American Legion.

The Juniors of the York high school motored to Seward in a truck for a visit Friday.

Mrs. Catherine Krueger, mother of H. W. Krueger, died at the home of her son Friday. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from St. John's Lutheran church.

The remains of Walter DeBolt, former resident of Seward, who died at Joplin, Mo., Thursday, were brought here for burial Saturday, the funeral being held from the Methodist church.

CUSTER PIONEER DIES.

CRETE NOTES

CRETE, Neb., April 25. — The combined ladies' and men's glee clubs of Doane college gave a concert at Sokol hall Friday evening. This home concert was under the auspices of the Community club lyceum committee and was the last number of the course. A large house appreciated the concert and a nice profit was reported by the chairman of the committee, W. A. Lathrop, who stated that the club was highly pleased with the success of the course put on during the winter. One pleasing feature was the string ensemble number by Mrs. R. C. Rogers and Misses Opal and Eleanor Crouse. The orchestra numbers were also highly enjoyed.

Louis Spinar has just bought the farm formerly known as the Clemence Nave south 120 acres from Ben Sand This is one of the best farms in the West Blue vicinity and has always been highly productive.

Louis Goetz has bought a block of ground in Sabetha, Kas., and with his sister will move there next week to begin building a modern home on the same.

Mr. and Mrs. August Seidhoff returned from their wedding trip and were given a miscellaneous shower at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Clemence D. Nave on the West Blue. The young couple have gone to housekeeping in the home on the farm of the groom

Finds Needle In Muscle Of Arm

THURSTON, Neb., April 25.—Suffering intense pains for a long time from something in his right arm between theelbow and wrist, Lynn Rasmussen finally had an X-ray taken of his arm and it was discovered that a needle was imbedded in the muscle of the forearm. Upon removal it was found to be an old fashioned embroidery needle, but how it got there is a mystery to Mr. Rasmussen.

MOVES TO DOUGLAS.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 25.—R. Seidel, who has been manager of the Searle & Chapin lumber yard at Filley since 1916, has resigned his position and is leaving with his family for Douglas, Neb., where he will assume charge of the yard owned by the Sullivan Lumber company. He has sold his home at Filley to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Erickson.

NEW STATION AGENT.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 25.—M. H. Hamilton of Rosemont, Colo., has been appointed station agent of the Burlington at Filley, succeeding A. T Watson, who was transferred to another station a few weeks ago. Mr. Hamilton has a wife and two children and they will live in the depot.

BROTHERS BOUND OVER.

CHADRON, Neb., April 25.—Two brthers, Floyd and Ten Clausen, of near Rushville, were given hearing in the county court at Rushville before county Judge Butler, charged with horse stealing. Judge Butler bound them over to the next term of district court for hearing before Judge W. H. Westover.

NEW BANK BUILDING.

HUBBELL, Neb., April 25.—It is said that Hubbell is to have a new brick bank building in the near future. J. E. Conklin, president of the Hubbell bank, is planning erecting a new modern structure on the present site of the old bank, which is a small frame. The new building will be of brick, or tile and stucco.

Chicago On Daylight Saving Time Sunday Despite Opposition

CHICAGO, April 25.—Daylight saving time goes into effect here at 2 a. m., Sunday despite the opposition of several council men.

A meeting called Saturday by aldermen opposed to the law failed to find a sufficient number to knock out or modify it. The matter was referred to committee where proponents of the measure say it will be pigeon-holed.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The last week brought a great number of registrations for Camp Quivira. Paul Byer, troop 4 of University Place, was the first scout to register for this summers' camp. One of the largest attendances of Lincoln scouts in the history of the camp is expected this year. Troops or scouts wishing to register for any certain period must get their registration in now. Camp Chief R. D. McDermott who has accepted an appointment to teach scouting in the Canton Christian college, Canton, China, leaves San Francisco August 8.

Every scout should have received the camp number of the Rallsplitter by now. Those scouts who have not received one may get theirs at the scout headquarters, city hall.

The lumber for the remainder of the floor for the cabin at Camp Iotan is on the grounds. Every scout who hikes to camp the next two weeks is asked to bring a hammer and have a part in the work of improving our camp. The lumber was donated by W. F. Hoppe.

The wall for wall-scaling at Antelope park is ready for use. Troops will find the park a good place to hold their troop meetings and for the practicing of the rally program.

Three numbers of the scout leader training course, meeting every Tuesday and Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at the university armory have been held. There are three more numbers and all men interested in scouting are invited to attend one or all of the remaining meetings. One hundred men are enrolled at present.

A crack drill team composed of two first class scouts from each troop in Lincoln is meeting every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Lincoln high school. J. Lloyd McMaster has charge and B. O. Anderson of the Y. M. C. A. is assisting him in drilling the boys. The team will be used for demonstration and exhibition purposes.

Many squeaks and rattles may be located in the windshield. Loosen up the anchorage bolts, allow oil to run into the recesses and tighten down the bolts.

Larsen To Direct Department For Omaha Company

Clarence H. Larsen, who for thirteen years has been one of the leading architects in Lincoln, is leaving May 1, for Omaha, where he has accepted a position as director of the engineering and sales departments of the Baker Ice Machine company.

Mr. Larsen was born and reared in Lincoln and attended school here. During the years he has been in business he has designed some of the most attractive buildings and homes in the city, including the Patriot building, the Lincoln Star, besides several state institutions.

Mrs. Larsen and daughter, Marjorie Eloise, will accompany Mr. Larsen to Omaha the fore part of the week to look into the purchase of a home.

The Baker Ice Machine company is a very large concern, having been in business for more than twenty-five years. Its products are sold not only to all parts of the United States but to practically all parts of the world. They do a large export business, particularly to Central and South America. The firm manufacturers all kinds of mechanical refrigerators and ice making machines, ranging in size from 500 pounds to fifty tons per day.

Johnson County Early Resident Called By Death

TECUMSEH, Neb., April 25.—Following a short illness with pneumonia, Mrs. Alvira Halstead died at her home in Tecumseh today, aged seventy-four years. Her maiden name was Alvira Dixon and she was born at Freeport, Ill. She was married to Jerome E. Halsted at Bigrock, Ill., March 24, 1869, and they became members of a party of several families to drive from Bigrock to Tecumseh that year.

They located on a homestead here and later Mr. Halstead was in the livery business in Tecumseh for many years. He died in 1916. Mrs. Halsted is survived by five children who are Mrs. Willis Pool and Jesse Halsted of Omaha; G. W. Halsted, Milo Halsted and Mrs. L. B. Heskett of Tecumseh.

The funeral will be held Monday.

SEWARD NOTES.

(Special to The Star.)

SEWARD, Neb., April 25. — A Capella choir of Lincoln gave a program under the direction of John Rosborough at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night.

Both of the Seward golf clubs are now preparing links, one at the Oak farm and the other at Oak park.

Three positions will be left vacant when Fay Merriman removes to Kearney, where he has accepted a situation with General Motors. Mr. Merriam is now chief of the fire department, city clerk and commander of Seward post of the American Legion.

The Juniors of the York high school motored to Seward in a truck for a visit Friday.

Mrs. Catherine Krueger, mother of H. W. Krueger, died at the home of her son Friday. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from St. John's Lutheran church.

The remains of Walter DeBolt, former resident of Seward, who died at Joplin, Mo., Thursday, were brought here for burial Saturday, the funeral being held from the Methodist church.

CUSTER PIONEER DIES.

CRETE NOTES

CRETE, Neb., April 25. — The combined ladies' and men's glee clubs of Doane college gave a concert at Sokol hall Friday evening. This home concert was under the auspices of the Community club lyceum committee and was the last number of the course. A large house appreciated the concert and a nice profit was reported by the chairman of the committee, W. A. Lathrop, who stated that the club was highly pleased with the success of the course put on during the winter. One pleasing feature was the string ensemble number by Mrs. R. C. Rogers and Misses Opal and Eleanor Crouse. The orchestra numbers were also highly enjoyed.

Louis Spinar has just bought the farm formerly known as the Clemence Nave south 120 acres from Ben Sand. This is one of the best farms in the West Blue vicinity and has always been highly productive.

Louis Goetz has bought a block of ground in Sabetha, Kas., and with his sister will move there next week to begin building a modern home on the same.

Mr. and Mrs. August Seidhoff returned from their wedding trip and were given a miscellaneous shower at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Clemence D. Nave on the West Blue. The young couple have gone to housekeeping in the home on the farm of the groom.

Finds Needle In Muscle Of Arm

THURSTON, Neb., April 25.—Suffering intense painn for a long time from something in his right arm between theelbow and wrist, Lynn Rasmussen finally had an X-ray taken of his arm and it was discovered that a needle was imbedded in the muscle of the forearm. Upon removal it was found to be an old fashioned embroidery needle, but how it got there is a mystery to Mr. Rasmussen.

MOVES TO DOUGLAS.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 25.—R. Seidel, who has been manager of the Searle & Chapin lumber yard at Filley since 1916, has resigned his position and is leaving with his family for Douglas, Neb., where he will assume charge of the yard owned by the Sullivan Lumber company. He has sold his home at Filley to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Erickson.

NEW STATION AGENT.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 25.—M. H. Hamilton of Rosemont, Colo., has been appointed station agent of the Burlington at Filley, succeeding A. T. Watson, who was transferred to another station a few weeks ago. Mr. Hamilton has a wife and two children and they will live in the depot.

BROTHERS BOUND OVER.

CHADRON, Neb., April 25.—Two brthers, Floyd and Ten Clausen, of near Rushville, were given hearing in the county court at Rushville before county Judge Butler, charged with horse stealing. Judge Butler bound them over to the next term of district court for hearing before Judge W. H. Westover.

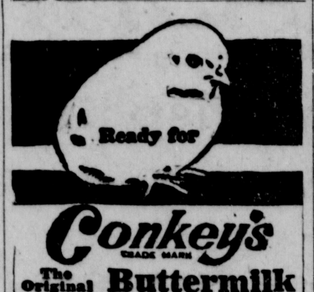

NEW BANK BUILDING.

HUBBELL, Neb., April 25.—It is said that Hubbell is to have a new brick bank building in the near future. J. E. Conklin, president of the Hubbell bank, is planning erecting a new modern structure on the present site of the old bank, which is a small frame. The new building will be of brick, or tile and stucco.

Chicago On Daylight Saving Time Sunday Despite Opposition

CHICAGO, April 25.—Daylight saving time goes into effect here at 2 a. m., Sunday despite the opposition of several council men.

A meeting called Saturday by aldermen opposed to the law failed to find a sufficient number to knock out or modify it. The matter was referred to committee where proponents of the measure say it will be pigeon-holed.

LAWYERS NAME MILES AS HEAD

Officers For Coming Year Elected By County Bar Association.

Annual Ladies Night Features Closing Meeting Of Season.

Clarence G. Miles was elected president of the Lancaster County Bar association Saturday evening at the final meeting of the organization at the Grand hotel. Seventy-eight persons, including wives of members and all judges of the state supreme court except Judge Rose, were present at the annual Ladies' Night meeting. The next meeting will be held in the fall.

Other officers elected with Miles on recommendation of a nominating committee are: Vice president, F. A. Williams; secretary, Robert Van Pelt; treasurer, Arthur W. Richardson; members of the executive committee, H. J. Whitmore, Robin R. Reid and Earl Cline.

Members of the nominating committee are: G. H. Risser, J. A. Brown and T. S. Allen, the first named presenting the report of the committee at the meeting.

A skit in which judges of the district court, several attorneys, and court reporters were represented in an unusual court scene was put on as the surprise part of the evening's program by Lyle Holland, Homer Kyle, Robert Patterson and Herbert Baird. Attorney Baird appeaed i nthe role of Judge Wheeler in the play, "Judges and Court Reporters," in the opening scene, but having written the play he left its presentation to the other three of the cast.

Mrs. Charles Matson sang a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Stout, and LeRoy Baughn's orchestra played throughout the banquet.

Lavender decorations were used with garden flowers. Rose favors were provided for the ladies present.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The last week brought a great number of registrations for Camp Quivira. Paul Byer, troop 4 of University Place, was the first scout to register for this summers' camp. One of the largest attendances of Lincoln scouts in the history of the camp is expected this year. Troops or scouts wishing to register for any certain period must get their registration in now. Camp Chief R. D. McDermott who has accepted an oppointment to teach scouting in the Canton Christian. college, Canton, China, leaves San Francisco August 8.

Every scout should have received the camp number of the Railsplitter by now. Those scouts who have not received one may get theirs at the scout headquarters, city hall.

The lumber for the remainder of the floor for the cabin at Camp Iotan is on the grounds. Every scout who hikes to camp the next two weeks is asked to bring a hammer and have a part in the work of improving our camp. The lumber was donated by W. F. Hoppe.

The wall for wall-scalling at Antelope park is ready for use. Troops will find the park a good place to hold their troop meetings and for the practicing of the rally program.

Three numbers of the scout leader training course, meeting every Tuesday and Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at the university armory have been held. There are three more numbers and all men interested in scouting are invited to attend one or all of the remaining meetings. One hundred men are enrolled at present.

A crack drill team composed of two first class scouts from each troop in Lincoln is meeting every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Lincoln high school. J. Lloyd McMaster has charge and B. O. Anderson of the Y. M. C. A. is assisting him in drilling the boys. The team will be used for demonstration and exhibition purposes.

Many squeaks and rattles may be located in the windshield. Loosen up the anchorage bolts, allow oil to run into the recesses and tighten down the bolts.

Orders Re-Trial—Re-trial of the suit brought by David S. Potter against Jay E Kelly for alleged misrepresentation in a land deal was ordered by Judge Mason Wheeler in district court late Saturday. A jury in Wheeler's court April 16 returned a verdict of $5 for the plaintiff, which, inasmuch as it was for the plaintiff should have been substantially larger the judge states in his opinion setting aside the verdict.

Cowgill Files Demurrers—Demurrers by Allen P. Cowgill, city street commissioner, as an individual, were brought in district court Saturday in connection with the actions for restraining orders brought by Martin Shephard, Isaac Eradt and W. J. Stevens. Cowgill alleges insufficient facts in petitions to constitute causes of action Motions and affidavits to dissolve the temporary restraining orders granted the two last named plaintiffs were also made

Seek Former Lincoln Man— Federal officers were in Lincoln Saturday seeking information concerning E. O. Jaeger, alias J. F. Smith, formerly said to have lived in Lincoln, who is wanted at Miami, Fla. Jaeger, according to information received by police, was arrested at Miami with Albert P. Miller, in possession of a Cadillac sedan stolen March 15 in Omaha. Jaeger escaped by striking a United States marshal as he was coming from arraignment. Miller is being held.

To Announce New Judges. —Governor McMullen's appointees for the new supreme court commission, six in number, are to be made public during the early part of this week, according to an announcement from the executive office a few days ago. The governor has consulted members of the supreme court, whose approval is necessary under the legislative act, and expects to have that body's concurrence when his selections are given out. The commissioners will receive $5,000 a year each, for two years. Unless the next legislature extends the commission's tenure, it will pass out of existence in 1927. Four stenographical assistants at $1,500 each are also to be named.

Sues the Burlington — Suit for $681.49 alleged damages to stock in shipment and alleged failure to deliver stock in agreed time was brought against the Burlington railroad by the Roca Land and Cattle Co. in district court late Saturday. The sum of $548.96 is asked for alleged delay in shipping 138 head of cattle from Roca to Chicago, which it is claimed, caused the shippers to miss a high market. The claim that one head was never delivered at the market constitutes a second cause of action on which $67 53 is asked. Alleged failure to adequately care for another stock shipment and loss of one head is given as the third cause of action on which $77.96 is asked.

To Elect New Principal. — A special meeting of the school board has been called for 1:30 p. m., Monday to act on the principalship of the high school, which will be left vacant at the close of the present school year when H. P. Shepherd goes to Knoxville, Tenn. Other business will be considered also.

Auto Club Gaining New Members By Steady Campaign

Membership in the Lincoln Auto club during the past week increased by 53 persons, 42 of whom had never before belonged. The club is not only conducting a campaign by mail, but is also calling on various prospects and soliciting their membership.

A sustaining membership committee, under the direction of M. T. Caster is now being formed, and Mr. Caster will be able to announce other workers on the committee within the near future. The duties of this body will be to see that renewal memberships are kept up, and to devise means of bringing the membership up to 3,000.

Wednesday of this week, the club will have an additional supply of guest tags to distribute to visitors in Lincoln. The club has been issuing these stickers for the last two years. They have proved popular with out of town shoppers.

Number of State Bank Examiners Shows Increase

The force of bank examiners working for the state of Nebraska has been considerably changed since the new administration took charge last January. Twelve regular field men were on the payroll in March, at $200 a month each. One or two more will be added to this number if necessary.

E. F. Kimmerle, formerly a clerk in the banking bureau, who also acted as special examiner, is now chief assistant to Trade and Commerce Secretary Griggs. His salary is $225 a month.

The examiners are P. L. Zuelow, O. F. Steffen, A. J. Barak, P. D. Marshall, J. W. Mann, C. A. Lau, A. O. Helquest, Merle N. Foster, S. L. Hestebeck, C J. Hornsby, George B. Wilson and L. E. Martin.

Pullman Car Co. Files Report On Taxable Property

In its annual report of taxable property in Nebraska, filed with the state board of equilization, the Pullman Car Co., scales down the valuation of its cars very materially from figures which the board fixed in 1924 as the basis of taxation. It returns standard sleeping cars at $12,480 each, as against $16,842 on which the assessment was made last year, and tourist cars at $6,463, marked down from $9,450.

The mileage of routes traveled by these cars in the state is given as 2,649 for standard and 455 for tourists.

From these two factors, the company calculates that its standard cars should be taxed in Nebraska at a total valuation of $678,651, and tourist cars at $31,495, making the aggregate assessment $710,176.

However, the company paid taxes for last year on $957,554, of which $913,366 was assessed on standard and $44,188 on tourist sleepers. The state board of equalization will probably not allow any reduction.

Obituary

Delos Wetenkamp.

Delos Wetenkamp, 58, Memphis, Tenn., business man who died in Memphis April 15 was born in a log house near Lincoln, Sept. 3 1867 and moved to Memphis 33 years ago. He had been ill for two weeks preceding his death as a result of a stroke of paralysis. Burial took place at Memphis.

About twenty years ago Mr. Wetenkamp started the firm of Wetenkamp and Kruger, dealers in harness and saddlery, in Memphis and was also connected with the Wetenkamp Auto Top Co. of that city. He was a member of the Odd Fellows organization and an organizer of labor, becoming prominent in Memphis business circles before his death.

Delos Wetenkamp was the son of Mr. and Mrs John L. Wetenkamp, who came to Nebraska in 1861 and took up the homestead where he was born.

A wife, formerly Clara Renkert; a daughter, Luella, and son Renkert survive. A sister Mrs. Henrietta Faulhaber lives at 1711 South Twenty-second street, Lincoln. There are six brothers: Albert of Havelock, Henry of Eagle, Edward of Walton, John of Buhl, Idaho, William of Palestine, Texas, and Irvin of Chicago.

J. P. Dahl.

J P. Dahl, a Staplehurst business man and resident there for thirty-seven years, passed away at 3:30 p. m Saturday, April 25 after an illness of only a few days.

He was born in Nordt Slesveg, Denmark, February 21, 1870, came to the United States in the spring of 1888 and since then had made his home at Staplehurst or in that vicinity. For twenty years he had been in the retail hardware business. During that time he had taken an active interest in the welfare of the community. He united with the Danish Lutheran church twenty-five years ago, served on the village board for twelve years and also on the school board. He was a member of the Staplehurst Brotherhood and of the M. W. A.

The funeral was held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at the home, and at the Danish Lutheran church at 2 p. m. Rev. Nomanson officiated, and the church choir sang. The body was laid to rest in the Danish cemetery. Pall bearers were D. J. Dohrman, Hans Phillipson, Godfrey Greiner, S S. Weatherby, Hans Munk and Arthur J. Jensen.

Relatives from out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dahl of California, Rev. and Mrs. Nelson of Kennard, Mrs. Elsie Sunderup and children of St. Paul, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Chris Dahl of Laurel, and Peter Lorensen of Brush, Colo.

Besides his wife, Elsie Dorothea Lorensen whom he married January 19, 1897, he leaves a daughter, Mrs Verna Gladwish, and two sons, Albert of Staplehurst and Otto of California, his mother, a brother and three sisters in Denmark, and one brother, Nelse Dahl of Staplehurst.

WOMEN OF KLAN END CONVENTION

Closing Session Held Saturday Night At New Lincoln Klavern.

Many Will Attend Tri-State Gathering In May At Kansas City.

The new klavern of the Lincoln Ku Klux Klan at Seventh and Washington streets was crowded Saturday afternoon and night with delegates to the state gathering of the Women of the K K K. During the afternoon fully 1,500 were at the meeting, and 2,000 were reported in attendance at the closing session Saturday night

The meeting last night opened with an exhibition drill by a girls cadet corps, under the direction of an army officer. The thirty in number were dressed in khaki uniforms. Following the cadet drill, the degree team of the Lincoln local gave an exhibition, spelling the letters WOK and then kneeling in the form of a cross in the center of which was a nelectric cross and the American flag

Flowers For Workers.

A vocal duet "Old Rugged Cross" and a series of readings by members of the York society were followed by the presentation of flowers to state leaders, and an open forum at which problems of the order were discussed.

Announcement that the tri-state meeting of the organization would be held in Kansas City, May 21-22-23 was made. Miss Robbie Gill of Little Rock, Ark, imperial commander, will attend, it was said The district includes Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Send Degree Teams.

Omaha, Lincoln and York delegates said their towns would be well represented at the district meet, and each expects to be represented in the degree team contests with one or more teams. The winner of the Kansas City contests will be designated the national degree team, it was said.

At the afternoon session yesterday, the Weeping Water delegation led the devotionals of the opening exercises. Gifts of flowers were made to the state field workers by several groups of delegates, while the representatives, fifteen in all, were in conference, discussing plans for furthering the work in Nebraska.

An address on "Co-operation Between the WOKKK and the Knights," by a member of the Lincoln local, featured the afternoon session, at which this program was followed:

Influence of Klan.

The many angles of influence of the Klan on community and national life; Fremont.

Why the lack of prohibition enforcement in this country? Norfolk.

Some solutions advanced for the enforcement of prohibition and narcotic laws; Lincoln.

Just how would a membership in the world court affect our national position with the nations of the world? Lincoln.

What about the insiduous trend of the Protestant churches in the movement for World Peace? What influence is behind this deplorable propaganda?

Members of the faculty of the college of engineering met Friday evening at the Temple cafeteria to take dinner and to discuss the subject "Standardization of Grading Students for Engineering Colleges." Prof. J W. Haney of the department of mechanical engineering led the discussion, followed by Prof. George R. Chatburn The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, a faculty organization, also met.

Wife Wants Divorce — Vera E. Rasmussen brought divorce action against Ely Rasmussen in district court late Saturday alleging nonsupport and extreme cruelty. They were married in Omaha, Nov. 7, 1919.

Held on Liquor Charge.—J. E. Coberly, 922 Short street, was arrested by state and city officers Saturday afternoon on a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor. Ira Katuzman was arrested on a like charge. About a gallon of liquor was taken, the officers said.

Hold Four. — John Fitzpatrick, Henry Peters, Ross York and Robert Batey were arrested Saturday night near Twentieth and O streets. Officers say they found about a pint of liquor among them. No definite charges were registered opposite their names.

Say Parked Near Hydrant—G. M. Baker, Lei Lau Farl apartments, was booked Saturday afternoon by police on a charge of parking too near a fire hydrant.

Extinguish Blaze—Firemen made a run Saturday evening to 3069 T street, where a blaze had started from spontaneous combustion in a house under construction. The house is owned by George Dunkle, the department reported. Neighbors who discovered the fire extinguished it with a garden hose before the department arrived. The damage was reported as slight.

Night Crowd Heavy. — An unusually heavy spring crowd thronged the downtown streets Saturday evening early, and traffic was congested at all busy intersections. Only one accident was reported to police, however.

Orders Re-Trial—Re-trial of the suit brought by David S. Potter against Jay E. Kelly for alleged misrepresentation in a land deal was ordered by Judge Mason Wheeler in district court late Saturday. A jury in Wheeler's court April 16 returned a verdict of $5 for the plaintiff, which, inasmuch as it was for the plaintiff should have been substantially larger the judge states in his opinion setting aside the verdict.

Cowgill Files Demurrers—Demurrers by Allen P. Cowgill, city street commissioner, as an individual, were brought in district court Saturday in connection with the actions for restraining orders brought by Martin Shephard, Isaac Eradt and W. J. Stevens. Cowgill alleges insufficient facts in petitions to constitute causes of action. Motions and affidavits to dissolve the temporary restraining orders granted the two last named plaintiffs were also made.

Seek Former Lincoln Man— Federal officers were in Lincoln Saturday seeking information concerning E. O. Jaeger, alias J. F. Smith, formerly said to have lived in Lincoln, who is wanted at Miami, Fla. Jaeger, according to information received by police, was arrested at Miami with Albert P. Miller, in possession of a Cadillac sedan stolen March 15 in Omaha. Jaeger escaped by striking a United States marshal as he was coming from arraignment. Miller is being held.

To Announce New Judges. —Governor McMullen's appointees for the new supreme court commission, six in number, are to be made public during the early part of this week, according to an announcement from the executive office a few days ago. The governor has consulted members of the supreme court, whose approval is necessary under the legislative act, and expects to have that body's concurrence when his selections are given out. The commissioners will receive $5,000 a year each, for two years. Unless the next legislature extends the commission's tenure, it will pass out of existence in 1927. Four stenographical assistants at $1,500 each are also to be named.

Sues the Burlington — Suit for $681.49 alleged damages to stock in shipment and alleged failure to deliver stock in agreed time was brought against the Burlington railroad by the Roca Land and Cattle Co. in district court late Saturday. The sum of $545.95 is asked for alleged delay in shipping 138 head of cattle from Roca to Chicago, which it is claimed, caused the shippers to miss a high market. The claim that one head was never delivered at the market constitutes a second cause of action on which $57.53 is asked. Alleged failure to adequately care for another stock shipment and loss of one head is given as the third cause of action on which $77.96 is asked.

To Elect New Principal. — A special meeting of the school board has been called for 1:30 p. m., Monday to act on the principalship of the high school, which will be left vacant at the close of the present school year when H. P. Shepherd goes to Knoxville, Tenn. Other business will be considered also.

Death

Marguerite M. Young, 17, the daughter of Mrs. Mollie Young of Havelock, died suddenly Friday evening at the home of friends in Omaha. She had been ill for some time, and death was caused by heart disease. She was just calling a taxi to take her to the station where she would board a train for Havelock when the end came. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church in Havelock at 2:30 p. m., Monday. Rev. D. B. O'Connor will officiate. Burial in Wyuka. The body is at Wadlow's mortuary. Cathedral and St. Francis de Salles courts, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters held a joint installation of officers Thursday night at Knights of Columbus hall. Mrs. Margaret McMahon, past chief ranger, presided, and Rev. P. L. O'Laughlin, chaplain of Cathedral court, obligated the new officers. He also made an interesting talk at the close of the ceremony.

Following the installation, Mrs. McHamon, on behalf of the court presented the outgoing chief ranger, Mrs. Anna Griffin, with a leather traveling bag, and the retiring recording secretary with a cut glass vase, as a mark of the court's appreciation for their faithfulness during their two years in office.

Mrs. Nellie Grace, who has been in Detroit, Mich., during the past two years, was an interested spectator at the installation, she having helped organize the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters in Lincoln.

The drill team under the direction of Miss Alice Reardon gave an exhibition drill after which a program was given and dancing closed the entertainment.

The following officers were installed:

Cathedral court—Mrs. Pearl Haberlain, chief ranger; Mrs. Emily Mingo, vice chief ranger; Mrs. Nellie Charters, financial secretary; Mrs. Katherine Reese, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary E. Myers, treasurer; Mrs. Lucile Grace, Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch and Mrs. Nellie Lodge, trustees; Mrs. Anna McCrory, Mrs. Margaret Nelson, and Mrs. O. O. Hager, auditors. Miss Mary Engler and Helen O'Halloran, conductors; Miss Anna Mullen and Miss Marie Joyce, sentinels; and Lucile Wachter, musician.

St. Francis de Salles court—Mrs. Anna Horn, chief ranger; Mrs. Emily Bauer, vice chief ranger; Mrs. Dorothy Straus, recording secretary; Mrs. Rose Schmitt, treasurer; Mrs. Marie Brandt, financial secretary; Miss Celia Goerig, Miss Celia Smith, trustees; Miss Ida Bauer, Mrs. Eliza Pam and Mrs. Josephine White, auditors; Miss Cecelia Hartnett and Mrs. Catherine Smith, conductors; Mrs. Anna Assenmacher and Mrs. Christine Schneider, sentinels.

H. J. Negel, a railroad man who formerly lived at Lincoln, returned here recently to take his wife and daughter, Ruth, to their new home at Eugene, Ore. They left Tuesday, April 4.

The ninth annual banquet of Delta Phi, Wesleyan sorority, was held at the Lincoln hotel Saturday evening. A program was given by Marjorie Shanafelt, harpist, and Prof. Enid Miller, reader. Special guests were Prof. Enid Miller, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Brunig, and Mrs. Alice Ziggafoos. The faculty advisor for the chapter is Miss Beulah G. Champ.

The dinner of the Fifty-fifty dancing club scheduled for Thursday evening has been postponed until two weeks from Wednesday night because of the illness of J. C. Harpham.

Auto Club Gaining New Members By Steady Campaign

Membership in the Lincoln Auto club during the past week increased by 53 persons, 42 of whom had never before belonged. The club is not only conducting a campaign by mail, but is also calling on various prospects and soliciting their membership.

A sustaining membership committee, under the direction of M. T. Caster is now being formed, and Mr. Caster will be able to announce other workers on the committee within the near future. The duties of this body will be to see that renewal memberships are kept up, and to devise means of bringing the membership up to 3,000.

Wednesday of this week, the club will have an additional supply of guest tags to distribute to visitors in Lincoln. The club has been issuing these stickers for the last two years. They have proved popular with out of town shoppers.

Number of State Bank Examiners Shows Increase

The force of bank examiners working for the state of Nebraska has been considerably changed since the new administration took charge last January. Twelve regular field men were on the payroll in March, at $200 a month each. One or two more will be added to this number if necessary.

E. F. Kimmerle, formerly a clerk in the banking bureau, who also acted as special examiner, is now chief assistant to Trade and Commerce Secretary Griggs. His salary is $225 a month.

The examiners are P. L. Zuclow, O. F. Steffen, A. J. Barak, P. D. Marshall, J. W. Mann, C. A. Lau, A. O. Helquest, Merle N. Foster, S. L. Hestebeck, C. J. Hornsby, George B. Wilson and L. E. Martin.

Pullman Car Co. Files Report On Taxable Property

In its annual report of taxable property in Nebraska, filed with the state board of equilization, the Pullman Car Co., scales down the valuation of its cars very materially from figures which the board fixed in 1924 as the basis of taxation. It returns standard sleeping cars at $12,480 each, as against $16,842 on which the assessment was made last year, and tourist cars at $6,463, marked down from $9,450.

The mileage of routes traveled by these cars in the state is given as 2,649 for standard and 455 for tourists.

From these two factors, the company calculates that its standard cars should be taxed in Nebraska at a total valuation of $678,651, and tourist cars at $31,495, making the aggregate assessment $710,176.

However, the company paid taxes for last year on $957,554, of which $913,366 was assessed on standard and $44,188 on tourist sleepers. The state board of equalization will probably not allow any reduction.

Obituary

Delos Wetenkamp.

Delos Wetenkamp, 58, Memphis, Tenn., business man who died in Memphis April 15 was born in a log house near Lincoln, Sept. 2 1867 and moved to Memphis 32 years ago. He had been ill for two weeks preceding his death as a result of a stroke of paralysis. Burial took place at Memphis.

About twenty years ago Mr. Wetenkamp started the firm of Wetenkamp and Kruger, dealers in harness and saddlery, in Memphis and was also connected with the Wetenkamp Auto Top Co. of that city. He was a member of the Odd Fellows organization and an organizer of labor, becoming prominent in Memphis business circles before his death.

Delos Wetenkamp was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wetenkamp, who came to Nebraska in 1861 and took up the homestead where he was born.

A wife, formerly Clara Renkert; a daughter, Luella, and son Renkert survive. A sister Mrs. Henrietta Faulhaber ,lives at 1711 South Twenty-second street, Lincoln. There are six brothers: Albert of Havelock, Henry of Eagle ,Edward of Walton, John of Buhl, Idaho, William of Palestine, Texas, and Irvin of Chicago.

J. P. Dahl.

J. P. Dahl, a Staplehurst business man and resident there for thirty-seven years, passed away at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, April 25 after an illness of only a few days.

He was born in Nordt Slesveg, Denmark, February 21, 1870, came to the United States in the spring of 1888 and since then had made his home at Staplehurst or in that vicinity. For twenty years he had been in the retail hardware business. During that time he had taken an active interest in the welfare of the community. He united with the Danish Lutheran church twenty-five years ago, served on the village board for twelve years and also on the school board. He was a member of the Staplehurst Brotherhood and of the M. W. A.

The funeral was held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at the home, and at the Danish Lutheran church at 2 p. m. Rev. Nomanson officiated, and the church choir sang. The body was laid to rest in the Danish cemetery. Pall bearers were D. J. Dohrman, Hans Phillipson, Godfrey Greiner, S. S. Weatherby, Hans Munk and Arthur J. Jensen.

Relatives from out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dahl of California, Rev. and Mrs. Nelson of Kennard, Mrs. Elsie Sunderup and children of St. Paul, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Chris Dahl of Laurel, and Peter Lorensen of Brush, Colo.

Besides his wife, Elsie Dorothea Lorensen whom he married January 19, 1897, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Verna Gladwish, and two sons, Albert of Staplehurst and Otto of California; his mother, a brother and three sisters in Denmark, and one brother, Nelse Dahl of Staplehurst.

WOMEN OF KLAN END CONVENTION

Closing Session Held Saturday Night At New Lincoln Klavern.

Many Will Attend Tri-State Gathering In May At Kansas City.

The new klaven of the Lincoln Ku Klux Klan at Seventh and Washington streets was crowded Saturday afternoon and night with delegates to the state gathering of the Women of the K. K. K. During the afternoon fully 1,500 were at the meeting, and 2,000 were reported in attendance at the closing session Saturday night.

The meeting last night opened with an exhibition drill by a girls cadet corps, under the direction of an army officer. The thirty in number were dressed in khaki uniforms. Following the cadet drill, the degree team of the Lincoln local gave an exhibition, spelling the letters WOK and then kneeling in the form of a cross in the center of which was a nelectric cross and the American flag.

Flowers For Workers.

A vocal duet "Old Rugged Cross" and a series of readings by members of the York society were followed by the presentation of flowers to state leaders, and an open forum at which problems of the order were discussed.

Announcement that the tri-state meeting of the organization would be held in Kansas City, May 21-22-23 was made. Miss Robbie Gill of Little Rock, Ark., imperial commander, will attend, it was said. The district includes Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Send Degree Teams.

Omaha, Lincoln and York delegates said their towns would be well represented at the district meet, and each expects to be represented in the degree team contests with one or more teams. The winner of the Kansas City contests will be designated the national degree team, it was said.

At the afternoon session yesterday, the Weeping Water delegation led the devotionals of the opening exercises. Gifts of flowers were made to the state field workers by several groups of delegates, while the representatives, fifteen in all, were in conference, discussing plans for furthering the work in Nebraska.

An address on "Co-operation Between the WOKKK and the Knights," by a member of the Lincoln local, featured the afternoon session, at which this program was followed:

Influence of Klan.

The many angles of influence of the Klan on community and national life; Fremont.

Why the lack of prohibition enforcement in this country? Norfolk.

Some solutions advanced for the enforcement of prohibition and narcotic laws; Lincoln.

Just how would a membership in the world court affect our national position with the nations of the world? Lincoln.

What about the insiduous trend of the Protestant churches in the movement for World Peace? What influence is behind this deplorable propaganda?

Members of the faculty of the college of engineering met Friday evening at the Temple cafeteria to take dinner and to discuss the subject "Standardization of Grading Students for Engineering Colleges." Prof. J. W. Haney of the department of mechanical engineering led the discussion, followed by Prof. George R. Chatburn. The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, a faculty organization, also met.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

(Special to The Star.)

CHADRON, Neb., April 25.—While playing with a gun in the presence of several playmates, Alfred Sandoz, of near Rushville, was accidentally shot in the thigh. Although the injury was painful, doctors say that is is not serious.

WHY SUFFER with Piles or other Rectal Diseases when Dr. Woods is treating them without operation or loss of time. Read what our cured patients say about our method.

Dear Doctor:

I am pleased to express my gratification to you for the gentle manner in which you handled my case, and the good and rapid results obtained. I suffered with rectal fistula for 14 years, had it treated twice by Rectal specialists, in other cities, without cure. I went to you Feb. 6, 1925. Inside of three weeks I was completely cured, and that without any anaesthetic and practically without pain from the treatment. I went about my business every day while taking them. With many thanks to you and your methods, I am very truly yours. Will gladly answer any inquiries.

Great Changes--

Great changes have taken place in dentistry in a few years. Scientific methods now employed in the treatments practically eliminate pain. Dental science has developed to such a degree that it is now unnecessary to extract a tooth unless it has been permitted to decay very long. Diseased teeth can often be saved by reliable competent dentists. Dr. Farrington Dentists are competent and will tell you the truth. See them!

Western League Batting Averages

Five teams in the Western league hit over .300 during the first week and sixteen individuals whaled the pill for over .400. This is a fair start for this hard hitting circuit. Osborne of Omaha, playing in all games on the schedule, tops the list of individuals with the percentage of .593.

Des Moines has contributed the next three heaviest hitters in Sauvengen, Weitzel and Langford, the lowest of the trio having a percentage of .533. Tyrrell and Mizeur of Tulsa are next in line, with Graff of Wichita and Lelivelt of St. Joe close up.

Tulsa, as a team, is nearest to Des Moines, the latter leading with .389, while Tulsa has accumulated an average of .351. The sledding has been hard for Denver, which brings up the rear with the not ambitious total of .275.

Defensively, Lincoln is the best team in the league. The Links are fielding at a .978 clip, with St. Joseph the nearest. Oklahoma City is at the tail end of the procession.

Among the base stealers, Brausen and Griffin of Des Moines have each pilfered three sacks. The home run honors have gone to Des Moines, Stuvengen, Lingle and Griffin having pounded out three circuit drives.

Hubbell of Oklahoma City is the only pitcher in the circuit who is credited with two victories. Fifteen others have clean records with one victory each. The hardest worked has been Hubbel who has pitched in 18 innings. The averages which include last Tuesday's games, follow:

Winning 81 games, and losing only 27, Frank Taberski of New York, the "Inexorable Snail," captured the $2,500 first prize and the $3,000 annual salary in the national championship pocket billiard league. He regained the title which he held for three years and released in 1918. Taberski deposed Ralph Greenleaf of Philadelphia, on whose handsome head reposed the crown for six years.

Taberski accomplished the task despite the fact that Greenleaf took six straight games in their final series and showed a season of superiority over the winner by taking nine of their 12 engagements.

It was against the other rivals that Taberski built up his big advantage. At one stage he was going so good he established a world's record of 35 consecutive victories. What would have happened to that record if he had met Greenleaf in the middle of it? That performance was recorded while the Philadelphia contender was temporarily retired and postponing his games.

Greenleaf encountered more trouble with other rivals, however, finishing the season with a record of 74 games, won and 34 lost.

Greenleaf's Record Brilliant.

Outside of games won and lost, Greenleaf's record is more brilliant than that of Taberski. He scored the second best high run, 84, and shared the season's best game mark of three innings. Greeleaf collects $1,800 for second place and $50 for half of the best game prize. He carried away all the top prizes last year.

In addition, Greenleaf's record shows that while winning seven fewer games, he scored a total of 42 more points than Taberski. He compiled in 108 games a score of 9,665 points against 9,623 for the winner. The most impressive difference comes in the number of innings he used to compile that total He needed 577 fewer innings than Taberski.

Greenleaf's record of 1866 innings was the lowest in the league. He averaged 5,174 points an inning, another standard.

Taberski's best run was 70, his best game 4 innings, and only four times did he go out in ten innings or less. reenleaf went out 19 times in ten or under.

On the other hand, Taberski's defensive play was superior. His opponents averaged only 3.078 points an inning, while Greenleaf's averaged 2,760.

Third place prize of $1,200 was claimed by Andrew St. Jean of Minneapolis, who won 59 and lost 49 games. He drew $50 more for half of the best game prize, shared by Greenleaf. Benjamin Allen of Kansas City, who lost two more games than St. Jean but averaged better on total points, took fourth money of $1,000.

Close fifth is A. A. Woods of Syracuse, winner of $800 on a record of 55 games won and 53 lost He takes $100 for the high run prize on his mark of 85 made in the very first engagement of the season and never equalled. He finished ahead of Erwin Rudolph of Chicago, who averaged better on total points. Rudolph collected $650. He recorded the fastest game, 22 minutes for 100 points, which received praise and suggested the idea of a prize for such performances next year.

Seventh prize of $550 is claimed by J. M. Concannon of Brooklyn; Pasquale Natalle of Baltimore, who was second for the first half of the season, claims $450 for eighth; C. E. Seaback of Boston gets $300 for ninth, and Charles Harmon of New York collects $150 for last.

Greenleag scored the only shutout defeating St. Jean in 5 innings, 100 to 0, while Rudolph gave Greenleaf his worst defeat allowing him only 8 points.

BUCK'S BALL GANG TOPS THE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, April 25.—The end of the second week of the baseball season finds perched atop the American and National leagues two teams which took time last October to engage in a seven-game series that attracted considerable attention. The Senators and Giants —world's champions and runners-up—have looked well to their laurels.

Saturday's victory over the Yankees—a feat virtually habitual with the men of "Bucky" Harris—gave the Washingtonians topmost honors in the junior circuit. Cleveland and Philadelphia, which on the day previous jointly had held the coveted position, lost their games, respectively, to St. Louis and Boston.

Senators Have the Stuff.

The Senators have been coming through with the necessary punch and pitching and playing at their present rate will be a hard team to beat.

The Athletics and Indians have accomplished their early season victories on the basis of commendable stick work.

Another club well started in the American league is the Chicago White Sox, suddenly enlivened under the managership of Eddie Collins. The White Sox, with a percentage of .667, have been making duck soup of Ty Cobb's Tigers.

The Browns will have to pep up a bit before they can be rated as serious contenders, while already the Red Sox seem fated for the cellar.

Giant Pitchers Deliver.

The Giants, against the pitiful Braves and the Fournier-less Robins, have assumed the National league leadership with little difficulty. Their hurling—concededly the weak point of seasons past—seems to have improved.

Cincinnati has provided the surprise showing thus far. The Reds are in second place and have gained that position in stiff battles with the Cardinals and Pirates. Both of the later teams have been disappointing with the Cubs the only other club in the league to show much strength.

Smashes Record In Discus Heave

LOS ANGELES, April 25—A new world's record for the discus throw was hung up by Bud Houser, University of Southern California athlete, when he hurled the plate 156 feet 3 1-4 inches in the track meet sponsored by Los Angeles veterans of the Rainbow division here late this afternoon.

Scott Runs His Baseball String To 1,300 Games

WASHINGTON, April 25. — Everett Scott, veteran shortstop of the Yankees, this afternoon engaged in his 1,300th consecutive major league ball game when the Yankees and Washington Senators played the third game of their four-game series.

A delegation of fans from Fort Wayne, Ind., was on hand to present Scottie with a bowling ball and a pair of bowling shoes.

Nurmi Shows Heels To Indian Runners

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—Paavo Nurmi of Finland, wonder runner of the age, won his race against eight fleet Hopi Indians here late today. The great Finn finished the three-mile run fully a quarter of a mile ahead of his nearest redskin opponent.

Thirty thousand spectators, packed, in the coliseum, saw the eight Indians bite the dust.

Incidentally, Nurmi set up a new American record when he turned in the unprecedented time of 14:15 9-10 for the three-mile race.

The Flying Finn took the lead at the take-off and was never headed. His legs flashing evenly in the sunlight, Nurmi raced along with clock-like precision. Nurmi finished in good condition.

Iowan Knocks Over Chicago Maroons

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 25. — Iowa university's ball team defeated the Chicago Maroons today, 5 to 3. Timely hitting, coupled with the wildness of Mars, Maroon slabman, enabled the Hawkeyes to score to score their second win of the season. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	012	000	000—3	9	1
Iowa	103	000	01x—5	6	3

Batteries—Marks and Webster; Sheakly, Adams and Fisher.

Cal Accepts Bid To Hoist Pennant

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Coolidge today accepted the invitation of the Washington management to raise the Senators' "world championship" pennant over Griffith stadium here next Tuesday afternoon.

The Rev. Charles Nelson, recently ordained a bishop in New York City, was a prize fighter in the "bush league" boxing circles.

Track Star Killed By Lightning Bolt

HAMILTON, N. Y., April 25.—Harry T. Roll of Montclair, N. J., Colgate track athlete, was killed and several other Colgate track men were shocked by a lightning bolt here this afternoon.

The electric flash found its mark when the track men, who had been practicing on the track, sped for cover as the storm broke.

Roll ran with the Colgate one-mile relay team at Muskang last January and also was a member of the Colgate relay team that competed at Ohio state during the winter.

Three others were knocked down by the same bolt that struck Roll. They were: Track Coach John Rourke, Robert McAnimond, Colgate sprinter; Norman Dungan, assistant manager of tracfi.

The bolt hit roll on the left side of the head and traveled down his back, searing him from head to foot. Death was practically instantaneous.

Frisco Swimmers Champions at Polo

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 25.—The Olympic club of San Francisco by defeating the Chicago Athletic association three goals to one this afternoon her practically cinched the 1925 national A. A. U. water polo championship.

Walter Spence of the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., dark horse of the meet, continued a meteoric rise to fame by winning the pentathlon championship. He won the 100-yard free style and 100-yard breast stroke and took second in the 500-yard free style and 100-yard back stroke. Stubby Kruger of the I. A. C., present champion, lost second place to Walter Laufer of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A.

Arne Borg of Sweden captured the 500-yard free style from Harry Clancy of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A.

New York state has 32 licensed boxing clubs.

Western League Batting Averages

Five teams in the Western league hit over .300 during the first week and sixteen individuals whaled the pill for over .400. This is a fair start for this hard hitting circuit. Osborne of Omaha, playing in all games on the schedule, tops the list of individuals with the percentage of .593.

Des Moines has contributed the next three heaviest hitters in Sauvengen, Wetzel and Langford, the lowest of the trio having a percentage of .533. Tyrrell and Mizeur of Tulsa are next in line, with Graff of Wichita and Lelivelt of St. Joe close up.

Tulsa, as a team, is nearest to Des Moines, the latter leading with .389, while Tulsa has accumulated an average of .351. The sledding has been hard for Denver, which brings up the rear with the not ambitious total of .275.

Defensively, Lincoln is the best team in the league. The Links are fielding at a .978 clip, with St. Joseph the nearest. Oklahoma City is at the tail end of the procession.

Among the base stealers, Brausen and Griffin of Des Moines have each pilfered three sacks. The home run honors have gone to Des Moines, Stuvengen, Lingle and Griffin having pounded out three circuit drives.

Hubbell of Oklahoma City is the only pitcher in the circuit who is credited with two victories. Fifteen others have clean records with one victory each. The hardest worked has been Hubbel who has pitched in 18 innings. The averages which include last Tuesday's games, follow:

Winning 81 games and losing only 27, Frank Taberski of New York, the "Inexorable Snail," captured the $2,500 first prize and the $3,000 annual salary in the national championship pocket billiard league. He regained the title which he held for three years and released in 1918. Taberski deposed Ralph Greenleaf of Philadelphia, on whose handsome head reposed the crown for six years.

Taberski accomplished the task despite the fact that Greenleaf took six straight games in their final series and showed a season of superiority over the winner by taking nine of their 12 engagements.

It was against the other rivals that Taberski built up his big advantage. At one stage he was going so good he established a world's record of 35 consecutive victories. What would have happened to that record if he had met Greenleaf in the middle of it? That performance was recorded while the Philadelphia contender was temporarily retired and postponing his games.

Greenleaf encountered more trouble with other rivals, however, finishing the season with a record of 74 games, won and 34 lost.

Greenleaf's Record Brilliant.

Outside of games won and lost, Greenleaf's record is more brilliant than that of Taberski. He scored the second best high run, 84, and shared the season's best game mark of three innings. Greeleaf collects $1,800 for second place and $50 for half of the best game prize. He carried away all the top prizes last year.

In addition, Greenleaf's record shows that while winning seven fewer games, he scored a total of 42 more points than Taberski. He compiled in 108 games a score of 9,665 points against 9,623 for the winner. The most impressive difference comes in the number of innings he used to compile that total He needed 577 fewer innings than Taberski.

Greenleaf's record of 1866 innings was the lowest in the league. He averaged 5,174 points an inning, another standard.

Taberski's best run was 70, his best game 4 innings, and only four times did he go out in ten innings or less. reenleaf went out 19 times in ten or under.

On the other hand, Taberski's defensive play was superior. His opponents averaged only 3.078 points an inning, while Greenleaf's averaged 2,760.

Third place prize of $1,200 was claimed by Andrew St. Jean of Minneapolis, who won 59 and lost 49 games. He drew $50 more for half of the best game prize, shared by Greenleaf. Benjamin Allen of Kansas City, who lost two more games than St. Jean but averaged better on total points, took fourth money of $1,000.

Close fifth is A. A. Woods of Syracuse, winner of $800 on a record of 55 games won and 53 lost He takes $100 for the high run prize on his mark of 85 made in the very first engagement of the season and never equalled. He finished ahead of Erwin Rudolph of Chicago, who averaged better on total points. Rudolph collected $650. He recorded the fastest game, 22 minutes for 100 points, which received praise and suggested the idea of a prize for such performances next year.

Seventh prize of $550 is claimed by J. M. Concannon of Brooklyn; Pasquale Natalie of Baltimore, who was second for the first half of the season, claims $450 for eighth; C. E. Seaback of Boston gets $300 for ninth, and Charles Harmon of New York collects $150 for last.

Greenleag scored the only shutout defeating St. Jean in 5 innings, 100 to 0, while Rudolph gave Greenleaf his worst defeat allowing him only 8 points.

LIGHT RAINS

Two light rain, one at Plattsmouth and one at Beatrice were reported by the Burlington and the Lincoln Telephone company Saturday night, but elsewhere in Nebraska no storm seemed to have materialized.

RATE HELD REASONABLE.

WASHINGTON, April 25. — The railroad delivery charge made on iron ore shipments from the Great Lakes to the plant of the Carnegie Steel company at Youngstown, O., was held by the interstate commerce commission today to be reasonable.

BUCK'S BALL GANG TOPS THE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, April 25.—The end of the second week of the baseball season finds perched atop the American and National leagues two teams which took time last October to engage in a seven-game series that attracted considerable attention. The Senators and Giants —world's champions and runners-up—have looked well to their laurels.

Saturday's victory over the Yankees—a feat virtually habitual with the men of "Bucky" Harris—gave the Washingtonians topmost honors in the junior circuit. Cleveland and Philadelphia, which on the day previous jointly had held the coveted position, lost their games, respectively, to St. Louis and Boston.

Senators Have the Stuff.

The Senators have been coming through with the necessary punch and pitching and playing at their present rate will be a hard team to beat.

The Athletics and Indians have accomplished their early season victories on the basis of commendable stick work.

Another club well started in the American league is the Chicago White Sox, suddenly enlivened under the managership of Eddie Collins. The White Sox, with a percentage of .667, have been making duck soup of Ty Cobb's Tigers.

The Browns will have to pep up a bit before they can be rated as serious contenders, while already the Red Sox seem fated for the cellar.

Giant Pitchers Deliver.

The Giants, against the pitiful Braves and the Fournier-less Robins, have assumed the National league leadership with little difficulty. Their hurling—concededly the weak point of seasons past—seems to have improved.

Cincinnati has provided the surprise showing thus far. The Reds are in second place and have gained that position in stiff battles with the Cardinals and Pirates. Both of the later teams have been disappointing with the Cubs the only other club in the league to show much strength.

Smashes Record In Discus Heave

LOS ANGELES, April 25—A new world's record for the discus throw was hung up by Bud Houser, University of Southern California athlete, when he hurled the plate 156 feet 3 1-4 inches in the track meet sponsored by Los Angeles veterans of the Rainbow division here late this afternoon.

Scott Runs His Baseball String To 1,300 Games

WASHINGTON, April 25. — Everett Scott, veteran shortstop of the Yankees, this afternoon engaged in his 1,300th consecutive major league ball game when the Yankees and Washington Senators played the third game of their four-game series.

A delegation of fans from Fort Wayne, Ind., was on hand to present Scottie with a bowling ball and a pair of bowling shoes.

Nurmi Shows Heels To Indian Runners

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—Paavo Nurmi of Finland, wonder runner of the age, won his race against eight fleet Hopi Indians here late today. The great Finn finished the three-mile run fully a quarter of a mile ahead of his nearest redskin opponent.

Thirty thousand spectators, packed, in the coliseum, saw the eight Indians bite the dust.

Incidentally, Nurmi set up a new American record when he turned in the unprecedented time of 14:15 9-10 for the three-mile race.

The Flying Finn took the lead at the take-off and was never headed. His legs flashing evenly in the sunlight, Nurmi raced along with clock-like precision. Nurmi finished in good condition.

Iowan Knocks Over Chicago Maroons

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 25. — Iowa university's ball team defeated the Chicago Maroons today, 5 to 3. Timely hitting, coupled with the wildness of Mars, Maroon slabman, enabled the Hawkeyes to score to score their second win of the season. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago .....012 000 000—	3	9	1
Iowa .....103 000 01x—	5	6	3

Batteries—Marks and Webster; Sheakly, Adams and Fisher.

Cal Accepts Bid To Hoist Pennant

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Coolidge today accepted the invitation of the Washington management to raise the Senators' "world championship" pennant over Griffith stadium here next Tuesday afternoon.

The Rev. Charles Nelson, recently ordained a bishop in New York City, was a prize fighter in the "bush league" boxing circles.

Track Star Killed By Lightning Bolt

HAMILTON, N. Y., April 25.—Harry T. Roll of Montclair, N. J., Colgate track athlete, was killed and several other Colgate track men were shocked by a lightning bolt here this afternoon.

The electric flash found its mark when the track men, who had been practicing on the track, sped for cover as the storm broke.

Roll ran with the Colgate one-mile relay team at Muskaag last January and also was a member of the Colgate relay team that competed at Ohio state during the winter.

Three others were knocked down by the same bolt that struck Roll. They were: Track Coach John Rourke, Robert McAmmond, Colgate sprinter; Norman Dungan, assistant manager of tracfl.

The bolt hit roll on the left side of the head and traveled down his back, searing him from head to foot. Death was practically instantaneous.

Frisco Swimmers Champions at Polo

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 25.—The Olympic club of San Francisco by defeating the Chicago Athletic association three goals to one this afternoon her practically cinched the 1925 national A. A. U. water polo championship.

Walter Spence of the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., dark horse of the meet, continued a meteoric rise to fame by winning the pentathlon championship. He won the 100-yard free style and 100-yard breast stroke and took second in the 500-yard free style and 100-yard back stroke. Stubby Kruger of the I. A. C., present champion, lost second place to Walter Laufer of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A.

Arne Borg of Sweden captured the 500-yard free style from Harry Clancy of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A.

New York state has 32 licensed boxing clubs.

THE LINCOLN SUNDAY STAR

Nebraska's Best Newspaper

CHURCHES AND CLUBS

TWENTY-THIRD YEAR. LINCOLN, NEB., SUNDAY, APRIL 5, 1925. TEN PAGES

Month of May To Be Unusually Gay With Opening of Country Clubs and Brilliant Weddings

Beautiful May days and gay spring blossoms suggest colorful May parties, brilliant weddings and charming Country club affairs and May of 1925 bids fair to be unusually gay for many and interesting are the festivities included in the May social calendar.

The Roope-Harley wedding will be a brilliant affair of early May and is an incentive for many prenuptial affairs; the Country club will have its first dinner dance of the summer season Saturday evening of this week when several hundred guests will attend and Eastridge will open its club house and grounds this week to members and their guests though the first dinner dance will not be held until Decoration day, Saturday, May 30.

Country Club Reservations.

Reservations for the opening night of the Country club have been made by Mr. and Mrs. Mark Woods, who will entertain a party of sixty at dinner, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cass Cornell, who have issued invitations to fifty guests; Major and Mrs. James F. Presnell for thirty; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hall for eight; Dr. and Mrs. A. I. McKinnon for fourteen; Mr. and Mrs. William C. Beachly, who will entertain a small group of guests at dinner and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Fee, who will be host and hostess at a dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mattison will have a table for seven and their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mattison, jr., Miss Maragaret Munger, Don Mattison and Henry Mattison.

Entertain Omaha Guests.

Dr. and Mrs. Lee Huff, jr., of Omaha, who will be the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sidles, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sanford of Sioux City, Ia., who are expected in Lincoln the latter part of the week and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Atkinson, will be the out-of-town guests in a Dutch treat party including Mr. and Mrs. Perry Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Sidles and Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Whitmore of Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller of Omaha are expected for the weekend and will be included in a Dutch treat dinner

Mr. and Mrs. George DeLacy are among the Omaha guests who will come for the opening and will spend the weekend with members of their families.

Attractive Club Affairs.

Among the attractive club affairs preceding the formal summer opening is the bridge dinner tomorrow evening for which Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Asemacher will be host and hostess. The guests will number fifty-six and will include Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Drummond and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Milburn of Beatrice. The color motif of the decorations will be orchid and pink and lilacs and pink roses and tulips in silver baskets will decorate the tables which will be lighted in pink tapers in silver sticks.

The Musical Art club will hold its annual spring breakfast Monday at the Country club. The guests will include twenty-five and the annual election of officers will be held following the breakfast.

Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Fee will entertain at dinner Wednesday evening at the club and an informal evening will follow at their home, 1509 South Twenty-third street. Mrs. Fee has issued invitations for a luncheon also for Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. J. E. Lawrence will entertain at luncheon and bridge Tuesday and again on Wednesday at the Country club.

Mrs. B. F. Bailey will entertain at a bridge luncheon at the Country club Thursday at 1 o'clock in honor of her niece, Mrs. F. B. Dyer of Boston, Mass., who arrived Monday to visit at the Bailey home. Covers will be laid for thirty-two.

The Fifty Fifty club will close its season with a charming dinner dance Tuesday at the County club. Mrs. T. C. Munger is in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

The late spring dinner dance of the Saturday Night club will be held Thursday evening of this week at the Lincoln hotel. The committee in charge of arrangmnts includs Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letton and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Putney.

Affairs at Eastridge.

The first of he season's affairs at Eastridge include a Mayday luncheon Friday for which Mrs. R. H. Brewster will be hostess and a luncheon the following day for active and alumnae members of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and guests from out-of-town, who will attend the spring dance the preceding evening.

Lincoln is anticipating with unusual pleasure the Delta Delta Delta benefit concert Tuesday evening, May 5, at the First Baptist church, for which the soloist will be Wilbur Chenoweth. Caroline Kile and Charles Enslow will sing a duet preceding the reading of the marriage lines by little Frederick Webster. Marjorie Seaton will sing "O Promise Me" and Ruth Hardy will sing that old wedding favorite "I love You Truly."

Writer Tells of Spring As Seen On Fifth Ave.

Fifth Avenue has blossomed forth in its spring dress and a hint of the latest spring novelties are contained in the following letter from one of the fashionable parade along the most interesting avenues in the world:

Spring has been on Fifth Avenue these past two weeks—light feet in gay shoes, tripping along the sunny side of the street, fluffy coats and hats, with charming bits of colour in the way of flowers and glimpses of bright coat linings.

Of all the interesting fashions the mild weather has brought forth, the large hat is the most engaging. Immediately the question comes up, "How does it loow with the shingled head?"

Of course the crown is smaller to fit the smaller headline, and in many instances the upper part of the shingle has been allowed to grow long enough to form a fetching little cluster of curls to fill out the hollow of the hat brim, while the neckline remains the same.

Where Nature has not provided a wave in the hair the art of the permanent wave comes to the rescue.

When the wearer of the large hat wants to be particularly Parisian, she has a tiny chignon—the merest roll—tucked away at the

MISS IRENE DAWSON

MRS. REON HERBERT PAULEY. TOWNTEND STUDIO

Numbered among the brides of May will be Miss Woods whose engagement to George W. Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Welsh of Omaha, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Woods. The wedding will be an event of May 15 and will take place at the Woods' home, 2211 South Fourteenth street. Miss Woods and Mr. Welsh are both former students of the university and Mr. Welsh is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Miss Dawson is the guest of Miss Phyllis Unthank. Her home is Laramie, Wyo., and Miss Dawson conducts a dancing studio there. She is one of the Portia Mansfield dancers and she and Miss Unthank spent a year together on tour with a company of Portia Mansfield dancers.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weber, 1511 Washington street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie, to John A. Scheibel of Campbell, Neb., son of Mrs. E. M. Scheibel. The wedding will take place in the early spring.

Mrs. Pauley, a bride of a week ago, was formerly Miss Helen Kulla. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kulla and her marriage to Reon Herbert Pauley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Pauley, took place Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Pauley will make their home at 1547 South Twelfth street.

Altrusa Club Delegates To Be In Lincoln

Between fifty and sixty out of town Altrusans will arrive in Lincoln this morning to be the guests of the Lincoln Altrusa club for the day. The visitors are all delegates who have been attending the national convention of Altrusa in Omaha, and who go through Lincoln enroute to their homes. A number of interesting things have been planned for the day. At 12:30 o'clock there will be a luncheon at the Country club, preceded by a motor trip through the city. In the afternoon the guests will be shown the new capitol and then will be taken to Ellen Smith hall where the remainder of the afternoon will be spent.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Miss Harriett Towne, Miss Helen Hayes, Miss Ona Gray, Dr. Lida Earhart, Miss Amanda Heppner, Miss Rose Shonka, Miss Lillian Elche and Miss Jennie Adams.

Lincoln Kiddies To Stage "Tom Thumb" Wedding

Lincoln youngsters have entered another field and will be seen in their own theatrical production next Tuesday evening at the Westminster Presbyterian church, when they stage a "Tom Thumb" wedding.

Costumed in the most approved style, the younger generation of Lincoln will "strut its stuff" at this affair, when forty-five children directed by Miss Mabel A. Fell of Kansas City, will present the production.

Little Bobby Ager is the miniature groom, and under the drooping veil of the bride will be Sidney Ann Gardner. The best man is Arthur Pierson, Jr., and diminutive Marilyn Maxey is maid of honor. Betty Ann Stowell will be ring bearer. Four little bridesmaids will be Mildred Clare Freadricks, Peggy Weaverling, Wanda Seaton and Cora Krieger. Mary Austin, Marguerite Munger and Aileen Lovell are the three "old maids" and the "bachelors" are Stephen Barwick and Alber Krieger. Caroline Kile and Charles Enslow will sing a duet preceding the reading of the marriage lines by little Frederick Webster. Marjorie Seaton will sing "O Promise Me" and Ruth Hardy will sing that old wedding favorite "I love You Truly."

Writer Tells of Spring As Seen On Fifth Ave.

Fifth Avenue has blossomed forth in its spring dress and a hint of the latest spring novelties are contained in the following letter from one of the fashionable parade along the most interesting avenues in the world:

Spring has been on Fifth Avenue these past two weeks—light feet in gay shoes, tripping along the sunny side of the street, fluffy coats and hats, with charming bits of colour in the way of flowers and glimpses of bright coat linings.

Of all the interesting fashions the mild weather has brought forth, the large hat is the most engaging. Immediately the question comes up, "How does it loow with the shingled head?"

Of course the crown is smaller to fit the smaller headline, and in many instances the upper part of the shingle has been allowed to grow long enough to form a fetching little cluster of curls to fill out the hollow of the hat brim, while the neckline remains the same.

Where Nature has not provided a wave in the hair the art of the permanent wave comes to the rescue.

When the wearer of the large hat wants to be particularly Parisian, she has a tiny chignon—the merest roll—tucked away at the nape of the neck. A small switch will make this magic knot which is particularly good with high neck gowns and the semi-formality of the ensemble suit.

The ensemble idea is growing—it has now invaded the realm of the negligee!

Stockings are getting darker day by day.

The knee length skirt is seen, but not on emiuente women. The approved length from the ground is not over 10 inches.

Presently I shall have something to tell you of chiffon wraps, of furs, of evening modes.

nape of the neck. A small switch will make this magic knot, which is particularly good with high neck gowns and the semi-formality of the ensemble suit.

The ensemble idea is growing—it has now invaded the realm of the negligee!

Stockings are getting darker day by day.

The knee length skirt is seen, but not on exclusive women. The approved length from the ground is not over 10 inches.

Presently I shall have something to tell you of chiffon wraps, of furs, of evening modes.

Very truly yours,

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calonite powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.—Advertisement.

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calonite powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.—Advertisement.

The Three Fours club was entertained at 1 o'clock luncheon Thursday at the Lincoln hotel, when Mrs. A. R. Bishop, Mrs. F. H. Dudley and Mrs. H. G. Platt were hostesses. The guests were seated at one large table where a centerpiece of black, pink tulips and lilies-of-the-valley was used. Mrs. J. Ray Kelly was the guest of the club. The afternoon was spent in bridge and high score went to Mrs. H. H. Whitney, and consolation to Mrs. Frank Kenyon. The club selects for entertainment at its next affair, to be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Welch, 2107 R street. Mrs. Earl Hedgecock and Mrs. Claire D. Townsend will be luncheon hostesses.

The Sigma club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Lovejoy, 7021 Van Dorn street. Five tables were placed for five hundred, the game of the evening. High scores went to Mrs. R. C. Hahn and E. E. Harlan. A two-course luncheon was served by the hostess at the close of the next meeting. This meeting closes the club season, and its next meeting will be held in the fall.

The D. O. club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Pugsley, 2285 Vine street. Mrs. T. E. Hahn and Mrs. E. R. Ault were guests of the club. The afternoon was spent at bridge and high score went to Mrs. William Mulder. The club meets in two weeks at a 1 o'clock dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Hall, 2642 N street.

Members of the No Name club entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edgar Hall, 2120 South Twenty-second street. The afternoon was spent informally and a two-course luncheon served at its close. Mrs. Jack was the guest of the club. The club meets at a 1 o'clock luncheon May 5, at a place to be announced later.

Mrs. W. C. Miller entertained the Twelve Wednesday afternoon at her home, 2425 South street. Mrs. Hugh Pugh of Salt Lake City was a guest of the club. The afternoon was spent informally and refreshments were served at its close. Mrs. James T. Short will entertain the club next Thursday at a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home for Mrs. Pugh, who is the guest of Mrs. Abbott.

The Five Hundred club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tess Holdren, 1027 French. Mrs. Arthur Brown and Fred Stiles were the guests of the club. The afternoon was spent playing five hundred. Mrs. Grass was awarded the prize for high score among the guests and Mrs. H. Stiles won the consolation. The club meets in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Bradden, 1928 J street.

Many guests were entertained at a party given Thursday evening by the Fidelis club at the home of Mrs. M. Melick in Melick court. Spring flowers were used in decorations and baskets of red and white carnations were the flowers in living and dining rooms. Prof. C. A. Fobes gave a lecture on musical appreciation during the evening. Mrs. Virginia Reynolds will entertain the club at 12:30 o'clock luncheon at the next meeting, to be held in two weeks at her home, 2521 O street.

The H. G. L. club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher, 1213 South Eleventh street. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tracy were the guests of the club. The evening was spent at cards when high scores went to Mrs. D. V. Phillips and Ed Francis and consolation to Mrs. Ed Bohment and Clinton Nesmith. Teeth, eyes, skin, hair, nails and—women are now recognizing a "sixth" personal responsibility

No well groomed woman would think of neglecting her teeth, eyes, skin, hair and nails. Yet, she often neglects her feet, thereby robbing herself of a graceful poise, bringing wrinkles to her face, and making it almost impossible for her to enjoy things as she should.

Active, vigorous, comfortable feet are the right of every woman. They are indispensable if she wishes to get the most out of life. And the woman of today is securing them by wearing the Arch Preserver Shoe. This shoe doesn't let the foot arches sag and become strained. It doesn't pinch the nerves, bones and blood-vessels of the forepart of the feet. Yet it is smart in appearance.

It's the shoe you will wear when you get acquainted with it.

"Wagontire Grave" of Early Mormon at Scottsbluff Seen By Present Church Apostle

Grave of Rebecca Winters near Scottsbluff Standing are Dr John A Widtsoe Grant Shumway and Senator Goodwin special representative of the secretary of the interior

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb April 25—One of the government examiners here in connection with reclamation adjustments last week was Dr John A Widtsoe of Utah who connects up with Nebraska history and also the history of the North Platte valley

He was formerly president of the Utah university and is now one of the twelve apostles or managers of the Mormon church His wife is a granddaughter of Brigham Young The descendants of the great leader have chosen Dr Widtsoe for writing the history of the Young family

This is a stupendous task for the story of Young alone fills a volume His winter camp at Florence his trek across Nebraska recording every camp site, his wisdom demonstrated in selecting artisans, one of every profession in the original 147, his discipline, his halting the march for several days just before leaving Nebraska for consecration and prayer—these area part of the genius exhibited by him

While here Dr Widtsoe visited an early landmark of the valley, the grave of Rebecca Winters, wife of Hiram Winters, who died while enroute to Great Salt lake valley in 1854

The cowmen sometimes called this the "wagontire grave" When the grave was made this land was a wilderness The tire of a wagon had been chiseled with the name age and date and implanted half in the ground Its quality has resisted the years and during the earlier period, the exposed portion was kept bright and shining by constant rubbing of buffalo and then the range cattle

From this landmark followed the names Winter springs, Winter creek, Winter draw, and singularly enough, Winter creek furnished the first irrigation demonstration in Scottsbluff county—then a part of Cheyenne county Will Ripley and Ben Gentry, both still residing at Scottsbluff and Gering, plowed a furtow from the little creek to a nearby oatfield and noted the benefits

When the Burlington railroad built into the valley it was found the proposed line would run directly over the grave, the line was altered a few feet, and the company erected an iron railing about the monument Then the descendants of Rebecca Winters put up the monument of temple granite that now stands at the grave

There is a Mormon song written when the first Mormon party went over the trail that might have been sung as this mother was lain to rest Each verse ends

"And if we perish on the way
All is well—all is well"

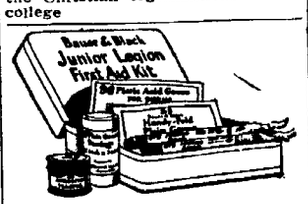

One story of the Mormon first years in Salt Lake valley is that locusts were destroying the crops when the gulls came from the lake in great numbers and ate the pests, thereby saving the crops and be coming thereafter highly revered birds in the Mormon land

Near the head of Winter creek draw is lake Minatare and lately the gulls have made it a rendezvous Grasshoppers have troubled irrigators much of late and it is the custom of these birds to clear the nearby fields of "hoppers" Sometimes this is done in flight and again by advancing across the fields those in the rear flying over the birds in front until the field is cleared

Rebecca Winters' granddaughter is the wife of President B F Grant, who is the head of the Mormon church

"Wagontire Grave" of Early Mormon at Scottsbluff Seen By Present Church Apostle

Grave of Rebecca Winters near Scottsbluff. Standing are Dr. John A. Widtsoe, Grant Shumway and Senator Goodwin, special representative of the secretary of the interior.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., April 25.—One of the government examiners here in connection with reclamation adjustments last week was Dr. John A. Widtsoe of Utah, who connects up with Nebraska history and also the history of the North Platte valley.

He was formerly president of the Utah university, and is now one of the twelve apostles or managers of the Mormon church. His wife is a granddaughter of Brigham Young. The descendants of the great leader have chosen Dr. Widtsoe for writing the history of the Young family.

This is a stupendous task for the story of Young alone fills a volume. His winter camp at Florence, his trek across Nebraska recording every camp site, his wisdom demonstrated in selecting artisans, one of every profession in the original 147, his discipline, his halting the march for several days just before leaving Nebraska for consecration and prayer—these area part of the genius exhibited by him.

While here Dr. Widtsoe visited an early landmark of the valley, the grave of Rebecca Winters, wife of Hiram Winters, who died while enroute to Great Salt lake valley in 1854.

The cowmen sometimes called this the "wagontire grave." When the grave was made this land was a wilderness. The tire of a wagon had been chiseled with the name, age and date and implanted half in the ground. Its quality has resisted the years and during the earlier period, the exposed portion was kept bright and shining by constant rubbing of buffalo and then the range cattle.

From this landmark followed the names: Winter springs, Winter creek, Winter draw, and singularly enough, Winter creek furnished the first irrigation demonstration in Scottsbluff county—then a part of Cheyenne county. Will Ripley and Ben Gentry, both still residing at Scottsbluff and Gering, plowed a furrow from the little creek to a nearby oatfield and noted the benefits.

When the Burlington railroad built into the valley it was found the proposed line would run directly over the grave, the line was altered a few feet, and the company erected an iron railing about the monument. Then the descendants of Rebecca Winters put up the monument of temple granite that now stands at the grave.

There is a Mormon song written when the first Mormon party went over the trail that might have been sung as this mother was lain to rest. Each verse ends:

"And if we perish on the way
All is well—all is well."

One story of the Mormon first years in Salt Lake valley is that locusts were destroying the crops when the gulls came from the lake in great numbers and ate the pests, thereby saving the crops and becoming thereafter highly revered birds in the Mormon land.

Near the head of Winter creek draw is lake Minatare and lately the gulls have made it a rendezvous. Grasshoppers have troubled irrigators much of late and it is the custom of these birds to clear the nearby fields of "hoppers." Sometimes this is done in flight, and again by advancing across the fields, those in the rear flying over the birds in front until the field is cleared.

Rebecca Winters' granddaughter is the wife of President B. F. Grant, who is the head of the Mormon church.

Camp Fire Notes

Two hundred girls have now registered for Camp Kiwanis, more than ninety of whom have registered for the new older girls camp, Magic Hill. The number of girls who may be accommodated at Magic Hill is limited to 135. Only fifteen girls may go each week and the first four weeks are filled. At Treasure Island camp, girls there are several two-week periods The first of these comes June 14-26 and the last July 12-24. It is only by staying two weeks at Treasure Island that a girl may win the rank of Gypsy Star. A special program for these periods including all day trips up the river, over night hikes and special privileges of other sorts makes them an attractive feature. There are still several good cabins available for each of these weeks. The special offer to Camp Fire guardians and Bluebird leaders of a week free a camp for getting ten girls to register closes Friday May 1. Several guardians have already earned this week free. Camp Fire presidents who are successful in getting three-fourths of their groups to register before the first of May are awarded a week at camp at half price.

Wakeya, the hiking cabin at Bethany park, is booked for week-end all night hikes up to the last week in May. A week ago Okiya Camp Fire, Ruth Smith, guardian, had the cabin for Friday night, and Eluta Camp Fire, Dorothy Williams guardian, occupied it Saturday night. This week-end Tawamalia Camp Fire, Hazel Olds, guardian, and Kiugan Camp Fire, Elizabeth Milner guardian, had parties. Next week-end Litchtakia Camp Fire, Lois Pederson, guardian, and Aowakiya, Genevelve Clayton, guardian will occupy the cabin.

HER FRIEND KNEW—

WHEN women are in need of sympathy or advice they instinctively turn to some friend or neighbor for it. That is what Mrs. Mary Wilhelmy did and that is what thousands of other women have done.

¶ Mrs. Wilhelmy was not feeling well. She was run-down from overwork and worry. She had no appetite. She could not sleep at night. Mrs. Wilhelmy followed the advice of a neighbor in whom she had faith and confidence—but read in her own words about her experience.

MRS MARY WILHELMY
ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA

¶ "I was all run-down from over-work and worry, had no appetite and could not sleep at night. I did not get any strength after my last baby was born. A friend of mine said, 'Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I have done. It helped me.' So I started taking the Vegetable Compound and I noticed after the first few bottles that I felt considerably better. After taking 9 or 10 bottles I got over my fainting spells. Everybody who sees me now notices the great improvement in my health. Any woman can write to me and I will answer her letter."

thur Young, 2001 Vine street. The afternoon was spent informally and a two-cuorse luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Willis Manchester entertained the Avondale club Friday afternoon at her home, 810 North Fourteenth street. Lilacs in a large bowl formed the centerpiece on the large table in the living room and lavender and white were used in decoration. The afternoon was spent at cards, when Mrs. R. C. Schneider won first prize and Mrs. E. H. Holmes second. Mrs. H. E. Olson, Mrs. L. A. Fry and Mrs. F. M. Hougan were guests of the club. The hostess was assisted by her daughter in serving a two-caurse luncheon.

Mrs. J. F. Waybright will entertain the club in two weeks at her home, 3260 A street.

Delta Psi club met with Miss Mary Dudek, 1845 South Twentieth street, Thursday evening at her home. The evening was spent socially and the hostess served refreshments at its close.

Parties of the Week

The annual banquet of Gamut club of the university was held Friday evening in the Chinese room of the Lincoln hotel. Scarlet and cream were used in decorating, with scarlet tulips and white lilacs forming the centerpiece of the table. Scarlet tulips decorated the place cards and a Cornhusker doll of scarlet and cream stood at each place. Dr. Lida B. Earhart, club sponsor, sat at the head of the table and the special guests were Chancellor and Mrs. Samuel Avery, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Clapp, Miss Margaret Fedde, and Mrs. Archer Burnham, faculty member of Gamut. Two former presidents of the club, Miss Marie Wentworth and Miss Dora McBride were present.

Miss Irene Davis, president of the club, was toastmistress. Miss Alice Criss gave a piano number and Miss Pansy Fischer a reading, "The Carpenter Man." Miss Mabel Duhacek, club secretary, presented fifty dollars to the university to form the nucleus of a loan fund for girls in the various departments represented in Gamut. The club has raised the money this year and it is hoped succeeding members will add to it. Applicants for the loan wil be passed upon by a board composed of Chancellor Avery, Dr. Earhart, and the president of the club. Chancellor Avery accepted the fund in behalf of the university. Dr. Earhart spoke briefly on the purpose and scope of the club, which provides professional and social contact for girls in the departments of elementary education, fine arts, home economics, and physical education. The singing of the Cornhusker closed the evening.

Three hundred friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Noah, 2857 T street, Thursday afternoon and evening in honor of the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. Spring blossoms were used in the rooms. A short program was given in the evening. Leland Wood, accompanied his sister, Velma, who gave a group of violin numbers. The G. A. R. quartet, Mrs. Jack Leonard, and Gordon Lintt sang and Rev. Harmon Bross, Rev. Jack Leonard, and Mrs. Emma B. Susong spoke briefly. At the close of the evening, the choir of the East Lincoln Christian church serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Noah.

In the dining room, where punch and wafers were served, Mrs. Grace Graham, Mrs. Charles Wells, and Mrs. J. C. Beaver served in the afternoon. Mrs. J. D. Parks served the first hour in the evening and Misses Marceline McKay and Uretta Kline the second hour. Mrs. C. C. Campbell and Mrs. R. C. Grubb had charge of the guest book in the afternoon and Mrs. K. B. Cary and Mrs. Emma B. Susong were in charge in the evening. Mrs. C. C. Campbell, who baked the cake for the golden wedding, baked it for the sixtieth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah were married in Glenwood, Ia., Auril 23, 1865, when Mr. Noah was home on furlough during the Civil war from the Fourth Iowa infantry, Co. A. Two children are living, Mrs. Fred G. Craig, and Fred A. Noah of Hollywood, Cal.

Camp Fire Notes

Two hundred girls have now registered for Camp Kiwanis, more than ninety of whom have registered for the new older girls camp, Magic Hill. The number of girls who may be accommodated at Magic Hill is limited to 135. Only fifteen girls may go each week and the first four weeks are filled. At Treasure Island camp, girls there are several two-week periods The first of these comes June 14-26 and the last July 12-24. It is only by staying two weeks at Treasure Island that a girl may win the rank of Gypsy Star. A special program for these periods including all day trips up the river, over night hikes and special privileges of other sorts makes them an attractive feature. There are still several good cabins available for each of these weeks. The special offer to Camp Fire guardians and Bluebird leaders of a week free a camp for getting ten girls to register closes Friday May 1. Several guardians have already earned this week free. Camp Fire presidents who are successful in getting three-fourths of their groups to register before the first of May are awarded a week at camp at half price.

Wakeya, the hiking cabin at Bethany park, is booked for week-end all night hikes up to the last week in May. A week ago Okiya Camp Fire, Ruth Smith, guardian, had the cabin for Friday night, and Eluta Camp Fire, Dorothy Williams guardian, occupied it Saturday night. This week-end Tawamalia Camp Fire, Hazel Olds, guardian, and Kiugan Camp Fire, Elizabeth Milner guardian, had parties. Next week-end Litchtakin Camp Fire, Lois Pederson, guardian, and Aowakiya, Geneveive Clayton, guardian will occupy the cabin.

The last meeting of Wohelo court for April will be held on Thursday at 4 o'clock at the Camp Fire office. Girls desiring to pass the tests for their Firemaker's rank may appear before the court if they have notified the office one day in advance.

The last meeting of the Camp Fire Reporters' club for the spring will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock at the Camp Fire office. The last issue of "The Fagots" will be published.

MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR BUSNIESS WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Business Women's league passed last Thursday evening in a most delightful manner. The 6:30 dinner was served on long tables, beautifully decorated with kewple train-bearers and huge bouquets of lilacs, while other spring flowers were scattered about the rooms. The color scheme was in lavender and pink. Fred Cardin of the University School of Music gave a half hour of Indian music, including the "Indian Lament," by Dvorak, Kreisler's transcription; Indian flute song by Lieurance and the Cree war dance, Cardin transcription; he responded to an encoro with Kreisler's beautiful Rose-Mary. Prof. N. A. Bengtson followed with descriptions of scenery, customs, governments and other impression gained of Ecuador and other South American Republics during his two years of government work in that country. Prof. Bengtson gave as a fact little known to Americans that there are twenty-one American republics, ten in North American and ten in South America, only one of which is English speaking, all the others speaking Spanish except one which speaks Portugese. He said the most interesting thing about the country, outside of scenery and trade, is the government in these southern republics. Honduras is known as the land of revolutions; twenty men may start a "revolution" against the existing government. Ferrari is a perpeutal candidate for president, and when not elected he leaves the country and sends back word to his lieutenants in various sections to start a revolution and they organize small bands for this purpose. One revolution was discovereded in Laceiba when on arising in the morning an invading army of about 100 men was discovered entrenched on one side of the public square, the defending army in a similar position on the opposite side of the square. The defenders had orders not to fire until fired upon, and Ferrari sent word to the invaders that he would be present to command them; nothing happened up to the noon hour, when it was discovered that Ferrari had been entertained and a sleeping potion administered, the defenders approached the invaders, invited them to a sumptuous dinner—and the "revolution" was over. Samples of Ecuadorean art were exhibited an dproved most interesting. Also samples of genuine panama hats. In closing Mr. Bengtson told of the sanitary commission sent to that country immediately following the world war, under command of Dr. Connor and a Japanese physician, which reclaimed the swamps and virtually annihilated the rats, and practically thereby wiping out yellow fever and bubonic plague. A magnificent hospital erected to care for such patients stands deserted at Guayaquil. This work is one of the most valuable movements toward world peace, and the feeling for the United States is most friendly

The state convention of the Business Women's clubs of Nebraska will open at McCook today. Delegates will be registered and an informal reception will be held. The national emblem tableau will be presented by the Lincoln delegates, and will be one of the features of the convention. Miss Grace Trott will be Scroll, reader, the Winged Victory! Miss Bertha Lefferdink will represent the Flaming Torch of Wisdom; Winged Wand of the Herald, Miss Lena Driever; Mrs. Christie Brockman will be the Ship of Commerce, Mrs. Anna M. Crowley, the Open Scroll of Learning and Miss Coralfe Wilterdink, the Circle.

Wednesday, April 29, Miss Mary Jeffery will entertain the Quill club in the Business Women's club rooms. Miss Erma Austin and Mrs. Anna M. Crowley will entertain a group of friends in the rooms, April 30, and the M. B. A. will hold a special session there May 1, in honor of the state officers.

Mrs Sadie McCrystal

Mrs. A. E. McCrystal was presented a state life membership in the Parent-Teacher association by the organization at Hawthorne school where she is principal. Mrs. McCrystal organized the first P. T. A. in Lincoln and has been a member of the state board since the organization of Nebraska work.

ECHOES FROM WOMAN'S CLUBS OVER THE STATE.

The seventh semi-annual convention of the Custer County Federation of Woman's clubs was held in Mason City Wednesday at the Baptist church, and regardless of the inclement weather, the building was well filled with club members and their friends, for the three sessions. Mrs. H. C. Evans of Callaway, president of the county federation, presided. The assembly singing for the entire meeting was led by Mrs. E. G. Burrows. Devotionals led by Mrs. Cornell Newman, were followed by the address of welcome by W. D. Redmond, who in a pleasing way emphasized the fact that Mason City belonged to the ladies for the day. The president responded. Following the routine business work and election of officers, the ladies of the Baptist church served a noonday banquet at the opera house.

At the afternoon session roll call was responded to by the presidents of eighteen clubs, which proved most interesting and entertaining, each telling of the various activities and things accomplished during the year. On the subject of "Community Buildings" the fact was brought to light that each club, not already having a building, had started a fund with great hopes of buildings materializing. The address on Home Economics by Mrs. Virginia Collins of Omaha was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Roy Lewis of Broken Bow gave an interesting talk on basketry and had a large number of beautiful woven articles in demonstration. Prof. Frankforter, of the state university, with the subject "Americanism" came at the close of a strenuous afternoon, but the professor held his audience spellbound for more than an hour.

The evening session was given over to a splendid program of music and readings and at this time an excellent paper on "Recent Legislative Enactments and History of New Helena Park' by Senator E. R. Purcell, was read. This was followed by the presentation of the new officers who are: President, Mrs. E. N. Goodrich, Sargent; vice president, Mrs. R. H. Due, Mason City; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Ferritor, Merna; Corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Cosner, Sargent; Treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Melville, Broken Bow; auditor, Mrs. Frank Newman, Arnold; historian, Mrs. J. H. Fowler, Ansley.

Meetings of the woman's clubs of Holdrege, the coming week, will stress the topic "Better and More Attractive Homes," and a novel feature will be a plant exchange. These will de distributed with a view to making the city more beautiful.

On April 23 and 24 in the beautiful little city of Wahoo, the annual convention of the fourth district of the Federation of Women's Clubs was held, Mrs. F. E. Tincher of Fairbury, the district president, presiding. In attendance were seven state officers, nine district officers, fifty-four delegates, and seven visitors. On Thursday Miss Florence Hilton gave a musical entertainment. Miss Hilton is a scholarship student sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs. All other entertainment, music, readings, etc., were furnished by the hostess club. One deserving especial mention was number given by the chorus of the Lutheran college.

Mrs. P. C. Perryman, state president, gave the address of Thursday evening in which she emphasized the need of women's clubs to support the public and philanthropic movements and laws. Miss Hattie Summers of Lincoln gave a talk on vital statistics, and Mrs. Minier a talk on county organization.

Friday afternoon was devoted to the "American Home." Mrs. O. A. Peterson of Omaha gave a talk on "Art in the Home;" Mrs. Koretta Bowles, of Hebron spoke on "Health in the Home;" and Mrs. Larry Becker, of Lincoln, state chairman of publicity, gave a talk on reporting club news. Others who appeared on the afternoon program were Mrs. Kirschman, of Lincoln; Mrs. Beck, of Beatrice, Miss Margaret Schmidt, of Omaha and Mrs. John Slaker, of Hastings. The speaker Friday evening was Dr. Nellie Deffenbaugh, of Fremont.

The social feature of the convention was a six o'clock dinner given by the hostess club.

Reports of the clubs of the district show that the women of the district are active in club work and in hearty cooperation with state movements.

BUSINESS WOMEN GATHER AT McCOOK.

The seventh annual state convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs is being held today and Monday at McCook. Miss Kate Field, the state president, Miss Grace Trott, state corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. F. Berggren, Miss yda Hafer, and Miss Lena Driever, delegates from the Business Women's laegue, and Misses Coralie Wilterdink, Bertha Lefferdink, Christie Brokman, Lillie Petersen, Ida Lee Epps, and Frances Fickes, delegates from the Axis club left last night for the conference. The delegates from Beatrice, Omaha, Fremont, and Crete and the visiting delegate from Aurora accompanied them.

Miss Fern Bauersfeld of Topeka, Kas., regional membership chairman, is to be the speaker from the national federation. Mrs. Pearl Kinman, Mankato, Kas., president of the Kansas state federation, and Miss Pearl Bliss, Mankato, Kas., state secretary for Kansas, will be special guests at the convention.

The McCook Business and Professional Women's club and the McCook civic clubs will entertain at a reception for the delegates, when a pageant, representing the national emblem of the federation, will be given by the Lincoln delegates. A banuet Monday evening, featuring Japanese decorations, will bring the session to a close.

MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR BUSNIESS WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Business Women's league passed last Thursday evening in a most delightful manner. The 6:30 dinner was served on long tables, beautifully decorated with kewpie train-bearers and huge bouquets of lilacs, while other spring flowers were scattered about the rooms. The color scheme was in lavender and pink. Fred Cardin of the University School of Music gave a half hour of Indian music, including the "Indian Lament," by Dvorak, Kreisler's transcription; Indian flute song by Lieurance and the Cree war dance, Cardin transcription; he responded to an encore with Kreisler's beautiful Rose-Mary. Prof. N. A. Bengtson followed with descriptions of scenery, customs, governments and other impression gained of Ecuador and other South American Republics during his two years of government work in that country. Prof. Bengtson gave as a fact little known to Americans that there are twenty-one American republics, ten in North American and ten in South America, only one of which is English speaking, all the others speaking Spanish except one which speaks Portugese. He said the most interesting thing about the country, outside of scenery and trade, is the government in these southern republics. Honduras is known as the land of revolutions; twenty men may start a "revolution" against the existing government. Ferrari is a perpeutal candidate for president, and when not elected he leaves the country and sends back word to his lieutenants in various sections to start a revolution and they organize small bands for this purpose. One revolution was discovereded in Laceiba when on arising in the morning an invading army of about 100 men was discovered entrenched on one side of the public square, the defending army in a similar position on the opposite side of the square. The defenders had orders not to fire until fired upon, and Ferrari sent word to the invaders that he would be present to command them; nothing happened up to the noon hour, when it was discovered that Ferrari had been entertained and a sleeping potion administered, the defenders approached the invaders, invited them to a sumptuous dinner—and the "revolution" was over. Samples of Ecuadorean art were exhibited an dproved most interesting. Also samples of genuine panama hats. In closing Mr. Bengtson told of the sanitary commission sent to that country immediately following the world war, under command of Dr. Connor and a Japanese physician, which reclaimed the swamps and virtually annihilated the rats, and practically thereby wiping out yellow fever and bubonic plague. A magnificent hospital erected to care for such patients stands deserted at Guayaquil. This work is one of the most valuable movements toward world peace, and the feeling for the United States is most friendly

The state convention of the Business Women's clubs of Nebraska will open at McCook today. Delegates will be registered and an informal reception will be held. The national emblem tableau will be presented by the Lincoln delegates, and will be one of the features of the convention. Miss Grace Trott will be Scroll, reader, the Winged Victory! Miss Bertha Lefferdink will represent the Flaming Torch of Wisdom; Winged Wand of the Herald, Miss Lena Driever; Mrs. Christie Brockman will be the Ship of Commerce, Mrs. Anna M. Crowley, the Open Scroll of Learning and Miss Coralie Wilterdink, the Circle.

Wednesday, April 29, Miss Mary Jeffery will entertain the Quill club in the Business Women's club rooms. Miss Erma Austin and Mrs. Anna M. Crowley will entertain a group of friends in the rooms, April 30, and the M. B. A. will hold a special session there May 1, in honor of the state officers.

Come On, Girls!

Why not go shopping? Spring weather urges, local shops call, and the urge in every woman to see and have that which will make her all the more lovely is very strong. In the lines below you will find hints about how to retain your looks, how and what to get and wear on special occasions.

For instance, next week there will be a number of events among school circles. And then, the Country Club opens next Saturday night. Don't complain of "nothing to wear," whether you attend the above mentioned affairs or others.

Let's Talk About Hats.

Not stiff little hats so strictly tailored they make the average woman look years older, but dainty, fluffy, and summery little hats that fit close to the head or big floppy ones that keep one from becoming freckled or sunburned about the face.

Let's talk about hats that are made of maline, or chiffon or lace, or any of the most feminine fabrics in the world.

When the Country Club opening next Saturday ushers in the summer social season, one is going to see millinery radically different from any we have seen in the past few seasons. It's so utterly feminine. Hats vary in sizes, are very small, medium size or very large. But whatever your choice, you'll find it gay of color, soft of material and chic in pattern.

Take those lovely new pattern hats just received at Herpolsheimer's You couldn't ask for anything more appropriate for the dance, for afternoon or for sports. Oceans and oceans of soft maline and chiffon form those tight-fitting dance hats. Black lace is featured prominently. And the Catalina Sports hat—the last word in light, cool straws. And this spring weather makes you want them.

You'll find white played up quite frequently, and the light shades of pinks and orchid and tans seem to receive almost undue patronage.

It's Such a Bore.

To have no appetite, to have no place to go to eat, and not to know what one wants. Now isn't it? Let's see. Isn't there some place here that's just a little bit different? (Scratch your head if you can think better.)

Oh, I know Why not dinner at the Grand Hotel cafe? That little place down on Twelfth and Q streets, with its trim white tables and cool atmosphere, is the home of wholesome, delicious foods, and social organizations know and socia lorganizations know it, and the place is the scene of many banquets. Go there any time—meals are always good.

There's Someone In Lincoln.

Who is going to possess one of the most beautiful frocks imaginable. That someone will probably be tall and slender and dark, Spanish in type.

For the frock I mention is Spanish. Lovely and subtle in its design.

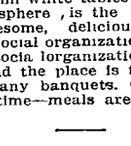

That dress is of heavy georgette, of apricot or white, with a stenciled design of colorful flowers on the skirt. It has no sleeves and with a round neck, and the only fullness in the frock is on the left side, where row upon row of handkerchief squares of self material point upward and form a rose at the tip.

But the unusual feature is a big Spanish shawl of the same material, fringed, and stenciled to match the frock. This creation may be worn wrapped or loose, according to Miladv's fancy.

Can't you imagine a tall, lovely girl in such a frock? She might be at a frat dance, at the theatre, or at the Country club

Watch Gold's windows today for this outfit. You'll find it on the O street side

And by the way, there are a number of unusually lovely party frocks, formal and informal in line, on display in this store. See them on the second floor.

For Your Convenience.

The drug department of this store has been moved up in the front, between two entrances, so that you can stop at it as you pass through and purchase the little articles you need and hate to spend valuable time hunting for. At Mayer Bros. drug counter you will find numerous preparations of national reputation, countless dainty little preparations that would enhance your beauty and look attractive on your dressing table. Colgate, DeCoty, Armand and other names appear on the neat little boxes displayed for your view. There's a very fine bath salts displayed on a table just at the east entrance. You'll like it.

From the Ground Up.

One should be so careful of one's understanding, don't you think? Lustrous sheens, soft colors and lovely materials all enter into the question.

No, you're mistaken. I'm referring to your physical and not your mental understanding.—Your footwear in other words.

The other day I turned to a page in Vogue and straightway found several striking illustrations of I. Miller and Son's shoes. I know you've seen them many times before in smart magazines. Haven't those pictures made you just a little bit envious?

Do you know that you can get those slippers here in Lincoln at just One Shop? There is one called Batik that is made with a patent leather toe, tan and white batik — sort of mottled pattern of kid at the back and heel, with strap and spike.

And, oh, you'll want a pair of those irridescent patent leather dance pumps with the narrow spiral strap. They won't lose their lustre with wear.

I know that several smartly dressed young women will be seen at coming dances wearing light gray satin stripe pumps. They are the latest thing out—for smart folks know that gray is the "last word" in colors.

All the above are dressy shoes, just the thing for the dance and Country club opening next Saturday. Now I'll tell you about one you need not hesitate to wear on the street at any time. It has a black patent leather toe and red and black batik leather back. The heel is medium and it is a lace shoe. Stunning! And its an I. Miller creation, that counts for a whole lot. And don't forget that I. Miller and Sons make exquisite Hosiery. Also—sheer chiffon for dress and heavier for the street wear.

Watch the windows at Speiers, Tenth and O streets. Then step in and let them show you this lovely footwear and hosiery. You'll always ask for I. Miller after that.

Let's Fix Up.

Aid then keep it up Somewise one once remarked that beauty is only skin deep. Perhaps—but we doubt it, because we know that constant care results in beauty that can't be wiped off—or scraped either. Take massages, for instance. From the earliest history, massages have played an important part in the toilet of lovely women. They knew the value of oils and various combinations to the skin. Are you one to ignore this benefitial method of preserving the natural softness and coloring of the skin?

Concerning care of the hair, there are various treatments, among which oil-shampoos are fine. One's head does feel so clean and refreshed after such a cure.

What kind of a curl do you use? In this day of bobbed heads and missing hats, there is nothing like a curl to help keep the hair looking trim and smart though winds do blow. Mayer's have a water waver who is from Kansas City. The yhave expert marcelers, and their paper curl is the talk of the town. That curl is made by wrapping the hair around some sticks, wrapping it then in paper and the curl is completed through the application of a peculiar little iron. The heat does not hurt the hair or burn its ends

Let's go up to Mayer's and get all fixed up.

KEARNEY NORMAL

The oratorical contest held to select a representative to speak at the state peace oratorical contest in Central City, May 15, was held Thursday, April 23, under the auspices of the Forensic league. The following persons entered the contest: Robert Hamer of Kearney; Oscar Swanson of Gothenburg; Louis Albrecht of Kearney; Amie Gilbert of Arnold; Gerald Humbert of Riverdale. Members of the college faculty acted as judges. The extemporaneous contest is to be held at the convocation hour Wednesday, April 29.

A musical program consisting of orchestra numbers and vocal and instrumental solos was given at the auditorium, Friday, April 24. Mrs. Gilbert Hall, soprano, sang. Instrumental solos were given by Allen Anderson, violinist, and Merine Nyquist, cornetist. The orchestra featured Prof. B. H. Patterson's new march, "The City Beautiful." This program was under the joint auspices of the Catholic club and the orchestra and was a benefit for these organizations.

Arrangements for holding the third annual academic contest for high school students have been completed. Prof. Carl H. Skinner and Miss Lugenia Gladney of the teacher training department are to conduct examinations at McCook. Prof. and Mrs. R. W. Powell will have charge of those at Holdrege, and Miss Jennie Conrad of the social science department and Dr. Ralph Noyer of the extension department will go to Alma. The contest at Kearney will be supervised by Miss Cora O'Connell, principal of the teacher training high school.

The address of Representative J. S. Elliott on the "New Certification Law" was the feature of the Rural club program Tuesday. In addition Miss Myra Pool of Lebanon gave an illustrated lecture on "The Rural High School."

The boys' Glee club of the Kearney high cshool entertained at convocation Friday, April 17. The work was under the direction of Miss Helen Cherney, director of music in the city schools.

PATRICIA ANN'S SHOPPING DIRECTORY

Why not go shopping? Spring weather urges, local shops call, and the urge in every woman to see and have that which will make her all the more lovely is very strong. In the lines below you will find hints about how to retain your looks, how and what to get and wear on special occasions.

For instance, next week there will be a number of events among school circles. And then, the Country Club opens next Saturday night. Don't complain of "nothing to wear," whether you attend the above mentioned affairs or others.

For Your Convenience.

The drug department of this store has been moved up in the front, between two entrances, so that you can stop at it as you pass through and purchase the little articles you need and hate to spend valuable time hunting for. At Mayer Bros. drug counter you will find numerous preparations of national reputation, countless dainty little preparations that would enhance your beauty and look attractive on your dressing table. Colgate, DeCoty, Armand and other names appear on the neat little boxes displayed for your view. There's a very fine bath salts displayed on a table just at the east entrance. You'll like it.

Let's Talk About Hats.

Not stiff little hats so strictly tailored they make the average woman look years older, but dainty, fluffy, and summery little hats that fit close to the head or big floppy ones that keep one from becoming freckled or sunburned about the face.

Let's talk about hats that are made of maline, or chiffon or lace, or any of the most feminine fabrics in the world.

When the Country Club opening next Saturday ushers in the summer social season, one is going to see millinery radically different from any we have seen in the past few seasons. It's so utterly feminine. Hats vary in sizes, are very small, medium size or very large. But whatever your choice, you'll find it gay of color, soft of material and chic in pattern.

Take those lovely new pattern hats just received at Herpolsheimer's You couldn't ask for anything more appropriate for the dance, for afternoon or for sports. Oceans and oceans of soft maline and chiffon form those tight-fitting dance hats. Black lace is featured prominently. And the Cataline Sports hat—the last word in light, cool straws. And this spring weather makes you want them.

You'll find white played up quite frequently, and the light shades of pinks and orchid and tans seem to receive almost undue patronage.

It's Such a Bore.

To have no appetite, to have no place to go to eat, and not to know what one wants. Now isn't it? Let's see. Isn't there some place here that's just a little bit different? (Scratch your head if you can think better.)

Oh, I know. Why not dinner at the Grand Hotel cafe? That little place down on Twelfth and Q streets, with its trim white tables and cool atmosphere is the home of wholesome, delicious foods, and social organizations know and socia lorganizations know it, and the place is the scene of many banquets. Go there any time—meals are always good.

There's Someone In Lincoln.

Who is going to possess one of the most beautiful frocks imaginable. That someone will probably be tall and slender and dark, Spanish in type.

For the frock I mention is Spanish. Lovely and subtle in its design.

That dress is of heavy georgette, of apricot or white, with a stenciled design of colorful flowers on the skirt. It has no sleeves and with a round neck, and the only fullness in the frock is on the left side, where row upon row of handkerchief squares of self material point upward and form a rose at the tip.

But the unusual feature is a big Spanish shawl of the same material, fringed, and stenciled to match the frock. This creation may be worn wrapped or loose, according to Milady's fancy.

Can't you imagine a tall, lovely girl in such a frock? She might be at a frat dance, at the theatre, or at the Country club.

Watch Gold's windows today for this outfit. You'll find it on the O street side.

And by the way, there are a number of unusually lovely party frocks, formal and informal in line, on display in this store. See them on the second floor.

From the Ground Up.

One should be so careful of one's understanding, don't you think? Lustrous sheens, soft colors and lovely materials all enter into the question.

No, you're mistaken. I'm referring to your physical and not your mental understanding.—Your footwear in other words.

The other day I turned to a page in Vogue and straightway found several striking illustrations of I. Miller and Sons shoes. I know you've seen them many times before in smart magazines. Haven't those pictures made you just a little bit envious?

Do you know that you can get those slippers here in Lincoln at just One Shop? There is one called Batik that is made with a patent leather toe, tan and white batik — sort of mottled pattern of kid at the back and heel, with strap and spike.

And, oh, you'll want a pair of those irridescent patent leather dance pumps with the narrow spiral strap. They won't lose their lustre with wear.

I know that several smartly dressed young women will be seen at coming dances wearing light gray satin stripe pumps. They are the latest thing out—for smart folks know that gray is the "last word" in colors.

All the above are dressy shoes, just the thing for the dance and Country club opening next Saturday. Now I'll tell you about one you need not hesitate to wear on the street at any time. It has a black patent leather toe and red and black batik leather back. The heel is medium and it is a lace shoe. Stunning! And its an I. Miller creation, that counts for a whole lot. And don't forget that I. Miller and Sons make exquisite Hosiery, Also—sheer chiffon for dress and heavier for the street wear.

Watch the windows at Speiers, Tenth and O streets. Then step in and let them show you this lovely footwear and hosiery. You'll always ask for I. Miller after that.

Let's Fix Up.

Aid then keep it up. Somewise one once remarked that beauty is only skin deep. Perhaps—but we doubt it, because we know that constant care results in beauty that can't be wiped off—or scraped either. Take massages, for instance. From the earliest history, massages have played an important part in the toilet of lovely women. They knew the value of oils and various combinations to the skin. Are you one to ignore this benefitial method of preserving the natural softness and coloring of the skin?

Concerning care of the hair, there are various treatments, among which oil shampoos are fine. One's head does feel so clean and refreshed after such a care.

What kind of a curl do you use? In this day of bobbed heads and missing hats, there is nothing like a curl to help keep the hair looking trim and smart though winds do blow. Mayer's have a water waver who is from Kansas City. The yhave expert marcelers, and their paper curl is the talk of the town. That curl is made by wrapping the hair around some sticks, wrapping it then in paper and the curl is completed through the application of a peculiar little iron. The heat does not hurt the hair or burn its ends.

Let's go up to Mayer's and get all fixed up.

USE OF PURNELL FUNDS OUTLINED

Dean Burnett Says Federal Aid Will Be Used For Research Work.

Includes Corn Improvement and Realignment Of Crops and Stock.

Work which will be done under the Purnell bill recently passed by congress, was outlined to the experiment station council of the agricultural college Saturday by Dean E. A. Burnett who has but recently returned from a conference of directors of experiment stations at St. Louis. He was accompanied by Prof. W. W. Burr.

Under the provisions of the Purnell law the Nebraska station will receive $20,000 during the coming fiscal year and $10,000 additional each year until a total of $60,000 a year is received. The sum is considered equivalent to an endowment of a million dollars and is given by the federal government.

Used In Research Work.

"It was the judgment of the conference that the money should be used for the investigation of problems of national or regional character rather than local problems," the dean stated. "The various experiment stations will co-operate to avoid duplication of activities.

"While some fifty national problems were submitted at the St. Louis conference as possibilities for investigation, the field was narrowed down to four main groups. The first group embraces studies in agricultural economics, including a study of the distribution and marketing of farm products, and the problem of surplus in farm products.

Includes Home Economics.

"The second group includes Home economics and embraces especially a study of the vitamine content of foods in relation to human nutrition and rural home management studies. The third group includes sociology and embraces especially studies of rural social organizations and agencies essential to a permanent and efficient agriculture. The fourth group includes production and embraces among other things a study of the factors influencing the production and quality of meat."

Those in attendance at the conference were divided into four groups, representing the New England states, the cotton states, the corn-belt states, and the inter-mountain states, and the opinions of each group was expressed as to what should be done in their sections.

Select Three Problems.

"The corn belt experiment stations selected three main problems as effecting this part of the country," Dean Burnett stated. "One problem embraced corn improvement through breeding and elimination of disease. Another problem embraced the marketing of corn surpluses, and a third embraced the realignment of crops and livestock the balance production."

Dean Burnett was appointed a member of the committee to outline the investigations for the corn belt.

MEIER EULOGIZES PRESIDENT GRANT

Declares Union Military Leader Was Competent National Executive.

Otto W. Meier, judge-advocate general of the United States Spanish War Veterans and historian of the Nebraska department U. S. W. V., in a statement concerning the birthday anniversary of General Grant, April 27, declares that the famous military leader was a competent civil executive as well as war general.

"It has been quite commonly said of Grant that he was great as a military general but as a civil executive he was a failure, though the latter part of this statement is not true," says Meier.

The following is quoted from John McElroy as published by the National Tribune on the Presidents of the United States, and Meier says it is supported by the evidence

"It must be remembered when thinking of Grant that:

"As a soldier he was courageous, enterprising, and aggressive.

"As commander-in-chief he commanded with entire success a larger army over a wider extent of operations than the world had ever known.

"As a victor he was humane and generous to his opponents, and is regarded today as their best friend. No stain of cruelty or revenge is on his record.

"As commander he was modest, not self-seeking, entirely sub-ordinate in subordinate capacities, and kindly tolerant when he was in supreme command.

"As conqueror he was merciful and generous, and none of the executions and punishments that follow complete victory in other countries modified his clemency to the fallen.

"As a statesman he took the reins of power when the country was terribly demoralized and steered it safely through the perils of reconstruction. He avoided war wherever he could, and settled our just quarrels with other great nations on just principles and for the promotion of peace.

"As president he was sorely troubled with corruption and extravagances that seem to follow great wars. He settled all these troublesome questions without a single stain of reproach reaching the white house."

Meier concludes that: "We have a right to claim that Grant was not only a great military general but that as a statesman he should be awarded no mean place."

Obituary

Joseph P. Riley.

Joseph P. Riley was born on the old Riley homestead a half mile north of Princeton, October 23, 1894, and died in a hospital in Spokane, Wash., April 6, 1925.

He was the eldest son of Mr and Mrs. William Riley, and lived at Princeton until he enlisted in the navy on his birthday in 1917. He served 22 months and had been in government border patrol service exactly seven months when he died from injuries received in the discharge of duty.

He was acting as a United States border patrol officer and was chasing a suspect through the Montana mountains when his auto overturned after a tie rod broke. When brought to the Sacred Heart hospital at which he died his mind was clear though his body was almost paralyzed. A fractured spine caused his death.

He leaves his mother, two sisters and three brothers. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus at Beatrice.

Funeral services were held at the St. James Catholic church at Cortland Monday morning, April 13, conducted by Father Egbert. Interment was at the St. James Catholic cemetery at Cortland.

BABY CLINIC TO OPEN ON MONDAY

All Mothers Are Invited To Register Babies For Examination.

Lincoln's baby clinic will open Monday at 1 o'clock in the Gold & Company store, and all mothers are invited to register their babies for examination sometime during the week. Dr. George G. McKhann, director of the child hygiene bureau, is supervising the clinic and Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, superintendent of health, is cooperating with him. Examinations will be given and will be held daily until Friday.

Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman will give the opening address at 2:25 Monday afternoon, following which Dr. A. J. Coats will speak on "Prenatal Care." Dr. E. V. Wiedman will disquss "Feeding Problems of Infancy," Tuesday at 2:30; Dr. W. O. Colburn will speak on "Discipline In Infancy," Wednesday at 2:30; Dr. W. H. Wilson will lecture on "Infectious Diseases," Thursday at 2:30 and Dr. Katherine H. K. Wolfe will discuss "School Age Problems," at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

Displays on child hygiene, child feeding, milk and milk products, and other matters relative to the welfare of babies will be included. Demonstrations of bathing, dressing and general child care are to be given. A large section of the fourth floor of the store has been set aside for the clinic and special elevator service and parking places for perambulators will be provided.

Special child health week badges and examination certificates will be issued for each child. Mothers are urged to register their babies for examination so that a day may be assigned and the work of physicians who are contributing their services may be expedited. The clinic is operated entirely without charge and all mothers are invited. Mothers with special problems or with babies whose peculiar conditions have been overlooked are especially urged to attend and obtain the benefit of the services of the many physicians in charge.

The following nurses will assist: Kate E. Graham, Cora E. Higgins, Alice H. Jones and Euphemia Peterson. Nurses representing the department of health and visiting nurses, Lincoln public school nurses and student nurses from the Bailey Saitarium and the Everett Sanitarium will cooperate.

Women Open Golf Season On Wednesday

The women of the Country club will open the golf season Wednesday of this week with a blind bogey contest and an approaching and putting contest. Golf matches and contests will be held Wednesday of each week throughout the season and players are urged to enter at once to prepare for the state golf tournament for women which will be held in Lincoln the middle of June. Play will start Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Herman is golf chairman for this season.

ENGINEERS HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

Frankforter and Duguid Discuss Oil and Gasoline Problems.

Lincoln engineering societies observed national oil and gas week Saturday evening at a special meeting in the university mechanical engineering building. A dinner and business meeting of the Engineers' club at the Grand hotel preceded the program. About forty men attended the banquet, which was the last meeting of the club this season.

Prof. C. J. Frankforter of the university chemistry department, spoke at the general meeting on the chemistry of gas and oil engine fuels. He expressed the opinion that gasoline will continue to be the chief fuel for some time, but that an engine may be devised in the future which will consume alcohol. It is now possible to make alcohol from wood and straw in the laboratory, but not as a profitable commercial operation, he declared.

J. Duguid, test engineer for the Galena Signal Oil Co; read a paper on lubrication in which he traced the history of the oil industry, pointed out the value of lubricants and discussed methods of applying various kinds of oils, determining safety allowances and testing values of oils.

Doane Notes

The last number of the lyceum course was given Friday night, April 24, in Sokol hall by the combined glee clubs of the college.

Claud Welch, Stanton, '27, was elected editor-in-chief of the Owl for next year and Glen Jelinek, '28, Crete was elected business manager.

WOMEN SPONSOR PEACE MEETING

Foreign Speakers Will Address Mass Meeting Here Next Month.

Eleanora Miller Appointed Chairman of Lincoln Organization.

Miss Eleanora Miller was appointed temporary chairman by the group of women who met Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. to further work for world peace. The conference was an outgrowth of the talk recently given at the Y. W. C. A. by Miss Jeanette Rankin, field representative of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

To bring the matter before the public a huge mass meeting is planned for the middle of May, at which the main speakers will be some of the foreign delegates to the International Council of Women which convenes in Washington early in May. Mrs. W. E. Barkley of Lincoln, who will attend the council meetings has been authorized to invite those foreign delegates who return home by way of the Pacific to stop over in Lincoln and the mass meeting will be timed accordingly. Mrs. Barkley will give a resume of the part played by American women in the convention.

Miss Miller appointed Mrs. Anna E. Wilkinson chairman of the committee on churchwomen, and Mrs. P. T. McGerr, chairman of the committee on co-operating organizations. Every woman's organization in Lincoln will be asked to give peace work a definite place on its club program for the year. When Miss Rankin was in Lincoln she recommended several women of national repute, as Judge Florence Allen of the supreme court of Ohio, Miss Jane Adams of Hull House of Chicago, and Miss Zona Gale, woman regent of the University of Wisconsin, who are available for peace mass meetings or for lecture courses.

Miss Lulu Horne, city librarian, has agreed to have a table in the lobby of the public library with the latest books on the subject of peace. There will also be posted in the library's reading room a list of magazine articles on relative subjects. Miss Horne says the table will be kept in the library as long as the reading public manifests interest. Since the January conference in Washington on the causes and cures of war, over which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt presided, the magazines have been full of the matter.

No plans were made beyond the mass meeting.

BIZAD STUDENTS PLAN FIELD DAY

Annual Parade and College Picnic Will Be Held On Friday.

The annual Bizard holiday for all students in the university college of business administration will be held on the agricultural college campus Friday, May 1. Classes will be excused for the day and more than 800 students are expected to attend.

At 10 o'clock Friday morning the students will parade through the business district with the university band and a group of floats donated by Lincoln business firms. Automobiles will then be provided to carry them to the agricultural campus where a hot dinner will be served at noon.

A baseball game between the Bizads and the Laws will feature the afternoon entertainment. Contests between the faculty and the seniors and track events for both men and women will complete the program.

The annual spring party of the Bizad college will be held at the K. C. hall Friday evening. Music will be furnished by the Kandy Kids orchestra and novelty acts will be given during intermissions.

I. J. Zavodny is chairman of the committee in charge. The other members are: Harold Quesner, Judd Crocker, Oscar Keehn, Charles Griffith, jr., and D. A. Foresberg.

Organize Legion Posts For State's Endowment Drive

C. M. Bosley, acting commander of the American Legion and Paul E. Seidler, field secretary of the orphan's endowment campaign, started today on a two weeks schedule of district metings organizing the committees for solicitation of funds. The following places are on this weeks schedule:

Sunday, Grand Island, twenty-seven posts.

Monday, North Platte, ten posts.

Tuesday, Kearney, eleven posts.

Wednesday, Holdrege, twenty-three posts.

Thursday, Hastings, eight posts.

Friday, York, ten posts.

Nebraska's quota of $50,000 will be raised during the last week of May. Many calls have come to the various posts from citizens who wish to contribute immediately, according to state headquarters. Such contributions wil be credited to the communities.

Legion Leaders In Conference On Endowment

J. Ed C. Fisher, Beatrice, former state commander of the American Legion, and Frank B. O'Connell, state adjutant, left Saturday for Independence, Kansas, where they will be in conference Sunday with representatives of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma concerning the structure and location of homes for orphans and ex-service men in the region of the four states. These homes will be a part of the $5,000,000 endowment program.

A 640 acre farm has ben donated by Dan Dabney, Independence, Kansas, as a site for homes. Mr Dabney lost two sons in service and is giving his land as a memorial to them.

"As a statesman he took the reins of power when the country was terribly demoralized and steered it safely through the perils of reconstruction. He avoided war wherever he could, and settled our just quarrels with other great nations on just principles and for the promotion of peace.

"As president he was sorely troubled with corruption and extravagances that seem to follow great wars. He settled all these troublesome questions without a single stain of reproach reaching the white house."

Meier concludes that: "We have a right to claim that Grant was not only a great military general but that as a statesman he should be awarded no mean place."

Ralph Marshall, Doane academy, '05, now a banker of Panama, was on the campus last Sunday and attended the vesper services. His sister, Miss LaVerne Marshall, is a sophomore in college.

Obituary

Joseph P. Riley.

Joseph P. Riley was born on the old Riley homestead a half mile north of Princeton, October 23, 1894, and died in a hospital in Spokane, Wash., April 6, 1925.

He was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley, and lived at Princeton until he enlisted in the navy on his birthday in 1917. He served 22 months and had been in government border patrol service exactly seven months when he died from injuries received in the discharge of duty.

He was acting as a United States border patrol officer and was chasing a suspect through the Montana mountains when his auto overturned after a tie rod broke. When brought to the Sacred Heart hospital at which he died his mind was clear though his body was almost paralyzed. A fractured spine caused his death.

He leaves his mother, two sisters and three brothers. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus at Beatrice.

Funeral services were held at the St. James Catholic church at Cortland Monday morning, April 13, conducted by Father Egbert. Interment was at the St. James Catholic cemetery at Cortland.

GIRL RESERVES HOLD BANQUET

Dinner at Trinity Methodist For Delegates To Conference.

Pageant of Y. W. C. A. Work Round World Is Feature Of Evening.

More than 200 high school Girl Reserves and sponsors were present at the banquet given Saturday evening at the Trinity M. E. church in honor of visiting delegates from various sections of the state who are in Lincoln attending Girl Reserve conference.

Dr. A. A. Brooks offered invocation before the banquet. The dinner hour was spent with songs given by various groups of girls.

Miss Julia Rider, president of the Lincoln high school Student club was toastmistress, and called for the following responses on the subject, "An Open Window."

"Casement Windows," Dorothy Koehler, Osceola.

"Cathedral Windows," Marjorie May, University Place.

"Port Holes," Madeline Miller, Omaha.

Miss Marie Lessenhop entertained with a piano number, "To Spring," by Grieg, preceding the toasts.

Y. W. C. A. Pageant Given.

Following the banquet a pageant showing the wide influence of the Y. W. C. A. was presented in the auditorium of the church.

Miss Lois Dwiggins represented the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Hazel Meier, the Girl Reserves of America. Other countries were represented by groups of three in costume. They were, China, Sarah Sirinsky, Ruth Forb, Gertrude Ellis; Japan, Elizabeth Gayle, Alta Hastead, Imogene Hershner; India, Charlotte Hall, Ruth Hammond, Ruth Sherman; South America, Dorothy Barch, Irma Adkins, Lillian Smith; Czecho-Slovakia, Mildred McWilliams, Ruth Wurm, Katheyn Toohey; Hawaii, Clare Barch, Frances Swift, Maurine Tibbets; Canada, Mauricia Adkins, Frances Dowling; Mexico, Ona Jorgenson, Ethel Beha; Girl Reserves of America, Hushina Legge, Helen Black, Arrela Rankin, Yetive Barnes, Gretchen Kibler, Jennie Hearson Dorothy Stewart, Lois Patterson.

A feature of the evening was a group of German songs given in costume by Miss Sophia Frederickson, who has been in America one year.

Miss Inglis and Miss Carlson were representatives at the business meeting of the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic association. Doane tied with Hastings for second place in the intercollegiate debate conference.

BABY CLINIC TO OPEN ON MONDAY

All Mothers Are Invited To Register Babies For Examination.

Lincoln's baby clinic will open Monday at 1 o'clock in the Gold & Company store, and all mothers are invited to register their babies for examination sometime during the week. Dr. George G. McKhann, director of the child hygiene bureau, is supervising the clinic and Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, superintendent of health, is cooperating with him. Examinations and lectures will be held daily until Friday.

Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman will give the opening address at 2:25 Monday afternoon, following which Dr. A. J. Coats will speak on "Prenatal Care." Dr. E. V. Wiedman will disquss "Feeding Problems of Infancy," Tuesday at 2:30; Dr. W. O. Colburn will speak on "Discipline in Infancy," Wednesday at 2:30; Dr. W. H. Wilson will lecture on "Infectious Diseases," Thursday at 2:30 and Dr. Katherine H. K. Wolfe will discuss "School Age Problems," at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

Displays on child hygiene, child feeding, milk and milk products, and other matters relative to the welfare of babies will be included. Demonstrations of bathing, dressing and general child care are to be given. A large section of the fourth floor of the store has been set aside for the clinic and special elevator service and parking places for perambulators will be provided.

Special child health week badges and examination certificates will be issued for each child. Mothers are urged to regsiter their babies for examination so that a day may be assigned and the work of physicians who are contributing their services may be expedited. The clinic is operated entirely without charge and all mothers are invited. Mothers with special problems or with babies whose peculiar conditions have been overlooked are especially urged to attend and obtain the benefit of the services of the many physicians in charge.

The following nurses will assist: Kate E. Graham, Cora E. Higgins, Alice H. Jones and Euphemia Peterson. Nurses representing the department of health and visiting nurses, Lincoln public school nurses and student nurses from the Bailey Saltarium and the Everett Sanitarium will cooperate.

Women Open Golf Season On Wednesday

The women of the Country club will open the golf season Wednesday of this week with a blind bogey contest and an approaching and putting contest. Golf matches and contests will be held Wednesday of each week throughout the season and players are urged to enter at once to prepare for the state golf tournament for women which will be held in Lincoln the middle of June. Play will start Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Herman is golf chairman for this season.

ENGINEERS HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

Frankforter and Duguid Discuss Oil and Gasoline Problems.

Lincoln engineering societies observed national oil and gas week Saturday evening at a special meeting in the university mechanical engineering building. A dinner and business meeting of the Engineers' club at the Grand hotel preceded the program. About forty men attended the banquet, which was the last meeting of the club this season.

Prof. C. J. Frankforter of the university chemistry department, spoke at the general meeting on the chemistry of gas and oil engine fuels. He expressed the opinion that gasoline will continue to be the chief fuel for some time, but that an engine may be devised in the future which will consume alcohol. It is now possible to make alcohol from wood and straw in the laboratory, but not as a profitable commercial operation, he declared.

J. Duguid, test engineer for the Galena Signal Oil Co.; read a paper on lubrication in which he traced the history of the oil industry, pointed out the value of lubricants and discussed methods of applying various kinds of oils, determining safety allowances and testing values of oils.

Doane Notes

The last number of the lyceum course was given Friday night, April 24, in Sokol hall by the combined glee clubs of the college.

WOMEN SPONSOR PEACE MEETING

Foreign Speakers Will Address Mass Meeting Here Next Month.

Eleanora Miller Appointed Chairman of Lincoln Organization.

Miss Eleanora Miller was appointed temporary chairman by the group of women who met Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. to further work for world peace. The conference was an outgrowth of the talk recently given at the Y. W. C. A. by Miss Jeanette Rankin, field representative of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

To bring the matter before the public a huge mass meeting is planned for the middle of May, at which the main speakers will be some of the foreign delegates to the International Council of Women which convenes in Washington early in May. Mrs. W. E. Barkley of Lincoln, who will attend the council meetings has been authorized to invite those foreign delegates who return home by way of the Pacific to stop over in Lincoln and the mass meeting will be timed accordingly. Mrs. Barkley will give a resume of the part played by American women in the convention.

Miss Miller appointed Mrs. Anna E. Wilkinson chairman of the committee on churchwomen, and Mrs. P. T. McGerr, chairman of the committee on co-operating organizations. Every woman's organization in Lincoln will be asked to give peace work a definite place on its club program for the year. When Miss Rankin was in Lincoln she recommended several women of national repute, as Judge Florence Allen of the supreme court of Ohio, Miss Jane Adams of Hull House of Chicago, and Miss Zona Gale, woman regent of the University of Wisconsin, who are available for peace mass meetings or for lecture courses.

Miss Lulu Horne, city librarian, has agreed to have a table in the lobby of the public library with the latest books on the subject of peace. There will also be posted in the library's reading room a list of magazine articles on relative subjects. Miss Horne says the table will be kept in the library as long as the reading public manifests interest. Since the January conference in Washington on the causes and cures of war, over which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt presided, the magazines have been full of the matter.

No plans were made beyond the mass meeting.

BIZAD STUDENTS PLAN FIELD DAY

Annual Parade and College Picnic Will Be Held On Friday.

The annual Bizard holiday for all students in the university college of business administration will be held on the agricultural college campus Friday, May 1. Classes will be excused for the day and more than 800 students are expected to attend.

At 10 o'clock Friday morning, the students will parade through the business district with the university band and a group of floats donated by Lincoln business firms. Automobiles will then be provided to carry them to the agricultural campus where a hot dinner will be served at noon.

A baseball game between the Bizads and the Laws will feature the afternoon entertainment. Contests between the faculty and the seniors and track events for both men and women will complete the program.

The annual spring party of the Bizad college will be held at the K. C. hall Friday evening. Music will be furnished by the Kandy Kids orchestra and novelty acts will be given during intermissions.

I. J. Zavodny is chairman of the committee in charge. The other members are: Harold Quesner, Judd Crocker, Oscar Keehn, Charles Griffith, jr., and D. A. Foresberg.

Organize Legion Posts For State's Endowment Drive

C. M. Bosley, acting commander of the American Legion and Paul E. Seidler, field secretary of the orphan's endowment campaign, started today on a two weeks schedule of district metings organizing the committees for solicitation of funds. The following places are on this weeks schedule:

Sunday, Grand Island, twenty-seven posts.
Monday, North Platte, ten posts.
Tuesday, Kearney, eleven posts.
Wednesday, Holdrege, twenty-three posts.
Thursday, Hastings, eight posts.
Friday, York, ten posts.

Nebraska's quota of $50,000 will be raised during the last week of May. Many calls have come to the various posts from citizens who wish to contribute immediately, according to state headquarters. Such contributions wil be credited to the communities.

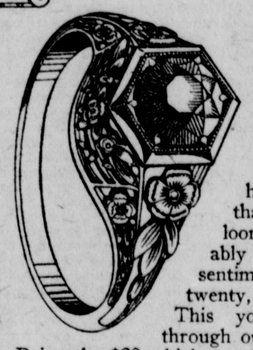

Legion Leaders In Conference On Endowment

J. Ed C. Fisher, Beatrice, former state commander of the American Legion, and Frank B. O'Connell, state adjutant, left Saturday for Independence, Kansas, where they wil be in conference Sunday with representatives of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma concerning the structure and location of homes for orphans and ex-service men in the region of the four states. These homes will be a part of the $5,000,000 endowment program.

A 640 acre farm has ben donated by Dan Dabney, Independence, Kansas, as a site for homes. Mr Dabney lost two sons in service and is giving his land as a memorial to them.

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

The Successful Mother Is She to Whom the Children Turn First When in Trouble, Who Is Always Ready in Emergencies, Who Never Nags, Ridicules or Criticises Sarcastically—These Are a Few Tests Which Minerva Mentions—Can You Name Others?

Given No Privileges.

Dear Minerva: I am a girl of nineteen years and I wish to know if I am expecting too many privileges or not. I am not a silly girl, yet my folks will not let me do hardly anything. I am going to schoo and am advanced two years beyond normal and I work hard and am doing quite well in my school and am advanced two years should take that into consideration—but they do not.

I am not permitted to go to "frat" dances or parties or any kind of a dance—even the most exclusive. I am not even permitted to dance with boys and I can't dance with girls in my own home because it "tears up things so." They believe that because I wish to dance is because I want some boy to hug me. Such insinuations make me boil up and overflow. Some people can't see anything but harm in anything. I am not permitted to go car riding even until 9:30 or 10 o'clock. When the young people in our neighborhood go I can't go so I am left completely out of it. Often young couples go riding and they sing and have a good time. I hear of these good times and you can't imagine how left out of things I feel.

My mother even refuses to let my boy friend and I go walking. My friend is my own age and is in college, too. These nice spring evenings we hate to stay indoors and would like to walk but we cannot, even until 9 or 9:30. Is it wrong for us to take a walk if we are in by 9:30? My mother says people "will talk" if we do. But other couples go and no one seems to think them worse.

I only date twice a week and not always that often. I cannot have many girl friends come to the house because my mother hates to hear them talk. If girls happen to talk of thir boy friends, and girls of this age are sure to have "love affairs" (often one-sided), but if they talk of them they are considered "silly" and I am not permitted to go with them very much.

I cannot go with girls who go car-riding or have very many boy friends, and mother and father tell me they are not decent because they do when I know they are decent. Other people do not say such things of them but think very highly of these friends so I know it is my parents' old-fashioned ideas.

I cannot have young couples come to the house after church or on Friday evening nor can my friend and I go to other young people's houses but rarely. We could have so much fun if we could go about like the other young people in our community.

In the summer time my friend and I can't even sit in the porch swing because mother takes it for granted that we will "mush up." We do not do these things and she has no reason for thinking we do. She tells me I'd not be decent if they would let me do as I like. Such things make my blood boil and I feel I cannot stand it much longer.

I have two more years at college then I'll go into the business world and when I earn my own living I'll never stay at home. People do not realize that when they do these things they drive their children from them more quickly than anything else. I have two married sisters who will scarcely even come back home to visit. Their lives were like mine.

I did not have any beaux or dances or parties in high school. I have no high school life to remember and I am having no college life. It makes me sick when I see how much other girls have and I have no social life at all. Even the little high school kids have far more privileges than I.

They tell me that it will be time enough for my fun when I earn my own living but then I won't be a girl any more. That will be different. Do you think it is right for them to take all my youth away, like that?

People make more fun of me because I am such a baby and I can't say anything but it hurts terribly. I have to ask mother before I can even make a date with a girl friend and mother wouldn't think of letting anyone else answer the phone. If she is upstairs we have to let it ring until she comes down to answer it—she is so afraid she won't know all of our affairs.

When my brother's girl friend happened to call one night to invite him over to dinner she raved because a girl called up a boy. She didn't see what modern youth was coming to, etc. As for me I can't even invite my boy friend to dinner. I cannot have any girl come and eat or stay all night with me as other girls do, other girls whose fathers make much less than mine does and whose families are larger. The folks say they don't have the money or it isn't necessary. I am trying to do church work and they say that's unnecessary and when I lose my temper they sneer at me for going to Sunday school. It makes things hard for me.

My boy friend lives in another town and is staying with his sister here. This spring his sister had a newborn baby and my friend told me the day that it was born. Mother just raved and said that we were both indecent to even mention such a thing. I can't see why, for his sister, who is several years my senior, has been a friend of mine for about six years and she told me that she was going to have a baby. Was there any wrong in his telling me when it was born?

Personally I can't believe that it was even immodest. It seems more immodest to me to simply ignore the fact, doesn't it to you? Anyway why be so prudish over such an everyday happening. But according to my folks I am on the road to ruin. Now Minerva, this is not exaggeration. They tell me time and time again that I am immodest and headed straight for ruin. Is that the way for parents to talk to a girl who only wants to be like other girls. You may think this is exaggeration, but it is not. It is very mild to what my life really is. You'd be shocked and would not believe me if I went on to tell you what else I lack that other girls have. Tell me truly how many girls of your acquaintance would stand for such a curtailment of their privileges?

Not only that, but when my friends do come to the house half the time my mother won't speak to them. They never know how she is going to act. She'll tell my boy friends to go home at 11 o'clock. It is a wonder that I have any friends at all.

I would like to hear from some mothers to see what they have to say on the subject. Am I asking too much to want to ask my boy friend to dinner once a month or so? And to go places once in a while when I get in early? And to go to visit friends and have them in my own home?

My two married sisters had just such a time as this and they do not want to see my youth go without any such fun. So they have offered to give me a real girlhood with parties and beaux and all the things I can't have at home. They beg me to come because they say if I do not have it now it will never be of the same value to me after I get out of my teens and that won't be very far off now. They tell me that when your teens go you become to be a woman and your girlhood is gone. They say it is my duty to myself to have a little girl life before I am a woman.

They are very sensible, well-educated women with happy homes and are well thought of in their communities so you see they are not trying to make me wild.

Shall I go? I hate to run away like that, but I have so few pleasures and so much restriction at home that I am fast losing respect for my parents. It is an awful thing to say but parents who do such things only drive their children away from home.

I can't help but compare my parents with those of other young people and mine suffer. I try to put such thoughts away but I am terrified to find that they persist and will not be disregarded. Not only am I losing respect for them but love for them.

Don't parents have a duty of this sort to their children? My parents tell me that they have no duty toward me and it is even a favor every time I have company and it has been a favor to feed and clothe me ever since I was born. Is it a favor? Believe me, when I have children, it will be my duty to see that they have friends and fun and the house shall be open to their friends at all times.

I have a girl friend who can take a friend to her house for a meal or to stay all night any time she wishes without asking her mother. They are poorer than we are and have a larger family and no more room and her mother has little children besides to care for. Yet she likes to have her daughter's friends come. Here I am—I can't even have anyone by asking.

Why is it? It is so unfair. Is it too much to ask—that is what I want to know.

My brother, whom I love dearly, and who is my twin, is being driven into evil ways and I am powerless to help him. That, too, makes me just furious. My folks say it is his natural meanness and so pull the rein down harder and the tighter they pull down upon him the wilder he becomes. If they'd give his freedom and let him do his own way he'd pull up and be his old self.

You can't nag and fuss and scold all the time and have any good come of it. For boys it is harder than girls, I suppose, but even I get desperate enough to do anything.

Please Minerva don't disregard this letter as I'm in pretty desperate straits. I'd like to have your opinion and that of other folks, too.

Please be honest with me. Do I want too much in wishing: To go car riding until 10 or 10:30, once in a while, say once a month or so.

To wish to go walking on a nice evening until 9:00 or 9:30 with my boy friend.

To entertain other young couples in my home.

To go to an occasional exclusive dance or at least dance once in a while in my own home.

To take part in church affairs.

To invite my boy friend to dinner once a month.

To have a girl friend stay all night with me or come to dinner occasionally.

To have my folks treat my friends with great politeness and cordiality.

To be able to sit on the porch at night without having a fuss made about it afterward.

Is this too much to ask?—MISS 1925.

P. S. A very good boy friend graduates from college this year. Is it wrong to give him a present as he always gives me gifts on Christmas and my birthday? What shall I give him?

A. Your mother and father do indeed owe you a duty. They no doubt are discharging that duty to the very best of their ability. But they are making grave mistakes. I grant that. It is a very serious mistake to deprive young people of all privileges of pleasure and companionship, to refuse them the pleasure of entertaining their friends in their own home.

Every one of your requests is perfectly modest and should be granted by the parents. You should be privileged to have your innocent pleasures, your walks and rides, your company for dinner and evening dances at home.

Every one of your requests is perfectly modest and should be granted by the parents. You should be privileged to have your innocent pleasures, your walks and rides, your company for dinner and evening dances at home. I sincerely believe you would be entirely justified in going to live with the sisters. Sometimes if that is ... would mean. And discontent... regrets to yourself. You would be justified in making the move. But the question is whether this would solve anything or not for you.

I wish I could talk to the mother. And give her a few rules of that which I consider successful motherhood.

The successful mother is she to whom her children go first when in trouble.

Who is always ready to help at the critical times in life.

Who is understanding and sympathetic of the most trifling of youthful problems.

Who is interested in all young people, helpful and trusting toward them, never suspicious.

Who makes of her home a rendezvous for the young people of the community.

Who keeps up with styles, etiquette, reading, clubs.

Who never brags, ridicules or criticises sarcastically.

I cannot advise you definitely. But I can tell you this, that you should be permitted the simple pleasures you desire. But if you can be patient and make the best of the situation as it is for two years longer, I believe you will never regret it. And probably find more lasting happiness than you would find through leaving your parents to seek the more superficial pleasures in another way.

P. S. Make the graduation gift, by all means, a book, tie or any conventional thing.

Becoming Colors.

Dear Minerva: Will you please be good enough to advise me what colors are the most becoming to the brunette type. I have brown eyes, brown hair and a rather dark complexion. I use brunette powder, carrot rouge and dark lipstick. It seems that I never choose the proper material for frocks.

—Geneva.

A. Colors should either blend in with your complexion or form a striking contract to it. Brunettes who have fair skin look well in black but with your complexion it seems to me that the rich shades of browns, creams, yellows and burnt ... or burnt ... monotonous.

For light frocks there is a beautiful new shade of red which I think would be ... come you admirably. It is just a little lighter than a Chinese red. There are so few people who can really wear this that a brunette like you should make use of it. It will be startling and unusual. Some brunettes look well in purple and lavender. And I think that there is nothing ... prettier than white against an olive skin. It will bring out all the warm coloring in your face.

I wonder if carrot rouge is just the thing for you. As you use the brunette powder and dark lipstick I think that the American beauty rose would be more becoming.

Solemnity Gone.

Dear Minerva: And now Easter is being desecrated. That most beautiful, happy, impressive occasion is being commercialized even as Christmas has been commercialized.

The postoffice was crowded for days before Easter with people sending gifts to others. The children demand expensive Easter eggs and baskets and parties at which elaborate favors of chickens, bunnies, eggs and lilies are given away. Easter is made the excuse for bridge parties and dances and as keeping Lent is largely a matter of giving up something not wanted anyway, the season of holy days is not deterrent.

Easter has always seemed the holy of holies to me. Of course mother and the girls donned their bright new raiment on which they had been slaving for weeks, and I had to shine my shoes for the occasion. Nevertheless, the Easter service was strictly religious and solemn and soul-refreshing.

The whole spirit of religion seems to be changing and I for one mourn the change. There is more a spirit of trumpery and entertainment in the church than of solemn prayer. The purpose of the church should be to deepen and refresh the souls and individual lives of men and women, not to amuse them.

If we could only return to the simpler, more sincere days.—UNCLE BOB.

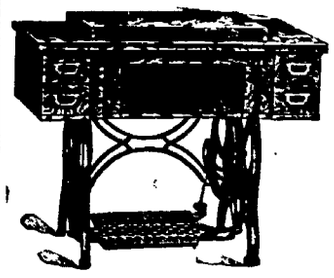

HASTINGS NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Foote of Hastings, have received word of the death of Mrs. Wendell Taylor, who was formerly Miss Frances Filson, at a missionary station in Vengurla, India. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are graduates of Hastings college and have been stationed at missionaries at the Indian post for several years. The cause of Mrs. Taylor's death which came on April 18, is not known to Hastings friends have received no word as to what Mr. Taylor will do in the future. Mrs. Taylor leaves three small children, the eldest five years of age, and the youngest only one month old. Mrs. Taylor is the daughter of W. N. Filson, well known in Nebraska, and for many years dean of Hastings college.

The Tri-Gams held their first annual banquet in the Hotel Clarke on Monday night of the past week. The program consisted of numbers by Werner Mall, Clay Center, Kan.; H. Laurens Williams, Gothenburg; Warren Steinbach, Hartington; and Butler Isaman, Hastings.

Mrs. Jessie Borthwick, Prof. Charle Halley, and Prof. Wallace Allen of the Hastings college conservatory of music gave the program of station KFKX Monday evening last week. Several hundred enthusiastic acknowledgements of the program were received.

You will see displayed in our two windows this week, a bedroom and dining-room, each fitted out entirely with Cavalier Furniture in the popular French Walnut finish, the wood itself being a combination of American Walnut and Gumwood.

Not only is this furniture built for utility and long life, but its lines, color and finish are designed by experts to give unusually fine artistic effect. Yet the price is surprisingly moderate because a rapidly growing appreciation of Cavalier beauty and durability make possible volume production at lower cost.

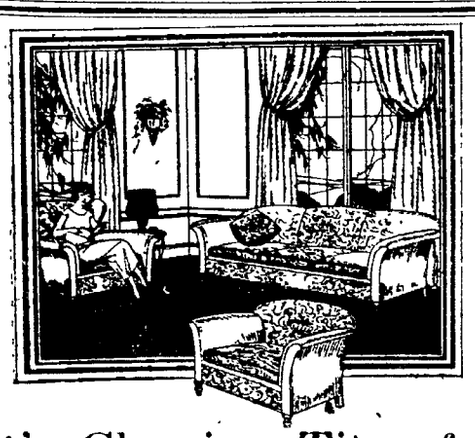

You have no doubt read the Cavalier advertisements in Ladies' Home Journal, Good Housekeeping magazine and other well known publications, and now you have the opportunity to see the product itself.

An unusual display can also be seen on our main floor this week, of which we invite your careful inspection.

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

The Successful Mother Is She to Whom the Children Turn First When in Trouble, Who Is Always Ready in Emergencies, Who Never Nags, Ridicules or Criticises Sarcastically—These Are a Few Tests Which Minerva Mentions—Can You Name Others?

Given No Privileges.

Dear Minerva: I am a girl of nineteen years and I wish to know if I am expecting too many privileges or not. I am not a silly girl, yet my folks will not let me do hardly anything. I am going to schoo and am advanced two years beyond normal and I work hard and am doing quite well in my school and am advanced two years should take that into consideration—but they do not.

I am not permitted to go to "frat" dances or parties or any kind of a dance—even the most exclusive. I am not even permitted to dance with boys and I can't dance with girls in my own home because it "tears up things so." They believe that because I wish to dance is because I want some boy to hug me. Such insinuations make me boil up and overflow. Some people can't see anything but harm in anything. I am not permitted to go car riding even until 9:30 or 10 o'clock. When the young people in our neighborhood go I can't go so I am left completely out of it. Often young couples go riding and they sing and have a good time. I hear of these good times and you can't imagine how left out of things I feel.

My mother even refuses to let my boy friend and I go walking. My friend is my own age and is in college, too. These nice spring evenings we hate to stay indoors and would like to walk but we cannot, even until 9 or 9:30. Is it wrong for us to take a walk if we are in by 9:30? My mother says people "will talk" if we do. But other couples go and no one seems to think them worse.

I only date twice a week and not always that often. I cannot have many girl friends come to the house because my mother hates to hear them talk. If girls happen to talk of thir boy friends, and girls of this age are sure to have "love affairs" (often one-sided), but if they talk of them they are considered "silly" and I am not permitted to go with them very much.

I cannot go with girls who go car-riding or have very many boy friends, and mother and father tell me they are not decent because they do when I know they are decent. Other people do not say such things of them but think very highly of these friends so I know it is my parents' old-fashioned ideas.

I cannot have young couples come to the house after church or on Friday evening nor can my friend and I go to other young people's houses but rarely. We could have so much fun if we could go about like the other young people in our community.

In the summer time my friend and I can't even sit in the porch swing because mother takes it for granted that we will "mush up." We do not do these things and she has no reason for thinking we do. She tells me I'd not be decent if they would let me do as I like. Such things make my blood boil and I feel I cannot stand it much longer.

I have two more years at college then I'll go into the business world and when I earn my own living I'll never stay at home. People do not realize that when they do these things they drive their children from them more quickly than anything else. I have two married sisters who will scarcely even come back home to visit. Their lives were like mine.

I did not have any beaux or dances or parties in high school. I have no high school life to remember and I am having no college life. It makes me sick when I see how much other girls have and I have no social life at all. Even the little high school kids have far more privileges than I.

They tell me that it will be time enough for my fun when I earn my own living but then I won't be a girl any more. That will be different. Do you think it is right for them to take all my youth away like that?

People make more fun of me because I am such a baby and I can't say anything but it hurts terribly. I have to ask mother before I can even make a date with a girl friend and mother wouldn't think of letting anyone else answer the phone. If she is upstairs we have to let it ring until she comes down to answer it—she is so afraid she won't know all of our affairs.

When my brother's girl friend happened to call one night to invite him over to dinner she raved because a girl called up a boy. She didn't see what modern youth was coming to, etc. As for me I can't even invite my boy friend to dinner. I cannot have any girl come and eat or stay all night with me as other girls do, other girls whose fathers make much less than mine does and whose families are larger The folks say they don't have the money or it isn't necessary. I am trying to do church work and they say that's unnecessary and when I lose my temper they sneer at me for going to Sunday school. It makes things hard for me.

My boy friend lives in another town and is staying with his sister here. This spring his sister had a newborn baby and my friend told me the day that it was born. Mother just raved and said that we were both indecent to even mention such a thing. I can't see why, for his sister, who is several years my senior, has been a friend of mine for about six years and she told me that she was going to have a baby. Was there any wrong in his telling me when it was born?

Personally I can't believe that it was even immodest. It seems more immodest to me to simply ignore the fact, doesn't it to you? Anyway why be so prudish over such an everyday happening. But according to my folks I am on the road to ruin. Now Minerva, this is not exaggeration. They tell me time and time again that I am immodest and headed straight for ruin. Is that the way for parents to talk to a girl who only wants to be like other girls. You may think this is exaggeration, but it is not. It is very mild to what my life really is. You'd be shocked and would not believe me if I went on to tell you what else I lack that other girls have. Tell me truly how many girls of your acquaintance would stand for such a curtailment of their privileges?

Not only that, but when my friends do come to the house half the time my mother won't speak to them. They never know how she is going to act. She'll tell my boy friends to go home at 11 o'clock. It is a wonder that I have any friends at all.

I would like to hear from some mothers to see what they have to say on the subject. Am I asking too much to want to ask my boy friend to dinner once a month or so? And to go places once in a while when I get in early? And to go to visit friends and have them in my own home?

My two married sisters had just such a time as this and they do not want to see my youth go without any such fun. So they have offered to give me a real girlhood with parties and beaux and all the things I can't have at home. They beg me to come because they say if I do not have it now it will never be of the same value to me after I get out of my teens and that won't be very far off now. They tell me that when your teens go you become to be a woman and your girlhood is gone. They say it is my duty to myself to have a little girl life before I am a woman.

They are very sensible, well-educated women with happy homes and are well thought of in their communities so you see they are not trying to make me wild.

Shall I go? I hate to run away like that, but I have so few pleasures and so much restriction at home that I am fast losing respect for my parents. It is an awful thing to say but parents who do such things only drive their children away from home.

I can't help but compare my parents with those of other young people and mine suffer. I try to put such thoughts away but I am terrified to find that they persist and will not be disregarded. Not only am I losing respect for them but love for them.

Don't parents have a duty of this sort to their children? My parents tell me that they have no duty toward me and it is even a favor every time I have company and it has been a favor to feed and clothe me ever shince I was born. Is it a favor? Believe me, when I have children, it will be my duty to see that they have friends and fun and the house shall be open to their friends at all times.

I have a girl friend who can take a friend to her house for a meal or to stay all night any time she wishes without asking her mother. They are poorer than we are and have a larger family and no more room and her mother has little children besides to care for. Yet she likes to have her daughter's friends come. Here I am—I can't even have anyone by asking.

Why is it? It is so unfair. Is it too much to ask—that is what I want to know.

My brother, whom I love dearly, and who is my twin, is being driven into evil ways and I am powerless to help him. That, too, makes me just furious. My folks say it is his natural meanness and so pull the rein down harder and the tighter they pull down upon him the wilder he becomes. If they'd give his freedom and let him do his own way he'd pull up and be his old self.

You can't nag and fuss and scold all the time and have any good come of it. For boys it is harder than girls, I suppose, but even I get desperate enough to do anything.

Please Minerva don't disregard this letter as I'm in pretty desperate straits. I'd like to have your opinion and that of other folks, too.

Please be honest with me. Do I want too much in wishing:

To go car riding until 10 or 10:30 once in a while, say once a month or so.

To wish to go walking on a nice evening until 9:00 or 9:30 with my boy friend.

To entertain other young couples in my home.

To go to an occasional exclusive dance or at least dance once in a while in my own home.

To take part in church affairs.

To invite my boy friend to dinner once a month.

To have a girl friend stay all night with me or come to dinner occasionally.

To have my folks treat my friends with great politeness and cordiality.

To be able to sit on the porch at night without having a fuss made about it afterward.

Is this too much to ask?—MISS 1925.

P. S. A very good boy friend graduates from college this year. Is it wrong to give him a present as he always gives me gifts on Christmas and my birthday? What shall I give him?

A. Your mother and father do indeed owe you a duty. They no doubt are discharging that duty to the very best of their ability. But they are making grave mistakes. I grant that. It is a very serious mistake to deprive young people of all privileges of pleasure and companionship, to refuse them the pleasure of entertaining their friends in their own home.

Every one of your requests is perfectly modest and should be granted by the parents. You should be privileged to have your innocent pleasures, your walks and rides, your company for dinner and evening dances at home.

Every one of your requests is perfectly modest and should be granted by the parents. You should be privileged to have your innocent pleasures, your walks and rides, your company for dinner and evening dances at home. I sincerely believe you would be entirely justified in going to live with the sisters. Some-

I wish I could talk to the mother. And give her a few rules of that which I consider successful motherhood.

The successful mother is she to whom her children go first when in trouble.

Who is always ready to help at the critical times in life.

Who is understanding and sympathetic of the most trifling of youthful problems.

Who is interested in all young people, helpful and trusting toward them, never suspicious.

Who makes of her home a rendezvous for the young people of the community.

Who keeps up with styles, etiquette, reading, clubs.

Who never brags, ridicules or criticises sarcastically.

I cannot advise you definitely. But I can tell you this, that you should be permitted the simple pleasures you desire. But if you can be patient and make the best of the situation as it is for two years longer, I believe you will never regret it. And probably find more lasting happiness than you would find through leaving your parents to seek the more superficial pleasules in another way.

P. S. Make the graduation gift, by all means, a book, tic or any conventional thing.

Becoming Colors.

Dear Minerva: Will you please be good enough to advise me what colors are the most becoming to the brunette type. I have brown eyes, brown hair and a rather dark complexion. I use brunette powder, carrot rouge and dark lipstick. It seems that I never choose the proper material for frocks.

—Geneva.

A. Colors should either blend in with your complexion or form a striking contrast to it. Brunettes who have fair skin look well in black but with your complexion it seems to me that the rich shades of browns, creams, yellows and burnt

These colors are warm and you.

wear gray. You will find so many different shades that no matter how many ocks you may have if you different shade each time it trimmed with yellow orange it will never become

For lig ht frocks there is a beautiful new shade of red which I thik would be come you admirably. It is just a lit le lighter than a Chinese red. The re are so few people who can really wear this that a brunette like you should make use of it. It will be st rtling and unusual. Some brunettes look well in purple and lavender. And I think that there is nothing prettier than white against an olive skin. It will bring out all the warm coloring in your face.

I wonder if carrot rouge is just the thing for you. As you use the brunette powder and dark lipstick I think that the American beauty rose would be more becoming.

Solemnity Gone.

Dear Minerva: And now Easter is being desecrated. That most beautiful, happy, impressive occasion is being commercialized even as Christmas has been commercialized.

The postoffice was crowded for days before Easter with people sending gifts to others. The children demand expensive Easter eggs and baskets and parties at which elaborate favors of chickens, bunnies, eggs and lilies are given away. Easter is made the excuse for bridge parties and dances and as keeping Lent is largely a matter of giving up something not wanted anyway, the season of holy days is not deterrent.

Easter has always seemed the holy of holies to me. Of course mother and the girls donned their bright new raiment on which they had been slaving for weeks, and I had to shine my shoes for the occasion. Nevertheless, the Easter service was strictly religious and solemn and soul-refreshing.

The whole spirit of religion seems to be changing and I for one mourn the change. There is more a spirit of trumpery and entertainment in the church than of solemn prayer. The purpose of the church should be to deepen and refresh the souls and individual lives of men and women, not to amuse them.

If we could only return to the simpler, more sincere days.—UNCLE BOB.

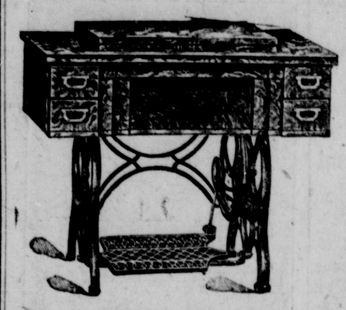

HASTINGS NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Foote of Hastings, have received word of the death of Mrs. Wendell Taylor, who was formerly Miss Frances Filson, at a missionary station in Vengurla, India. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are graduates of Hastings college and have been stationed at missionaries at the Indian post for several years. The cause of Mrs. Taylor's death which came on April 18, is not known to Hastings friends have received no word as to what Mr. Taylor will do in the future. Mrs. Taylor leaves three small children, the eldest five years of age, and the youngest only one month old. Mrs. Taylor is the daughter of W. N. Filson, well known in Nebraska, and for many years dean of Hastings college.

The Tri-Gams held their first annual banquet in the Hotel Clarke on Monday night of the past week. The program consisted of numbers by Werner Mall, Clay Center, Kan.; H. Laurens Williams, Gothenburg; Warren Steinbach, Hartington; and Butler Isaman, Hastings.

Mrs. Jessie Borthwick, Prof. Charle Halley, and Prof. Wallace Allen of the Hastings college conservatory of music gave the program of station KFKX Monday evening last week. Several hundred enthusiastic acknowledgements of the program were received.

TWENTY-THIRD YEAR. LINCOLN, NEB., SUNDAY, APRIL 26, 1925. TWELVE PAGES

Tommy Ryan, Who Drove Stage Coach in Early Days in Nebraska, Now One of the Veterans in Burlington Service

CLOSE-UP OF TOMMY RYAN STEPPING DOWN FROM HIS COACH.

THE OLD NINE-PASSENGER "MUD WAGON," WITH RYAN ON THE DRIVER'S SEAT.

MR. RYAN AS A RAILROAD CONDUCTOR. THE NINE STRIPES ON HIS COAT SLEEVE INDICATE FORTY-FIVE YEARS OF SERVICE.

BY LYNNELLE GREER.

There are two things about Tommy Ryan that time has not changed. He is aged, now, past eighty-two, and his life has been a strenuous one. The fine forehead is creased again and again, the hair is gray, and long, deep lines follow the contour of his face from the cheek bones to the sturdy chin: the hands, too, have loosed their grip upon the scheme of things, and perhaps for the first time in his life, Tommy Ryan is idle.

But the heart of him is as valiant as ever. Life has been sweet, he says, he has had adventure, all kinds of it, there has been sunlight and tears, laughter, and love and work. He has been honored, and best of all, he has been tried in duty and not found wanting.

Tommy Ryan is Irish. He couldn't deny it if he would, and he wouldn't if he could. His splendid gray-blue eyes still reflect the soul of him, and even now they are filled to the brim with twinkles for the merry and sympathy for the sad.

Tommy Ryan was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, December 22, 1843. In 1847 he came to America with his father and mother who settled in St Louis. The boy was educated in the St. Louis public schools and later attended the Christian Brothers college which at that time was a fine institution of learning.

Tommy was sixteen when he had his first job, and a glorious one it was. He drove a bus for the St Louis Bus company, and had the thrill of his young life. Does he gaze with awe or scorn we wonder, upon the huge motor busses of today, or does he just sit and think how much simpler things have become, and how uninteresting?

For there were exciting times when Tommy Ryan held the reins over his two or four-horse teams. He kept this job for three years and then went to Syracuse, Mo., and from there to Springfield where he was employed as a driver for an overland stage company. Then his real adventures began.

Became Overland Driver.

A driver for the overland company; a freighter with a wagon train from Council Bluffs to Denver, later a teamster with a construction gang working on the Union Pacific grade when that the first of the transcontinental railroads, was being extended through Wyoming these are some of the features of his picturesque career.

His days of freighting in Nebraska, his experiences as a stage coach driver across the country are teemed with thrills and not a few hardships.

It was in the territorial days of Nebraska when Mr Ryan first began his transportation in this state. Days when the Indians, the whites, renegades, and outlaws made the transportation business a hazardous one. There were other things to fear, also according to Mr Ryan who believes the summer and autumn prairie fires that the state had in those days, were every bit as bad as the Indians. When one of these fires started it would sweep over the plains like a whirlwind taking everything in front of it. These were dreaded almost as much as the [illegible] which encountered during the winte[illegible] A light snow storm would make it impossible for Mr Ryan to follow the trail. He would be forced to unhitch his teams and turn them loose with the passengers and never would stop out of the reach of [illegible].

Kept His Run.

[illegible] established [illegible] Tommy Ryan [illegible] of Nebraska City. He [illegible] and Tommy Ryan was [illegible] of them. He feared, though not if he could help [illegible] horses at any time, he would probably not have much trouble with a team, so he got himself a job as brakeman. A strange coincidence was that he was that was given the same run with the railroad that he had had with his stage coach. When he was driving a passenger coach he drove from Nebraska City to a point eight twenty-two miles west which at that time was known as Brick Postoffice. It was later renamed [illegible] and Mr Ryan passed [illegible] Nebraska City [illegible].

about every person between Nebraska City and Lincoln.

Nearly a half-century of transporting grandmothers, daughters and grand-daughters over the same route would naturally be conducive to friendlines, and Tommy Ryan knew them all. He could call every one's new baby by name; he knew when Johnny had the measles and Mary had the mumps, he knew who was going to marry, so-and-so, and why so-and-so didn't marry some one else. He knew grandmother when she was a girl, and her great-grand daughter when she was a flapper. In fact he knew everything.

Not that Tommy Ryan is a gossip—not by any means. He is quite to the contrary, but he was as interested in every one of the people on his line as though they really belonged to him.

When Mr. Ryan first came into Nebraska it was a brand new country. There were not so many white settlers here, but for all that it was not the bad "wild and Woolly West" that it has been pictured. He claims that the bad men," were not in Nebraska until after the Civil war, and then, Mr. Ryan says, came some of the toughs and killers. Before that time there was nothing but a kindly neighborly spirit anywhere in the community. A stage-coach hold up was unknown. There were no road agents.

There was "treasure" in those days, and it was carried then just as it is now in the movies, in a large iron express box under the driver's seat. One incident which Mr. Ryan remembers well, was the time when $40,000 was being transported from St. Joseph to Denver. The stage broke down and it stood in the road for a solid week with no one guarding it or anywhere near it for that matter. The driver didn't concern himself enough about the money to remove it from the stage. It was just as safe there as it would be any place else, he thought.

Indians Were Friendly.

The histories are filled with the Indian massacres and outbreaks of the early days, but Mr. Ryan says that when he first began driving over the country there was none of that. The Indians and whites were good friends. He said that if you lost your way, or lost the mail bag off of your coach, you asked the Indians to help you and they always did. If you wanted to do some good trapping or hunting, the Indian trappers and guides were always ready and willing to tell you some of the best places.

The time came, though, when he had some experience with an Indian uprising first hand. He was driving a stage out of Julesberg, Colo. There were four passengers, Mr. Ryan says, three men and a woman. The prairie, according to him, "was so sound asleep you could hear it snore." About eighteen miles east of his starting point, his horses began acting up a bit. It was in October and the air was crisp, and so it was easy for the horses to sense the Indians, and Mr. Ryan says a horse can scent an Indian for a mile. He wasn't sure just what was going to happen, and rode along rather slowly trying to figure some way out of the difficulty. He could hear the hoofs of the Indians horses coming nearer and nearer, every minute, and still he said nothing to the passengers about it. He didn't like to get them all excited, he said, until he knew for sure just what to do, because more than one accident has happened when someone has been too quick on the trigger. Finally he could see the feathers and war paint of the Indians. On they came, but didn't even pause at the stage coach, they were after bigger game and couldn't bother with trifles such as a stage coach.

"But only a few miles back," said Mr Ryan "the stage had passed a wagon outfit. The twenty-six wagons, all heavily loaded with grain for supplying the stage stations had halted for the night and the four mule-team turned out to graze. It was this stock that the Indians were after. The animals were stampeded and driven away.

"Another band of the same raiding Sioux were cutting capers further east that night" Mr Ryan said, "when we saw the Indians driving away a hundred head of Wolf and Zorie's cattle. Two hundred other head had been killed."

Didn't Like Mules.

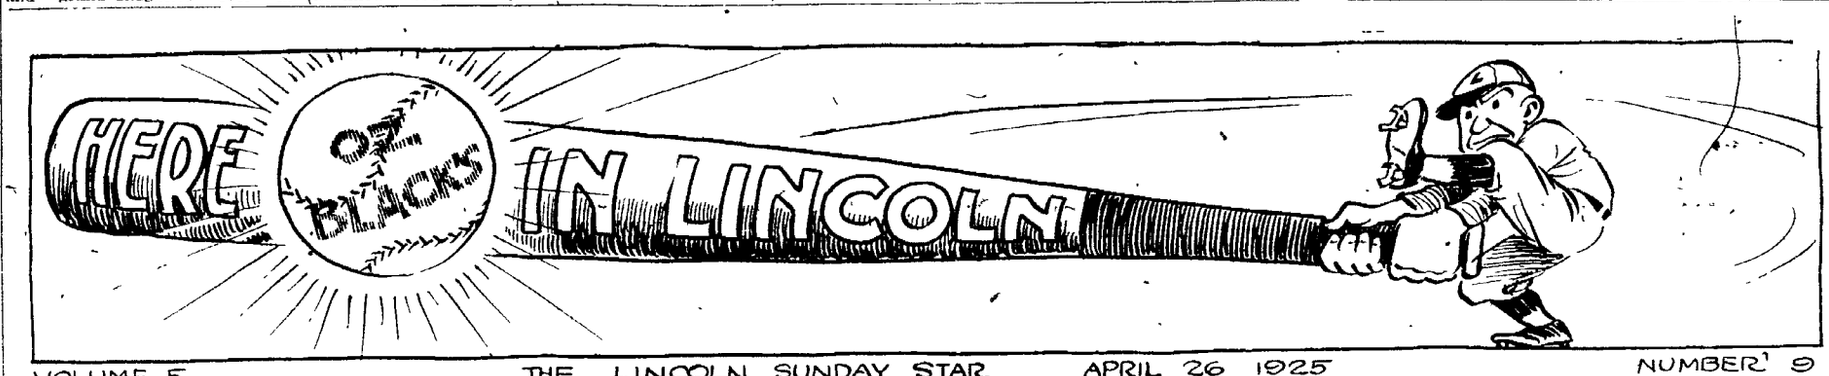

According to Mr Ryan's story, Indians as a rule didn't care much for mules. They called them "white men's rabbits," and if they did take them, they used them to trade for provisions at some station or other.

But as long as Mr. Ryan was in the transportation business, coach and railroad he suffered no serious accidents. He snipped off the end of his finger, one time, when he was coupling together two cars of lumber, but that is about the most lasting scar he ever had.

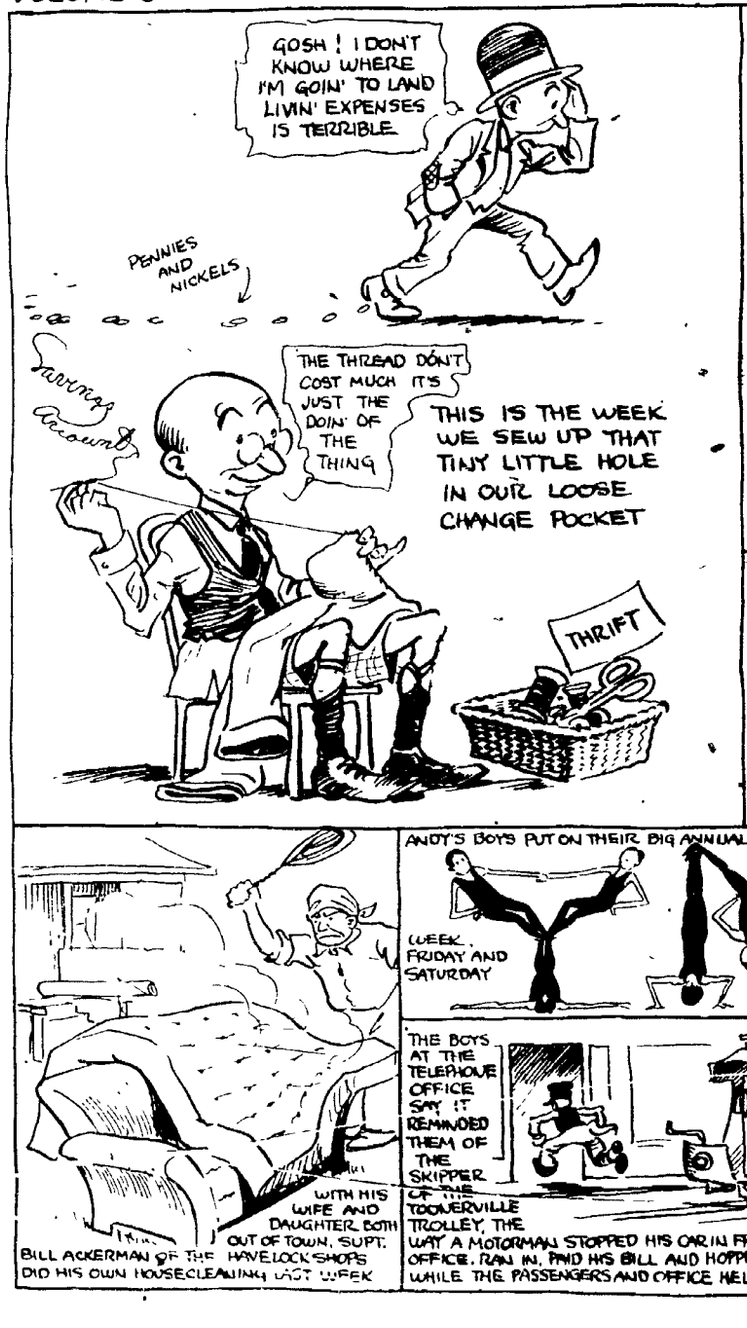

Mr. Ryan began his career with the Midland Pacific in 1871. That road was building a line between Nebraska City and Lincoln. He made his initial trip as a brakeman on the first train that was ever run on that line. In 1876 the Midland Pacific was taken over by the Burlington, and Mr. Ryan kept right on, although he was a brakeman for only a year.

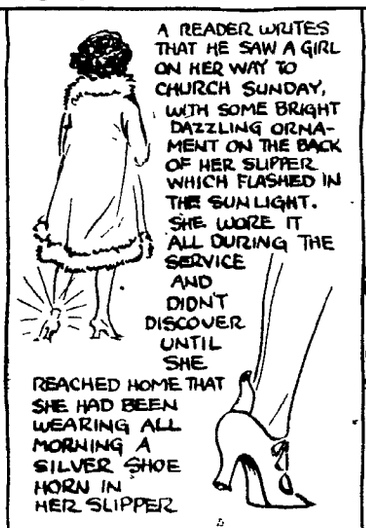

After that he became a conductor and had the same run for nine[illegible] like forty seven years. He

BY LYNNELLE GREER.

There are two things about Tommy Ryan that time has not changed. He is aged, now, past eighty-two, and his life has been a strenuous one. The fine forehead is creased again and again, the hair is gray, and long, deep lines follow the contour of his face from the cheek bones to the sturdy chin; the hands, too, have loosed their grip upon the scheme of things, and perhaps for the first time in his life, Tommy Ryan is idle.

But the heart of him is as valiant as ever. Life has been sweet, he says, he has had adventure, all kinds of it, there has been sunlight and tears, laughter, and love and work. He has been honored, and best of all, he has been tried in duty and not found wanting.

Tommy Ryan is Irish. He couldn't deny it if he would, and he wouldn't if he could. His splendid gray-blue eyes still reflect the soul of him, and even now they are filled to the brim with twinkles for the merry and sympathy for the sad.

Tommy Ryan was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, December 22, 1843. In 1847 he came to America with his father and mother who settled in St. Louis. The boy was educated in the St. Louis public schools and later attended the Christian Brothers college which at that time was a fine institution of learning.

Tommy was sixteen when he had his first job, and a glorious one it was. He drove a bus for the St. Louis Bus company, and had the thrill of his young life. Does he gaze with awe or scorn, we wonder, upon the huge motor busses of today, or does he just sit and think how much simpler things have become, and how uninteresting? For there were exciting times when Tommy Ryan held the reins over his two or four-horse teams. He kept this job for three years and then went to Syracuse, Mo., and from there to Springfield where he was employed as a driver for an overland stage company. Then his real adventures began.

Became Overland Driver.

A driver for the overland company; a freighter with a wagon train from Council Bluffs to Denver, later a teamster with a construction gang working on the Union Pacific grade when that, the first of the transcontinental railroads, was being extended through Wyoming—these are some of the features of his picturesque career.

His days of freighting in Nebraska, his experiences as a stage coach driver across the country are teemed with thrills and not a few hardships.

It was in the territorial days of Nebraska when Mr. Ryan first began his transportation in this state, days when the Indians, the white renegades, and outlaws made the transportation business a hazardous one. There were other things to fear, also, according to Mr. Ryan who believes the summer and autumn prairie fires that the state had in those days, were every bit as bad as the Indians. When one of these fires started it would sweep over the plains like a whirlwind taking everything in front of it. These were dreaded almost as much as the great blizzards which were encountered during the winter months. Time and time again a blinding snow storm would make it impossible for Mr. Ryan to follow the trail. He would be forced to unhitch his teams and turn them loose, while the passengers and driver would "camp out" until the road became safe again.

Kept His Run.

Then came the railroad. That did away with the stage-coach business, of course, and Tommy Ryan was just about out of a job. He figured, though, that if he could handle four and six horses at one time, he would probably not have much trouble with a train, so he got himself a job as brakeman. A strange coincidence was that he was that was given the same run with the railroad that he had had with his stage coach. When he was driving a passenger coach he drove from Nebraska City to a point about twenty-two miles west which at that time was known as Brick Postoffice. It was later renamed Syracuse, and Mr. Ryan passed through it every day on his run between Nebraska City and Lincoln when he was a conductor.

And the things that he knew about every person between Nebraska City and Lincoln!

Nearly a half-century of transporting grandmothers, daughters and grand-daughters over the same route would naturally be conducive to friendlines, and Tommy Ryan knew them all. He could call every one's new baby by name; he knew when Johnny had the measles and Mary had the mumps; he knew who was going to marry so-and-so, and why so-and-so didn't marry some one else. He knew grandmother when she was a girl, and her great-grand daughter when she was a flapper. In fact he knew everything.

Not that Tommy Ryan is a gossip—not by any means. He is quite to the contrary, but he was as interested in every one of the people on his line as though they really belonged to him.

When Mr. Ryan first came into Nebraska it was a brand new country. There were not so many white settlers here, but for all that it was not the bad "wild and Woolly West" that it has been pictured. He claims that the "bad men," were not in Nebraska until after the Civil war, and then, Mr. Ryan says, came some of the toughs and killers. Before that time there was nothing but a kindly, neighborly spirit anywhere in the community. A stage-coach hold up was unknown. There were no road agents.

There was "treasure" in those days, and it was carried then just as it is now in the movies, in a large iron express box under the driver's seat. One incident which Mr. Ryan remembers well, was the time when $40,000 was being transported from St. Joseph to Denver. The stage broke down and it stood in the road for a solid week with no one guarding it or anywhere near it for that matter. The driver didn't concern himself enough about the money to remove it from the stage. It was just as safe there as it would be any place else, he thought.

Indians Were Friendly.

The histories are filled with the Indian massacres and outbreaks of the early days, but Mr. Ryan says that when he first began driving over the country there was none of that. The Indians and whites were good friends. He said that if you lost your way, or lost the mail bag off of your coach, you asked the Indians to help you and they always did. If you wanted to do some good trapping or hunting, the Indian trappers and guides were always ready and willing to tell you some of the best places.

The time came, though, when he had some experience with an Indian uprising, first hand. He was driving a stage out of Julesberg, Colo. There were four passengers, Mr. Ryan says, three men and a woman. The prairie, according to him, "was so sound asleep you could hear it snore." About eighteen miles east of his starting point, his horses began acting up a bit. It was in October and the air was crisp, and so it was easy for the horses to sense the Indians, and Mr. Ryan says a horse can scent an Indian for a mile. He wasn't sure just what was going to happen, and rode along rather slowly trying to figure some way out of the difficulty. He could hear the hoofs of the Indians horses coming nearer and nearer, every minute, and still he said nothing to the passengers about it. He didn't like to get them all excited, he said, until he knew for sure just what to do, because more than one accident has happened when someone has been too quick on the trigger. Finnally he could see the feathers and war paint of the Indians. On they came, but didn't even pause at the stage coach, they were after bigger game and couldn't bother with trifles such as a stage coach.

"But only a few miles back," said Mr. Ryan, "the stage had passed a wagon outfit. The twenty-six wagons, all heavily loaded with grain for supplying the stage stations had halted for the night and the four mule-team turned out to graze. It was this stock that the Indians were after. The animals were stampeded and driven away.

"Another band of the same raiding Sioux were cutting capers further east that night." Mr. Ryan said, "when we saw the Indians driving away a hundred head of Wall and Zazie's cattle. Two hundred other head had been killed."

Dididn't Like Mules.

According to Mr. Ryan's story, Indians as a rule didn't care much for mules. They called them "white men's rabbits," and if they did take them, they used them to trade for provisions at some station or other.

"The Rivals" With An All-Star Cast Comes to the Orpheum Friday and Saturday.

The present dramatic season, marking the 150th anniversary of the original production of Sheridan's immortal comedy, "The Rivals," is signalized by a revival of this Eighteenth Century classic, which comes to the Orpheum Theater, on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, with matinee on Saturday.

It is under the management of George C. Tyler and Hugh Ford. A brilliant coterie of players have combined for the presentation of the play in an extended tour of the United States and Canada as a mark of respect for the memory of a man who not only was the most brilliant dramatic writer of the Eighteenth Century, but performed distinguished services in the British Parliament in behalf of the American Colonies. The cast is made notable by the appearance of Mrs Fiske as Mrs Malaprop Chauncey Olcott as Sir Lucius O'Trigger, the fire-eating Irishman, Thomas A Wise as Sir Anthony Absolute, this appearance signalizing Mr. Wise's return to the field of Old English comedy; James T. Powers, already noted as David, in the role of the ridiculous but lovable Bob Acres; Lola Fisher as Lydia Languish, the part played in former years by Viola Allen and Julia Marlowe, Lotus Robb as Julia, Marie Carroll, well known in high comedy, in the part of Lucy, a role that once employed the talents of Fanny Rice. Kenneth Thomson as Captain Absolute, Fred Eric as Faulkland, Gerald Rogers as Fag, George Tawde as David; and Herbert Belmore, as Thomas, the Coachman.

Of the scores of Eighteenth Century "comedies of manners' that were popular in their time only three have survived to this day for major production along with Shakespeare's plays. These are "The Rivals" and "School for Scandal" by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and "She Stoops to Conquer," by Oliver Goldsmith Ever since it was revealed in Covent Garden, London January 17, 1775, until the present time, "The Rivals" has held first place among these three in popular favor because its characters and its humor are ever green and, save on the technical side it is as up-to-date as it was in the time of Garrick.

"Abie's Irish Rose" Comes to the Orpheum For One Week Starting Monday, May 11.

Anne Nichols' famous appealing comedy, "Abie's Irish Rose," of which she is author as well as producer, will open an engagement of one week at the Orpheum theater, Monday, May 1, with matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Abie's Irish Rose" is the wonder play of the age and aside from making an immense fortune for its author-producer, has placed her name in the hall of fame for writing and building a play that his and is making more theatrical history than any play ever written, in that is has made records never equaled and probably never will be, for lengthy runs and financial returns, in the larger cities of the United States and Canada.

Lillian Signs Contract—An usually important announcement in film circles is the fact that Lillian Gish has signed a long term contract with the Metro-Goldwn-Mayer Corporation and will make her future photoplays in Hollywood. The amount of Lillian's salary is not announced, but she will undoubtedly be one of the highest paid stars in the profession Miss Gish recently won a court victory when she succeeded in cancelling her contract with Charles H. Duell, president of Inspiration Pictures Practically every big film company has been negotiating for her services since the court released her from her former contract.

Barrymore Gets Medal — Announcement has been made that the Valentino medal for screen actors will be awarded to John Barrymore, star of "Beau Brummel," for the best performance of any actor released during 1921. Norma Talmadge won both second and third places with her work in "Secrets" Mr Valentino will award a medal every year to the best actor Any player is eligible except Mr. Valentino, himself. Seventy-five critics voted on the award. The medal is of gold, and was designed by William Cameron Menzies, the famous artist It will be presented to Mr. Barrymore upon his return to Hollywood He is in London at present, playing in "Hamlet"

Stays in Europe—Betty Blythe, who went to Germany a few months ago to appear in a screen adaptation of "She," has decided to remain on the continent for another picture Thme new picture will be made in Paris by the Marquis Film company Edward Jose, who has directed several American features, will have charge of the production. The company will go to Constantinople for location.

Nearly Ready to Go—"Fine Clothes," which was adapted for the screen by Benjamin Glaser from Franz Molnar's stage play, "Fashions for Men," is being cut and titled ready for release Lewis S. Stone is seen as the Earl of Denham in "Fine Clothes," and Percy Marmont plays Peter Hungerford. Alma Rubens has the role of Paula in the picture and others importantly cast are Eileen Percy, Raymond Griffith, Otis Harlan and William V. Mong.

Norma Signs Leading Man—Once more Eugene O'Brien will be Norma Talmadge's leading man. He has been engaged to play opposite the star in "Graustark," a forthcoming First National picture which Dimitri Buchowetski will direct. Other players in the cast are Marc McDermott, Roy Darcy, Albert Gran and Madame D'Aumery Frances Marion prepared the George Barr McCutcheon story for the screen.

Film Stage Plays—"My Old Dutch," the famous stage play, is in course of preparation at Universal City. Carl Laemmle has signed Pat O'Malley for the principal male role, and Larry Trimble has been signed to direct the picture.

Bathing Girl Starred—Mack Sennett's new star, Ruth Taylor, will be introduced to the public with Raymond McKee, already an established favorite, in a new untitled comedy Many new players are introduced in this way, drawing on an already popular star for their first introduction to the public.

Gets New Role—Lilyan Tashman's roles of a Follies star in "Pretty Ladies" at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, is not a new role to her. Miss Tashman was a member of the Ziegfeld Follies before she entered motion pictures

Appears in Own Hair—Frances Howard will not look familiar to her fans in her new picture, "The Shock Punch," in which she is supporting Richard Dix. Miss Howard will appear in her own hair for the first time in pictures In "The Swan" she appeared as a princess, and since princesses did not wear short hair in those days, she was compelled to wear a wig. In "Too Many Kisses," Miss Howard appeared as a Basque girl, and of course had to cover her chestnut brown hair with darker locks. Now in "The Shock Punch," as Dorothy Church, daughter of an American contractor, she can appear as her natural self.

Does a Prince of Wales—Jack Hoxie is laid up with a broken shoulder sustained when his horse in galloping up a hill at Universal City, stumbled in a gopher hole and fell on the actor. Ben Colbett, an actor in the same picture with Mr. Hoxie, was thrown from his horse and received a broken leg. The men were riding in a scene in a scene in "Straight Shootin," which Robert Bradbury is directing.

To Direct Valentino— Clarence Brown, the former Universal director who made "Butterfly," "The Signal Tower," and "Smouldering Fires," has been chosen to direct Rudolph Valentino in his first United Artists production. The picture adapted from John Frederick's novel "The Bronze Collar," bears the working title, "The Slave" It is a story of California in the days of Spanish rule

Insured for $1,000.000—Cecil B De Mille is valued at one million dollars, cash, by Cinema Corporation of America, the holding company for his new joint independent production and distribution enterprise. Mr De Mille has been insured for this amount by the company

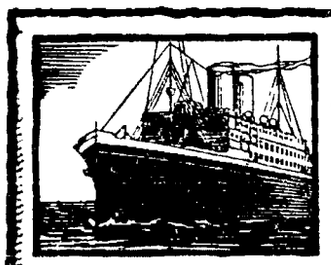

Style Designer Engaged Mlle Dallett for a number of years a designer for the famous house of Poiret, has become head designer of gowns and costumes for Cecil B. De Mille Mlle Dallet was brought to New York last fall to do the costumes for the "Greenwich Village Follies." She is now planning costumes which Leatrice Joy will wear in "Hell's Highroad."

Work on New Picture—Production has started at the Warner Brothers studio on "The wife Who Wasn't Wanted" a novel by Gertie Wentworth James Ross Meredyth prepared the continuity, and James Flood is directing the picture Irene Rich and Huntley Gordon have the two leading roles in the production, and Johnny Harron also has a prominent part as the son of the two.

Greta Nissen Of Europe Bobs Up In Filmland And Comes Off With Big Plum Of The Season

(Special to The Star.)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif, April 25.—Petite, charming, vivacious, graceful and beautiful—you might use them all in describing Greta Nissen. At least, this summarized our impression of the new Paramount star, who stepped in with only three months before the camera, and grabbed the biggest "plum" of the season away from some of Hollywood's idols who had aspired to the role—that of "Tisha" in "The Wanderer"

Miss Nissen was working the other day in a scene in "Lost—A Wife" under the direction of William DeMille, when Marcella Burke, Mr. DeMille's personal press agent, took us out on the lot to meet her.

We went up on the stage where she was rehearsing a dinner scene for the picture. Cameras and klieg lights and property men surrounded us. The set represented a private booth in a hotel

A small table was being straightened and reset. Miss Nissen's greeting explained the disorder.

"You must excuse my nervousness, but I am so frightened," she exclaimed, pausing to shake hands

"A great big dog jumped up on the table while I was working and nearly frightened me to death. He was so big and he tried to kiss me," she added, on the apparent verge of hysterics

We had expected to see a haughty, self-possessed celebrity, but we found just a vivacious young girl, too new before the camera to be "upstage." So said she was nineteen, but she doesn't look even that old. She explained it was only her second work for the screen She had been given a try-out in "In the Name of Love," and was playing the leading role in this picture

She is perfectly adorable to look upon. Her bobbed curls shone like an aura of gold around her small, well shaped head. Her fair complexion and violet blue eyes betrayed her Norse origin. She spoke with a quaint foreign accent

She said she had been on the stage in Europe before she came to this country. It was while she was playing on the stage in "A Beggar on Horseback," that Jesse Lasky, vice president of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, first saw her. It was during the first week of the production, but he was so struck by her personality that he wasted no time in making her a member of his organization.

"I am glad I'm to be given the chance to play "Tisha," because it will give me an oportunity to dance again," she told us.

Miss Burke explained that Miss Nissen had danced under the best masters of Europe and that it was her ambition to be a second Pavlowa

Miss Nissen is full of praise for William DeMille, who is directing her in "Lost—A Wife." The picture is a comedy drama and was adapted from Alfred Savois' stage play, "Banco." She said Mr. DeMille was so patient with her, and had been so careful in explaining his ideas to her in rehearsing the scenes for the picture.

The whistle blew just then, and Miss Nissen explained she would have to have another rehearsal. That meant we must get off the stage, so we went below and watched them "shoot" the scene

The star and Edgar Norton, one of the principals in the picture, seated themselves at the small table. Miss Norton had on an evening gown of silver cloth, cut low enough to display her shapely shoulders Mr. Norton was also in evening dress.

The klieg lights were flashed on, and another of violet hue which was used as a special lighting effect to better emphasive the gold in Miss Nissen's hair.

The orchestra began to play and the rehearsal began. It was explained to us by Miss Burke that Mr. DeMille always rehearses his scenes as though he were actually shooting them Then when he gets the effect that he wants, he is ready to call "camera" without further ado

We were very much impressed by the quiet that prevailed. There were a lot of people around, because Mr. Mille insists upon his entire force, from the copy cutter to the publicity woman, being within call at all times. Yet there was not a sound during the rehearsal

Miss Burke remarked that one if his peculiarities was that when the second whistle blew everybody should become absolutely still, because he felt the players could do much better work if there was no confusion around.

Another thing that impressed us about the scene was that instead of using a megaphone to call the "action," the director gave his orders in an ordinary tone of voice. He stood back of the camera so he could get the seffect of the scene from the photographer's point of view.

If Miss Nissen didn't at once grasp the idea of how the scene should be done, instead of yelling his commands, as most directors do he went over to her and carefully went over the scene with her again.

The new luminary is surrounded in this picture by an unusually strong cast. There are twenty extras in a roulette scene, each of them a trained actor and drawing real salaries instead of "extra" pay. Adolphe Menjou and Robert Agnew are the other important members of the supporting cast

"Robin Hood," the Purebred Steed of Jack Holt's Choice Dies; "Like Losing a Friend"

Here's a bit of good news Casson Ferguson, the blonde villain whom we were always perfectly willing should defeat the hero, is returning to the screen in a melerdrammer with Rudy, by name of "Cobra." Casson has been absent for a year and a half, fighting, not for the heroine but for health.

Here's some news that's not so good. Do you remember the gorgeous thoroughbred Jack Holt rode in "North of 36," "The Thundering Herd," "Wanderer of the Wasteland," and other westerns? Robin Hood died last week at Holt's stables and Holt said "It's just like losing a pal." Robin Hood had belonged to Jack for eight years and he was the champion high jumper of the Pacific coast.

We wished last week that h'l Jackie would wait a few years before making any more pictures It seems Coogan peer did decree that Jackie should become a regular boy, lose his boyish bob and his overalls and go to public school His manager decreed otherwise—lose anything as valuable to managerial pockets as Jackie? Not while Hollywood stands.

Edmund Lowe is going to be fairly busy in "The Best Man." He plays the hero, the villain, and a third soul who impersonates the original villain.

It is said that all is serene on the Chaplin home lot After several assorted groups of relatives had removed themselves to their own homes, the Chaplin menage became positively bridal in its calm and peace Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin have entertained at several dinners, at which the little 16-year-old wife has presided as hostess.

Carol Dempster has come into her own. No one but Griffith believed in her, even as a remote possibility, but in "Isn't Life Wonderful?" she skinned her hair back and did a finished piece of acting.

Better Stars Demanded.

The movies are demanding that their stars be more than mannequins and tooth powder advertisements If you can do nothing but pose and exhibit a perfect marcel Hollywood doesn't want you. Critics, in searching for the outstanding performances of the year, suddenly discovered that in three of the notable ones, "So Big," "The Lady" and "Isn't Life Wonderful?" the stars hid their beauty for the sake of their art, becoming an overworked farm wife, a dance hall proprietor of middle years, and a Polish peasant girl, bent and haggard, respectively.

Noah Beery, jr, is planning to follow in the footsteps of Noah Beery, jr. Although only eleven, he is receiving daily coaching from his father and he reads the scripts of the pictures in which his father appears. Noah, jr., has played small bits before the camera, but has made no serious attempt to become a child prodigy

To get one's makeup on in similar form each day is a different art, and woe to the one who doesn't—all the fans will rush to their pens to tell the luckless star about it Claire Adams makes up a doll for a model and each day puts on her makeup as dolly decrees.

Tom Mix and his sixteen white sombreros and his Tony have met London and it is theirs Tony, with Tom aboard, performed in the aristocratic Hyde park. Tom, minus Tony, visited the houses of Parliament and talked with several British statesmen and all the cinemas are showing the Mix pictures, generally of the wild, wild west.

Florence Vidor has just received the last of eight chic gowns designed for her by Travis Banton, to be worn in "Grounds of Divorce." Certainly, grounds enough there, eight of 'em all at once.

The bare legged craze has hit Hollywood, sponsored by the flapper de luxe, Clara Bow. Dorothy Devore, Pauline Garon and Nita Naldi. Clara decorates herself for a promenade on the boulevard with a coat of bronze paint from the knees down and Nita takes her vampish way with a serpent on each limb —not so good a sign for a vamp

Famous Players-Lasky entertained at a welcome home dinner for Gloria one night last week at the Park Lane, partly as a tribute to the new queen of movieland and partly in honor of "Madame Sans-Gene."

Wonder if Gloria looked back through ten years of life to that little extra girl that was. Ten years is a brief span. And if you like 'em sirenish, she's earned her fame and thousands per honestly The guest list read like a motion picture peerage — four hundred came for dinner and four hundred fifty others for dancing.

Constance Talmadge has been wondering about the reason that more girls do not become comediennes. Possibly, because as soon as one has won a laugh, one immediately desires to do Juliet or Portia. However, Mabel Normand a clever comedienne, and who has been characterized as one of two actresses on the screen with real genius, hopes to return. She has been sitting quietly at home, waiting for a propitious moment, and rumor says she is to sign with Tiffany-Truart pictures, to do similar things to her old characterizations.

Marguerite de la Motte and John Bowers have settled all rumors concerning themselves. They have been said to be just friends, engaged, secretly married, everything but divorced. The other day they admitted their engagement, and wedding bells will ring shortly.

Little Lucille Ricksen, whose too early death threw gloom over Hollywood, left an estate of $50,000 in insurance. She also left a brother, Marshall Erickson, eighteen years old, and a father, Soren Erickson, who has applied to be appointed guardian of his son Lucille, although reported as 16 at the time of her death, was only 14—just a little girl.

Betty Bronson can never hope in all her life to have as good a part, as suitable to her elfin loveliness, as the one which popped her into public notice And it has seemed to be rather hard to cast her again, but now Sidney Olcott is to direct her in a picture of New York of the '80's It sounds charming and Bettyish

Cabbages and carrots were less than the dust the other day when Barbara La Marr and her company went over to Wallabout market in Brooklyn to film some scenes for "The White Monkey." Sawyer-Lubin never had a worse rush of extras for all the purchasers sought to find their way before the camera.

Tricky Bathing Suits— Gladys Rousseau, chief designer of the studio wardrobe on the Mack Sennett lot, is sitting up nights thinking out clever new designs for spring bathing costumes. She says the jockey club polka dot, boulevard stripe and cross-word puzzles will be a feature of the new suits. Mack Sennett has assembled a bunch of new bathing beauties to frolic through his comedies during the next few months. Among the new ones are Lillian Knight, Evelyn Francisco, Lois Bovd, Della Peterson, Dolores Mendez and Louise Loftus.

Real Celebrities—Milton Sills has a bunch of celebrities in real life supporting him in "The Making of O'Malley," his next First National release. Warner Richmond, who has a prominent role in the picture, was once quarterback on the football team of the University of Virginit Little six year old Helen Rowland, who plays one of the leading feminine roles, while Dorothy McKaill plays the other, was awarded the title of New York's most perfect child for three successive years. Julia Hurley, another member of the cast, was on the speaking stage for sixty-two years. Claude King played the role of Rudolph Solomon in Ethel Barrymore's stage success, "Declasse"

TOMMY RYAN BURLINGTON 'VET'

left the railroad May 10, 1918. In all his time of service, according to a letter he received before his retirement rom L. B. Lyman, who was at once time superintendent of the Wymore division, and who is now general superintendent of the Burlington, Mr. Ryan was never suspended, nor did he even once receive a reprimand for failure of duty

But those days are over now. The faithful old coat with its nine stripes has been laid carefully away, away, together with the soft hat and long driving coat of stage coach days. These things mean practically all of the years of Tommy Ryan's life, they mean long years of faithful service to the people of Nebraska, for there was never a time when Tommy Ryan was not protecting the people of the state, from nine at a time, to nine hundred

The old "Mud wagon," as he calls it, the stage coach he drove in the old days, could carry nine passengers. Sometimes it did, and most of the time it had less. The driver was practically the only protection the passengers had. He was supposed to know what to do in any emergency, and to do what he knew how to do, quick Furthermore, he was supposed to protect all of the worldly goods belonging to the passengers. These things money, trinkets and the like, were buried along with "treasure" if any were being carried in the iron express box under the seat.

A surprising thing about Mr Ryan is that he does not smoke He hasn't for a great many years if he ever did, which we doubt, somewhat. Every Sunday morning, rain or shine he goes to church He always has done that When he lived in Nebraska City he was senior warden of the vestry and took an active interest in all affairs of the church

Does he drink?

No.

Swear?

Well, somehow one can't imagine a man being in the railroad business for a half-century or more, and not know something about swearing One of the most amusing incidents Mr Ryan relates is concerning a Methodist bishop who was a lone passenger in a stage coach when it was attacked by the Indians and who could not swear.

Mr Ryan was not driving this particular coach, but a friend of his was, a man by the name of Ed Kilburn

"Harness was one thing an Indian rarely took," Mr. Ryan said. "Only once they did it that I know of. Ed Kilburn had been shot off of the seat He took the lines when he fell, which was a mistake. He should have left the lines where the passenger could get them.

"The bishop was having a tolerable rough time for a non-wearing man. It's bad on the temper and digestion, being churned and jounced around inside a Concord coach like a seed in a groud. That was no good place for the bishop. The wheels pounded over the ground with the Indians whooping it up all around trying to stop the horses. The bishop finally thought he might have a try at that himself Up he climbed out of the coach onto the driver's seat, but that didn't help much to get his stomach settled. He fell off. The stage gave a lurch and he bounced against the side of one of the wheelers, flopped against the other horse, then fell between them and hit the ground.

"The Indians let him lie," Mr Ryan said, "they didn't care much for bishops. They were after the horses. When the team was stopped they came back to look for the victim, but the bishop was gone. He had crawled away and hid himself under the river bank, the South Platte"

Greta Nissen Of Europe Bobs Up In Filmland And Comes Off With Big Plum Of The Season

(Special to The Star.)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 25.—Petite, charming, vivacious, graceful and beautiful—you might use them all in describing Greta Nissen. At least, this summarized our impression of the new Paramount star, who stepped in with only three months before the camera, and grabbed the biggest "plum" of the season away from some of Hollywood's idols who had aspired to the role—that of "Tisha" in "The Wanderer."

Miss Nissen was working the other day in a scene in "Lost—A Wife" under the direction of William DeMille, when Marcella Burke, Mr. DeMille's personal press agent, took us out on the lot to meet her.

We went up on the stage where she was rehearsing a dinner scene for the picture. Cameras and klieg lights and property men surrounded us. The set represented a private booth in a hotel.

A small table was being straightened and reset. Miss Nissen's greeting explained the disorder.

"You must excuse my nervousness, but I am so frightened," she exclaimed, pausing to shake hands "A great big dog jumped up on the table while I was working and nearly frightened me to death. He was so big and he tried to kiss me," she added, on the apparent verge of hysterics.

We had expected to see ahaughty, self-possessed celebrity, but we found just a vivacious young girl, too new before the camera to be "upstage." Se said she was nineteen, but she doesn't look even that old. She explained it was only her second work for the screen. She had been given a try-out in "In the Name of Love," and was playing the leading role in this picture.

She is perfectly adorable to look upon. Her bobbed curts shone like an aura of gold around her small, well shaped head. Her fair complexion and violet blue eyes betrayed her Norse origin. She spoke with a quaint foreign accent.

She said she had been on the stage in Europe before she came to this country. It was while she was playing on the stage in "A Beggar on Horseback," that Jesse Lasky, vice president of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, first saw her. It was during the first week of the production, but he was so struck by her personality that he wasted no time in making her a member of his organization.

"I am glad I'm to be given the chance to play "Tisha," because it will give me an oportunity to dance again," she told us.

Miss Burke explained that Miss Nissen had danced under the best masters of Europe and that it was her ambition to be a second Pavlowa.

Miss Nissen is full of praise for William DeMille, who is directing her in "Lost—A Wife." The picture is a comedy drama and was adapted from Alfred Savois' stage play, "Banco." She said Mr. DeMille was so patient with her, and had been so carefu lin explaining his ideas to her in rehearsing the scenes for the picture.

The whistle blew just then, and Miss Nissen explained she would have to have another rehearsal. That meant we must get off the stage, so we went below and watched them "shoot" the scene.

The star and Edgar Norton, one of the principals in the picture, seated themselves at the small table. Miss Norton had on an evening gown of silver cloth, cut low enough to display her shapely shoulders. Mr. Norton was also in evening dress.

The klieg lights were flashed on, and another of violet hue which was used as a special ilghting effect to better emphasive the gold in Miss Nissen's hair.

The orchestra began to play and the rehearsal began. It was explained to us by Miss Burke that Mr. DeMille always rehearses his scenes as though he were actually shooting them. Then when he gets the effect that he wants, he is ready to call "camera" without further ado.

We were very much impressed by the quiet that prevailed. There were a lot of people around, because Mr. Mille insists upon his entire force, from the copy cutter to the publicity woman, being within call at all times. Yet there was not a sound during the rehearsal.

Miss Burke remarked that one if his peculiarities was that when the second whistle blew everybody should become absolutely still, because he felt the players could do much better work if there was no confusion around.

Another thing that impressed us about the scene was that instead of using a megaphone to call the "action," the director gave his orders in an ordinary tone of voice. He stood back of the camera so he could get the effect of the scene from the photographer's point of view.

If Miss Nissen didn't at once grasp the idea of how the scene should be done, instead of yelling his commands, as most directors do he went over to her and carefully went over the scene with her again.

The new luminary is surrounded in this picture by an unusually strong cast. There are twenty extras in a roulette scene, each of them a trained actor and drawing real salaries instead of "extra" pay. Adolphe Menjou and Robert Agnew are the other important members of the supporting cast.

Will Give Operetta At High School

A group of children from Tabitha home who will put on the operetta 'Jack and the Beanstalk," Tuesday evening, April 28, in the auditorium of the Lincoln high school. The proceeds are to be used to enlarge and purchase better equipment for the children's department of the home.

"Robin Hood," the Purebred Steed of Jack Holt's Choice Dies; "Like Losing a Friend"

Here's a bit of good news. Casson Ferguson, the blonde wiliun whom we were always perfectly willing should defeat the 'ero, is returning to the screen in a melerdrammer with Rudy, by name of "Cobra." Casson has been absent for a year and a half, fighting, not for the heroine but for health.

Here's some news that's not so good. Do you remember the gorgeous thoroughbred Jack Holt rode in "North of 36," "The Thundering Herd," "Wanderer of the Wasteland," and other westerns? Robin Hood died last week at Holt's stables and Holt said "It's just like losing a pal." Robin Hood had belonged to Jack for eight years and he was the champion high jumper of the Pacific coast.

We wished last week that li'l Jackie would wait a few years before making any more pictures. It seems Coogan peer did decree that Jackie should become a regular boy, lose his boyish bob and his overalls and go to public school. His manager decreed otherwise—lose anything as valuable to managerial pockets as Jackie? Not while Hollywood stands.

Edmund Lowe is going to be fairly busy in "The Best Man." He plays the hero, the villain, and a third soul who impersonates the original villain.

It is said that all is serene on the Chaplin home lot. After several assorted groups of relatives had removed themselves to their own homes, the Chaplin menage became positively bridal in its calm and peace. Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin have entertained at several dinners, at which the little 16-year-old wife has presided as hostess.

Carol Dempster has come into her own. No one but Griffith believed in her, even as a remote possibility, but in "Isn't Life Wonderful?" she skinned her hair back and did a finished piece of acting.

Better Stars Demanded.

The movies are demanding that their stars be more than mannequins and tooth powder advertisements. If you can do nothing but pose and exhibit a perfect marcel, Hollywood doesn't want you. Critics, in searching for the outstanding performances of the year, suddenly discovered that in three of the notable ones, "So Big," "The Lady" and "Isn't Life Wonderful?" the stars hid their beauty for the sake of their art, becoming an overworked farm wife, a dance hall proprietor of middle years, and a Polish peasant girl, bent and haggard, respectively.

Noah Beery, jr., is planning to follow in the footsteps of Noah Beery, jr. Although only eleven, he is receiving daily coaching from his father and he reads the scripts of the pictures in which his father appears. Noah, jr., has played small bits before the camera, but has made no serious attempt to become a child prodigy.

To get one's makeup on in similar form each day is a different art, and woe to the one who doesn't—all the fans will rush to their pens to tell the luckless star about it. Claire Adams makes up a doll for a model and each day puts on her makeup as dolly decrees.

Tom Mix and his sixteen white sombreros and his Tony have met London and it is theirs. Tony, with Tom aboard, performed in the aristocratic Hyde park. Tom, minus Tony, visited the houses of Parliament and talked with several British statesmen and all the cinemas are showing the Mix pictures, generally of the wild, wild west.

Florence Vidor has just received the last of eight chic gowns designed for her by Travis Banton, to be worn in "Grounds of Divorce." Certainly, grounds enough there, eight of 'em all at once.

The bare legged craze has hit Hollywood, sponsored by the flapper de luxe, Clara Bow, Dorothy Devore, Pauline Garon and Nita Naldi. Clara decorates herself for a promenade on the boulevard with a coat of bronze paint from the knees down and Nita takes her vampish way with a serpent on each limb—not so good a sign for a vamp.

Famous Players-Lasky entertained at a welcome home dinner for Gloria one night last week at the Park Lane, partly as a tribute to the new queen of movieland and partly in honor of "Madame Sans-Gene."

Wonder if Gloria looked back through ten years of life to that little extra girl that was. Ten years is a brief span. And if you like 'em sirenish, she's earned her fame and thousands per honestly. The guest list read like a motion picture peerage — four hundred came for dinner and four hundred fifty others for dancing.

Constance Talmadge has been wondering about the reason that more girls do not become comediennes. Possibly, because as soon as one has won a laugh, one immediately desires to do Juliet or Portia. However, Mabel Normand, a clever comedienne, and who has been characterized as one of two actresses on the screen with real genius, hopes to return. She has been sitting quietly at home, waiting for a propitious moment, and rumor says she is to sign with Tiffany-Truart pictures, to do similar things to her old characterizations.

Marguerite de la Motte and John Bowers have settled all rumors concerning themselves. They have been said to be just friends, engaged, secretly married, everything but divorced. The other day they admitted their engagement, and wedding bells will ring shortly.

Little Lucille Ricksen, whose too early death threw gloom over Hollywood, left an estate of $50,000 in insurance. She also left a brother, Marshall Erickson, eighteen years old, and a father, Soren Erickson, who has applied to be appointed guardian of his son. Lucille, although reported as 16 at the time of her death, was only 14—just a little girl.

Betty Bronson can never hope in all her life to have as good a part, as suitable to her elfin loveliness, as the one which popped her into public notice. And it has seemed to be rather hard to cast her again, but now Sidney Olcott is to direct her in a picture of New York of the '80's. It sounds charming and Bettyish.

Cabbages and carrots were less than the dust the other day when Barbara La Marr and her company went over to Wallabout market in Brooklyn to film some scenes for "The White Monkey." Sawyer-Lubin never had a worse rush of extras for all the purchasers sought to find their way before the camera.

Tricky Bathing Suits—Gladys Rousseau, chief designer of the studio wardrobe on the Mack Sennett lot, is sitting up nights thinking out clever new designs for spring bathing costumes. She says the jockey club jolka dot, boulevard stripe and cross-word puzzles will be a feature of the new suits. Mack Sennett has assembled a bunch of new bathing beauties to frolic through his comedies during the next few months. Among the new ones are Lillian Knight, Evelyn Francisco, Lois Boyd, Della Peterson, Dolores Mendez and Louise Loftus.

Real Celebrities—Milton Sills has a bunch of celebrities in real life supporting him in "The Making of O'Malley," his next First National release. Warner Richmond, who has a prominent role in the picture, was once quarterback on the football team of the University of Virginit. Little six year old Helen Rowland, who plays one of the leading feminine roles, while Dorothy McKaill plays the other, was awarded the title of New York's most perfect child for three successive years. "The Rivals" With An All-Star Cast Comes to the Orpheum Friday and Saturday.

The present dramatic season, marking the 150th anniversary of the original production of Sheridan's immortal comedy, "The Rivals," is signalized by a revival of this Eighteenth Century classic, which comes to the Orpheum Theater, on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, with matinee on Saturday.

It is under the management of George C. Tyler and Hugh Ford. A brilliant coterie of players have combined for the presentation of the play in an extended tour of the United States and Canada as a mark of respect for the memory of a man who not only was the most brilliant dramatic writer of the Eighteenth Century, but performed distinguished services in the British Parliament in behalf of the American Colonies. The cast is made notable by the appearance of Mrs. Fiske as Mrs. Malaprop; Chauncey Olcott as Sir Lucius O'Trigger, the fire-eating Irishman; Thomas A. Wise as Sir Anthony Absolute, this appearance signalizing Mr. Wise's return to the field of Old English comedy; James T. Powers, already noted as David, in the role of the ridiculous but lovable Bob Acres; Lola Fisher as Lydia Languish, the part played in former years by Viola Allen and Julia Marlowe; Lotus Robb as Julia; Marie Carroll, well known in high comedy, in the part of Lucy, a role that once employed the talents of Fanny Rice; Kenneth Thomson as Captain Absolute; Fred Eric as Faulkland; Gerald Rogers as Fag; George Tawde as David; and Herbert Belmore, as Thomas, the Coachman.

Of the score of Eighteenth Century "comedies of manners' that were popular in their time only three have survived to this day for major production along with Shakespeare's plays. These are "The Rivals" and "School for Scandal" by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and "She Stoops to Conquer," by Oliver Goldsmith. Ever since it was revealed in Covent Garden, London, January 17, 1775, until the present time, "The Rivals" has held first place among these three in popular favor because its characters and its humor are ever green and, save on the technical side, it is as up-to-date as it was in the time of Garrick.

"Abie's Irish Rose" Comes to the Orpheum For One Week Starting Monday, May 11.

Anne Nichols' famous appealing comedy, "Abie's Irish Rose," of which she is author as well as producer, will open an engagement of one week at the Orpheum theater, Monday, May 1, with matines on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Abie's Irish Rose" is the wonder play of the age and aside from making an immense fortune for its author-producer, has placed her name in the hall of fame for writing and building a play that his and is making more theatrical history than any play ever written, in that is has made records never equaled and probably never will be, for lengthy runs and financial returns, in the larger cities of the United States and Canada.

Lillian Signs Contract—An usually important announcement in film circles is the fact that Lillian Gish has signed a long term contract with the Metro-Goldwn-Mayer Corporation and will make her future photoplays in Hollywood. The amount of Lillian's salary is not announced, but she will undoubtedly be one of the highest paid stars in the profession. Miss Gish recently won a court victory when she succeeded in cancelling her contract with Charles H. Duell, president of Inspiration Pictures. Practically every big film company has been negotiating for her services since the court released her from her former contract.

Barrymore Gets Medal — Announcement has been made that the Valentino medal for screen actors will be awarded to John Barrymore, star of "Beau Brummel," for the best performance of any actor released during 1924. Norma Talmadge won both second and third places with her work in "Secrets." Mr. Valentino will award a medal every year to the best actor. Any player is eligible except Mr. Valentino, himself. Seventy-five critics voted on the award. The medal is of gold, and was designed by William Cameron Menzies, the famous artist. It will be presented to Mr. Barrymore upon his return to Hollywood. He is in London at present, playing in "Hamlet."

Stays in Europe—Betty Blythe, who went to Germany a few months ago to appear in a screen adaptation of "She," has decided to remain on the continent for another picture. Thme new picture will be made in Paris by the Marquis Film company. Edward Jose, who has directed several American features, will have charge of the production. The company will go to Constantinople for location.

Nearly Ready to Go—"Fine Clothes," which was adapted for the screen by Benjamin Glaser from Franz Molnar's stage play, "Fashions for Men," is being cut and titled ready for release. Lewis S. Stone is seen as the Earl of Denham in "Fine Clothes," and Percy Marmont plays Peter Hungerford. Alma Rubens has the role of Paula in the picture and others importantly cast are Eileen Percy, Raymond Griffith, Otis Harlan and William V. Mong.

Norma Signs Leading Man—Once more Eugene O'Brien will be Norma Talmadge's leading man. He has been engaged to play opposite the star in "Graustark," a forthcoming First National picture which Dimitri Buchowetski will direct. Other players in the cast are Marc McDermott, Roy Darcy, Albert Gran and Madame D'Aumery. Frances Marion prepared the George Barr McCutcheon story for the screen.

Film Stage Plays—"My Old Dutch," the famous stage play, is in course of preparation at Universal City. Carl Laemmle has signed Pat O'Malley for the principal male role, and Larry Trimble has been signed to direct the picture.

Bathing Girl Starred—Mack Sennett's new star, Ruth Taylor, will be introduced to the public with Raymond McKee, already an established favorite, in a new untitled comedy. Many new players are introduced in this way, drawing on an already popular star for their first introduction to the public.

Gets New Role—Lilyan Tashman's rbles of a Follies star in "Pretty Ladies" at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, is not a new role to her. Miss Tashman was a member of the Ziegfeld Follies before she entered motion pictures.

Appears in Own Hair—Frances Howard will not look familiar to her fans in her new picture, "The Shock Punch," in which she is supporting Richard Dix. Miss Howard will appear in her own hair for the first time in pictures. In "The Swan" she appeared as a princess, and since princesses did not wear short hair in those days, she was compelled to wear a wig. In "Too Many Kisses," Miss Howard appeared as a Basque girl, and of course had to cover her chestnut brown hair with darker locks. Now in "The Shock Punch," as Dorothy Church, daughter of an American contractor, she can appear as her natural self.

Does a Prince of Wales—Jack Hoxie is laid up with a broken shoulder sustained when his horse in galloping up a hill at Universal City, stumbled in a gopher hole and fell on the actor. Ben Corbett, an actor in the same picture with Mr. Hoxie, was thrown from his horse and received a broken leg. The men were riding in a scene in a scene in "Straight Shootin," which Robert Bradbury is directing.

To Direct Valentino—Clarence Brown, the former Universal director who made "Butterfly," "The Signal Tower," and "Smouldering Fires," has been chosen to direct Rudolph Valentino in his first United Artists production. The picture adapted from John Frederick's novel "The Bronze Collar," bears the working title, "The Slave." It is a story of California in the days of Spanish rule.

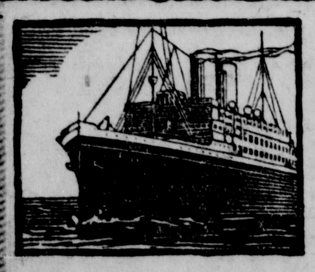

Insured for $1,000,000—Cecil B. De Mille is valued at one million dollars, cash, by Cinema Corporation of America, the holding company for his new joint independent production and distribution enterprise. Mr. De Mille has been insured for this amount by the company.

Style Designer Engaged—Mlle. Dallett for a number of years a designer for the famous house of Poiret, has become head designer of gowns and costumes for Cecil B. De Mille. Mlle. Dallet was brought to New York last fall to do the costumes for the "Greenwich Village Follies." She is now planning costumes which Leatrice Joy will wear in "Hell's Highroad."

Work on New Picture—Production has started at the Warner Brothers studio on "The wife Who Wasn't Wanted," a novel by Gertie Wentworth James. Bess Meredyth prepared the continuity, and James Flood is directing the picture. Irene Rich and Huntley Gordon have the two leading roles in the production, and Johnny Harron also has a prominent part as the son of the two.

Answers to Movie Fans

Dear Movie Editor—I have written to you before and I have come back for some more questions Will you please give me all the information you can about Richard Dix, Douglas Fairbanks Douglas MacLean John Bowers Frank Mayo Thomas Meighan and Wesley Barry

Has Art Acord left the screen? If not, what is his next picture? What is Snub Pollard's next picture? I will close with thanks—A TEN YEAR OLD FAN

Richardd Dix was born in St Paul Minn where they know him as Pete Grimm He received his education at the University of Minnesota and embarked upon his stage career with Faversham in The Hawk He played leads in stock in Los Angeles for two and one half years before turning his attention to the movies He started his career with First National and then became a Goldwyn star He is now a star in Famous Players Lasky productions He is six feet tall and has brown hair and eyes

Douglas Fairbanks was born in Denver Colo and as a boy attended a military academy He later entered the Colorado School of Mines an Harvard University He has appeared in vaudeville and under the direction of William Brady in The Pit He co starred with William Crane in the New Henrietta and was featured in A Gentleman from Mississippi and He Comes Up Smiling on the stage He has had his greatest success on the screen and now produces and stars in his own pictures He is an all round athlete and has performed many marvelous feats of strength cunning and endurance in his film work

Douglas MacLean was born in Philadelphia Pa and educated at Northwestern Previous to his screen career he played juvenile leads in stock and supported Made Adams in 'Peter Pan and other Barrie plays He started his screen career under the Paramount-Artcraft banner and is now releasing his productions through Paramount He heads his own producing company Douglas is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 145 He has brown hair and eyes He is an expert swimmer and tennis player and his favorite recreation is automobiling

John Bowers hails from Indiana He had an extended stage career with Donald Robertson Beulah Poynter in the Family Cupboard and Things that Count He started his screen career with Griffith and has played in many pictures since that time He is six feet all and weighs 180 His hair and eyes are both dark and he is thirty six years old

Frank Mayo is another veteran of the screen who preceded his motion pictures with an excellent stage career He was introduced to the public by his grandfather in Davy Crockett He was later seen on the stage in The Woman in the Case and The Squaw Man" Following his return from England where he played three years with Arthur Bourchier and Herbert Sleath he entered the movies as leading man for Alice Brady Ethel Clayton June Elvidge and Kitty Gordon He is six feet tall, thirty nine years old and has light brown hair and grey eyes

Thomas Meighan was born and educated in Pittsburgh He was one of a large family His father had other plans for him but Tommy wanted a stage career and got it He played a season with Grace George and then played with David Warfield in "The Return of Peter Grimm His first pictures were for Paramount and he is still playing for that company His first big hit in motion pictures was as a co star in "The Miracle Man Hollowpeth's he was made a star in his own right by Famous Players Lasky He is six feet tall weighs 170 and has black hair and brown eyes His wife is Frances Ring a sister of the more famous Blanche

Wesley Barry was only twelve years old when Marshall Neilan discovered him and made him famous in such pictures as Daddy Long Legs Go and Get It Dinty and the Penrod series He was the typical barefoot boy with face of tan, plus freckles and ragged trousers of the movies He was born in Los Angeles and previous to his screen debut played in vaudeville and stock Wesley has blonde hair and blue eyes and more than his share of freckles He is now seventeen and has outgrown his short trousers He has now graduated into juvenile roles with his long trousers and is a member of the Warner Brothers company

Art Acord spent sometime in South America where he made pictures but he has returned to this country and is finishing a picture called In Cods Country —an appropriate title for his first upon his return to California Louise Lorraine is co-starred with him in the picture He expects to go to Spain to make a series of pictures when he completes his present work

Snub Pollard is touring in vaudeville at present and his not making pictures

Dear Movie Editor—I am only an eleven year-old fan but I am as much interested in the shows as grown people are I turn to your page first every Sunday and surely enjoy it

Answers to Movie Fans

Dear Movie Editor—I have written to you before, and I have come back for some more questions. Will you please give me all the information you can about Richard Dix, Douglas Fairbanks, Douglas MacLean, John Bowers, Frank Mayo, Thomas Meighan and Wesley Earry?

Has Art Acord left the screen? If not, what is his next picture? What is Snub Pollard's next picture? I will close with thanks—A TEN YEAR OLD FAN.

Richardd Dix was born in St. Paul, Minn., where they know him as Pete Grimm. He received his education at the University of Minnesota, and embarked upon his stage career with Faversham in "The Hawk." He played leads in stock in Los Angeles for two and one-half years before turning his attention to the movies. He started his career with First National, and then became a Goldwyn star. Louise Lorraine is co-starred with him in the picture. He expects to go to Spain to make a series of pictures when he completes his present work.

"Snub" Pollard is touring in vaudeville at present, and his not making pictrues.

Dear Movie Editor—I am only an eleven-year-old fan, but I am as much interested in the shows as grown people are. I turn to your page first every Sunday, and surely enjoy it.

Are Alma Bennett and Enid Bennett related?

About a year ago a serial about Daniel Boone was at the Strand Show house. Could you please give me the cast?

What are the following ages and addresses: Pola Negri, Marion Davies, Gloria Swanson, Barbara La Marr, and Agnes Ayres.

Please tell me the nationality of Pola Negri. Thanking you for the trouble, I am—A BUNNY RABBIT.

I have a lot of eleven year old fans with me, today, but the more the merrier.

I am under the impression that Alma and Enid are sisters. Enid has a sister, but there are about a dozen Bennetts in the movies, and I have difficulty in keeping their relationship straightened out.

The cast for "The Days of Daniel Boone," is: "Daniel Boone," Charles Brinley; "Jack Gordon," Jack Mower; "Susan Boone," ileen Sedgwick; "Claihe de Voe," Ruth Royce; "General Braddock;" "Hershall Mayall; "George Washington," Duke R. Lee; "Capt. Charles Redmond," W. A. J. Smith; "Simon Girty," Duke Lee; "Judge Henderson," Frank Farrington; "James Monroe," Jack Lewis.

Pola Negri was born in Poland in 1898. Address her in care of Famous Players-Lasky, New York City. She is in Europe now. Gloria Swanson is at the west coast studio, Lasky Studio, 1520 Vine street, Hollywood. She was born in 1893. Marion Davies is 27 years old. Address her in care of Cosmopolitan productions, New York City. Barbara La Marr gets her mail in care of First National Pictures, New York City. She is 28. Agnes Ayres is a year older than Barbara. She is married and not working at present, but a letter sent to the Lasky Studio, 1520 Vine street, Hollywood, should reach her.

Dear Movie Editor—I am a new fan. I have been reading your interesting columns every Sunday, and think it wonderful to find such information in the Lincoln Sunday Star.

Another girl and I are both fond of the movie actors and want to send away for some pictures. Would you please tell me all you can about how much money I would have to send them, and how I could get a picture?

I would also like to know the following addresses, Richard Barthelmess, Viola Dana, Thomas Meighan, Antonio Moreno, Harold Lloyd, Jackie Coogan, Mary Pickford, Mae Murray, Marion Davies and Colleen Moore. Also is that their real names?

Thanking you in advance, I remain, BERNICE, Lincoln, Neb.

Its nice to know that my efforts are appreciated by the fans. Some of the stars would no doubt send you their pictures if you forgot to enclose the postage, but you would be much more apt to get one from the majority, if you remembered it. Twenty-five cents is the usual amount sent for postage. Many of the stars use the money they receive from fans for charity: Mary Pickford is one of them. It is no more than right that they should receive money to cover the postage on their photographs, because they receive hundreds of requests for them a day, and it would make a big hole in their salary to pay all mailing expenses.

Address Richard Barthelmess in care of Inspiration Pictures, Inc. New York City. He insists that that is his real name, in spite of reports to the contrary. Viola Dana's name used to be Flugarth but she has been Viola Dana to her fans for so long, she has almost forgotten her real name. In private life, she is Mrs. John Collins. Address her in care of First National Pictures, New York City. Thomas Meighan is also working the East at present, in care of Famous Players-Lasky studio. That is his real name, and Harold Lloyd also uses his own. Harold has his ow nstudio now, at Culver City, Calif. Jackie Coogan gets letters from his admirers in care of Jackie Coogan Productions, Los Angeles, Calif. Antonio Moreno is in Spain at the present writing, but a letter addressed to him at the United Studios, Hollywood, Calif. would be forwarded. He is working in the Rex Ingram production 'Mare Nostrum" with Alice Terry, which is to be filmed in France, but took the opportunity to visit his old home in Spain. His full name is Antonio Garrido Monteagudo Moreno. Mary Pickford's name used to b eGladys Smith. The Pickford Studio is at 71000 Santa Monica boulevard, Hollywood, Calif. Mae Murray is working on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, Culver City, Calif. Her name in private lige is Mrs. Robert Z. Leonard. Marion Davies was originally Miss Douras. Address her in care of Cosmopolitan productions, New York City. Colleen Moore works for First National pictures, Inc. Hollywood, Calif. Her real name was Kathleen Morrison.

Dear Movie Editor—I am just a new fan eleven years of age, so you should not expect a very good letter. Will you please tell me the age of Constance Talmadge, where she was born, color of hair and eyes? What is her next picture?

How old is Lloyd Hughes? Where and when was he born? Color of his hair and eyes? Is he married and if so to whom? Have they any children? What is his name in personal life.

How old is Ronald Colman? Where was he born? What is the color of his eyes and hair? Is he married and if so to whom? Have they any children? What is his name in personal life?

Please give me the cast of "Broadway after Dark." Give me the addresses of Constance Talmadge, Antonio Moreno, Lloyd Hughes, Ronald Colman and Gloria Swanson

As my letter is getting long, I will close, BABE.

You write a very good and lecible letter for an eleven-year-old. In fact you are a much better writer than many people several times your age.

Constance Talmadge was born in Brooklyn, New York, twenty-five years ago She celebrated her birthday April 19. She has golden brown hair and brown eyes. "The Man She Bought" is the title of her latest picture. Sidney Franklin directing. Address her in care of Joseph Schencke Productions, United Studio, Hollywood, Calif.

Lloyd Hughes was born in Bisbee, Arizona, twenty-sixe years ago. He has dark hair and greenish eyes. He is married to Gloria Hope, a motion picture star, and there are no children that I have heard. He is visiting in Arizona now, with his wife. That is his real name.

Ronald Colman was born thirty-three years ago in England. He was heralded in Hollywood as a new and very much liked bachelor, but Mrs. Colman recently put in her appearance and asked for a divorce. There are no children and that is his real name. His hair and eyes are both dark. Address him at the United Studios, Hollywood. Lloyd Hughes could be reached there, also, or at 955 Michieltorena street, Los Angeles.

Antonio Moreno is "somewhere in France" or Spain at present. Address him at the United Studio, however. It may be quite a while before you receive an answer from him, so don't give up hope. Gloria Swanson has been working in the East and in Europe for a couple of years, but now that Pola has flitted, she has returned to Hollywood to reign again as queen.Address her in care of the Lasky Studio, 1520 Vine street, Hollywood, Calif.

The cast for "Broadway After Dark" is: Ralph Norton, Adolphe Menjou; Rose Dulane, Norma Shearer; Helen Tremaine, Anna Q. Nilsson; Jack Delvin, Edward Burns; Lenora Vance, Carmel Myers; Mrs. Smith, Vera Lewis; Slim Scott, Willard Louis; Carl Fisher, Merwyn Le Roy: Ed Fisher, Jimmy Quinn; The Old Actor, Edgar Norton; Vera, Gladys Tennyson; The Chorus Girl, Ethel Miller; Norton's Valet, Otto Hoffman; Tom Devery, Lew Harvey; George Vance, Michael Dark.

Dear Movie Editor—When I read the wise answers you give to all of fans, I knew you could answer mine, too. I am a new fan, 13 years of age.

Once you said that there were some actors and actresses prettier off stage than there were on, and I would be very pleased to know who they are.

I have seen many shows and I like them very much, but most of all I like the actors and actresses. I have seen almost all of Antonio Moreno's pictures and he has starred in all of them. He is my favorit actor and therefore I would like to know something about him. What is his right name, if he has any? When and where was he born, and when did he start playing in motion pictures? What will be his next picture and when will it be in Lincoln?

Please let me know if Antonio Moreno is married, and if so to whom? If he is married I hope his wife is as pretty as he is.

Please let me have the cast for "Tongues of Flame." From BOBBY JUNE.

There are a lot of new fans, today, but you are all "thrice welcome."

You might not agree with me that some of the players are better looking off stage. Mary Astor in particular, is much better looking off stage than she is on the screen. Her hair looks dark on the screen, but it is really on the auburn order, and she has a very good complexion. She never greatly appealed to me on the screen, Jacqueline Logan is also much prettier in real life than she is on the screen. Reginald Denny is more boyish off the screen than he is on, but otherwise he looks much the same.

Antonio Moreno was christened Antonio Garrido Montenagudo Moreno. He was born in Madrid in 1888 and came to America when he was fourteen. After leaving school he went on the stage with Mrs. Leslie Carter, Tyrone Power, Conston Collier and Wilton Lackage. He answered the lure of the screen about twelve years ago, and started to work playing leads for Vitagraph. He later starred in serials. He is a typical Spaniard in appearance, withh is olive complexion, flashing black eyes and biack hair. He is an expert swimmer and tennis player, and keeps in condition by training all the time. He married Mrs. Daisy Danziger, a widow, after he was old enough to know what kind of a wife he wanted, so she must have her share of charm. He says she is perfect. Their home is one of the show places in Los Angeles. He is working on "Mare Nostrum' under Rex Ingram's direction at present. It is not yet completed, so it will be a long time before it reaches Lincoln. "One Year to Live," is his latest release.

The cast for "Tongues of Flame" is: Henry Harrington, Thomas Meighan; Lahleet, Bessie Love; Billie Boland, Eileen Percy; Boland, Burton Churchill; Scanlon, John Miltern; Hornblower, Leslie Stowe; Adam John, Nick Thompson; Mickey, Jerry Devine; Mrs Vickers, Kate Mayhew; Clayton, Cyril Ring.

Cecil Adds Another—Rupert Julian, the director responsible for such pictures as "Merry-Go-Round," "The Phantom of the Opera" and "The Boast of Berlin," has become a member of the new Cecil B. De Mille corporation.

Here is solution to Puzzle No. 160:

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Vitamines are the Good Fairies

They Bring the Richest Gift in the World,--Good Health

When rosy children with splendid, sturdy bodies glowing with health, run and shout and play, the Good Fairies are their friends.

Bright eyes, steady nerves, a clear skin, and rich blood, Youth in your step and Joy in your heart—all are included in the Good Fairies Gift.

Vitamines are the mysterious food-factors only recently captured and analyzed by patient Science.

GOOD BREAD abounds in these wonderful elements contained in its ingredients, some in milk, others in shortening, but most of all in Yeast, the richest source of these tiny magic particles, the Hosts of Health.

A fairy gift, indeed, which makes rosy children grow into strong men and women, adds youth and activity to the middle years and in the old combats disease and continues the blessing of Good Health.

THE ROBBINS STUDIO.

Edith Lucille Robbins has received from the secretary of Oscar Seagle the following appreciation of Lincoln and the cordial hospitality extended to Mr. Seagle during the recent meeting of the N. M. T. A. here: "For some days I have been intending to write and thank you for the very pleasant visit Mr. Seagle had in Lincoln and to tell you how much he appreciated the many courtesies shown him in connection with his engagement there. Mr. Seagle used to think that Texas was the very best state in the union but I believe now that you Nebraska people have quite won him."

Floyd Robbins acted as one of the judges in the preliminary contest for piano students of Lincoln, held in the high school auditorium Friday forenoon. This contest was preliminary to the state contest for which out-of-state judges will act.

The following definite dates for the three remaining Temple theater public programs to be presented by pupils of Edith Lucille Robbins, are announced. The three programs are open to the public. The twelfth annual recital program, in the nature of an ensemble program, will be presented on Monday evening, May 4. This program will consist of quartets, duets and choruses. Vitamines are the Good Fairies

They Bring the Richest Gift in the World,--Good Health

When rosy children with splendid, sturdy bodies glowing with health, run and shout and play, the Good Fairies are their friends.

Bright eyes, steady nerves, a clear skin, and rich blood, Youth in your step and Joy in your heart—all are included in the Good Fairies Gift.

Vitamines are the mysterious food-factors only recently captured and analyzed by patient Science.

GOOD BREAD abounds in these wonderful elements contained in its ingredients, some in milk, others in shortening, but most of all in Yeast, the richest source of these tiny magic particles, the Hosts of Health.

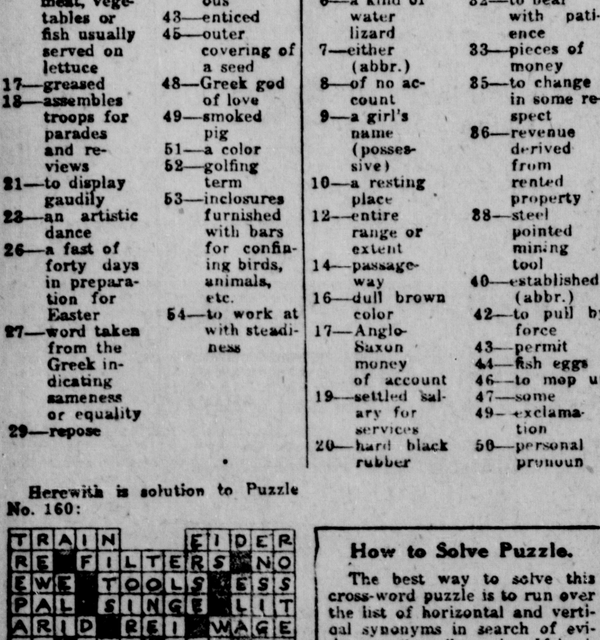

A fairy gift, indeed, which makes rosy children grow into strong men and women, adds youth and activity to the middle years and in the old combats disease and continues the blessing of Good Health.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Links Trounce Tulsa Club in Opener of Series

CLARKE'S CLAN FLAYS OILERS

Links Grab 12-2 Victory In Introductory Combat of Series at Tulsa; Pillette Hurls Brilliantly.

(Special to The Star.)

TULSA, Okla., April 25.—Pitching the best game of the season on the McNulty lot, Ted Pillette set the Oilers down today with seven scattered hits and eight goose eggs, while the Links drove Roy Johnson off the mound and then gave the rough and dry to Tesar, winning the series opener, 12 to 2.

Of the seven hits allowed by the younger brother of the former Detroit Tiger hurler, five were doubles However, in only two innings, the first and second, did the Oilers manage to get as many as two. It was in the second inning that Pillette was touched for the two doubles and a base on balls that gave the Oilers their only runs.

Shaner Mauls Homer.

"Big Boy" Shaner came through with the blow in the first that put the Links off to the lead that they were never to relinquish. After Flaskamper had groundered to Flippin, Purdy was hit by a pitched ball and Maderas singled to left, Purdy stopping at second. Both hands advanced when Krueger and Tesar disposed of Sweeney on a close decision at first. It was at this juncture that Shaner poleda long hit over the center field fence for a home run

Two were away in the second when Pillette refused to be the third out and slugged a hit past second Flaskamper set him up one station with a single down third-base line. Purdy then singled to left to let Pillette and Flaskamper come home. Maderas groundered for the third tumble

Sweeney Breaks Loose.

After the Oilers had counted two in the second, Jim Sweeney started a rally in the third that sent Johnson to the showers and ended with six runs, with Tesar finishing the third canto

Sweeney's starting rap was a double to center. Shaner groundered to Flippin, but the Oiler shortstop booted the chance, Sweeney hitting tight. Beck followed with short single back off Krueger, filling the bases That was the blow that sent Johnson to the showers, but Jack Tesar fared little better, as Haley crashed a single through third that let Sweeney come home

Vargas Hits Two-Sacker.

Vargas greeted the third ball pitched for a double that rolled into deep left. Shaner and Beck counting and Haley going to third. Pillette caught the spirit of the inning and added a single to left that cleared the way for Haley to complete the circuit, Vargas pulling up at the hot corner Vargas scored and Pillette went to second when Tesar scooped Flaskamper's grounder up just in time to catch him at first Purdy popped to Krueger and then Maderas sent a line drive into Riggert's field that scored Pillette. Maderas was a trifle over-anxious and was nailed at second trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Shaner's Drive Hits Fence.

The final Lincoln tally came in the next inning. After Sweeney had groundered to Tyrrell, Shaner doubled against the right field fence and later Vargas poled his second double of the game, scoring Shaner.

From this point on, Tesar carried on in the most approved style, allowing but three singles, all of which came in separate innings. The score:

YANKS SOFT SNAP FOR HARRIS CREW

Ruthless New Yorkers Drop Sixth Straight Game To Senators.

Huggins Uses Twenty Ball Players In Vain Effort To Avert Defeat.

WASHINGTON, April 25 — Bucky Harris's world's champion Washington Senators made it six straight over the Ruthless Yanks here this afternoon by the healthy score of 8 to 7. Stan Coveleskie, the aged Pole, started for the Senators and had the game well in hand until the fateful seventh, when he faded before a sudden flurry in murderers' row Miller Huggins used twenty ball players in his desperate effort to cop. Ten-Pin Champs In Commercial League.

LINCOLN GAS & ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. BOWLING TEAM.
Standing—Earl Drath, W. B. Flieger, captain.
Seated—C. D. Pegler, Paul Leedom, Charles Franklin, H. A. Chapin.

The Lincoln Gas & Electric Light Company's team won the championship for the season 1924-25 in both the Y. M. C. A. and Lincoln Alleys Commercial leagues, consisting of twelve teams in each.

In the Y. M. C. A. league they rolled sixty games, winning fifty and losing 10. Entering at the start of the second half of the season at the Lincoln alleys, they rolled 44 games, winning 33 and losing 11, and then defeated the winners of the first half of the season for the league championship

They entered the city handicap tournament during the holidays at the Lincoln alleys with 23 teams and won first money with a total of 2,938 pins.

They also journeyed to Omaha for the state tournament and succeeded in bringing back a portion of the money.

Altogether they feel they have had a very successful season, having set an enviable record, and hope to be present at the start of the coming season.

LINCOLN LOSES TO OMAHA TECH

Capital City High Trails In Track Meet, But Fleming High Man In Points.

(Special to The Star.)

OMAHA, Neb, April 25— Speed in the dashes, endurance in the distances and skill in one or two field events gave Omaha Tech's trackmen enough points to win a dual meet from Lincoln high Saturday afternoon at Tech field. The final score was 67 to 46, the Links taking the final five points by winning the 880-yard relay

Quackenbush of Tech sprinted to victory in the hundred in the fast time of 10 and 2-5 seconds, one of the best marks made in the entire meet. Laverne Lee ran Quackenbush a close second and in the 220-yard dash beat him out by a few feet.

Fleming High in Points.

Fleming of Lincoln was high point man of the meet, taking three first places and a second for eighteen points. He started off the afternoon's program by winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 17 and 3-10 seconds. Then Tech mopped up completely in the next three events. The 100 an d220 dashes and the mile.

Harry Lewis, colored athlete of Tech, after hitting the high marks in practice, finally made good in a meet Saturday and won the high jump with a jump of 5 feet 9 1-4 inches.

Tindall of Lincoln hurled the discus 110 feet 7 1-2 inches to win over Holm of Tech. He also placed second in the shot put with a heave of 41 feet 7 1-4 inches. The latter event was won by Kahle of Lincoln with a distance of 42 feet.

Fleming leaped 20 feet 1 1-4 inches to win the broad jump. Marsden of Mynster of Tech was second with 19 feet 7 inches.

Summary of Results

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Fleming, Lincoln; Mansdam, Tech, second, Getscher, Tech, third Time 17 and 3-10 seconds

PIKERS GET BACK AT CORNHUSKERS

Washington Victorious, 7-3, In Saturday Clash On St. Louis Diamond.

(Special to The Star.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 25.—Hits in the pinches, aided by walks and Husker errors gave the Washington university baseball team a 7 to 3 victory over the University of Nebraska nine this afternoon on the Pikers' field in a Missouri Valley conference struggle today. The wearers of the Red and Green scored their seven runs on six hits, two Nebraska miscues and four bases on balls to even the two-game series.

The air-tight defense thrown around "Lefty" Thym cut down many attempted rallies by the Cornhuskers, for the Nebraskans touched the Piker hurler for eleven hits—four more than the victorious Hill-toppers garnered off the southpaw slants of "Choppy" Rhodes one of the best all-around athletes turned out by the Lincoln institution—as he starred at halfback on the football team, went to California with the track squad and is a pitcher of no mean ability.

In all, the Pikers gave Thym better support than they did their ace, big Charley Levy, in his pitching duel with the Nebraskan giant, Byrl Lang, Friday afternoon, when the Huskers went over 3 to 1 in ten innings

Eddie "Baney" Gragg, Piker third baseman, had his revenge yesterday for his wild throw of Friday which accounted for the winning runs for Nebraska in the tenth, by poking out a triple, with the bases loaded and two down, in the first inning of today's conflict. The score:

LINKS BLOW OFF LID WEDNESDAY

Josh Clarke's Baseballers Clash With Indians In Opening Game.

Lincoln In Race to Capture The Trophy Offered By Western League.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Baseball, the national pastime, is about to make its 1925 bow in Lincoln. Returning this week to the home camp from a successful southern tour, the Links, piloted by Manager Josh Clarke, will blow off the llw Wednesday, April 29, at 3 p. m., at Landis Field. Jack Holland's Indians from Oklahoma City are scheduled to provide the opposition in the introductory series and the home stay is to be prolonged until the Links have clashed with all four teams on the southern segment of the Western league circle.

Particular interest attaches to the local baseball inaugural this spring. The Western league has offered a $500 trophy cup to the circuit member which contributes the greatest opening day attendance. Lincoln, although the smallest city in population on the Tearney loop, has declared itself in on the trophy competition. The Nebraska capital has been a league leader in turning out banner opening day crowds in previous seasons and it enters the contest this year with a determination to stay in until the final returns are counted.

Sooner Capital In Lead.

The four southern cities had their inaugural ten days ago, Oklahoma City vaulting into the lead with paid admissions totalling 4,500, with Tulsa a tight second. It is a matter of record that in 1910, when Lincoln's census indicated only 40,000 population, the capital city of the Cornhusker state turned out 6,500 strong on opening day In the judgment of local boosters, another 6,500 turnout will win that cup.

Baseball enthusiasm in Lincoln just now is keyed at a higher pitch than in any season since 1910. Lincoln's 1924 club was handicapped by a bad start and disastrous management, but the Arnold-Clarke combination happily came along last June to pull the Links out of the rut.

Building For 1925.

From the day Arnold and Clarke took over the reins, they began to build for 1925. The result of their efforts is a rejuvenated, vastly improved aggregation which has won the applause of Lincoln fans and the encomiums of critics and smart baseball men in every city in the southern section of the league.

Lincoln fans were loyal to a losing team last summer, patronizing the sport with an enthusiasm which demonstrated that they genuinely appreciate the value the city's Western league membership and are intent to retain that membership through the coming years

Links Have Winning Goods.

The fans who asked last year for a winner in 1925 already have their answer. Manager Josh and his Links have demonstrated on their southern trip that they have winning goods. The club to date has grabbed better than an even break, and it is axiomatic in the national game that any club which can get an even break or better in its road games is a first-division aggregation, possibly a bidder for pennant honors.

Arrangements by Chairman Monte Munn's special Chamber of Commerce committee for the opening day festivities are complete. Mr. Munn announced Saturday that the opening day parade is scheduled to move at 1:30 p. m., from the Chamber of Commerce, Eleventh and P streets. Headed by the Elks band, the paraders will move in cars to Sixteenth and P, south to O and thence west to Landis Field, at First and P streets.

Governor and Mayor.

Governor Adam McMullen and Mayor Frank C. Zehrung, drafted to serve as the inaugural battery, are to ride in special cars in the parade, while representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and five civic clubs—Rotary, Kiwanis, Pathfinders, Lions and Cosmopolitan—also will be in line. Chairman Munn yesterday extended an invitation to all Lincoln fans to wheel their cars into the Wednesday parade

The suggestion by the writer that the Links of 1925 are the "goods" is not merely a personal observation. Other scribes in the Western loop, after seeing Manager Clarke's rebuilt club in action, en-

LOCKE'S SPEED WINS AT DRAKE

Cornhuskers' Super-Sprinter Outfoots Field In 100-Yard Dash; Nebraska Cops First In Mile Relay.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

DRAKE STADIUM, DES MOINES, Ia., April 25. — Roland Locke, Nebraska's super-sprinter, and the Cornhusker mile relay team, of which the great Locke was a potent factor, came through with Nebraska victories in the Drake relay games which today were written into the record as one of the most successful in the history of the middle-western cinder classic.

Eleven Drake relay records were shattered and three equalled in the course of the afternoon program which was run off on a lightning fast track and under ideal weather conditions

A crowd of over ten thousand swarmed the Drake oval to witness the last meet to be held in the old stadium.

Jinx On Huskers' Train.

A world record might have been shattered in the half-mile university relay had not the Cornhuskers slipped up in final exchange of the baton. With Nebraska leading by four-yard margin and the fleet Locke waiting to take the bamboo wand, the North Platte boy and Hein failed to make connections and Michigan sprinted past to a new Drake relay mark, which was within a few seconds of the world record for the event.

Locke's victory in the 100-yard dash, achieved in Drake relay record time, was one of the outstanding features of the day's accomplishments. Pitted against Locke, were Wittman, Michigan's sprint ace, Fisher of Kansas and Edgar of Dartmouth, one of the east's leading sprinters.

Locke Master of Field.

The battle was hard fought from the starter's pistol until Locke had broken the tape. The nine sprinters surviving the Friday's preliminaries got off to a great start on the first gun. Down the straightaway they sped, Locke, Wittman, Fisher and Edgar running neck and neck until the half-way post, when Edgar dropped back several feet. Fisher slipped into third position when the 75-yard mark was reached and Locke did not shake off Wittman until eighty yards from the starting line had been traversed. Twenty yards from the finish, Locke could be seen to pull away from the field, inch by inch he forged ahead of the flying Michigan sprinter and when he leaped for tape, he was two and one-half feet to the good

Equals Drake Record.

Locke's time—9 8-10 seconds—equalled the Drake relay record, established by Jackson Scholz, Missouri athlete and another of Coach Henry F. Schulte's proteges in 1920, and equalled in 1923 by Red Irwin, fleet Kansas Aggie speedster, whom Locke beat for Missouri Valley sprints championship in the conference meet at Lincoln last spring.

It was a great race and won by a great performer, the Nebraska sprinter remaining undefeated this season, having captured the Missouri Valley outdoor and indoor championship, the Kansas and

Links Trounce Tulsa Club in Opener of Series

CLARKE'S CLAN FLAYS OILERS

Links Grab 12-2 Victory In Introductory Combat of Series at Tulsa; Pillette Hurls Brilliantly.

(Special to The Star.)

TULSA, Okla., April 25.—Pitching the best game of the season on the McNulty lot, Ted Pillette set the Oilers down today with seven scattered hits and eight goose eggs, while the Links drove Roy Johnson off the mound and then gave the rough and dry to Tesar, winning the series opener, 12 to 2.

Of the seven hits allowed by the younger brother of the former Detroit Tiger hurler, five were doubles. However, in only two innings, the first and second, did the Oilers manage to get as many as two. It was in the second inning that Pillette was touched for the two doubles and a base on balls that gave the Oilers their only runs.

Shaner Mauls Homer.

"Big Boy" Shaner came through with the blow in the first that put the Links off to the lead that they were never to relinquish. After Flaskamper had groundered to Flippin, Purdy was hit by a pitched ball and Maderas singled to left, Purdy stopping at second. Both hands advanced when Krueger and Tesar disposed of Sweeney on a close decision at first. It was at this juncture that Shaner poleda long hit over the center field fence for a home run.

Two were away in the second when Pillette refused to be the third out and slugged a hit past second. Flaskamper set him up one station with a single down third-base line. Purdy then singled to left to let Pillette and Flaskamper come home. Maderas groundered for the third tumble.

Sweeney Breaks Loose.

After the Oilers had counted two in the second, Jim Sweeney started a rally in the third that sent Johnson to the showers and ended with six runs, with Tesar finishing the third canto.

Sweeney's starting rap was a double to center. Shaner groundered to Flippin, but the Oiler shortstop booted the chance, Sweeney hitting tight. Beck followed with short single back off Krueger, filling the bases. That was the blow that sent Johnson to the showers, but Jack Tesar fared little better, as Haley crashed a single through third that let Sweeney come home.

Vargas Hits Two-Sacker.

Vargas greeted the third ball pitched for a double that rolled into deep left. Shaner and Beck counting and Haley going to third. Pillette caught the spirit of the inning and added a single to left that cleared the way for Haley to complete the circuit, Vargas pulling up at the hot corner. Vargas scored and Pilette went to second when Tesar scooped Flaskamper's grounder up just in time to catch him at first. Purdy popped to Krueger and then Maderas sent a line drive into Riggert's field that scored Pillette. Maderas was a trifle over-anxious and was nailed at second trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Shaner's Drive Hits Fence.

The final Lincoln tally came in the next inning. After Sweeney had groundered to Tyrrell, Shaner doubled against the right field fence and later Vargas poled his second double of the game, scoring Shaner.

From this point on, Tesar carried on in the most approved style, allowing but three singles, all of which came in separate innings. The score:

YANKS SOFT SNAP FOR HARRIS CREW

Ruthless New Yorkers Drop Sixth Straight Game To Senators.

Huggins Uses Twenty Ball Players In Vain Effort To Avert Defeat.

WASHINGTON, April 25. — Bucky Harris's world's champion Washington Senators made it six straight over the Ruthless Yanks here this afternoon by the healthy score of 8 to 7. Stan Coveleskie, the aged Pole, started for the Senators and had the game well in hand until the fateful seventh, when he faded before a sudden flurry in murderers' row. The Lincoln Gas & Electric Light Company's team won the championship for the season 1924-25 in both the Y. M. C. A. and Lincoln Alleys Commercial leagues, consisting of twelve teams in each.

In the Y. M. C. A. league they rolled sixty games, winning fifty and losing 10. Entering at the start of the second half of the season at the Lincoln alleys, they rolled 44 games, winning 33 and losing 11, and then defeated the winners of the first half of the season for the league championship.

They entered the city handicap tournament during the holidays at the Lincoln alleys with 23 teams and won first money with a total of 2,938 pins.

They also journeyed to Omaha for the state tournament and succeeded in bringing back a portion of the money.

Altogether they feel they have had a very successful season, having set an enviable record, and hope to be present at the start of the coming season.

LINCOLN LOSES TO OMAHA TECH

Capital City High Trails In Track Meet, But Fleming High Man In Points.

(Special to The Star.)

OMAHA, Neb., April 25— Speed in the dashes, endurance in the distances and skill in one or two field events gave Omaha Tech's trackmen enough points to win a dual meet from Lincoln high Saturday afternoon at Tech field. The final score was 67 to 46, the Links taking the final five points by winning the 880-yard relay.

Quackenbush of Tech sprinted to victory in the hundred in the fast time of 10 and 2-5 seconds, one of the best marks made in the entire meet. Laverne Lee ran Quackenbush a close second and in the 220-yard dash beat him out by a few feet.

Fleming High in Points.

Fleming of Lincoln was high point man of the meet, taking three first places and a second for eighteen points. He started off the afternoon's program by winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 17 and 3-10 seconds. Then Tech mopped up completely in the next three events. The 100 an d220 dashes and the mile.

Harry Lewis, colored athlete of Tech, after hitting the high marks in practice, finally made good in a meet Saturday and won the high jump with a jump of 5 feet 9 1-4 inches.

Tindall of Lincoln hurled the discus 110 feet 7 1-2 inches to win over Holm of Tech. He also placed second in the shot put with a heave of 41 feet 7 1-4 inches. The latter event was won by Kahler of Lincoln with a distance of 42 feet.

Fleming leaped 20 feet 1 1-4 inches to win the broad jump. Marsdent Mynster of Tech was second with 19 feet 7 inches.

Summary of Results

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Fleming, Lincoln; Maasdam, Tech, second; Getscher, Tech, third. Time 17 and 3-10 seconds.

ROLAND LOCKE.

Nebraska's "fastest human" did his stuff in approved style Saturday afternoon in the Drake relays at Des Moines. The spectacular Cornhusker sprinter ran away from his field in the 100-yard dash and repeated in the first quarter of the mile relay, concluding event of the Drake classic, which Nebraska won in decisive style.

Indians Lose Game By One-Run Margin

CLEVELAND, O., April 25.—Laboring against a stack of six runs which were amassed by the St. Louis Browns in the third and fifth innings, the best the Indians could do this afternoon was to make a fighting finish and lose by a 6 to 5 margin. Myatt poled out a homer in the seventh off Wingard. Score:

PIKERS GET BACK AT CORNHUSKERS

Washington Victorious, 7-3, In Saturday Clash On St. Louis Diamond.

(Special to The Star.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 25.—Hits in the pinches, aided by walks and Husker errors, gave the Washington university baseball team a 7 to 3 victory over the University of Nebraska nine this afternoon on the Pikers' field in a Missouri Valley conference struggle today. The wearers of the Red and Green scored their seven runs on six hits, two Nebraska miscues and four bases on balls to even the two-game series.

The air-tight defense thrown around "Lefty" Thym cut down many attempted rallies by the Cornhuskers, for the Nebraskans touched the Piker hurler for eleven hits—four more than the victorious Hill-toppers garnered off the southpaw slants of "Choppy" Rhodes, one of the best all-around athletes turned out by the Lincoln institution—as he starred at halfback on the football team, went to California with the track squad and is a pitcher of no mean ability.

In all, the Pikers gave Thym better support than they did their ace, big Charley Levy, in his pitching duel with the Nebraskan giant, Byrl Lang, Friday afternoon, when the Huskers went over 3 to 1 in ten innings.

Eddie "Baney" Gragg, Piker third baseman, had his revenge yesterday for his wild throw of Friday which accounted for the winning runs for Nebraska in the tenth, by poking out a triple, with the bases loaded and two down, in the first inning of today's conflict. The score:

LINKS BLOW OFF LID WEDNESDAY

Josh Clarke's Baseballers Clash With Indians In Opening Game.

Lincoln In Race to Capture The Trophy Offered By Western League.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Baseball, the national pastime, is about to make its 1925 bow in Lincoln. Returning this week to the home camp from a successful southern tour, the Links, piloted by Manager Josh Clarke, will blow off the liw Wednesday, April 29, at 3 p. m., at Landis Field. Jack Holland's Indians from Oklahoma City are scheduled to provide the opposition in the introductory series and the home stay is to be prolonged until the Links have clashed with all four teams on the southern segment of the Western league circle.

Particular interest attaches to the local baseball inaugural this spring. The Western league has offered a $500 trophy cup to the circuit member which contributes the greatest opening day attendance. Lincoln, although the smallest city in population on the Tearney loop, has declared itself in on the trophy competition. The Nebraska capital has been a league leader in turning out banner opening day crowds in previous seasons and it enters the contest this year with a determination to stay in until the final returns are counted.

Sooner Capital In Lead.

The four southern cities had their inaugural ten days ago, Oklahoma City vaulting into the lead with paid admissions totalling 4,500, with Tulsa a tight second. It is a matter of record that in 1910, when Lincoln's census indicated only 40,000 population, the capital city of the Cornhusker state turned out 6,500 strong on opening day. In the judgment of local boosters, another 6,500 turnout will win that cup.

Baseball enthusiasm in Lincoln just now is keyed at a higher pitch than in any season since 1910. Lincoln's 1924 club was handicapped by a bad start and disastrous management, but the Arnold-Clarke combination happily came along last June to pull the Links out of the rut.

Building For 1925.

From the day Arnold and Clarke took over the reins, they began to build for 1925. The result of their efforts is a rejuvenated, vastly improved aggregation which has won the applause of Lincoln fans and the encomiums of critics and smart baseball men in every city in the southern section of the league.

Lincoln fans were loyal to a losing team last summer, patronizing the sport with an enthusiasm which demonstrated that they genuinely appreciate the value the city's Western league membership and are intent to retain that membership through the coming years.

Links Have Winning Goods.

The fans who asked last year for a winner in 1925 already have their answer. Manager Josh and his Links have demonstrated on their southern trip that they have winning goods. The club to date has grabbed better than an even break, and it is axiomatic in the national game that any club which can get an even break or better in its road games is a first-division aggregation, possibly a bidder for pennant honors.

Arrangements by Chairman Monte Munn's special Chamber of Commerce committee for the opening day festivities are complete. Mr. Munn announced Saturday that the opening day parade is scheduled to move at 1:30 p. m., from the Chamber of Commerce, Eleventh and P streets. Headed by the Elks band, the paraders will move in cars to Sixteenth and P, south to O and thence west to Landis Field, at First and P streets.

Governor and Mayor.

Governor Adam McMullen and Mayor Frank C. Zehrung, drafted to serve as the inaugural battery, are to ride in special cars in the parade, while representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and five civic clubs—Rotary, Kiwanis, Pathfinders, Lions and Cosmopolitan—also will be in line. Chairman Munn yesterday extended an invitation to all Lincoln fans to wheel their cars into the Wednesday parade.

The suggestion by the writer that the Links of 1925 are the "goods" is not merely a personal observation. Other scribes in the Western loop, after seeing Manager Clarke's rebuilt club in action, en-

Red Sox Brace Up; Defeat Athletics

BOSTON, April 25.—The Red Sox beat the Athletics 3 to 2 in the final game of the opening series at Fenway park today. It was a pitchers' battle between "Slim" Harris and Old Jack Quinn. The Sox won in the eleventh on a pass to Boone, and when Wamby rolled one to deep center, Boone came home with the winning run. The score:

LOCKE'S SPEED WINS AT DRAKE

Cornhuskers' Super-Sprinter Outfoots Field In 100-Yard Dash; Nebraska Cops First In Mile Relay.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

DRAKE STADIUM, DES MOINES, Ia., April 25. — Roland Locke, Nebraska's super-sprinter, and the Cornhusker mile relay team, of which the great Locke was a potent factor, came through with Nebraska victories in the Drake relay games which today were written into the record as one of the most successful in the history of the middle-western cinder classic.

Eleven Drake relay records were shattered and three equalled in the course of the afternon program which was run off on a lightning fast track and under ideal weather conditions.

A crowd of over ten thousand swarmed the Drake oval to witness the last meet to be held in the old stadium.

Jinx On Huskers' Train.

A world record might have been shattered in the half-mile university relay had not the Cornhuskers slipped up in final exchange of the baton. With Nebraska leading by four-yard margin and the fleet Locke waiting to take the bamboo wand, the North Platte boy and Hein failed to make connections and Michigan sprinted past to a new Drake relay mark, which was within a few seconds of the world record for the event.

Locke's victory in the 100-yard dash, achieved in Drake relay record time, was one of the outstanding features of the day's accomplishments. Pitted against Locke, were Wittman, Michigan's sprint ace, Fisher of Kansas and Edgar of Dartmouth, one of the east's leading sprinters.

Locke Master of Field.

The battle was hard fought from the starter's pistol until Locke had broken the tape. The nine sprinters surviving the Friday's preliminaries got off to a great start on the first gun. Down the straightaway they sped, Locke, Wittman, Fisher and Edgar running neck and neck until the half-way post, when Edgar dropped back several feet. Fisher slipped into third position when the 75-yard mark was reached and Locke did not shake off Wittman until eighty yards from the starting line had been traversed. Twenty yards from the finish, Locke could be seen to pull away from the field. Inch by inch he forged ahead of the flying Michigan sprinter and when he leaped for tape, he was two and one-half feet to the good.

Equals Drake Record.

Locke's time—9 8-10 seconds—equalled the Drake relay record, established by Jackson Scholz, Missouri athlete and another of Coach Henry F. Schulte's proteges in 1920, and equalled in 1923 by Red Irwin, fleet Kansas Aggie speedster, whom Locke beat for Missouri Valley sprints championship in tertain a similar opinion. We quote from the writings of Leo McPherson in the Wichita Beacon, as follows:

Flaskamper Real Flash.

"The flashiest player seen in Wichita this season is Flaskamper, the Lincoln shortstop. He made a half dozen fielding plays that would have done credit to Joe Berger when his legs were stronger than they are now. Flaskamper, while a youngster, seems to have reached his plane this season as the league's best shortstop. He combed out three two-baggers and a single beside pulling his sensational plays. His side-partner at second, Maderas, while not so flashy, covers centerfield incidentally along with handling his own job. There are a lot of clubs in the Western league this season not as good as Lincoln.

"Five double plays executed by Lincoln told a lot about why they won that ball game Tuesday. These double killings are hard on rallies and disheartening to pitchers."

And Charles J. Brill, veteran baseball scribe for the Oklahoman of Oklahoma City, chimes in with the following comment:

Have Speed and Spirit.

"In pre-season prognostications, Lincoln was rated at the bottom of the Western league chart. One hardly feels inclined to invert the order to put the Links on top, but in their first appearance at Western league park Wednesday, they certainly looked like a much better team than anyone has given them credit for being.

"Josh Clarke not only seems to have assembled a well-balanced team, but one with a lot of speed and spirit.

"There is an entirely different atmosphere around the Lincoln bench to that which obtained a year ago. Everyone is on his toes, hustling.

"Beck is showing more aggressiveness with Lincoln than he did with Wichita. Sweeney also seems to have his heart in his work this year, whereas some were skeptical about his interest when he was with the Tribe.

"Flaskamper is a flashy little shortstop. In Haley, Lincoln has a proven player. Maderas at second is a great little fielder.

"It remains to be seen what is in the pitching staff, most of the members of which are new to the Western league.

"With good pitching all year, and with the same kind of spirit the Links have shown so far, they will not grace the cellar this season—and that is where a majority of Western league critics had them slated before the championship race started."

Awaiting Lincoln's Verdict.

Praise of the Links in Wichita and Oklahoma City, quoted above, is merited—in the writer's judgment. The new Clarke team is the most brilliant fielding aggregation in the league. As to hitting and pitching, it is sufficient to say that the Links have outbatted and outpitched their opponents in the games to date; they have done it on the road and should improve at Landis Field—with the inspiration of home crowds.

While Lincoln fans have not actually demanded a winner, they have wanted one—and now they have it. The detail of assembling a winner was up to Arnold and Clarke, but the matter of winning the league trophy is up to Lincoln. We shall have Lincoln's verdict next Wednesday at Landis Field.

Big Munn to Have Tonsile Removed

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 25.—Wayne "Big" Mun, who lost the heavyweight wrestling crown recently when Stanislaus Zbyszko toppled him over at Philadelphia, is to enter a hospital here next week for a tonsil operation, it was learned tonight. His adenoids also will be removed, it is said.

Physicians say Munn will be able to start training in five or six days for his match with Ed Lewis at Michigan City, Indiana, May 30.

Drake relay crowns and whatever honor goes with scoring a clean sweep in dual sprints with track runners wearing the colors of Leland Stanford, University of New Mexico and University of Colorado.

Huskers Win Mile Relay.

Nebraska's victory in the mile relay marked the final event of the 1925 games. As Scherrick, another Nebraskan, broke the tape a full eighteen yards ahead of Michigan, his nearest competitor, a giant day bomb announced the end of the day's festivities ad "taps" were sounded over Drake stadium, which will next week be razed for the erection of a $300,000 structure which will be used for the Cornhusker-Drake football game here next fall.

"Gipp" Locke was a potent factor in the winning of the mile relay and behind it all was seen the strategy of "Indian" Schulte, veteran track coach of the Nebraska squad.

Opened Wide Gap.

Locke was inserted as lead-off man and he spurted to the pole and left the field flat-footed, handing the baton to Dalley a full eight yards ahead of Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan runners fighting for second position. Daily also ran a great race and the Cornhuskers were a full fourteen yards to the good when Captain Crites took up the burden on the third lap. Crites maintained the advantage and Scherrick added a couple yards more before he crossed the finish line. Michigan, second place team, crossing the tape over three seconds later.

Nebraska's time for the event was almost two seconds better than that of Grinnell, winner over Wisconsin, Dartmouth and Iowa in the first section of the race.

Weir Injured In Race.

The jinx trailed Nebraska in at least two events. Injuries received in the Friday preliminaries bothered Ed Weir, Nebraska's star hurdler, in the final of the 120-yard hurdles and after knocking over the fourth hurdle he severely cut his knee on the fifth barrier and pulled up lame in front of the press box.

The injury, which aggravated a bruise sustained in practice last Tuesday evening, may keep the football star out of the dual meet with Grinnell at Lincoln next Saturday.

Guthrie, Ohio State's Olympic hurdler, won the event in 14 8-10 seconds, leading Kinsey of Illinois and Taylor of Grinnell across the tape and equalling Bob Simpson's Drake relay record.

The second mishap, which was heart breaking from a Nebraska viewpoint, was the bobble in the 880-yard relay which cost the Cornhuskers a second relay championship and probably a world record for the event.

Four Yards In Front.

The "jam" came at the end of the 660-yards after Scherrick, Daily and Hein had run great "two-twenties" and the Wilber boy was about to hand Locke, Cornhusker speed merchant an the class of the field in the short sprints, a four-yard lead with which to battle the Michigan anchor man.

Nebraska fans in the stands were in a wild frenzy as they saw the Cornhuskers pull away from Michigan, Illinois and Kansas, picked as favorites in the event.

This enthusiasm was changed to despair when Hein and Locke failed to make connections in passin gthe bamboo rod and the baton dropped to the cinders and rolled to the side of the track.

Huskers Dropped Out.

Recovery was out of the question and Nebraska dropped out, while Michigan shot past, bettering the Drake relay record by 4-10 seconds and coming within half a second of a world mark.

Nebraska finished fifth in the two-mile relay, Michigan winning the race in 1:54 3, a new relay record. The Cornhusker four of Beckord, Ross, Houderscheldt and Lewis finished behind Wisconsin by six yards. Houderscheldt and Lewis both outran their opponents but the early handicap was too much.

Avard Manderv, who qualified for the broad jump finals, failed to get better than 21 feet and did not even place.

Wiberg Wins Fourth Place.

Oscar Wiberg, Nebraska Wesleyan university shot-putter, did not better his Friday mark of 44 feet 7½ inches, but it was good enough to land him in fourth place.

Schwarz, Wisconsin heaver, established a new Drake record with a put of 48 feet 7-8 inches. Purma of Pittsburgh Normal got better than 47 feet and Dauber of Iowa bettered Wiberg's mark by a scant three inches.

Peru Normal, with Weimer, Carter, Zorn and Edie, passing the baton, finished third in the first section of the college 880-yard relay. The Bobcats did 1:34.1, which did not place in the final compilation, but ranked them the tenth best college relay team of the field of twenty-eight starters.

Midland college failed to place in the half-mile or mile events, the Lutherans trailing in the second section of the half-mile and placing fifth in the first heat of the mile.

NEBRASKA HIGHS AT DRAKE RELAYS

Cornhusker Youngsters Did Creditably In Fast Field At Iowa Classic.

BY GREGG McBRIDE

DRAKE STADIUM, DES MOINES, Ia., April 25.—Nebraska high schols competed creditably in the interscholastic events of the Drake relay carnival today. While the Cornhusker prep quartets failed to win any championships, nevertheless they placed two teams in every event in which they entered, gathering in a collection of three seconds, a third and two fourth places. It was the first time apparently that Nebraska highs have taken the Drake relays seriously Few had entered the Des Moines meet previously and available records show that none finished inside the money in past years.

Omaha Central was the outstanding performer today among the Nebraska teams Coach J G. Schmidt's Purple athletes carried off second honors in the half-mile and quarter-mile relay, forcing Northeast high of Kansas City to establish a new Drake relay record to win both races.

Hastings Second In Mile

Hastings was second in the mile event and finished fourth in the quarter mile.

Omaha Central was third in the mile and Norfolk was fourth in the half mile.

The fast Cambridge team, home course, relay sprint champions, failed to come through in the short relays, getting unfortunate breaks in the morning preliminaries and afternoon finals.

Hendley, anchor man of the Northeast high team, was too much for Omaha Central in the holf-mile finals.

Hendley Did His Stuff

Solomon handed Jones a two-yard lead for the final two-twenty, but the long limbed Hendley sputted in with plenty of margin, Kansos City winning in 1:32.8, a new Drake record. Central high did within the old relay mark.

Norfolk high followed Cedar Rapids, third team, across the tape line, coming from sixth position in the last half-mile. Cambridge was fifth.

Hendley was again the lad who spilled the Central's beans in the interscholastic quarter-mile relay. In this race Omaha Central was also ahead until the Missourians passed the baton to Hendley, who long-legged his way across the finish.

Hastings was fourth, the Adams county quartet being fatigued from a previous performance in the mile relay, less than one hour before.

Omaha Central Third

Omaha Central won the first heat of the interscholastic mile relay The Purple quarter-milers had little difficulty in running away from ast Des Moines Central's time was 3:36 3, which placed third in the final reckoning.

Hastings was thrown into the second heat with the fast Northeast high team from Kansas City. Northeast won the event in 3.30.5, a new record time. Hastings was second with 3:34 8, the second best performance of the race. Fremont was fifth in the second section and Neligh was eighth.

Fournier Mallets Pair of Home Runs

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—Two homers by Jacques Fournier, slugging first baseman were the chief facts today in the Dodgers' 9 to 5 victory over the Phillies. Ehrhardt went the route for the Flatbush aggregation and except in the sixth inning when he yielded five runs, held the Phils in check. The Dodgers pounded twenty hits off three pitchers. Score.

GRAIN MARKETS
CHICAGO Ill April 25

Grains closed lower after a dull short session of the market here today Wheat at the finish was down 1½ to 4 cents co n closed 1⅞ to 2⅛ cents off and oats finished ⅝ to ¼ cents lower Rain in dry areas of the winter wheat belt was a weakening factor from the start and after a flurry of selling that carried p ices lower the trade became dull

Corn acted very much as wheat did although the market showed cons der able resistance to threatened breaks Oats trailed in sympathy with other grains Provisions were lower in s mpathy with grains and weakness in hogs

WHEAT—Grains opened lower to lay Wheat was ⅛ to 2⅝c lower at the start with general selling by commission houses and poor support

CORN—Corn started ⅛ to 1¼c lower with scattered commission house selling

OATS—Oats started ¼ to ⅜c lower with small mixed trade

PROVISIONS—Pro isions opened 5 to 10c lower reflecting weakness in hogs and grains

DONOHUE GIVES CARDS 3 BLOWS

Cincinnati Pitcher Holds St. Louis Sluggers In Hollow of His Paw.

Team From Rhineland Gets Away With Tight Game; Score 3 to 1.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—Pete Donohue pitched a three-hit game here today and the Reds again defeted the Cardinals, 3 to 1. St. Louis got off to an early start, but a small rally in the seventh inning gave the Reds the lead. Smith, Cincinnati right fielder, twisted his knee in the seventh inning and was forced to retire from th egame. The score:

Cincinnati.

tertain a similar opinion. We quote from the writings of Leo McPherson in the Wichita Beacon, as follows:

Flaskamper Real Flash.

"The flashiest player seen in Wichita this season is Flaskamper, the Lincoln shortstop. He made a half dozen fielding plays that would have done credit to Joe Berger when his legs were stronger than they are now. Flaskamper, while a youngster, seems to have reached his plane this season as the league's best shortstop. He combed out three two-baggers and a single beside pulling his sensational plays. His side-partner at second, Maderas, while not so flashy, covers centerfield incidentally along with handling his own job. There are a lot of clubs in the Western league this season not as good as Lincoln.

"Five double plays executed by Lincoln told a lot about why they won that ball game Tuesday. These double killings are hard on rallies and disheartening to pitchers."

And Charles J. Brill, veteran baseball scribe for the Oklahoman of Oklahoma City, chimes in with the following comment:

Have Speed and Spirit.

"In pre-season prognostications, Lincoln was rated at the bottom of the Western league chart. One hardly feels inclined to invert the order to put the Links on top, but in their first appearance at Western league park Wednesday, they certainly looked like a much better team than anyone has given them credit for being.

"Josh Clarke not only seems to have assembled a well-balanced team, but one with a lot of speed and spirit.

"There is an entirely different atmosphere around the Lincoln bench to that which obtained a year ago. Everyone is on his toes, hustling.

"Beck is showing more aggressiveness with Lincoln than he did with Wichita. Sweeney also seems to have his heart in his work this year, whereas some were skeptical about his interest when he was with the Tribe.

"Flaskamper is a flashy little shortstop. In Haley, Lincoln has a proven player. Maderas at second is a great little fielder.

"It remains to be seen what is in the pitching staff, most of the members of which are new to the Western league.

"With good pitching all year, and with the same kind of spirit the Links have shown so far, they will not grace the cellar this season—and that is where a majority of Western league critics had them slated before the championship race started."

Awaiting Lincoln's Verdict.

Praise of the Links in Wichita and Oklahoma City, quoted above, is merited—in the writer's judgment. The new Clarke team is the most brilliant fielding aggregation in the league. As to hitting and pitching, it is sufficient to say that the Links have outbatted and outpitched their opponents in the games to date; they have done it on the road and should improve at Landis Field—with the inspiration of home crowds.

While Lincoln fans have not actually demanded a winner, they have wanted one—and now they have it. The detail of assembling a winner was up to Arnold and Clarke, but the matter of winning the league trophy is up to Lincoln. We shall have Lincoln's verdict next Wednesday at Landis Field.

Big Munn to Have Tonsile Removed

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 25. — Wayne "Big" Mun, who lost the heavyweight wrestling crown recently when Stanislaus Zbyszko toppled him over at Philadelphia, is to enter a hospital here next week for a tonsil operation, it was learned tonight. His adenoids also will be removed, it is said.

Physicians say Munn will be able to start training in five or six days for his match with Ed Lewis at Michigan City, Indiana, May 30.

Jerry Wadsworth, son of United States Senator James Wadsworth, is a member of the Yale baseball team.

Drake relay crowns and whatever honor goes with scoring a clean sweep in dual sprints with track runners wearing the colors of Leland Stanford, University of New Mexico and University of Colorado.

Huskers Win Mile Relay.

Nebraska's victory in the mile relay marked the final event of the 1925 games. As Scherrick, another Nebraskan, broke the tape a full eighteen yards ahead of Michigan, his nearest competitor, a giant day bomb announced the end of the day's festivities ad "taps" were sounded over Drake stadium, which will next week be razed for the erection of a $300,000 structure which will be ready for the Cornhusker-Drake football game here next fall.

"Gipp" Locke was a potent factor in the winning of the mile relay and behind it all was seen the strategy of "Indian" Schulte, veteran track coach of the Nebraska squad.

Opened Wide Gap.

Locke was inserted as lead-off man and he spurted to the pole and left the field flat-footed, handing the baton to Dailey a full eight yards ahead of Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan runners fighting for second position. Daily also ran a great race and the Cornhuskers were a full fourteen yards to the good when Captain Crites took up the burden on the third lap. Crites maintained the advantage and Scherrick added a couple yards more before he crossed the finish line. Michigan, second place team, crossing the tape over three seconds later.

Nebraska's time for the event was almost two seconds better than that of Grinnell, winner over Wisconsin, Dartmouth and Iowa in the first section of the race.

Weir Injured In Race.

The jinx trailed Nebraska in at least two events. Injuries received in the Friday preliminaries bothered Ed Weir, Nebraska's star hurdler, in the final of the 120-yard hurdles and after knocking over the fourth hurdle he severely cut his knee on the fifth barrier and pulled up lame in front of the press box.

The injury, which aggravated a bruise sustained in practice last Tuesday evening, may keep the football star out of the dual meet with Grinnell at Lincoln next Saturday.

Guthrie, Ohio State's Olympic hurdler, won the event in 14 8-10 seconds, leading Kinsey of Illinois and Taylor of Grinnell across the tape and equalling Bob Simpson's Drake relay record.

The second mishap, which was heart breaking from a Nebraska viewpoint, was the bobble in the 880-yard relay which cost the Cornhuskers a second relay championship and probably a world record for the event.

Four Yards In Front.

The "jam" came at the end of the 660-yards after Scherrick, Daily and Hein had run great "two-twenties" and the Wilber boy was about to hand Locke, Cornhusker speed merchant an the class of the field in the short sprints, a four-yard lead with which to battle the Michigan anchor man.

Nebraska fans in the stands were in a wild frenzy as they saw the Cornhuskers pull away from Michigan, Illinois and Kansas, picked as favorites in the event.

This enthusiasm was changed to despair when Hein and Locke failed to make connections in passin gthe bamboo rod and the baton dropped to the cinders and rolled to the side of the track.

Huskers Dropped Out.

Recovery was out of the question and Nebraska dropped out, while Michigan shot past, bettering the Drake relay record by 4-10 seconds and coming within half a second of a world mark.

Nebraska finished fifth in the two-mile relay, Michigan winning the race in 1:54.3, a new relay record. The Cornhusker four of Beckord, Ross, Houderscheldt and Lewis finished behind Wisconsin by six yards. Houderscheldt and Lewis both outran their opponents but the early handicap was too much.

Avard Mandery, who qualified for the broad jump finals, failed to get better than 21 feet and did not even place.

Wiberg Wins Fourth Place.

Oscar Wiberg, Nebraska Wesleyan university shot-putter, did not better his Friday mark of 44 feet 7½ inches, but it was good enough to land him in fourth place.

Schwarz, Wisconsin heaver, established a new Drake record with a put of 48 feet 7-8 inches. Purma of Pittsburgh Normal got better than 47 feet and Dauber of Iowa bettered Wiberg's mark by a scant three inches.

Peru Normal, with Weimer, Carter, Zorn and Edie, passing the baton, finished third in the first section of the college 880-yard relay. The Bobcats did 1:34.1, which did not place in the final compilation, but ranked them the tenth best college relay team of the field of twenty-eight starters.

Midland college failed to place in the half-mile or mile events, the Lutherans trailing in the second section of the half-mile and placing fifth in the first heat of the mile.

a number of excellent records. "Dutch" Welch, Hastings miler, who holds the Nebraska high school record, stepped the distance in 4 minutes 39 2-5 seconds, establishing a new school record an dbeating the state conference record.

Since no records except those of the state meet are counted officially, Welch's time wil not be recorded in the conference annals. Kubicek for Doane ranked as high point man for the meet.

The Broncos were handicapped by the absence of Greenslit, who is being disciplined for breach of college regulations.

NEBRASKA HIGHS AT DRAKE RELAYS

Cornhusker Youngsters Did Creditably In Fast Field At Iowa Classic.

BY GREGG McBRIDE

DRAKE, STADIUM, DES MOINES, Ia., April 25.—Nebraska high schols competed creditably in the interscholastic events of the Drake relay carnival today. While the Cornhusker prep quartets failed to win any championships, nevertheless they placed two teams in every event in which they entered, gathering in a collection of three seconds, a third and two fourth places. It was the first time apparently that Nebraska highs have taken the Drake relays seriously. Few had entered the Des Moines meet previously and available records show that none finished inside the money in past years.

Omaha Central was the outstanding performer today among the Nebraska teams. Coach J. G. Schmidt's Purple athletes carried off second honors in the half-mile and quarter-mile relay, forcing Northeast high of Kansas City to establish a new Drake relay record to win both races.

Hastings Second In Mile

Hastings was second in the mile event and finished fourth in the quarter mile.

Omaha Central was third in the mile and Norfolk was fourth in the half mile.

The fast Cambridge team, home course, relay sprint champions, failed to come through in the short relays, getting unfortunate breaks in the morning preliminaries and afternoon finals.

Hendley, anchor man of the Northeast high team, was too much for Omaha Central in the holf-mile finals.

Hendley Did His Stuff

Solomon handed Jones a two-yard lead for the final two-twenty, but the long limbed Hendley spurted in with plenty of margin, Kansos City winning in 1:32.8, a new Drake record. Central high did within the old relay mark.

Norfolk high followed Cedar Rapids, third team, across the tape line, coming from sixth position in the last half-mile. Cambridge was fifth.

Hendley was again the lad who spilled the Central's beans in the interscholastic quarter-mile relay. In this race Omaha Central was also ahead until the Missourians passed the baton to Hendley, who long-legged his way across the finish.

Hastings was fourth, the Adams county quartet being fatigued from a previous performance in the mile relay, less than one hour before.

Omaha Central Third

Omaha Central won the first heat of the interscholastic mile relay. The Purple quarter-milers had little difficulty in running away from ast Des Moines. Central's time was 3:36.3, which placed third in the final reckoning.

Hastings was thrown into the second heat with the fast Northeast high team from Kansas City. Northeast won the event in 3:30.5, a new record time. Hastings was second with 3:34.8, the second best performance of the race. Fremont was fifth in the second section and Neligh was eighth.

Fournier Mallets Pair of Home Runs

PHILADELPHIA, April 25. — Two homers by Jacques Fournier, slugging first baseman, were the chief factor today in the Dodgers' 9 to 6 victory over the Phillies. Ehrhardt went the route for the Flatbush aggregation and except in the sixth inning, when he yielded five runs, held the Phils in check. The Dodgers pounded twenty hits off three pitchers. Score:

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 25.

Grains closed lower after a dull short session of the market here today. Wheat at the finish was down 1½ to 4 cents; corn closed 1⅞ to 2⅝ cents off and oats finished ⅝ to ⅞ cents lower. Rain in dry areas of the winter wheat belt was a weakening factor from the start and after a flurry of selling that carried prices lower, the trade became dull.

Corn acted very much as wheat did, although the market showed considerable resistance to threatened breaks. Oats trailed in sympathy with other grains. Provisions were lower in sympathy with grains and weakness in hogs.

WHEAT—Grains opened lower today. Wheat was ½ to 2¾c lower at the start with general selling by commission houses and poor support.

CORN—Corn started ⅛ to 1¼c lower with scattered commission house selling.

OATS—Oats started ¼ to ⅜c lower with small mixed trade.

PROVISIONS—Provisions opened 5 to 10c lower, reflecting weakness in hogs and grains.

"The Line Is Busy"

Suppose that every individual in Lincoln who had a bargain to offer were to call you on the telephone.

That would be a real chance for you to save money, wouldn't it?

But these people who are selling at reduced prices the very articles you need, will not take the time and trouble to call you.

They will call B1234, though, and transmit their message to you through the A-B-C Classified Section of the Star. There's one 'exchange' that's always busy with profit-messages.

These messages telling of unusual bargains are open to all readers of the classified ads—you will have to read quickly and act quickly if you expect to get there first.

A NICE SIX-ROOM HOUSE

AT 30.3 "U" STREET.

THIS is a very desirable property, close to the new Hartley school and on a nice paved street and one block to car. It is well and supstantially built and the property is clear and can be sold on very easy terms. This is one of the nicest locations in Northeast Lincoln. Attractive surroundings and very fine lawn and shade. It is really business wisdom to buy this sort of home, on the terms we can sell this rather than pay rent to anyone. This Is the Picture of a Cow

We were going to run the picture of a Bull but it seems like some other dealer is using the Bull as their motto so we are going to stick by the cow because we know that the cow will give milk.

After being in business in Lincoln for thirty-eight years we don't hardly have to run our motto in the papers but for the benefit of some of the new comers we will state that Lincoln bankers and other big business men like to refer the incoming strangers to us because they don't have to worry about how the stranger is coming out.

Cash Savings Script Means a Free Savings Account For You

Details of the Cash Savings Script Plan.

Opening an Account and Building It to Sizeable Volume Through New Thrift Plan is Simple and Effective Way.

For centuries one of the first habits people have acquired has been the spending of money. They have learned it before they have learned their A-B-Cs and as a rule they never forget it. Saving money has always been a difficult task until the inauguration of the Cash Savings Script plan, for by this plan will swell the account and regular cash deposits added to it will create a sizeable fund of money at the end of a year.

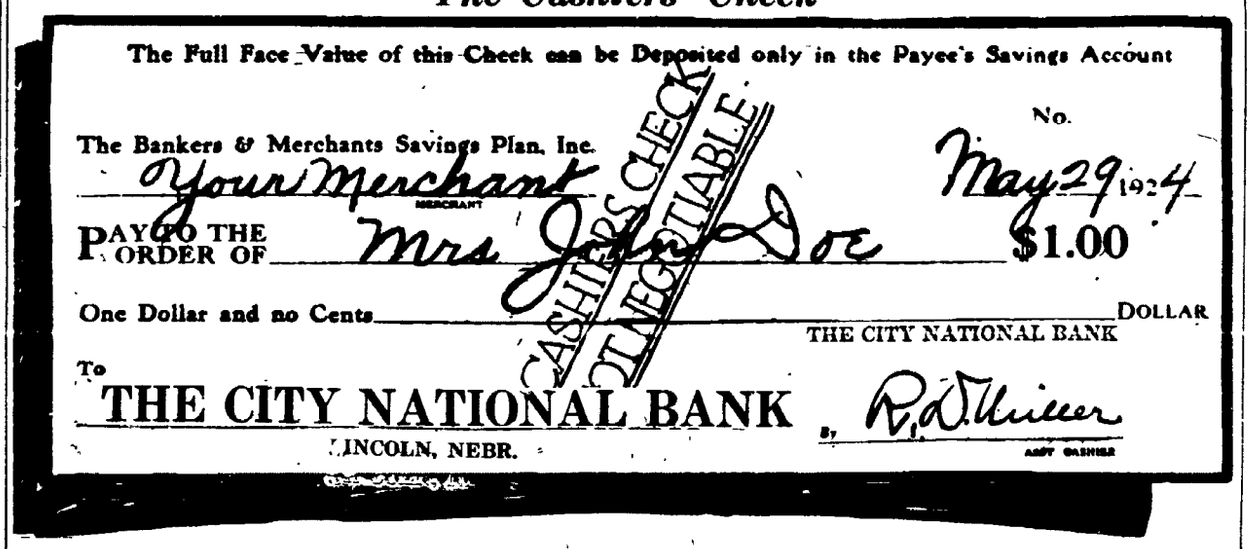

The plan in itself is very simple. A child or housewife to become a member of the plan must open a savings account with the City National bank of Lincoln, Farmers & Mechanics bank of Havelock, Farmers State bank of College View or the First National bank of University Place with at least $1. Upon receipt of the $1 they are sent a pass book showing the $1 credit with one of the banks, and also they receive a membership card which gives them the privilege of trade with the merchant members, names of which are printed thereon, and receive the benefit of the 2½ per cent on the dollar on all cash purchases. When the saver has accumulated cash saving script with a total value of 25 cents, 50 cents, $1 or more, it is presented to the merchant member where it is secured and in turn they receive a cashier's check covering the cash value of their script. This check is depositable only to their savings account.

For merchants like grocers, druggists, and other lines where the purchases are 10 cents, 15 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents or $1 five denominations of script as follows: On the 10 cent purchase a 1-4 of a cent script, on the 15-cent purchase a 3-8 of a cent script, on the 25-cent purchase a 5-8 of a cent script, on the 50-cent purchase 1½ script and on the $1 purchase 2½ script.

This is the Cash Savings Script the merchant will give you with every cash purchase.

The Cashiers' Check

A facsimile of the sort of cashier's check which will be issued for t he value of the script received from the merchant is shown here. The check can then be deposited in a savings account at its face value.

HALLETT GIVES DRIVE SUPPORT

Old Established Jewel Company Knows Value Of Thrift.

Has Had Slow and Steady Growth Since Founded In 1871.

The F. A. Hallett jewelry firm at 117-119 South Twelfth street is one of the companies that is giving whole hearted support to the thrift campaign, and one that from its own history has been an exemplification of thrift.

Few stores now exist in Lincoln that were started as early as 1871, but the Hallett shop is among the best known of these. It was established by Eugene Hallett, father of the present proprietor, just four years after it was decided to bring the state capitol to this city. He left Fort Leavenworth, Kas., where he conducted a business during the war, to start in the trade here.

There has been nothing spectacular about the growth of Hallett's. Slow and steady like that of the town, it has reached its present place of high regard in the consideration of Lincoln citizens. F. A. Hallett took complete charge in 1917, and during his proprietorship the store was moved from 1143 O street, the little stand where it had done business for thirty years, to the South Twelfth street location. Almost three times the old floor space and better arranged accommodations were the factors that brought about the change.

During the last few years, also, a particular appeal has been made to the university trade, with good results. Hallett's is known as the "university jeweler" and pins of various societies are specialties there.

The original shop back in 1871 handled only jewels, but a large extension of interests is seen in the present commodious store. Gift ware, novelties, a complete optical line, and manufacturing have been added. The "heavy work," is done in the basement.

Mr. Hallett states that he is in full accord with the present thrift movement. It is not a flashy scheme to obtain buyers, he believes, but a really substantial idea whereby residents of this city can be brought to a realization of the necessity to save, and helped to do so. Once they have accounts started in the bank, there are more chances than one that they will form the habit, as is intended, and continue the practice of thrift.

WIRICK STILL AT OLD STAND

Has Been Exclusive Travelers' Outfitters For 38 Years.

April 15 was the thirty-eighth anniversary of the C. A. Wirick Co. at 1028 O street, meaning that for thirty-eight years it has handled goods for the traveler, exclusively.

Twenty-seven of those years have been spent in the same block, and seventeen in the room now occupied.

Row upon row of trunks, bags, grips and everything in the way of leather goods that is demanded by the "young man going somewhere," or old man, girl or woman, for that matter, are on display. The stock kept there is one of the largest of its kind in town.

When first started by C. A. Wirick, the company manufactured trunks at the state penitentiary, but this activity was soon given up for the more congenial retail trade, and the downtown store set up. Mr. Wirick passed away six years ago, and since that time the store has been in the hand of Mrs. Wirick and the daughter, Miss Marie. The old time policies of the store have been carried on, however, and exclusive travelers' supplies still continue to be the stock of the company.

Included in the large assortment are small leather goods as well as large, but all of the most substantial sort obtainable for the money expended. The Hartman and Oshkosh wardrobe trunks, two of the best known and most worthy types on the market, are sold by the Wirick company.

GRISWOLD FIRM WIDELY KNOWN

Lincoln Seed Company Trade Reaches Out From United States.

Since 1890 the Griswold Seed company at 147 South Tenth street has been supplying Nebraskans with seeds and plants, and now it supplies them to Canada, Alaska, Mexico, China, Africa, Australia and other places as well. In other words it has grown beyond the limits of a local institution and is known beyond the shores of the United States.

The little place handling seeds set up by W. B. Griswold thirty-five years ago has become the business crowded into three stories of one building at Tenth and N streets and the big warehouse at Eighth and N streets.

Quality rather than low prices is the aim of the Griswold Seed Co., according to R. S. Griswold who has charge of the retail and mail order side of the business. Growth of the plant has been steady, and it has been built on tested wares that mean quality.

Seeds, nursery stock, plants, bulbs, garden tools, sprayers, insecticides, poultry supplies, baby chicks, incubators, brooders, bird cages, birds, bird supplies, gold fish and fish supplies, dog and pet stock and supplies—all this comes within the range of the Griswold interests. As any new line comes into prominence or demand, it is added.

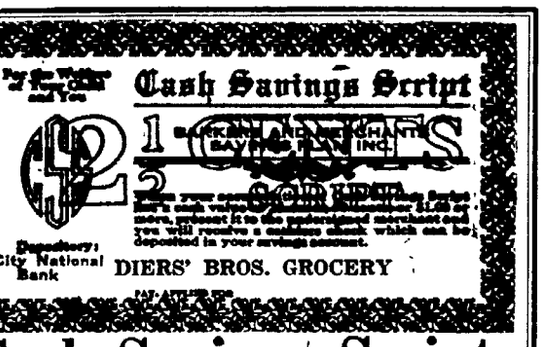

More than forty-two thousand catalogues were mailed out by Griswold's this year, and the number of these eighty-page publications grows each year. Poultry feed is a specialty of the company, as it buys the ingredients from local farmers and sells again to buyers in this vicinity, so that all parties concerned are saved the burden of freight rates.

Steady Services Given By Taylor

Steady and consistent service to customers has been the motto of the Taylor Grocery at College View, and this has been responsible for the steady growth of the business.

The store was established by J. B. Taylor a year and a half ago. The store carries a complete line of staple groceries and vegetables.

The Star's Essay and Cross-Word Ad-Gram

RULES and PRIZES

This is an ordinary cross-word puzzle and worked in the usual manner. Words extend both horizontally and vertically beginning in the numbered squares. One letter is to be placed in each white square. Each word runs until it is stopped by a black square or by the border of the diagram. Proceed by choosing a word that agrees with a given definition and fits the space. Each word provides clues to others and certain words will be found in text of ads which will assist in solving the puzzle.

Prizes will be awarded as follows, four prizes in the amount of $5, $3, $2 and $1 will be given each week and will be awarded for accuracy of solution plus the BEST 25 WORD ESSAY GIVING REASONS for patronizing any one of the advertisers on this page. Each story will be judged and will be the principal factor in determining the prize winners. The best story will be published each week on this page with the names and addresses of the winners.
The solution and story must reach the Cross-word Editor in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Nebr., not later than 9:00 a. m. Friday of each week. Answers to this weeks puzzle will be run next week at the top of this page.

When You Spend 97½c Out of $1.00---Do You Wait For the Change?

Dollar Is Only Crop That Grows Unceasingly Twelve Months In Every Year

Time and Money Are Always Working For the Regular Saver—Results of Small Deposits Astounding.

Time means money!

Few people realize how indissolubly time and money are connected, and how in this connection, money is the one crop in the world that never loses a season, a month, nor even a day, in its period of growth.

Time is the element in building up success with which all men and women are equally endowed. No one has more time than another—yet some people discover early in life that time can be made to work and that they themselves, although unable to make more time, can conserve and make each moment work.

Interest is merely the application of time to the earning power of dollars. One dollar for a year will earn as much as two dollars in six months. Time therefore produces growth through interest rate applied to a given sum and the earlier date of deposit, the earlier the smiling bookkeeper chalks up the earnings that the dollar has made.

Regular Saving.

In these days of the printed word almost everyone has had the opportunity to see what a regular monthly deposit of one dollar will grow into within a relatively short period of time. Time and the persist never ceasing, earning ability of the first and of all the following dollars deposited, make it into a sum of money which has real purchasing power.

A simple table of interest, credited at four per cent semi-annually shows the following results:

Years.	$1.00 per month.
5	$66.46
10	147.48
15	246.24
25	513.39

Twenty-five years might seem to be an unreasonably long time in which to save the sum of about $500 but in the same relativity, $1 per month is a small sum for almost anyone earning their own living to attempt to save $1.00 a week is not a sum that almost anyone with a real ambition to have something in this world, might put by. The sacrifice of very few luxuries and unnecessary expenditures would allow that $1.00 to be placed in an account each week and in five years' time it would be over $300.

Many a famous financier has declared that the ability to save is in no way an ability—but merely a matter of will power—concisely the "way to save is to save"—regularly.

A SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS PLAN SOON BRINGS LARGE RETURNS

The wonders of compound interest are never realized until a careful study is made of the subject or until a person has built up a sizeable savings account in a bank and has watched the account rapidly grow each year as the interest is added thereon.

Systematic savings—the secret of successful saving—can find a no surer or easier way than by the Cash Savings Script Plan, because by this method people may save as they spend, and as spending is one of the easiest habits to acquire it naturally follows that saving by this plan requires no sacrifice or effort of any kind.

Saving money is at times difficult. Spending it is always an easy task. When you can make the money you spend yield an income it should be a simple matter to build up a savings account of worth while size. By this plan the money just naturally finds its way into the bank.

Nearly every family spends at least $20 to $30 a month. If all this money you spend yield an income it should be a simple matter to build up a savings account of worth while size. By this plan the money just naturally finds its way into the bank.

Nearly every family spends at least $20 to $30 a month. If all this money was spent at stores which gave Cash Savings Script and the savings deposited in a savings account for their child when it was a year old, and every year thereafter until the child was of age, he or she would have a nice size account amounting to $229—just when needed most. If the parents spent $60 to $70 a month and saved this script the child would have at maturity $540.

The table shown below gives an excellent illustration of how fast Cash Savings Script will make a savings account grow and is an example of how thrifty families may make their expenditures yield an income that in a few years will amount to considerable.

Study this chart. Figure out your monthly expenditures and patronize the merchants who give this script; then take it to the bank who acts as depository for the plan, and you too, may build up a savings account for your child or yourself at no cost or sacrifice.

ELLINGER STORE SHOWING GROWTH

Has Added Clothing Line to Shoes and Whole Doing Well.

Ellingers, Inc., at Twelfth and P streets, is an outgrowth of the Cincinnati shoe store, and one warranted by the increase in trade that has come to a shop of low prices and reliable quality.

G. Ellinger, who started the shop, has had forty-three years experience as clothes and shoe merchant. When fourteen years old he came over from Germany to the United States, and six years later was in business for himself at Haddam, Kas.

It was in September, 1923, that the extension was made which has resulted in the "incorporated" sign going on the company stationery. Carl and Max Ellinger, two sons who had been with their father for some time, went in with him and filed articles of incorporation.

The building at Twelfth and P streets was then remodelled modern and attractive windows put in, and long tiers of well lighted show cases set up. The shoe department still gets as much attention as ever, but the clothing department is also given the care that two score years of experience has recommended. On one of the main avenues leading to the state university, Ellingers is becoming something of a college men's furnishing establishment.

No unusual plans or wild publicity stunts have built up the creditable business that this store now boasts; thrift and good judgment have been responsible.

Uneeda Market In Well Established Place In 2 Years

In two short years the Uneeda Grocery & Meat market at 1026 P street has made a name for itself, under the ownership and direction of J. J. Uhrich.

Though a store much patronized by the exacting sort of people who go to shop with market basket in hand and eyes open for bargains, the Uneeda has kept its place in a district of many similar groceries. A large stock of plain and fancy groceries is kept.

The Uneeda meat market is also well supplied and makes a specialty of furnishing restaurant supplies in large quantities.

Ask Your Merchant For One of These Script With Every Cash Purchase

Announcing the---

Cash Saving Script Plan

$1,000 TO $1,500 TO YOUR CHILD OR TO YOURSELF FREE

Through the courtesy of the progressive merchants and bankers listed below, the citizens of Lincoln, Havelock, University Place, College View, and vicinity will be offered the opportunity to put enough money in the bank to enable their children to go to college; make a successful start in business; a payment on a home; to travel, or be independent of want for a considerable time. This may be accomplished without costing you a penny.

If you have no child these same merchants will make it possible for you to build up a substantial bank account assuring you a comfortable and care-free old age; or for some special thing you have long desired.

The merchants listed below have identified themselves in a movement to give their customers Cash Savings Script, equal to 2½% of their purchases. his Script is to be saved and is redeemable by the merchant issuing it for a check which is equivalent to cash and is to be deposited to your savings account.

Ask For Cash Savings Script With Every Purchase

Be sure you secure Cash Savings Script with every purchase. You are entitled to it and it means a big savings for you. They are as valuable as cash. Patronize the merchants who give them and in that way build your savings from rebates derived from your regular purchases without stinting from your income.

Patronize These Merchants--They Give Cash Savings Script

CITY NATIONAL WELL KNOWN IN WIDE TERRITORY

Depository Bank For Thrift Campaign One of Lincoln's Largest.

Has Big Clientele In Lincoln, South Nebraska and Colorado.

The City National Bank at Eleventh and O street depository under the thrift plan now being inagurated is one of the city's largest and oldest financial institutions

Organized in 1899 with a capital of $50 000 the bank has grown and prospered with Lincoln Today it has a capital of $500 000 and more than $100 000 in surplus and undivided profits and deposits of $3 530 308

All officers of the bank are known throughout the state and its directorate includes men prominently associated with the business and banking interests of the city and state The board consists of W J Assenmacher Dr Benjamin I Bailey C C Carlson D R Cropsey A O Faulkner W H Ferguson B F Good C E Gund Verne Hedge M B Holland Paul H Holm W M Leonard, Stanley Maly C A McCloud B H Mullowney Thomas Murtey, J A Reichenbach Byron Stephenson and John M Stewart

Stanley Maly president is well known throughout the state as are the other active officers He is a young man but has had twenty years experience in banking When seventeen years old he entered commercial life as a grocery clerk and later went into the first national bank of Spalding then he went to the First National bank of Cedar Rapids as cashier, and was later assistant cashier of the S S Hadley bank at Cedar Rapids For ten years he has been president of that institution and is still at its head

Four years ago Mr Maly bought substantial interest in the City National bank and became its vice president Recently on the retirement of E B Stephenson he was elected president

Cashier E H Mullowney has also had an extensive experience For twelve years he was connected with the first National bank at Albion and for eight years more was state bank examiner being stationed at Lincoln and Omaha He returned to Lincoln ten years ago and on January 1 1915 became cashier of the city National bank

A H Sagehorn assistant cashier was in the United States postal service in 1912 and 1913 before going to the Grand Island National bank During most of 1916 he was in the Union State bank at Beatrice and since September 1 of that year has been assistant cashier of the City National

Besides the active office there are twenty two persons on the bank payroll

In addition to its large city business the City National has extensive connections in southern Nebraska and eastern Colorado

Usually thought of in connection with the City National bank is the Lincoln Trust company which has offices on North Eleventh street This business was established in 1898 under the name of the Lincoln Safe Deposit and Trust company Starting in a moderate way the business has made steady and substantial growth Its capital and surplus today is nearly $700 000 and while its clients are most numerous in Lincoln they are also found in every county of the state as well as every state in the union The organization includes more than forty people

Today its business embraces everything covered by the seven powers enumerated in the Nebraska Trust company law of 1911 It maintains safe deposit rental department loans money on real estate sells securities writes insurance acts as agent for real estate and receives funds for investment account It serves as executor administrator receiver transfer agent guardian trustee and the like

Country Store In City Finds Favor Says Strasheim

A big country store in a big city is something that country people like to find C G Strasheim of the Strasheim store at 125 South Ninth street has discovered

He has modeled his establishment after the general stores found in rural districts therefore and added such conveniences and improvements as are available in a city

Mr Strasheim took over the store six years ago and has kept it growing ever since Though farmers form a large portion of his patrons city people who like to get substantial goods at fair prices are also regular traders there Groceries dry goods boys and mens apparel overalls work clothes of all kinds stockings shoes and various stocks of things to eat are kept on hand

Experience Counts In Sanitary Grocery

Twenty one years of experience are behind Ralph Rhodes proprietor of the Sanitary Grocery at College View

Mr Rhodes established his store at College View two years ago the first of May Since that time he has built up a steadily increasing business His policy toward customers is Everything Right or Replaced

The store carries a complete line of fancy and staple groceries fruits and vegetables A deliver service is maintained

Heads Lincoln Bank

Stanley Maly is the president of the City National bank one of the organizations through which the script plan will be operated in Lincoln

Cash Savings Script Will Guarantee Future of Boy or Girl.

Suppose some good friend should come to you a friend whose integrity and financial standing you knew to be beyond question suppose he should come to you and say

Stop worrying about your child's future I will take care of it When your youngster reaches the right age I will provide the money for his college education or if you do not want him to go to college I will finance his start in business or I will make the first payment on a home for him In fact I will take $1 000 to $1 500 or more out of my pocket when he reaches the age of 17 to use in any way you see fit

Would you refuse this offer Would you not hail this plan a benefactor? If you refuse such an offer would you not be robbing your child?

Undoubtedly you would consider such an offer too good to be true And yet it is just such an offer as this that your local merchants make you through your child's membership in the bankers and merchants savings plan of the City National Bank

It is your duty to guarantee your child's future if you can Your child's future depends almost entirely upon your financial condition not at the present time but at the time he or she is ready to start the struggle of life alone And who can tell now with any degree of certainty what you will be able to offer your child then?

There is one way by which your child is assured of a start in life that you want him to have without cost to you That way is through cash savings script

The definite bankable savings that you can secure through cash savings script on everything you buy guarantees your child's future even more fully than if you accepted the offer of some kind friend to look after his welfare No matter what your financial condition is when your child reaches maturity cash savings script affords safety and security

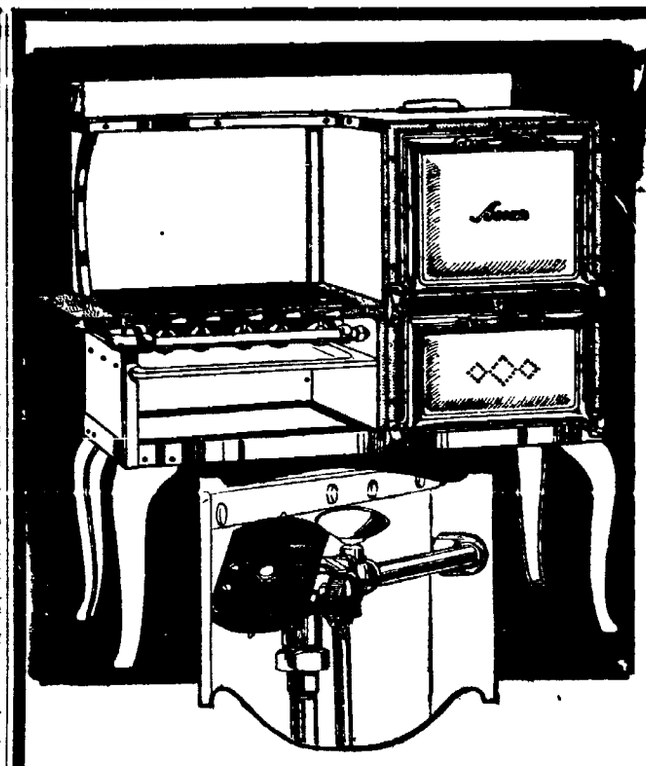

Cash savings script costs you nothing not even an effort to secure it

It is free with everything you buy —everything you use in daily life It means education success for your boy or girl In later years it will make his or her life happier yours easier No matter how much you will be able to offer your child with which to start life cash savings script will enable you to offer more

Every Home-Lover Loves a Beautiful Home

A quiet charm pervades the room that is artistically painted and decorated One feels that here is a retreat from which all harshness is shut out, where one may find all the gentleness of the perfect home

What gives such a room its dignity, its restraint? What is the secret of its intimacy, its mellowness, and its rich beauty?

The answer depends upon many varying elements, such as size of room, location, architecture, furnishings, etc The problem is an individual one, but we can help you find the answer

Fortunately the charm of paint and varnish in decoration is not restricted to the stately homes of the rich. Wherever there are doors, windows and floors, and walls and ceilings, there is opportunity for paint and varnish in the beautification of the home.

We will appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate that our interior decorating products are for the modest home as well as the mansion

Always look for this trademark — it's your guarantee of quality

Cash Savings Script Means a Free Savings Account For You

Details of the Cash Savings Script Plan.

Opening an Account and Building It to Sizeable Volume Through New Thrift Plan is Simple and Effective Way.

For centuries one of the first habits people have acquired has been the spending of money. They have learned it before they have learned their A-B-Cs and as a rule they never forget it. Saving money has always been a difficult task until the inauguration of the Cash Savings Script plan, for by this plan will swell the account and regular cash deposits added to it will create a sizeable fund of money at the end of a year.

The plan in itself is very simple. A child or housewife to become a member of the plan must open a savings account with the City National bank of Lincoln, Farmers & Mechanics bank of Havelock, Farmers State bank of College View or the First National bank of University Place with at least $1. Upon receipt of the $1 they are sent a pass book showing the $1 credit with one of the banks, and also they receive a membership card which gives them the privilege of trade with the merchant members, names of which are printed thereon, and receive the benefit of the 2½ per cent on the dollar on all cash purchases. When the saver has accumulated cash saving script with a total value of 25 cents, 50 cents, $1 or more, it is presented to the merchant member where it is secured and in turn they receive a cashier's check covering the cash value of their script. This check is depositable only to their savings account.

For merchants like grocers, druggists, and other lines where the purchases are 10 cents, 15 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents or $1 five denominations of script as follows: On the 10 cent purchase a 1-4 of a cent script, on the 15-cent purchase a 3-8 of a cent script, on the 25-cent purchase a 5-8 of a cent script, on the 50-cent purchase 1½ script and on the $1 purchase 2½ script.

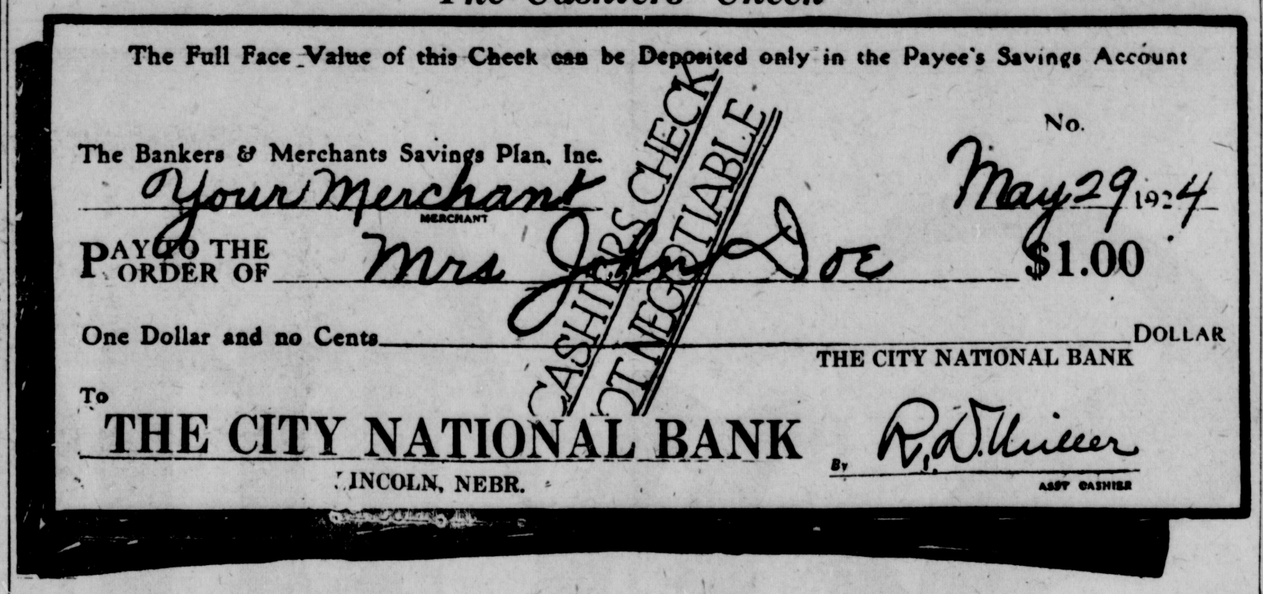

This is the Cash Savings Script the merchant will give you with every cash purchase.

method one may make their expenditures yield an income. In other words they may save as they spend.

Simple in operation and direct in results of a community, the savings scheme of the Bankers and Merchants Savings Plan organization will undoubtedly result in thousands of new accounts being opened up in Lincoln and vicinity during the next few weeks.

Script certificates received from the merchants co-operating in the

WIRICK STILL AT OLD STAND

Has Been Exclusive Travelers' Outfitters For 38 Years.

April 15 was the thirty-eighth anniversary of the C. A. Wirick Co. at 1028 O street, meaning that for thirty-eight years it has handled goods for the traveler, exclusively.

Twenty-seven of those years have been spent in the same block, and seventeen in the room now occupied.

Row upon row of trunks, bags, grips and everything in the way of leather goods that is demanded by the "young man going somewhere," or old man, girl or woman, for that matter, are on display. The stock kept there is one of the largest of its kind in town.

When first started by C. A. Wirick, the company manufactured trunks at the state penitentiary, but this activity was soon given up for the more congenial retail trade, and the downtown store set up. Mr. Wirick passed away six years ago, and since that time the store has been in the hand of Mrs. Wirick and the daughter, Miss Marie. The old time policies of the store have been carried on, however, and exclusive travelers' supplies still continue to be the stock of the company.

Included in the large assortment are small leather goods as well as large, but all of the most substantial sort obtainable for the money expended. The Hartman and Oshkosh wardrobe trunks, two of the best known and most worthy types on the market, are sold by the Wirick company.

HALLETT GIVES DRIVE SUPPORT

Old Established Jewel Company Knows Value Of Thrift.

Has Had Slow and Steady Growth Since Founded In 1871.

The F. A. Hallett jewelry firm at 117-119 South Twelfth street is one of the companies that is giving whole hearted support to the thrift campaign, and one that from its own history has been an exemplification of thrift.

Few stores now exist in Lincoln that were started as early as 1871, but the Hallett shop is among the best known of these. It was established by Eugene Hallett, father of the present proprietor, just four years after it was decided to bring the state capitol to this city. He left Fort Leavenworth, Kas., where he conducted a business during the war, to start in the trade here.

There has been nothing spectacular about the growth of Hallett's. Slow and steady like that of the town, it has reached its present place of high regard in the consideration of Lincoln citizens. F. A. Hallett took complete charge in 1917, and during his proprietorship the store was moved from 1143 O street, the little stand where it had done business for thirty years, to the South Twelfth street location. Almost three times the old floor space and better arranged accommodations were the factors that brought about the change.

During the last few years, also, a particular appeal has been made to the university trade, with good results. Hallett's is known as the "university jeweler" and pins of various societies are specialties there.

The original shop back in 1871 handled only jewels, but a large extension of interests is seen in the present commodious store. Gift ware, novelties, a complete optical line, and manufacturing have been added. The "heavy work," is done in the basement.

Mr. Hallett states that he is in full accord with the present thrift movement. It is not a flashy scheme to obtain buyers, he believes, but a really substantial idea whereby residents of this city can be brought to a realization of the necessity to save, and helped to do so. Once they have accounts started in the bank, there are more chances than one that they will form the habit, and continue the practice of thrift.

GRISWOLD FIRM WIDELY KNOWN

Lincoln Seed Company Trade Reaches Out From United States.

Since 1890 the Griswold Seed company at 147 South Tenth street has been supplying Nebraskans with seeds and plants, and now it supplies them to Canada, Alaska, Mexico, China, Africa, Australia and other places as well. In other words it has grown beyond the limits of a local institution and is known beyond the shores of the United States.

The little place handling seeds set up by W. B. Griswold thirty-five years ago has become the business crowded into three stories of one building at Tenth and N streets and the big warehouse at Eighth and N streets.

Quality rather than low prices is the aim of the Griswold Seed Co., according to R. S. Griswold who has charge of the retail and mail order side of the business. Growth of the plant has been steady, and it has been built on tested wares that mean quality.

Seeds, nursery stock, plants, bulbs, garden tools, sprayers, insecticides, poultry supplies, baby chicks, incubators, brooders, bird cages, birds, bird supplies, gold fish and fish supplies, dog and pet stock and supplies—all this comes within the range of the Griswold interests. As any new line comes into prominence or demand, it is added.

More than forty-two thousand catalogues were mailed out by Griswold's this year, and the number of these eighty-page publications grows each year. Poultry feed is a specialty of the company, as it buys the ingredients from local farmers and sells again to buyers in this vicinity, so that all parties concerned are saved the burden of freight rates.

Bradshaw Drug Is "Old Style" Store

"Has Bill been in this afternoon?"

"Will you tell John to wait here for me? I'll be going home at 6 o'clock."

The Bradshaw drug store at 132 North Tenth street is one of the few "old style" stores in Lincoln where such questions and favors are asked of the proprietor. Here the farmers, coming in to trade, leave their surplus packages, meet their friends and feel as much at home as one possibly could.

It is this atmosphere that A. M Bradshaw, proprietor of the store, takes his greatest pride. Mr. Bradshaw has been in the drug store business in Lincoln for eighteen years and during that time he has created an acquaintance and friendship among out of town people which is more valuable than can be estimated. The store has been at its present location, "just across the street from the post office," sixteen years.

Dollar Is Only Crop That Grows Unceasingly Twelve Months In Every Year

Time and Money Are Always Working For the Regular Saver—Results of Small Deposits Astounding.

Time means money!

Few people realize how indissolubly time and money are connected, and how in this connection, money is the one crop in the world that never loses a season, a month, nor even a day, in its period of growth.

Time is the element in building up success with which all men and women are equally endowed. No one has more time than another—yet some people discover early in life that time can be made to work and that they themselves, although unable to make more time, can conserve and make each moment work.

Interest is merely the application of time to the earning power of dollars. One dollar for a year will earn as much as two dollars in six months. Time therefore produces growth through interest rate applied to a given sum and the earlier date of deposit, the earlier the smiling bookkeeper chalks up the earnings that the dollar has made.

Regular Saving.

In these days of the printed word almost every one has had the opportunity to see what a regular monthly deposit of one dollar will grow into within a relatively short period of time. Time and the persist never ceasing, earning ability of the first and of all the following dollars deposited, make it into a sum of money which has real purchasing power.

A simple table of interest, credited at four per cent semi-annually shows the following results:

Years.	$1.00 per month.
5	$66.46
10	147.48
15	246.24
25	513.39

Twenty-five years might seem to be an unreasonably long time in which to save the sum of about $500 but in the same relativity, $1 per month is a small sum for almost anyone earning their own living to attempt to save $1.00 a week is not a sum that almost anyone with a real ambition to have something in this world, might put by. The sacrifice of very few luxuries and unnecessary expenditures would allow that $1.00 to be placed in an account each week and in five years' time it would be over $300.

Many a famous financier has declared that the ability to save is in no way an ability—but merely a matter of will power—concisely the "way to save is to save"—regularly.

A SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS PLAN SOON BRINGS LARGE RETURNS

The wonders of compound interest are never realized until a careful study is made of the subject or until a person has built up a sizeable savings account in a bank and has watched the account rapidly grow each year as the interest is added thereon.

Systematic savings—the secret of successful saving—can find a no surer or easier way than by the Cash Savings Script Plan, because by this method people may save as they spend, and as spending is one of the easiest habits to acquire it naturally follows that saving by this plan requires no secrifice or effort of any kind.

Saving money is at times difficult. Spending it is always an easy task. When you can make the money you spend yield an income it should be a simple matter to build up a savings account of worth while size. By this plan the money just naturally finds its way into the bank.

Nearly every family spends at least $20 to $30 a month. If all this money you spend yield an income it should be a simple matter to build up a savings account of worth while size. By this plan the money just naturally finds its way into the bank.

Nearly every family spends at least $20 to $30 a month. If all this money was spent at stores which gave Cash Savings Script and the savings deposited in a savings account for their child when it was a year old, and every year thereafter until the child was of age, he or she would have a nice size account amounting to $229—just when needed most. If the parents spent $60 to $70 a month and saved this script the child would have at maturity $540.

The table shown below gives an excellent illustration of how fast Cash Savings Script will make a savings account grow and is an example of how thrifty families may make their expenditures yield an income that in a few years will amount to considerable.

Study this chart. Figure out your monthly expenditures and patronize the merchants who give this script; then take it to the bank who acts as depository for the plan, and you too, may build up a savings account for your child or yourself at no cost or sacrifice.

ELLINGER STORE SHOWING GROWTH

Has Added Clothing Line to Shoes and Whole Doing Well.

Ellingers, Inc., at Twelfth and P streets, is an outgrowth of the Cincinnati shoe store, and one warranted by the increase in trade that has come to a shop of low prices and reliable quality.

G. Ellinger, who started the shop, has had forty-three years experience as clothes and shoe merchant. When fourteen years old he came over from Germany to the United States, and six years later was in business for himself at Haddam, Kas.

It was in September, 1923, that the extension was made which has resulted in the "incorporated" sign going on the company stationery. Carl and Max Ellinger, two sons who had been with their father for some time, went in with him and filed articles of incorporation.

The building at Twelfth and P streets was then remodelled modern and attractive windows put in, and long tiers of well lighted show cases set up. The shoe department still gets as much attention as ever, but the clothing department is also given the care that two score years of experience has recommended. On one of the main avenues leading to the state university, Ellingers is becoming something of a college men's furnishing establishment.

No unusual plans or wild publicity stunts have built up the creditable business that this store now boasts; thrift and good judgment have been responsible.

Uneeda Market In Well Established Place In 2 Years

In two short years the Uneeda Grocery & Meat market at 1026 P street has made a name for itself, under the ownership and direction of J. J. Uhrich.

Though a store much patronized by the exacting sort of people who go to shop with market basket in hand and eyes open for bargains, the Uneeda has kept its place in a district of many similar groceries. A large stock of plain and fancy groceries is kept.

The Uneeda meat market is also wel supplied and makes a specialty of furnishing restaurant supplies in large quantities.

Cash Saving Script Plan

$1,000 TO $1,500 TO YOUR CHILD OR TO YOURSELF FREE

Through the courtesy of the progressive merchants and bankers listed below, the citizens of Lincoln, Havelock, University Place, College View, and vicinity will be offered the opportunity to put enough money in the bank to enable their children to go to college; make a successful start in business; a payment on a home; to travel, or be independent of want for a considerable time. This may be accomplished without costing you a penny.

If you have no child these same merchants will make it possible for you to build up a substantial bank account assuring you a comfortable and care-free old age; or for some special thing you have long desired.

The merchants listed below have identified themselves in a movement to give their customers Cash Savings Script, equal to 2½% of their purchases. his Script is to be saved and is redeemable by the merchant issuing it for a check which is equivalent to cash and is to be deposited to your savings account.

Ask For Cash Savings Script With Every Purchase

Be sure you secure Cash Savings Script with every purchase. You are entitled to it and it means a big savings for you. They are as valuable as cash. Patronize the merchants who give them and in that way build your savings from rebates derived from your regular purchases without stinting from your income.

VAN SICKLE IS NATIONAL FIRM

Local Paint & Glass Company Well Known Throughout Country.

Its President Reports Continued Growth and Better Conditions.

Another Lincoln organization that can no longer be considered [illegible] Sickle Glass & Paint company

This firm is not merely a retailer or wholesaler though it does both kinds of trade It is a manufacturer in its own right The Paintall products of the Van Sickle plant are widely distributed with the aid of national advertising and the trade influence and agents of this company have been brought to every part of the country

Wilton Van Sickle president and manager of the company states that the local building activity which has now extended over a surprisingly long period has had very noticeable effect on the Lincoln retail paint trade Similar conditions seem to prevail in many sections of the country also and have resulted in good times for the paint manufacturer

The retail store and general offices of Van Sickle have been at 138 South Tenth street since the fire in the old O street quarters This fire that might have been disasterous to some companies has resulted only in increased public confidence for Van Sickle Any organization that can last through such a catastrophe with credit apparently unimpaired is worthy of confidence.

Though established for many years the Van Sickle company was originally known as the United Paint Manufacturing Co The change in name was made in recent times

One Little Penny --How He Grew

Young Bobby was a careless boy
Who spent for candy or for toy
For this and that of passing whim
Every cent that was given him
Said Uncle John My Little Man
Tis time you began a saving plan
A lucky penny is what you need
For dollars grow from penny seed

Uncle John with Artist's grace
Upon a Penny paints a face
And then it dwelt in Bobbie's pocket
Safe as a picture in a locket.

Now pennies either go or stay
Because they somehow get that way
And a single cent is not content
To stick around and be unspent
To keep one penny safe and sound
Another penny must be found
And Bobbie earned for being good
Another cent—we knew he would

Two pennies make a little jingle
And Bobbie felt a pleasant tingle
If I Keep away from the candy store
I'm twice as rich as I was before

Two pennies in their hiding place
Jingl Penny and Old Painted Lace
What happened next do you suppose?

A stranger comes in brand new clothes

Little Miss New Penny clean and bright
Was indeed a welcome sight
Aunt Clara brought her when she came
To help along the penny game

The pennies rise in penny glee
Now they shouted we are three
Three pennies we united stand
Hooray is not this saving grand?

Three pennies cuddled in a row
Trying to make their bravery show
Sneaking in by stealth
To add himself to Bobbie's wealth
Comes Bad Penny a villain bold
Some tales of him could not be told
Bad Penny the others understood
Was always bad and never good

Bad Penny said Let's run away
And come back again another day
But no one followed when he went
Bad Penny met with an accident

Now Mother's penny's name was wise
He never overexercised
He never roamed about the town
His aim had been to settle down
As he hung his hat upon a hook
And cast around a searching look
I think said he we soon will be
A most respectable family

Ha, Ha" he said Good Pennies Three,
Four when you have counted me
Let's stick together that's the way
To save up for a rainy day

Father heard the pennies chatter
What said he can be the matter"
Why every cent he's spent before
All I gave him and many more

But now that he is penny wise
I'll give our Bobbie a surprise

Four little pennies loudly jangled
As pennies do when they get tangled

Old Honest Penny my sales alive
The Penny Family numbered five
And Thrifty Penny joined the crew
While Nimble Penny he came too

Nimble Penny's pace was killing
Life was short but life was thrilling
When he went near a candy shop—
Gone again for a lollypop!

But in Bobbie's Penny Heaven
Happy lived the Pennies Seven.
Nimble Penny enjoyed the plan
So settled down and joined the clan
The Pennies now strange to relate
Had been seven quite soon were eight

Eight little Pennies grew to nine
Nine little Pennies soon are a Dime

The Pennies nine became a Dime
And Bobbie said In course of time
Who knows some day perhaps they will
Grow up to be a Dollar Bill!

For one penny grew into ten
And ten times ten— I'll tell you then
What happened to old Bill Dollar
That gentleman and scholar

But just before we end this tale
To hit the hammer on the nail
Young Bobbie now has princely rank
His money's growing in the bank

There is a lesson in this story boys and girls, that will mean a great deal to you in later life—

A penny saved is a penny gained.

Whatever you want to be when you grow up remember that the pennies you save now will help you

Wouldn't you like to put your savings into a real big bank to hand them up to the man in the cage and to get a real bank book that will be your very own? Save your pennies and nickels and dimes now and put them in the bank where they will keep on growing and growing and growing all the time and when you too have grown up you will get a lot more money back than you have saved for your money will really grow in the bank

UNION COAL CO. ADVANCING FAST

Present Day Organization Is Outgrowth of Humble Beginning.

Starting thirty eight years ago with a small office at 1014 O street and only a few small storage bins the Union Coal company has grown rapidly and now occupies much larger offices at 1 12 O street and [illegible] blocks in length

During certain seasons of the year as much as 5 000 tons of coal is kept on hand in these bins As many as twenty teamsters are busy during the winter months of the year hauling coal purchased by customers

Recently with the advent of oil burning furnaces the Union Coal company has added oil to its long list of fuels

Every kind of coal coming into this market is kept on hand and oil by the Union Coal company

It is no small task to judge fairly accurately just how large a stock of coal to keep on hand during the various seasons Many things must be taken into consideration such as the railroad situation the mining and labor problems and the possibilities of shortages occurring at some vital time

At present the coal situation looks good and no shortages are predicted However this may be completely changed before the winter months roll around The Union Coal company aims to keep a stock on hand which will carry it through a possible shortage and assure its customers against being forced to pay higher prices should a shortage occur

H T Folsom is president of the company and is actively in charge of the management

FORD DELIVERY CO.

LINCOLN'S BEST MOVERS

We do all kinds of Moving, Packing, Crating, Shipping and Storing. Prices That Are Right.

A good many people have the impression that the Ford Delivery Co., operates with Ford Trucks only. The photograph in this section shows that we have trucks for every use. With our fleet of trucks we can give 10 minute service on delivery, which is something no one else in the city can do. We have the best equipment and facilities for moving furniture to distant cities. Equipped with pneumatic tires, our trucks are easy on the furniture, thus insuring safe delivery of goods.

When we do a moving job for you, your goods are insured for $3,000 without cost to you. Thereby giving you the fullest protection.

Below is one of the many unsolicited testimonials which we have received from satisfied customers

Shickley, Nebraska.

Ford Delivery Co.
223 South 10th Street
Lincoln, Nebraska.

Gentlemen:

I have not been in Lincoln since you moved my goods, but my wife informs me that everything came through in excellent condition and that not a piece of furniture was either scratched or broken. This, I consider is a very good record because of the rough condition of the roads.

I wish also to call your attention to the manner in which the goods were loaded. Your men were very careful and certainly know how to pack a truck so that it is used to its fullest capacity. They certainly know their business.

I stand ready to give you any recommendation at any time you might call upon me for same.

Respectfully,
ELMER M HANSEN

CITY NATIONAL WELL KNOWN IN WIDE TERRITORY

Depository Bank For Thrift Campaign One of Lincoln's Largest.

Has Big Clientele In Lincoln, South Nebraska and Colorado.

The City National Bank at Eleventh and O street, depository under the thrift plan now being inaugurated, is one of the city's largest and oldest financial institutions.

Organized in 1899 with a capital of $50,000, the bank has grown and prospered with Lincoln. Today it has a capital of $500,000 and more than $100,000 in surplus and undivided profits and deposits of $3,530,308.

All officers of the bank are known throughout the state and its directorate includes men prominently associated with the business and banking interests of the city and state. The board consists of: W. J. Assenmacher, Dr. Benjamin F. Bailey, C. C. Carlson, D. B. Cropsey, A. O. Faulkner, W. H. Ferguson, B. F. Good, C. F. Gund, Verne Hedge, M. B. Holland, Paul H. Holm, W. M. Leonard, Stanley Maly, C. A. McCloud, E. H. Mullowney, Thomas Murtey, J. A. Reichenbach, Byron Stephenson and John M. Stewart.

Stanley Maly, president, is well known throughout the state, as are the other active officers. He is a young man but has had twenty years experience in banking. When seventeen years old he entered commercial life as a grocery clerk, and later went into the First aNtional bank of Spalding. Then he went to the First National bank of Cedar Rapids as cashier, and was later assistant cashier of the S. S. Hadley bank at Cedar Rapids. For ten years he has been president of that institution and is still at its head.

Four years ago Mr. Maly bought a substantial interest in the City National bank and became its vice president. Recently on the retirement of E. B. Stephenson he was elected president.

Cashier E. H. Mullowney has also had an extensive experience. For twelve years he was connected with the irst National bank at Albion, and for eight years more was state bank examiner, being stationed at Lincoln and Omaha. He returned to Lincoln ten years ago and on January 1, 1915 became cashier of the city National bank.

A. H. Sagehorn, assistant cashier, was in the United States postal service in 1912 and 1913 before going to the Grand Island National bank. During most of 1916 he was in the Union State bank at Beatrice, and since September 1 of that year has been assistant cashier of the City National.

Besides the active office there are twenty-two persons on the bank payroll.

In addition to its large city business, the City National has extensive connections in southern Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

Usually thought of in connection with the City National bank is the Lincoln Trust company, which has offices on North Eleventh street. This business was eablished in 1898 under the name of the Lincoln Safe Deposit and Trust company. Starting in a moderate way, the business has made steady and substantial growth. Its capital and surplus today is nearly $750,000 and while its clients are most numerous in Lincoln they are also found in every county of the state as well as every state in the union. The organization includes more than forty people.

Today its business embraces everything covered by the seven "powers" enumerated in the Nebraska Trust company law of 1911. It maintains safe deposit rental department, loans money on real estate, sells securities, writes insurance, acts as agent for real estate, and receives funds for investment account. It serves as executor, administrator, receiver, transfer agent, guardian, trustee and the like.

WESLEYAN NOTES.

D. W. Hayes, '10, was recently elected president of the land division of Lincoln realtors.

Miss Enid Miller, head of the department of public speaking, gave a lecture recital during chapel period last Friday morning on "Those That Have Eyes."

The interior of the City National bank of Lincoln is shown above, looking from the front. Through the City National bank, "script" from various merchants will be received for deposit in the savings department.

Country Store In City Finds Favor Says Strasheim

A big country store in a big city is something that country people like to find, C. G. Strasheim of the Strasheim store at 125 South Ninth street has discovered.

He has modeled his establishment after the general stores found in rural districts, therefore, and added such conveniences and improvements as are available in a city.

Mr. Strasheim took over the store six years ago and has kept it growing ever since. Though farmers form a large portion of his patrons, city people who like to get substantial goods at fair prices are also regular traders there. Groceries, dry goods, boys' and men's apparel, overalls, work clothes of all kinds, stockings, shoes, and various stocks of things to eat are kept on hand.

Experience Counts In Sanitary Grocery

Twenty-one years of experience are behind Ralph Rhodes, proprietor of the Sanitary Grocery at College View.

Mr. Rhodes established his store at College View two years ago the first of May. Since that time he has built up a steadily increasing business.: His policy toward customers is "Everything Right or Replaced."

The store carries a complete line of fancy and staple groceries, fruits and vegetables. A deliver service is maintained.

Heads Lincoln Bank

Stanley Maly is the president of the City National bank, one of the organizations through which the script" plan will be operated in Lincoln.

CAN BUILD FUND FOR YOUR CHILD

Cash Savings Script Will Guarantee Future of Boy or Girl.

Suppose some good friend should come to you, a friend whose integrity and financial standing you knew to be beyond question, suppose he should come to you and say:

"Stop worrying about your child's future. I will take care of it. When your youngster reaches the right age I will provide the money for his college education, or if you do not want him to go to college, I will finance his start in business or I will make the first payment on a home for him. In fact, I will take $1,000 to $1,500 or more out of my pocket when he reaches the age of 17 to use in any way you see fit."

Would you refuse this offer? Would you not hail this plan a benefactor? If you refuse such an offer would you not be robbing your child?

Undoubtedly you would consider such an offer too good to be true. And yet it is just such an offer as this that your local merchants make you through your child's membership in the bankers and merchants' savings plan of the City National Bank.

It is your duty to guarantee your child's future if you can. Your child's future depends almost entirely upon your financial condition, not at the present time but at the time he or she is ready to start the struggle of life alone. And who can tell now with any degree of certainty what you will be able to offer your child then?

There is one way by which your child is assured of a start in life that you want him to have without cost to you. That way is through cash savings script.

The definite bankable savings that you can secure through cash savings script on everything you buy, guarantees your child's future even more fully than if you accepted the offer of some kind friend to look after his welfare. No matter what your financial condition is when your child reaches maturity, cash savings script affords safety and security.

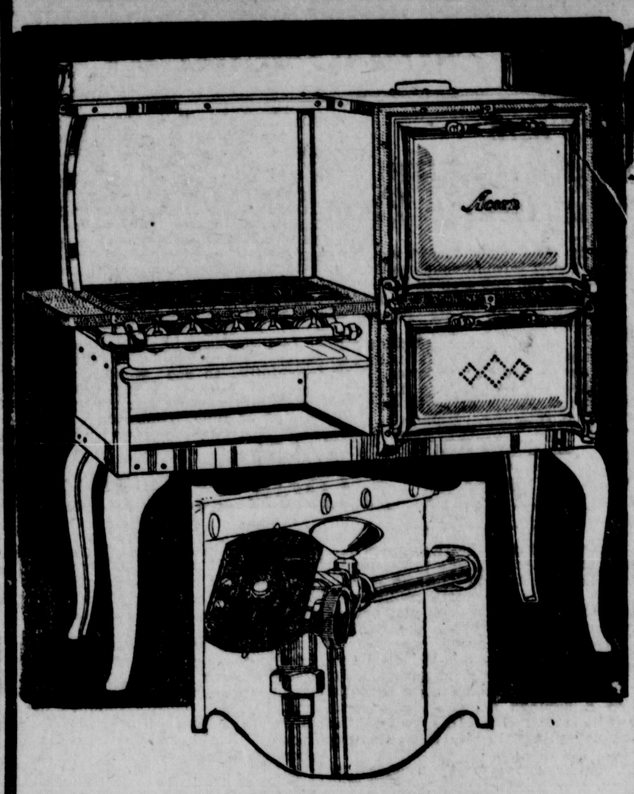

Cash savings script costs you nothing, not even an effort to secure it.

It is free with everything you buy —everything you use in daily life. It means education, success for your boy or girl. In later years it will make his or her life happier, yours easier. No matter how much you will be able to offer your child with which to start life, cash savings script will enable you to offer more.

Every Home-Lover Loves a Beautiful Home

A quiet charm pervades the room that is artistically painted and decorated. One feels that here is a retreat from which all harshness is shut out; where one may find all the gentleness of the perfect home.

What gives such a room its dignity, its restraint? What is the secret of its intimacy, its mellowness, and its rich beauty?

The answer depends upon many varying elements, such as size of room, location, architecture, furnishings, etc. The problem is an individual one, but we can help you find the answer.

Fortunately the charm of paint and varnish in decoration is not restricted to the stately homes of the rich. Wherever there are doors, windows and floors, and walls and ceilings, there is opportunity for paint and varnish in the beautification of the home.

We will appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate that our interior decorating products are for the modest home as well as the mansion.

Always look for this trademark — it's your guarantee of quality.

BRITTELL BACK IN OLD BUILDING

Strictly Modern Grocery Opened At Former Stall, 1823 O Street.

Mr. Brittell Arranges Place With Experience Gained In 25 Years.

At the same location formerly occupied for some fourteen years Fred D Brittell has opened a new strictly modern and up to date grocery store The store is at 1823 O street and was opened the first of April

Mr Brittell has been in the grocery business in Lincoln for twenty five years His new store is designed along the approved plans of the most modern type of grocery stores The goods are effectively displayed on shelves which are arranged conveniently for both the customer and the clerk

A Gruendler Refrigerating system and line of counter cases has been installed in the meat department The ideal on which Mr Brittell is operating his new store is that of giving perfect service A delivery system carries all goods purchased to the door of every customer in any part of the city

Druggist Gives Half Century of Service

Nearly a half century of continuous service as a druggist in Lincoln is the record of A D Steiner owner of the Steiner drug store at 908 South Twelfth street

Mr Steiner believes that this is a record which no other druggist in the city now actively engaged in business can claim In 1880 Mr Steiner came to Lincoln from Pittsburgh Penn On May 30 of that year he purchased a drug store at 1010 P street It had been formerly owned by W J Turner

At that time Lincoln was only a small town of ten or twelve thousand inhabitance As the city grew Mr Steiner moved his store to several locations following the trend of business Twelve years ago he moved to the present location

Business has grown better with each move Mr Steiner says At the same time business in general in Lincoln has grown better The real hard times are past for ever and Lincoln will continue to grow,' he believes

Our business has changed considerably since the days when Mr Steiner first came to Lincoln Then farmers would come into town with a list of medicines and remedies as long as their grocery list Most of these had to be made up by the druggist himself Today a large share of them are manufactured by big concerns and are in forms for immediate use

The Steiner drug store still manufactures one remedy which has not been taken up by other companies That is Steiners Balm of Rhubarb This remedy is manufactured here and sold out at wholesale and retail

College Tailors - Draw Trade From A Widening Area

Thirty years have seen a great development in the College Tailors plant at College View Started in 1894 by J F Nelson the College tailors plant at College View started recruiting Two years ago a modern cleaning and pressing plant was installed

At present fifteen persons are employed in the plant It occupies a two story building and draws a large tailoring and cleaning trade not only from College View but from Lincoln and many smaller towns in southeastern Nebraska

Two trucks are employed constantly making collections and deliveries One day service is featured in all the firms business

Hornung Hardware Runs On Cash Plan

The Hornung Hardware store at College View has built its business on a cash basis The stores slogan is Cash Store Your gain is evident in our prices

A Garage Venture In College View Success

From a very small business D J Gotfredson has built up the College View Garage until now after ten years is occupies nearly a half a block of building space

At present the garage does a large repair business and at the same time carries on a large tire and auto accessory trade Mr Gotfredson has the agencies for the Buick and Ford automobiles in College View Used cars are also bought and sold Four mechanics are employed in the shops to take care of the mechanical work A complete stock of Ford parts is kept on hand

FLEMING SHOP IS 'GIFT COUNSELOR'

C. W. Fleming Jewel Store at 1311 O Street Known For Honesty.

Has Grown Steadily In Present Location For Twenty-three Years.

If honesty and thrift are necessary in stores where purchases of a few cents are common what must be the case in one where articles worth many dollars even hundreds and thousands of dollars are common articles of trade?

C W Fleming realized when he started his jewel shop at 1311 O streets that sound dealing must be the corner of his future success He made it an established policy never to sell anything about which he could not tell the whole truth and future success has become present prosperity

Mr Flemings ideas on his relations with customers have been embodied in a code of ethics adopted by the American National Retail Jewelers association which recommends community service high standards of truth and honor one price to all adjustment of difficulties with customers and fair advice

The Gift Counselor has become a slogan of the Fleming shop and Mr Fleming and his assistants try to be whole hearted courteous and fair in their advice to those who would buy jewels

Though the present location at 1311 O street has always been occupied by the Fleming store, a new front was put in recently that is known as one of the finest in the west A complete line of Sterling flatware and holloware leather goods jewels and optical supplies is carried

SOUTHSIDE AUTO GARAGE POPULAR

Residents Near 1645 South Seventeenth Street Like Neighborhood Idea.

A neighborhood garage is a handy thing especially on cold winter mornings when the engine refuses to start or a tire is flat just because you are in the worst kind of a hurry

People living in South Lincoln have the advantage of quick service in such instances of hard luck, due to the fact that the Southside Garage at 1645 South Seventeenth street is near at hand and always ready to give this service

Ray Elliott is the owner of the Southside garage and employed with him are Guy M Harris and J G Kunher as mechanics Night and day service is maintained

In the two years that Mr Elliott has owned the Southside garage it has developed to such an extent that the business is no longer confined only to car owners in the immediate vicinity but trade is drawn from every part of the city

Sugar Bowl Snug Shop For Sweets

The Sugar Bowl is a snug little retreat at 1522 O street purchased last August by Walter Johnson and seemingly in the best of financial spirits ever since

Mr Johnson came from York to Lincoln and worked at a drug store for a while sizing up the 'local situation' before he made his purchase Few changes have been made in the establishment. It handles candy, magazines, school supplies, tobacco and camera goods and is still the same sort of an interesting place where all varieties of sweets can be bought and eaten in congenial atmosphere

BUDD IS LOCAL SHOE RETAILER

Shop Is Only Home-Owned, Exclusive Shoe Store In Lincoln.

The chain store and the department store ideas have become so dominating in small cities of the United States that when one comes to think of it there are very few establishments that deal exclusively in one of the smaller articles of apparel or common use that are not controlled by outside interests or not a part of some larger organization

Budds Shoe Co at 1131 O street prides itself therefore on being a shoe shop exclusively and on being owned and managed by persons who live in Lincoln The same has always been the case with this well known shop and probably will continue to be the same according to its proprietors

Though Budds has changed location four times it has never changed hands The last move was enforced by the erection of the new Cold building In spite of these changes however a large clientele that early discovered the values to be found at Budds has stayed with the store wherever it has gone

On coming into its present location the company resolved to erect one of the finest store fronts in the city What success was achieved may be seen by the accompanying photograph Though the store itself is of narrow width the striking display space and colored glass front make it attractive to large numbers of people

Four clerks are regularly employed at Budds and as high as six are kept busy during rush seasons The interior is as well finished as the front and a complete line of shoes is kept for men women and children The Racine shoe is a specialty

J. J. Salzman Shoe Repair Shop Large

The biggest shoe store in Lincoln is the sign that advertises the J J Salzman repair shop at 1032 N street

Mr Salzman has been in the shoe repair business in this city for years and has learned the business from the bottom up Several men are often kept busy by the rush of trade at the shop and Mr Salzman himself is at work constantly Complete electrical equipment has been installed so that first class work can be done in extra fast time.

Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank

The Farmers' and Mechanics bank of Havelock will be one of the savings bank headquarters organizations for the operation of the "script" plan in this city, and will receive "script" for deposit in its savings department.

Bradshaw Drug Is "Old Style" Store

"Has Bill been in this afternoon?"

"Will you tell John to wait here for me? I'll be going home at 6 o'clock."

The Bradshaw drug store at 132 North Tenth street is one of the few "old style" stores in Lincoln where such questions and favors are asked of the proprietor. Here the farmers, coming in to trade, leave their surplus packages, meet their friends and feel as much at home as one possibly could.

It is this atmosphere that A. M. Bradshaw, proprietor of the store, takes his greatest pride. Mr. Bradshaw has been in the drug store business in Lincoln for eighteen years and during that time he has created an acquaintance and friendship among out of town people which is more valuable than can be estimated. The store has been at its present location, "just across the street from the post office," sixteen years.

University Agricultural Students Will Give Annual Farmers Fair Saturday, May 2

A little bit of this and a little bit of-that, a little bit of work and a little bit of fun—that's the Farmers' fair, which makes its annual appearance Saturday at the agricultural college. The agricultural boys and girls display the results of their year's work at the fair, but give it a good coating of fun and frivolity for spice There comes the ballyhoo man, the minstrel troupe, and the south sea dancers. There come the queen of agriculture, the pretty girls on floats, and the floats that make you wise. Its a day-long and evening affair and all the farmers and farmerettes rest for a day in the midst of their labors to play with themselves and the hundreds of others who attend.

Saturday, May 2, is the annual gala day for the Nebraska College of Agriculture The campus will be dressed in its very best for the seventh annual Farmers' Fair The management reports plans for the biggest and best fair that has ever been held and arrangements are being made to accommodate a larger crowd than attended last year. Last year's crowd consisted of nearly 15,000 people from all parts of the state. Many new and novel features have been added to the program including the University Players production and the calf-roping contest.

Heretofore the home economics girls have prepared and presented a pageant annually, but this year the University Players have been substituted. They will present a performance in the afternoon and again in the evening in an open-air amphitheater which is one of the most beautiful places on the campus. No admission will be charged for either performances.

The calf-roping contest, as a part of the Wild West show, is something new in this part of the state Mark Hirsig, Cheyenne, Wyoming, winner of the calf-roping contests at several Cheyenne Frontier contests and of numerous other riding contests, will take an active part in the Wild West show. Mr. Hirsig is providing a number of the horses to be used in the Wild West show, which he just had shipped in from Cheyenne. Anyone is eligible to enter these riding and roping contests and prizes will be given to the winners.

Parade at Noon.

The parade of somethirty floats and a number of comic fetaures will pass down O street at noon. A rube band will lead, followed by the clowns, the educational floats of the different departments, the Goddess of Agriculture float, and a number of comic floats. Maggie and Jiggs will be in the parade, Andy and Min have consented to come, and Mr. Rudolph Nebb will have a float representing his far-famed Nox-Age which we will sell at the fair grounds all afternoon and evening.

William Jennings O'Brien and and Magnus Johnson, both of Pumpkin Center, Arkansas, introduced themselves at a pep meeting at the College of Agriculture Thursday evening and stated that they had come to Lincoln to attend the Farmers' Fair. They promised to be present Saturday, May 2, to do their stuff and also to take part in the parade. Mr. O'Brien stated that the Follies' skit was entitled "The Breath of Spring," until the management of the fair saw it and asked to have the name changed to "Halitosis." The Follies intend to present some cross-word pules, and judging from all indications, the pules will be very deep.

The Snorpheum is keeping its plans rather quiet, but they admitted that their dainty, dreamy-eyed chorus girls were in the best of condition and that their tall men were handsomer than ever this year. They will present dancing, singing, jigging, and juggling acts. Jacob Freidli of the College of Agriculture will sing some of the latest song hits.

Yellow Dogs Run Saloon.

Ample provision has been made for the people who may need freshments while at the fair. The Yellow Dog Saloon will be run wide open all afternoon and evening. Drinks of all colors and flavors will be sold here. The fair board has assumed all responsibility for this concession and the patrons need not fear for the molestation of the law.

Huge slabs of freshly roasted beef will be served between monstrous steaming buns at the barbecue stands. The steer that will be barbecued has been fed a secret ration which if satisfactory to public, bids fair to revolutionize the packing industry

All visitors will be given ample opportunities to spend their money. The Midway will be in full sway from 1 o'clock until midnight. There will be side shows of all kinds and the Monte Carlo dens will include all gambling games imaginable. Everything that you have ever seen at a carnival or circus and some things that you have not seen at either place will be found on the Midway.

Three Dance Orchestras.

For those "trip the light fantastic," the latest jazz music will be provided in the huge covched pavillion all afternoon and evening A dance will also be held in the agricultural engineering building. The Nebraskans, the Kandy Kids, and the Colonians will furnish the music for the dancing, so all visitors will be assured of the best music in Lincoln.

The educational exhibits in the various departments must not be overlooked. The educational features will make up an important part of this year's fair Each department will hold open house and demonstrations and lectures will be given in connection with all exhibits. The dairy and animal husbandry departments will have exhibits that will be of special interest to all who are pursuing some phase of agriculture. The home economics exhibits and demonstrations will be of interest to all women.

The students of the College of Agriculture are extending an invitation to every person in the state to come and spend the day with them and to find out just what the College of Agriculture really is and what its students can do The college will broadcast another program regarding the Farmers' Fair Monday noon from station WFAV.

VAN SICKLE IS NATIONAL FIRM

Local Paint & Glass Company Well Known Throughout Country.

Its President Reports Continued Growth and Better Conditions.

Another Lincoln organization that can no longer be considered a local establishment is the Van Sickle Glass & Paint company.

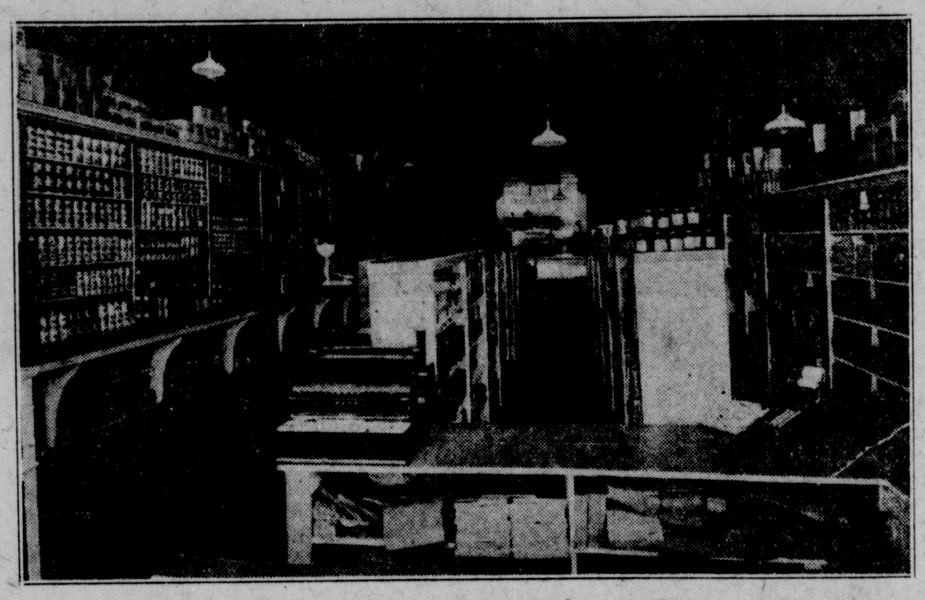

This firm is not merely a retailer or wholesaler, though it does both kinds of trade. It is a manufacturer in its own right. The Paintall products of the Van Sickle plant are widely distributed with the aid of national advertising and the trade, influence and agents of this company have been brought to every part of the country.

Wilton Van Sickle, president and manager of the company, states that the local building activity which has now extended over a surprisingly long period has had very noticeable effect on the Lincoln retail paint trade. Similar conditions seem to prevail in many sections of the country, also, and have resulted in good times for the paint manufacturer.

The retail store and general offices of Van Sickle have been at 138 South Tenth street since the fire in the old O street quarters. This fire that might have been disasterous to some companies has resulted only in increased public confidence for Van Sickle. Any organization that can last through such a catastrophe with credit apparently unimpaired is worthy of confidence.

Though established for many years, the Van Sickle company was originally known as the United Paint Manufacturing Co. The change in name was made in recent times.

New Brittell Grocery Opened at 1823 O Street

The above is a photo of the interior of the new Fred D. Brittell grocery store recently opened at 1823 O street. This same location was occupied formerly for fourteen years by the old Brittell grocery.

One Little Penny --How He Grew

Young Bobby was a careless boy
Who spent for candy or for toy
For this and that of passing whim
Every cent that was given him.
Said Uncle John "My Little Man"
Tis time you began a saving plan
A lucky penny is what you need
For dollars grow from penny seed."

Uncle John with Artist's grace
Upon a Penny paints a face
And then it dwelt in Bobbie's pocket
Safe as a picture in a locket.

Now pennies either go or stay
Because they somehow get that way
And a single cent is not content
To stick around and be unspent.
To keep one penny safe and sound
Another penny must be found
And Bobbie earned for being good
Another cent—we knew he would.

Two pennies make a little jingle
And Bobbie felt a pleasant tingle,
"If I Keep away from the candy store
I'm twice as rich as I was before."

Two pennies in their hiding place
Jingle Pennie and Old Painted Face,
What happened next, do you suppose?

A stranger comes in brand new clothes,
Little Miss New Penny, clean and bright
Was indeed a welcome sight,
Aunt Clara brought her when she came
To help along the penny game.

The pennies rise in penny glee,
'Now" they shouted "we are three"
Three pennies we united stand,
Hooray, is not this saving grand?"

Three pennies cuddled in a row
Trying to make their brave show.
Sneaking in by stealth,
To add himself to Bobbie's wealth,
Comes Bad Penny, a villain bold,
Some tales of him could not be told
Bad Penny, the others understood,
Was always bad, and never good.

Bad Penny said, "Let's run away,
And come back again another day".
But no one followed when he went
Bad Penny met with an accident.

Now Mother's penny's name was wise
He never overexercised,
He never roamed about the town,
His aim had been to settle down.
As he hung his hat upon a hook,
And cast around a searching look,
"I think" said he, "we soon will be
A most respectable family."

'Ha, Ha," he said "Good Pennies Three,
Four, when you have counted me,
Let's stick together, that's the way
To save up for a rainy day.

Father heard the pennies' chatter
"What" said he "can be the matter?
Why every cent he's spent before,
All I gave him and many more.

But now that he is penny wise
I'll give our Bobbie a surprise."

Four little pennies loudly jangled
As pennies do when they get tangled.

Old Honest Penny my sakes alive!
The Penny Family numbered five,
And Thrifty Penny joined the crew,
While Nimble Penny, he came too!

Nimble Penny's pace was killing
Life was short, but life was thrilling,
When he went near a candy shop—
Gone again for a lollypop!

But in Bobbie's Penny Heaven
Happy lived the Pennies Seven.
Nimble Penny enjoyed the plan
So settled down and joined the clan.
The Pennies now, strange to relate,
Had been seven, quite soon were eight.
Eight little Pennies grew to nine,
Nine little Pennies soon are a Dime.

The Pennies nine became a Dime,
And Bobbie said "In course of time,
Who knows, some day perhaps they will
Grow up to be a Dollar Bill!

For one penny grew into ten
And ten times ten—"I'll tell you then,
What happened to old Bill Dollar,
That gentleman and scholar."

But just before we end this tale
To hit the hammer on the nail
Young Bobbie now has princely rank
His money's growing in the bank.

There is a lesson in this story, boys and girls, that will mean a great deal to you in later life—

A penny saved is a penny gained.

Whatever you want to be when you grow up, remember that the pennies you save now will help you.

Wouldn't you like to put your savings into a real big bank, to hand them up to the man in the cage, and to get a real bank book that will be your very own? Save your pennies and nickels and dimes now and put them in the bank where they will keep on growing and growing and growing all the time, and when you too have grown up, you will get a lot more money back than you have saved, for your money will really grow in the bank.

UNION COAL CO. ADVANCING FAST

Present Day Organization Is Outgrowth of Humble Beginning.

Starting thirty-eight years ago with a small office at 1014 O street and only a few small storage bins, the Union Coal company has grown rapidly and now occupies much larger offices at 1212 O street and its storage bins on X street are two blocks in length.

During certain seasons of the year as much as 5,000 tons of coal is kept on hand in these bins. As many as twenty teamsters are busy during the winter months of the year hauling coal purchased by customers.

Recently with the advent of oil burning furnaces the Union Coal company has added oil to its long list of fuels.

Every kind of coal coming into this market is kept on hand and sold by the Union Coal company.

It is no small task to judge fairly accurately just how large a stock of coal to keep on hand during the various seasons. Many things must be taken into consideration, such as the railroad situation, the mining and labor problems and the possibilities of shortages occurring at some vital time.

At present the coal situation looks good and no shortages are predicted. However this may be completely changed before the winter months roll around. The Union Coal company aims to keep a stock on hand which will carry it through a possible shortage and assure its customers against being forced to pay higher prices should a shortage occur.

H. T. Folsom is president of the company and is actively in charge of the management.

FORD DELIVERY CO.

LINCOLN'S BEST MOVERS

We do all kinds of Moving, Packing, Crating, Shipping and Storing. Prices That Are Right.

A good many people have the impression that the Ford Delivery Co., operates with Ford Trucks only. The photograph in this section shows that we have trucks for every use. With our fleet of trucks we can give 10 minute service on delivery, which is something no one else in the city can do. We have the best equipment and facilities for moving furniture to distant cities. Equipped with pneumatic tires, our trucks are easy on the furniture, thus insuring safe delivery of goods.

When we do a moving job for you, your goods are insured for $3,000 without cost to you. Thereby giving you the fullest protection.

Below is one of the many unsolicited testimonials which we have received from satisfied customers.

Shickley, Nebraska.

Ford Delivery Co.
223 South 10th Street.
Lincoln, Nebraska.

Gentlemen:

I have not been in Lincoln since you moved my goods, but my wife informs me that everything came through in excellent condition and that not a piece of furniture was either scratched or broken. This, I consider is a very good record because of the rough condition of the roads.

I wish also to call your attention to the manner in which the goods were loaded. Your men were very careful and certainly know how to pack a truck so that it is used to its fullest capacity. They certainly know their business.

I stand ready to give you any recommendation at any time you might call upon me for same.

Respectfully,
ELMER M. HANSEN.

HALL HARDWARE HAS CONFIDENCE

Had Self Reliance In Moving Business to New Portion Of City.

Now Has Confidence Of Customers For Absolute Trustworthiness.

It is always satisfying to know that in your business dealings there is no need to doubt the ability and responsibility of the person or firm you are dealing with

That is the theory on which the Hall Hardware company at 1017 O street has based its business policy during the thirty eight years of its existence in Lincoln The careful following of this policy has been greatly responsible.

The Hall Hardware is known not only in Lincoln and Lancaster county but throughout the state for its reliability The store handles everything conceivable in the hardware line. A complete line of kitchen furnishings is also kept. The firms slogan is It is good if it comes from Halls

The Hall hardware firm has been a pioneer in the growth and extension of the citys business district. It was originally established at 1126 O street. Later it moved to Thirteenth and O streets where it was probably the first of its class of business firms to locate in that part of the then small business district. Later as the business district grew the firm again acted as a ing to its present location This move was made in 1908 and since that time other business firms have been established around it until it is once more in the heart of the business section

Prosperous Year Is Predicted By Weston Tire Co.

After having handled Kelly-Springfield tires for four years and having been their exclusive distributor over the South Platte territory P F Weston and I B Griffith of the Weston Tire Co at 241 South Eleventh street are ready to announce that business was never better no prospects never brighter

The trade so far this year has more than doubled that of last season says Mr Weston and no signs of slackness are yet evident.

A big stock of tires and accessories are kept at the store as it is necessary for a wholesale and retail establishment A new bead construction in the Kellys that Mr Weston believes will give 25 per cent more efficiency has renewed interest in the line carried.

The company has just spent $1 000 on equipment so that there is none better in the country Bill Miller the man in charge of Weston company repair work is one of the most experienced men in town

Van Andel Store Urges Thrift All Through the Year

Used and renewed furniture which the Van Andels say goes far toward making thrift a year round habit is sold by the company of Van Andel & Son at 132 South Tenth street.

Used furniture has been sold by that firm for twenty seven years at its present location and for seven years before that. The company was founded in 1891

Even after the first seven years growth had not been anything to compare with the size of the establishment today The original shop at 132 South Tenth street had only a fraction of the store space now used Three floors or about six times the size of the original place, are now rented and further expansions are contemplated

New goods as well as old are offered, but the chief specialty is used but renewed furniture. Four or five men are kept busy most of the time putting goods in first class shape.

"This thrift campaign is right in our line' says Mr Van Andel, "because we try to teach them all the time there is a chance for saving"

SCHEIDT GROCERY IS STILL GROWING

C Street Store Has Doubled In Size Several Times Since Founded.

In the ten years that have passed since J P Scheidt first established his grocery store at 628 C street the business has doubled itself several times and the stock has grown to nearly triple its original size

The store was first opened January 1 1913 At that time only meats and groceries were handled Five years later the building was enlarged to twice its original size and a line of shoes and notions was added Again in 1920 another addition to the stock was made and the store was then prepared to care for customers demands for paints

Last year Mr Scheidt entered the coal business on a small scale and opened a yard at Fifth and Washington street in conjunction with his store

Large Business Of Crancer Firm Built On Value

The G A. Crancer company of Lincoln has been established thirty-nine years and during that time has given conscientious music in every line This business is under direct supervision of George A. Crancer Ray A. Crancer and Glen Crancer

During its career the company has sold more than 60 000 pianos and phonographs in Nebraska alone and it now requires a large four story building and a personal of forty five employes

The concern has always made a specialty of pianos of the better kind and its success has largely been built on the quality and value of the line it sells It has always tried to maintain personal contact with its customers

In its ware rooms the year round are 250 pianos of such well known lines as Ampico Knabe Melin Foster, Stratford and Wurlitzer A complete line of Brunswick Edison and Columbia phonographs are carried also

A combined line of meats groceries vegetables and fruits is handled The store is modern and up to date in every part Refrigerators for meat, vegetables and other perishable goods have been installed

Mr Lundholm is still connected with the store as meat cutter in charge of that department of the store He has been engaged in this business in Lincoln for some fifteen years Mr Helin came to Lincoln two and one-half years ago

The store does one of the largest business of any of the neighborhood stores in the city and during the past year this has been increased considerably Mr Helin says.

Development of Generators Told

BY J. LAWSON ROBB

The first generators made for supplying electric current to the storage batteries on automobiles, were adaptations from the generators used at that time on Pullman cars which were belted to an axle on one of the trucks and supplied current to the car lighting batteries They suggested the line of development for a satisfactory battery to keep the automobile storage battery charged by use of power from the cars own engine

The first generators produced for automobile battery charging were the product of the Willard Storage Batery company and proved very successful from the start they were made to attach to various places on the frame of the car and were driven either by a friction drive wheel silent chain or a V shaped belt

One of the earliest problems in connection with automobile lighting work was the need of some form of regulator to hold the generator to a definite charging rate through all the speeds at which the car might be driven This was necessary to avoid the dangers of under charging and over-charging while running at slow or high speeds respectively

In co operation with several well known engineers, T A Willard president of the Willard Storage Battery company, devised a method to control the charging rate of such generators that has been generally accepted by most manufacturers of such equipment. The common third brush type of regulation was the result of the work of these men and has been used successfully ever since

Strictly Modern Grocery Opened At Former Stall, 1823 O Street.

Mr. Brittell Arranges Place With Experience Gained In 25 Years.

At the same location formerly occupied for some fourteen years, Fred D. Brittell has opened a new strictly modern and up-to-date grocery store. The store is at 1823 O street and was opened the first of April.

Mr. Brittell has been in the grocery business in Lincoln for twenty-five years. His new store is designed along the approved plans of the most modern type of grocery stores. The goods are effectively displayed on shelves which are arranged conveniently for both the customer and the clerk.

A Gruendler Refrigerating system and line of counter cases has been installed in the meat department. The ideal on which Mr. Brittell is operating his new store is that of giving perfect service. A delivery system carries all goods purchased to the door of every customer in any part of the city.

Druggist Gives Half Century of Service

Nearly a half century of continuous service as a druggist in Lincoln is the record of A. D. Steiner, owner of the Steiner drug store at 208 South Twelfth street.

Mr. Steiner believes that this is a record which no other druggist in the city, now actively engaged in business can claim. In 1880 Mr. Steiner came to Lincoln from Pittsburgh, Penn. On May 30 of that year he purchased a drug store at 1010 P street. It had been formerly owned by W. J. Turner.

At that time Lincoln was only a small town of ten or twelve thousand inhabitance. As the city grew Mr. Steiner moved his store to several locations, following the trend of business. Twelve years ago he moved to the present location.

"Business has grown better with each move," Mr. Steiner says. "At the same time business in general in Lincoln has grown better. The real hard times are past for ever and Lincoln will continue to grow," he believes.

Drug business has changed considerably since the days when Mr. Steiner first came to Lincoln. Then, farmers would come into town with a list of medicines and remedies as long as their grocery list. Most of these had to be made up by the druggist himself. Today a large share of them are manufactured by big concerns and are in forms for immediate sale.

The Steiner drug store still manufactures one remedy which has not been taken up by other companies. That is Steiner's Balm of Rhubarb. This remedy is manufactured here and sold out at wholesale and retail.

College Tailors - Draw Trade From A Widening Area

Thirty years have seen a great development in the College Tailors plant at College View. Started in 1894 by J. F. Nelson the College ors plant at College View. Started repairing. Two years ago a modern cleaning and pressing plant was installed.

At present fifteen persons are employed in the plant. It occupies a two story building and draws a large tailoring and cleaning trade not only from College View but from Lincoln and many smaller towns in southeastern Nebraska.

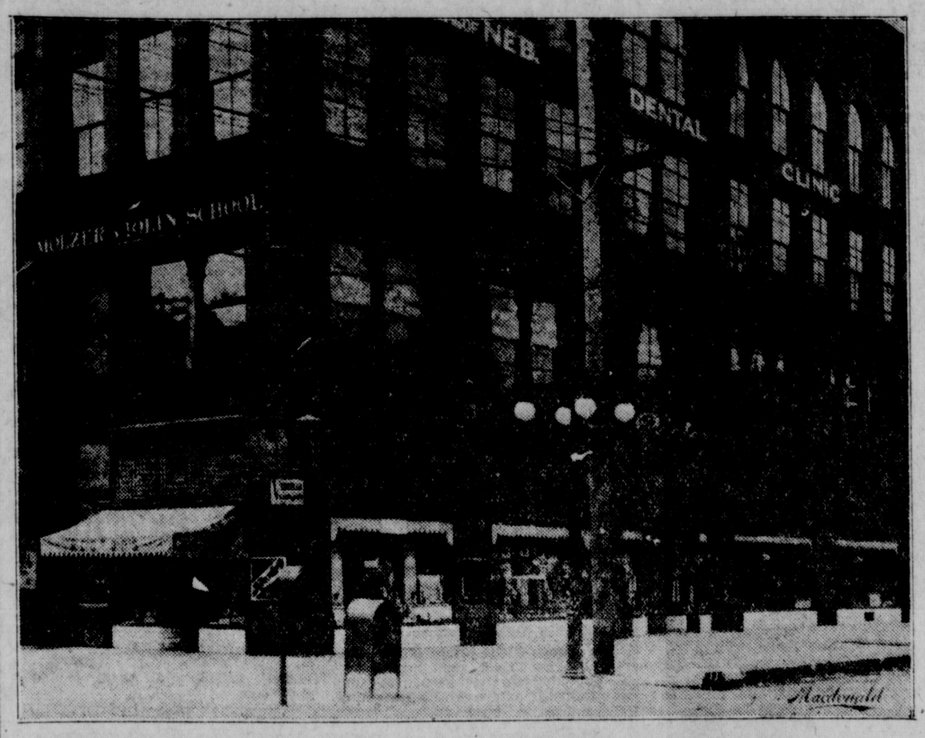

Two trucks are employed constantly making collections and deliveries. One day service is featured in all the firm's business.

Hornung Hardware Runs On Cash Plan

The Hornung Hardware store at College View has built its business on a cash basis. The store's slogan is "Cash Store, Your gain is evident in our prices."

The store was established eight years ago by F. W. Hornung. All kinds of hardware, electrical supplies and paints are carried in the store's stock.

A Garage Venture In College View Success

From a very small business E. J. Gotfredson has built up the College View Garage until now after ten years is occupies nearly a half a block of building space.

At present the garage does a large repair business and at the same time carries on a large tire and auto accessory trade. Mr. Gotfredson has the agencies for the Buick and Ford automobiles in College View. Used cars are also bought and sold. Four mechanics are employed in the shops to take care of the mechanical work. A complete stock of Ford parts is kept on hand.

FLEMING SHOP IS 'GIFT COUNSELOR'

C. W. Fleming Jewel Store at 1311 O Street Known For Honesty.

Has Grown Steadily In Present Location For Twenty-three Years.

If honesty and thrift are necessary in stores where purchases of a few cents are common, what must be the case in one where articles worth many dollars, even hundreds and thousands of dollars are common articles of trade?

C. W. Fleming realized when he started his jewel shop at 1311 O streets, that sound dealing must be the corner of his future success. He made it an established policy never to sell anything about which he could not tell the whole truth, and future success has become present prosperity.

Mr. Fleming's ideas on his relations with customers have been embodied in a code of ethics adopted by the American National Retail Jewelers association, which recommends community service, high standards of truth and honor, one price to all, adjustment of difficulties with customers, and fair advice.

"The Gift Counselor" has become a slogan of the Fleming shop, and Mr. Fleming and his assistants try to be whole hearted, courteous and fair in their advice to those who would buy jewels.

Though the present location at 1311 O street has always been occupied by the Fleming store, a new front was put in recently that is known as one of the finest in the west. A complete line of Sterling flatware and holloware, leather goods, jewels, and optical supplies is carried.

SOUTHSIDE AUTO GARAGE POPULAR

Residents Near 1645 South Seventeenth Street Like Neighborhood Idea.

A neighborhood garage is a handy thing, especially on cold winter mornings when the engine refuses to start or a tire is flat just because you are in the worst kind of a hurry.

People living in South Lincoln have the advantage of quick service in such instances of hard luck, due to the fact that the Southside Garage at 1645 South Seventeenth street is near at hand and always ready to give this service.

Ray Elliott is the owner of the Southside garage and employed with him are Guy M. Harris and J. G. Kunher as mechanics. Night and day service is maintained.

In the two years that Mr. Elliott has owned the Southside garage it has developed to such an extent that the business is no longer confined only to car owners in the immediate vicinity, but trade is drawn from every part of the city.

Sugar Bowl Snug Shop For Sweets

The Sugar Bowl is a snug little retreat at 1522 O street, purchased last August by Walter Johnson and seemingly in the best of financial spirits ever since.

Mr. Johnson came from York to Lincoln and worked at a drug store for a while, sizing up the "local situation" before he made his purchase. Few changes have been made in the establishment. It handles candy, magazines, school supplies, tobacco and camera goods and is still the same sort of an interesting place where all varieties of sweets can be bought and eaten in congenial atmosphere.

BUDD IS LOCAL SHOE RETAILER

Shop Is Only Home-Owned, Exclusive Shoe Store In Lincoln.

The chain store and the department store ideas have become so dominating in small cities of the United States that when one comes to think of it there are very few establishments that deal exclusively in one of the smaller articles of apparel or common use that are not controlled by outside interests or not a part of some larger organization.

Budd's Shoe Co. at 1131 O street prides itself, therefore on being a shoe shop exclusively and on being owned and managed by persons who live in Lincoln. The same has always been the case with this well known shop, and probably will continue to be the same, according to its proprietors.

Though Budd's has changed location four times, it has never changed hands. The last move was enforced by the erection of the new Gold building. In spite of these changes, however, a large clientele that early discovered the values to be found at Budd's has stayed with the store wherever it has gone.

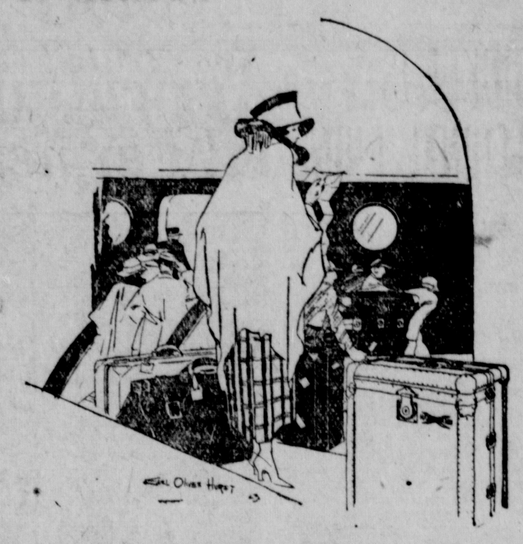

On coming into its present location, the company resolved to erect one of the finest store fronts in the city. What success was achieved may be seen by the accompanying photograph. Though the store itself is of narrow width, the striking display space and colored glass front make it attractive to large numbers of people.

Four clerks are regularly employed at Budd's and as high as six are kept busy during rush seasons. The interior is as well finished as the front, and a complete line of shoes is kept for men, women and children. The Racine shoe is a specialty.

J. J. Salzman Shoe Repair Shop Large

"The biggest shoe store in Lincoln" is the sign that advertises the J. J. Salzman repair shop at 1032 N street.

Mr. Salzman has been in the shoe repair business in this city for years and has learned the business from the bottom up. Several men are often kept busy by the rush of trade at the shop, and Mr. Salzman himself is at work constantly. Complete electrical equipment has been installed so that first class work can be done in extra fast time.

RUG CLEANING OF VAST IMPORTANCE

Lincoln Rug Factory Makes Specialty Of Sterilizing Floor Coverings.

The Lincoln Rug factory was started here in 1896 for manufacturing rugs out of old carpets. In 1907, D. O. Pettit added dry cleaning and altering to the activities of his concern. From that time on, with the exception of three years from 1919 to 1922, when the business was leased to other parties, Mr. Pettit has had full charge. He has developed it to its present state of efficiency and in later years has paid particular attention to the dry cleaning department.

At first thought, dry cleaning may not appeal to one as a very important enterprise. The fact is that when one considers the large investment of a community in floor coverings, it is extremely important that these rugs should be cleaned for the greatest possible usefulness.

Also because of the health problem that rugs present, since they often catch dirt of the street and shop, a renovating process that sterilizes the rug is most important. Mr. Pettit has up to date equipment for satisfactorily cleaning the rugs. An inspection of the Lincoln Rug Factory at 2373 O street will convince one that he has a service that few can afford to be without

Diers Grocery On South Seventeenth Gains Popularity

In the year and a half that the Diers grocery has been established at 1645 South Seventeenth and unusually large business has been built up. The store is owned and operated by Francis Diers and Carl Diers.

When the store was first established the owners took every care to make it entirely modern throughout. Cleanliness is one of the points chiefly stressed and the white finishing and orderly arrangement of stocks, with the sunshine flooding in through the many windows give it an unusually light and airy appearance.

Groceries, meats, vegetables and fruits are handled and the various lines are kept fresh and seasonable. Five deliveries are made every day. The store draws a large trade from the residential districts in south Lincoln.

Wesleyan Affairs

Clyde B. Moore, '12, received the doctor's degree from Columbia university last June. His book, "Civic Education" was published as one of Columbia's contributions to education. Mr. Moore is at present the acting dean of the school of education at the University of Pittsburg. He will teach in Cornell this summer.

University Notes

Preliminary contests for the state academic contests to be held at the university on high school fete day were held yesterday at Alma, Holdredge, McCook, Kearney, Bridgeport, Chadron, Hastings and Wayne.

Candidates were selected to compete in the state contest later.

Uniform examination questions on the twenty-three subjects included were sent out by the university extension division last week. Results of the contest will be sent by Tuesday, April 28, to Prof. A. A. Reed, director of Extension and secretary of the state committee. All papers were graded by numbers, the names of the contestants being kept secret.

The questions were opened in all subjects but spelling in the presence of the contestants. In this way no local person knew the contents in advance. Spelling examinations were opened long enough before the examination so that the examiner could familiarize himself with the pronunciation of the words One hour was given for each examination.

Certificates of merit will be presented to the five highest in each subject at the district contests. Gold, silver and bronze medals for first, second and third will be presented at the state contest.

Members of the state committee are: H. P. Shepherd, Lincoln; first district; J. G. Masters, Omaha Central, second district; H. H. Redmund, Tekamah, third district; A. H. Staley, Hastings, fourth district; J. A. True, McCook, fifth district; E. L. Rouse, Scottsbluff, sixth district; and Chancellor Samuel Avery, Dean Sealock, teachers college, and Prof. A. A. Reed, director of extension, of the university. Mr. Masters is chairman of the committee and Professor Reed secretary.

Dr. James Wilford Garner, who will deliver the Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi address at the Temple theater May, recently published a two-volume book, "International Law and the World War." Doctor Garner is a recognized authority on international affairs. He was Hyde lecturer at the French universities in 1921 and Tagore lecturer in 1922 at the University of Calcutta. Doctor Garner has also written a number of other books on political science. He is chairman of the department of political science at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Hattie Plum Williams, chairman of the department of political science and sociology, attended the regional conference in Omaha last week of the Child Welfare League of America. Several advanced students of sociology accompanied her. Representatives from the middle western states attended the meeting. C. C. Carstens, secretary of the League, and Doctor French, who has been conducting child health experiments at Fargo, N. D., for the Commonwealth Fund, were the chief speakers.

DOLE STUDIO IS REALLY ARTISTIC

Both Interior Of Studio and Photography Produced Are Notable.

"I brought my friends to see what a really artistic studio looks like," remarked a visitor to Dole's studio, 1125 O street, recently.

This pleased and gratified Mr. Dole, certainly but did not greatly surprise him. Others had said the same sort of things before and are still saying them. "I didn't know there was a place like this outside of Chicago," exclaimed one. "You must do wonderful work in a place like this," added another. All who come to the studio have some word of praise for the interior decorations as well as for the service and work given.

Italian Renaissance was the style chosen when Mr. Dole decided two years ago to remodel his studio in a manner commensurate to the quality of photography work that he has been striving to produce. Weeks of planning and careful craftsmanship made a new world out of the old rooms. Formerly it was simply a second floor business space; now it is wonder work shop with heavy tapestries, arched ceilings and all that goes to give the atmosphere of Italian luxury.

In this studio artistic work is a specialty. In fact, it is the only sort of photography that is attempted. Too much time is wasted in the more common type of picture taking, Mr. Dole believes. He reserves his time and his effort to putting feeling and trying to catch the spirit of his subjects on the sensitive camera plates.

Thirteen years ago the studio was little 4-room affair at the present location. It now occupies a whole floor, when ten and twelve assistants are kept busy all season.

University Agricultural Students Will Give Annual Farmers Fair Saturday, May 2

A little bit of this and a little bit of that, a little bit of work and a little bit of fun—that's the Farmers' fair, which makes its annual appearance Saturday at the agricultural college. The agricultural boys and girls display the results of their year's work at the fair, but give it a good coating of fun and frivolity for spice. There comes the ballyhoo man, the minstrel troupe, and the south sea dancers. There come the queen of agriculture, the pretty girls on floats, and the floats that make you wise. Its a day-long and evening affair and all the farmers and farmerettes rest for a day in the midst of their labors to play with themselves and the hundreds of others who attend.

Saturday, May 2, is the annual gala day for the Nebraska College of Agriculture. The campus will be dressed in its very best for the seventh annual Farmers' Fair. The management reports plans for the biggest and best fair that has ever been held and arrangements are being made to accommodate a larger crowd than attended last year. Last year's crowd consisted of nearly 15,000 people from all parts of the state. Many new and novel features have been added to the program including the University Players production and the calf-roping contest.

Heretofore the home economics girls have prepared and presented a pageant annually, but this year the University Players have been substituted. They will present a performance in the afternoon and again in the evening in an open-air amphitheater which is one of the most beautiful places on the campus. No admission will be charged for either performances.

The calf-roping contest, as a part of the Wild West show, is something new in this part of the state. Mark Hirsig, Cheyenne, Wyoming, winner of the calf-roping contests at several Cheyenne Frontier contests and of numerous other riding contests, will take an active part in the Wild West show. Mr. Hirsig is providing a number of the horses to be used in the Wild West show, which he just had shipped in from Cheyenne. Anyone is eligible to enter these riding and roping contests and prizes will be given to the winners.

Parade at Noon.

The parade of somethirty floats and a number of comic fetaures will pass down O street at noon. A rube band will lead, followed by the clowns, the educational floats of the different departments, the Goddess of Agriculture float, and a number of comic floats. Maggie and Jiggs will be in the parade, Andy and Min have consented to come, and Mr. Rudolph Nebb will have a float representing his far-famed Nox-Age which we will sell at the fair grounds all afternoon and evening.

William Jennings O'Brien and and Magnus Johnson, both of Pumpkin Center, Arkansas, introduced themselves at a pep meeting at the College of Agriculture Thursday evening and stated that they had come to Lincoln to attend the Farmers' Fair. They promised to be present Saturday, May 2, to do their stuff and also to take part in the parade. Mr. O'Brien stated that the Follies' skit was entitled "The Breath of Spring," until the management of the fair saw it and asked to have the name changed to "Halitosis." The Follies intend to present some cross-word pules, and judging from all indications, the pules will be very deep.

The Snorpheum is keeping its plans rather quiet, but they admitted that their dainty, dreamy-eyed chorus girls were in the best of condition and that their tall men were handsomer than ever this year. They will present dancing, singing, jigging, and juggling acts. Jacob Freidli of the College of Agriculture will sing some of the latest song hits.

Yellow Dogs Run Saloon.

Ample provision has been made for the people who may need freshments while at the fair. The Yellow Dog Saloon will be run wide open all afternoon and evening. Drinks of all colors and flavors will be sold here. The fair board has assumed all responsibility for this concession and the patrons need not fear for the molestation of the law.

Huge slabs of freshly roasted beef will be served between monstrous steaming buns at the barbecue stands. The steer that will be barbecued has been fed a secret ration which if satisfactory to public, bids fair to revolutionize the packing industry.

All visitors will be given ample opportunities to spend their money. The Midway will be in full sway from 1 o'clock until midnight. There will be side shows of all kinds and the Monte Carlo dens will include all gambling games imaginable. Everything that you have ever seen at a carnival or circus and some things that you have not seen at either place will be found on the Midway.

Three Dance Orchestras.

For those "trip the light fantastic," the latest jazz music will be provided in the huge covehed pavillion all afternoon and evening. A dance will also be held in the agricultural engineering building. The Nebraskans, the Kandy Kids, and the Colonians will furnish the music for the dancing, so all visitors will be assured of the best music in Lincoln.

The educational exhibits in the various departments must not be overlooked. The educational features will make up an important part of this year's fair. Each department will hold open house and demonstrations and lectures will be given in connection with all exhibits. The dairy and animal husbandry departments will have exhibits that will be of special interest to all who are pursuing some phase of agriculture. The home economics exhibits and demonstrations will be of interest to all women.

The students of the College of Agriculture are extending an initation to every person in the state to come and spend the day with them and to find out just what the College of Agriculture really is and what its students can do. The college will broadcast another program regarding the Farmers' Fair Monday noon from station WFAV.

HALL HARDWARE HAS CONFIDENCE

Had Self Reliance In Moving Business to New Portion Of City.

Now Has Confidence Of Customers For Absolute Trustworthiness.

It is always satisfying to know that in your business dealings there is no need to doubt the reliability and responsibility of the person or firm you are dealing with.

That is the theory on which the Hall Hardware company at 1517 O street has based its business policy during the thirty-eight years of its existence in Lincoln. The careful following of this policy has been greatly responsible.

The Hall Hardware is known not only in Lincoln and Lancaster county but throughout the state for its reliability. The store handles everything conceivable in the hardware line. A complete line of kitchen furnishings is also kept. The firm's slogan is "It is good if it comes from Halls."

The Hall hardware firm has been a pioneer in the growth and extension of the city's business district. It was originally established at 1126 O street. Later it moved to Thirteenth and O streets where it was probably the first of its class of business firms to locate in that part of the then small business district. Later as the business district grew the firm again acted as a pioneer in the expansion by moving to its present location. This move was made in 1908 and since that time other business firms have been established around it until it is once more in the heart of the business section.

Prosperous Year Is Predicted By Weston Tire Co.

After having handled Kelly-Springfield tires for four years and having been their exclusive distributor over the South Platte territory, P. P. Weston and I. B. Griffith of the Weston Tire Co. at 241 South Eleventh street are ready to announce that business was never better nor prospects never brighter.

The trade so far this year has more than doubled that of last season, says Mr. Weston, and no signs of slackness are yet evident.

A big stock of tires and accessories are kept at the store, as it is necessary for a wholesale and retail establishment. A new bead construction in the Kelleys that Mr. Weston believes will give 25 per cent more efficiency has renewed interest in the line carried.

The company has just spent $1,000 on equipment, so that there is none better in the country. Bill Miller, the man in charge of Weston company repair work, is one of the most experienced men in town.

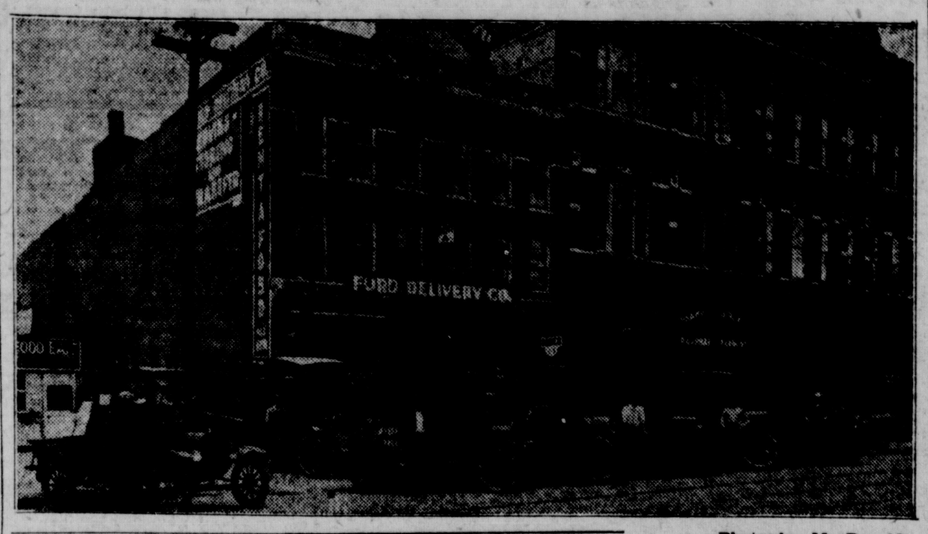

Photographer In College View Has Increasing Trade

B. L. Morse is proprietor of the only photography studio in College view. Mr. Morse opened his studio several years ago and his business has grown rapidly since its establishment.

Much of the Union college photography work is done at the Morse studio. Mr. Morse himself is a graduate of Union College and a member of the National Photographers association.

Last December a jewelry department was added. An expert jeweler and watchmaker is employed by Mr. Morse to manage this part of the business.

SCHEIDT GROCERY IS STILL GROWING

C Street Store Has Doubled In Size Several Times Since Founded.

In the ten years that have passed since J. P. Scheidt first established his grocery store at 628 C street, the business has doubled itself several times and the stock has grown to nearly triple its original size.

The store was first opened January 1, 1913. At that time only meats and groceries were handled. Five years later the building was enlarged to twice its original size and a line of shoes and notions was added. Again in 1920 another addition to the stock was made and the store was then prepared to care for customers' demands for paints.

Last year Mr. Scheidt entered the coal business on a small scale and opened a yard at Fifth and Washington street in conjunction with his store.

Large Business Of Crancer Firm Built On Value

The G. A. Crancer company of Lincoln has been established thirty-nine years and during that time has given conscientious music in every line. This business is under direct supervision of George A. Crancer, Ray A. Crancer and Glen Crancer.

During its career, the company has sold more than 60,000 pianos and phonographs in Nebraska alone, and it now requires a large four story building and a personal of forty-five employes.

The concern has always made a specialty of pianos of the better kind and its success has largely been built on the quality and value of the line it sells. It has always tried to maintain personal contact with its customers.

In its ware rooms the year round are 250 pianos of such well known lines as Ampico, Knabe, Melin, Foster, Stratford and Wurlitzer. A complete line of Brunswick, Edison and Columbia phonographs are carried also.

Helin Now In Full Charge of Grocery On South Eleventh

The Corner Grocery at 801 South Eleventh street is now under the complete ownership of G. T. Helin. It operated up to February 1 of this year by Mr. Helin and A. Lundholm as partners, but at that time Mr. Helin came into full charge of the store.

A combined line of meats, groceries, vegetables and fruits is handled. The store is modern and up to date in every part. Refrigerators for meat, vegetables and other pershiable goods have been installed.

Mr. Lundholm is still connected with the store as meat cutter in charge of that department of the store. He has been engaged in this business in Lincoln for some fifteen years. Mr. Helin came to Lincoln two and one-half years ago.

The store does one of the largest business of any of the neighborhood stores in the city and during the past year this has been increased considerably, Mr. Helin says.

Development of Generators Told

BY J. LAWSON ROBB.

The first generators made for supplying electric current to the storage batteries on automobiles, were adaptations from the generators used at that time on Pullman cars which were belted to an axle on one of the trucks and supplied current to the car lighting batteries. They suggested the line of development for a satisfactory battery to keep the automobile storage battery charged by use of power from the car's own engine.

The first generators produced for automobile battery charging were the product of the Williard Storage Batery company and proved very successful from the start. They were made to attach to various places on the frame of the car and were driven either by a "friction drive wheel, silent chain or a V-shaped belt.

One of the earliest problems in connection with automobile lighting work, was the need of some form of regulator to hold the generator to a definite charging rate through all the speeds at which the car might be driven. This was necessary to avoid the dangers of under charging and over-charging while running at slow or high speeds respectively.

In co-operation with several well known engineers, T. A. Williard, president of the Williard Storage Battery company, devised a method to control the charging rate of such generators that has been generally accepted by most manufacturers of such equipment. The common "third brush" type of regulation was the result of the work of these men and has been used successfully ever since.

Van Andel Store Urges Thrift All Through the Year

Used and renewed furniture which the Van Andels say goes far toward making thrift a year round habit is sold by the company of Van Andel & Son at 132 South Tenth street.

Used furniture has been sold by that firm for twenty-seven years at its present location, and for seven years before that. The company was founded in 1891.

Even after the first seven years growth had not been anything to compare with the size of the establishment today. The original shop at 132 South Tenth street had only a fraction of the store space now used. Three floors, or about six times the size of the original place, are now rented, and further expansions are contemplated.

New goods as well as old are offered, but the chief specialty is used but renewed furniture. Four or five men are kept busy most of the time putting goods in first class shape.

"This thrift campaign is right in our line,' says Mr. Van Andel, "because we try to teach them all the time there is a chance for saving."

RUG CLEANING OF VAST IMPORTANCE

Lincoln Rug Factory Makes Specialty Of Sterilizing Floor Coverings.

The Lincoln Rug factory was started here in 1896 for manufacturing rugs out of old carpets. In 1907, D. O. Pettit added dry cleaning and altering to the activities of his concern. From that time on, with the exception of three years from 1919 to 1922, when the business was leased to other parties, Mr. Pettit has had full charge. He has developed it to its present state of efficiency and in later years has paid particular attention to the dry cleaning department.

At first thought, dry cleaning may not appeal to one as a very important enterprise. The fact is that when one considers the large investment of a community in floor coverings, it is extremely important that these rugs should be cleaned for the greatest possible usefulness.

Also because of the health problem that rugs present, since they often catch dirt of the street and shop, a renovating process that sterilizes the rug is most important.

Mr. Pettit has up to date equipment for satisfactorily cleaning the rugs. An inspection of the Lincoln Rug Factory at 2373 O street will convince one that he has a service that few can afford to be without

Diers Grocery On South Seventeenth Gains Popularity

In the year and a half that the Diers grocery has been established at 1645 South Seventeenth and unusually large business has been built up. The store is owned and operated by Francis Diers and Carl Diers.

When the store was first established the owners took every care to make it entirely modern throughout. Cleanliness is one of the points chiefly stessed and the white finishing and orderly arrangement of stocks, with the sunshine flooding in through the many windows give it an unusually light and airy appearance.

Groceries, meats, vegetables and fruits are handled and the various lines are kept fresh and seasonable. Five deliveries are made every day. The store draws a large trade from the residential districts in south Lincoln.

Wesleyan Affairs

Clyde B. Moore, '12, received the doctor's degree from Columbia university last June. His book, "Civic Education" was published as one of Columbia's contributions to education. Mr. Moore is at present the acting dean of the school of education at the University of Pittsburg. He will teach in Cornell this summer.

Miss Marie Hardy, 12, who is librarian at Spokane, Wash., will move to Cleveland, Ohio, August 1 to take a similar position in the city library.

Dr. F. F. Travis, pastor of the Grace Methodist church in Lincoln, addressed the students at convocation period Wednesday morning on "Great Beliefs are Necessary."

Chancellor and Mrs. I. B. Schreckengast gave their anual reception Friday evening at their home in University Place for members of the senior class at Wesleyan. In addition to the eighty members of the class, the president of the college board, A. L. Johnson, and Mrs. Johnson of Crete, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Croft, Rev. and Mrs. Frank I. Finch, Dean and Mrs. B. E. McProud, Dean Parvin Witte and Mrs. Witte who is dean of women, Dean and Mrs. F. A. Alabaster, and Miss Gladys Coatman were present. In the receiving line with Chancellor and Mrs. Schreckengast was Miss Coatman, who introduced the guests. Mrs. F. A. Alabaster invited the guests to the dining room, where Mrs. J. B. Taylor was in charge, assisted by four junior girls in serving. The refreshments were ice cream baskets filled with strawberries, served with cakes, and coffee, nuts and candies. The dining room was decorated in yellow, and spring flowers in other colors were used through the remainder of the house.

University elections were held Monday, April 20, and the results are as follows: "Coyote" editor, Helen Jones of Heldrege; business manager of "Coyote," Joe Owens of St. Edward; business manager of "Wesleyan," Clyde Lindhorst of Denver; athletic board members, Glen Griffith of Grant, Dell Danker of Riverton, and Oscar Wiberg of Sedan; 'varsity yell leader, Wendell Miller of Albion.

Chancellor I. B. Schreckengast recently delivered addresses at the Beatrice district conference held at Pawnee City, and at the Holdrege district conference at Republican City. He also spoke at the high school at the latter place. Last Sunday he filled the Methodist pulpits at Fairmont and Geneva. On Monday he addressed the Kearney district conference at North Platte, and spoke also at Saronville and Sutton.

University Notes

Preliminary contests for the state academic contests to be held at the university on high school fete day were held yesterday at Alma, Holdredge, McCook, Kearney, Bridgeport, Chadron, Hastings and Wayne.

Candidates were selected to compete in the state contest later.

Uniform examination questions on the twenty-three subjects included were sent out by the university extension division last week. Results of the contest will be sent by Tuesday, April 28, to Prof. A. A. Reed, director of Extension and secretary of the state committee. All papers were graded by numbers, the names of the contestants being kept secret.

The questions were opened in all subjects but spelling in the presence of the contestants. In this way no local person knew the contents in advance. Spelling examinations were opened long enough before the examination so that the examiner could familiarize himself with the pronunciation of the words. One hour was given for each examination.

Certificates of merit will be presented to the five highest in each subject at the district contests. Gold, silver and bronze medals for first, second and third will be presented at the state contest.

Members of the state committee are: H. P. Shepherd, Lincoln; first district; J. G. Masters, Omaha Central, second district; H. H. Reimund, Tekamah, third district; A. H. Staley, Hastings, fourth district; J. A. True, McCook, fifth district; E. L. Rouse, Scottsbluff, sixth district; and Chancellor Samuel Avery, Dean Sealock, teachers college, and Prof. A. A. Reed, director of extension, of the university. Mr. Masters is chairman of the committee and Professor Reed secretary.

Dr. James Wilford Garner, who will deliver the Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi address at the Temple theater May , recently published a two-volume book, "International Law and the World War." Doctor Garner is a recognized authority on international affairs. He was Hyde lecturer at the French universities in 1921 and Tagore lecturer in 1922 at the University of Calcutta. Doctor Garner has also written a number of other books on political science. He is chairman of the department of political science at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Hattie Plum Williams, chairman of the department of political science and sociology, attended the regional conference in Omaha last week of the Child Welfare League of America. Several advanced students of sociology accompanied her. Representatives from the middle western states attended the meeting. C. C. Carstens, secretary of tht League, and Doctor French, who has been conducting child health experiments at Fargo, N. D., for the Commonwealth Fund, were the chief speakers.

DOLE STUDIO IS REALLY ARTISTIC

Both Interior Of Studio and Photography Produced Are Notable.

"I brought my friends to see what a really artistic studio looks like," remarked a visitor to Dole's studio, 1125 O street, recently.

This pleased and gratified Mr. Dole, certainly, but did not greatly surprise him. Others had said the same sort of things before and are still saying them. "I didn't know there was a place like this outside of Chicago," exclaimed one. "You must do wonderful work in a place like this," added another. All who come to the studio have some word of praise for the interior decorations as well as for the service and work given.

Italian Renaissance was the style chosen when Mr. Dole decided two years ago to remodel his studio in a manner commensurate to the quality of photography work that he has been striving to produce. Weeks of planning and careful craftsmanship made a new world out of the old rooms. Formerly it was simply a second floor business space; now it is wonder work shop with heavy tapestries, arched ceilings and all that goes to give the atmosphere of Italian luxury.

In this studio artistic work is a specialty. In fact, it is the only sort of photography that is attempted. Too much time is wasted in the more common type of picture taking, Mr. Dole believes. He reserves his time and his effort to putting feeling and trying to catch the spirit of his subjects on the sensitive camera plates.

Thirteen years ago the studio was little 4-room affair at the present location. It now occupies a whole floor, when ten and twelve assistants are kept busy all season.
